Council Refuses To Forego Its Allowance

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7.—(ENS)—Members of the Havelock municipal council will continue to receive their usual allowance for attending meetings, despite a motion by Councillors E. J. Leeson and F. Pollock that their services be contributed without remuneration during the present term of office. An amendment by Councillors William Martin and James Ketchen was favored by Reeve Ernest W. Seeney as he presided over the regular February session, held on Monday evening in the council chamber. Municipal bodies have the power to vote themselves a salary, and it has been the custom for the local council to be paid a sessional allowance since a bylaw to this effect was passed years ago.

The auditors' report was presented by Miss Katie Anderson and Miss Tiza Wright wa accepted and 100 copies of the same ordered printed on motion of Councillors Leeson and Ketchen.

Local enumerators for the coming federal election, Messrs. William Platt and William McBurney, were granted use of the council chamber on Tuesday, March 12 for the revision of the enumerators' lists, at the regular fees as allowed by the election board.

On motion of Councillors Martin and Ketchen it was decided to purchase a door closer and gleiadder from the Hubbell hardware. Councillor Pollock did not vote on this question.

Village Constable William Akins was granted an extra $15 per month during February and March, on motion of Councillors Ketchen and Martin, because of the large amount of extra work at this time. He is to obtain extra help if needed, picking persons that are in need of assistance.

Some information regarding the employment service registration for local citizens was presented by Clerk H. Bruce Puffer and on motion of Councillors Pollock and Martin, a notice concerning this registration was ordered placed in the local paper.

Bylaw No. 474 appointing Dr. Donald J. Holdcroft, medical officer of health for the village of Havelock and also setting his salary passed its three readings.

The council decided to advertise for 5 cords of body hardwood and 15 cords of green body wood for use at the town hall, the tenders to be in not later than noon on March 14.

The tax collector's roll was extended until the March meeting on motion of Councillors Martin and Pollock.

The following relief accounts were passed and ordered paid in motion of Councillors Leeson and Martin: John Scott, $9; William Smith, $1.89; medical services and supplies based on 3 recipients at 35c, $1.05.

Surveyors Anxious To Aid War Effort

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP).—Professional surveyors are anxious to cooperate with the government in the national war effort and a complete list of volunteer surveyors together with their qualifications has been placed in the hands of the authorities, E. M. Medlen of Ottawa told the Canadian Institute of Surveying in his presidential address prepared for the opening of the annual convention here today.

In addition, he said, many surveyors, lithographers and draftsmen associated with the Institute had volunteered for active service overseas in the first corps field survey company. Such a unit, he said, must be equipped and prepared to do surveying and make maps in the field, compile maps from aerial photographs, and print the maps it produces.

Accurate maps are essential to military operations, especially for defence of the country, and the years of work of the Canadian surveyors now proved of vital importance.

"NERVES" SHE CALLED IT

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves," she thought—but it was her kidneys, the filters of her blood, that needed attention. Delay meant danger. She took Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, headache, backache, lack of energy, disappeared. 117

Expect Toronto To Dismiss Civic Guards Of Utilities

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—Civic guards protecting Toronto public utility plants from possible sabotage are likely to be dismissed in the near future, it was reliably reported last night, so that the City Council might be able to save approximately $300,000 and use it to reduce the 1940 tax rate.

It was known that the advisability of doing away with the guards had been discussed by the Board of Control in private sessions for the past fortnight, and that all members were now agreed that such a step might safely be taken, provided men remained on 24-hour duty at the Island filtration plant and at the John Street pumping station.

Guards at all public utility plants in Toronto were necessary at the outbreak of war, board members were said to have agreed, but were not needed any longer, because enemy aliens had now been rounded up and placed in internment camps. Abolition of the Toronto guards were further justified, in the board's opinion, because several other large cities in Canada had not considered it necessary to take such precautionary measures.

It was understood that the board would probably decide to abolish most of the guards this week when a definite decision will be made after Mayor Day returns from Washington, where he is presenting Toronto's case relative to the establishment of a commercial air service to United States cities.

Toronto's abolition of its civic guards will follow close on the heels of similar action taken this week by the York Township Council. Guards protecting the township's sewage disposal plant and pumping station will be dismissed on February 17, when sabotage insurance becomes effective.

Miles of Barbed Wire

Miles and miles of barbed wire fences have been constructed around all Toronto public utility plants, the grounds of which have been placed under powerful floodlights in order to make any approach impossible without detection. It was reported that the Board of Control had agreed that these precautionary measures would be continued even if most of the civic guards were dismissed.

Controller W. J. Wadsworth last night expressed the belief that it was the responsibility of the Department of National Defence, and not of the municipality, to have guards mounted on anti-sabotage duty over all public utility plants. But if civic guards were retained at the Island filtration plant and at the John street pumping stations and barricade and lighting fixtures maintained at all other utility plants, he believed, Toronto would be adequately protected.

Controller Fred Hamilton, questioned about Alderman Millen's unexpected motion, admitted that the board had spent a fortnight discussing the advisability of abolishing the civic guard. Members felt that the city had gone in for too extensive precautions, he said, and guards could be dismissed from all plants except one or two of the major waterwork stations.

At the oubreak of war the task of guarding public utilities was assumed by members of the Civic War Veterans' Association. They were later replaced by a number of casual and part-time City Hall employees, together with able-bodied relief recipients.

Married guards have been receiving $3.20 a day from the city, while single guards were paid $2.60 daily for their services. All have been under the command of Lieut.-Col. J. H. Laurie and Captain Fred Hamilton.

Jap Press Curb Is Under Fire

TOKYO, Feb. 7—(AP)—The Japanese government's control of the press and government secrecy on political intentions were attacked today in both houses of parliament.

The attack in the House of Peers drew from Premier Mitsumasa Yonai an expression of agreement with critics of press control, and he said relaxation would be attempted.

Speaking in the Upper House, Shigeo Sugasawa declared that cooperation of the government and the people never would be complete while newspapers were deprived of their freedom.

"Unnecesary oppression of the press merely engenders suspicion in the popular mind," he said.

"The government must acquaint the people with developments and permit them to have their own opinions.

"Until such a condition prevails spiritual mobilization cannot be fulfilled."

Jotaro Kawakami of the Social Mass party presented a similar view to the Lower House. He said "doubt and apprehension" were apparent among the people over methods for ending the war in China and the government's relations with the projected Chinese regime of Wang Ching-Wei.

Kawakami demanded that the government publish its terms for peace in China.

Woman Protests Criticisms By Rabbi Wise

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 — (CP). — James Waterman Wise of New York was interrupted during an address on world democracy last night by a woman who declared: "I protest against this man coming here and saying these things." Wise, son of Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York, spoke before the people's forum.

"This is an outrage," the woman said, rising to her feet during the address in which Wise criticized past actions of the Chamberlain and Daladier governments. The chairman advised the woman she would be able to express her opinions during the question period following the address, and Wise continued.

England and France were "derelict in their duties to democracy" in respect to Spanish and Czecho-Slovak affairs, Wise said. Chamberlain and Daladier, he added, were "largely responsible for the tragedy which has fallen over the world" in making Hitler's road easier.

Later, Wise said that "what they did in the past cannot be a criterion of judgment at this time for, granted the blunders, there can be no question of the fact that France and Great Britain now are waging a genuine struggle for democracy" and are fighting to free the world from the "Hitler nightmare of invasion, aggression and enslavement."

After the interruption in his address, Wise remarked that open criticism of policy was permitted in England and added that "the British government would appear to have more self-confidence than the lady who interrupted me."

A Climbing Cow

MOCKSVILLE, N.C., Feb. 7 — (AP). — Frank Brown went to his barn loft to search for eggs. He found, instead, his cow at the top of the stairs. He called neighbors for help in getting the animal down, but he didn't need it. The cow just turned around and walked down.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Boesn't Mean a Thing

The American Federation of Labor in session at Miami passed a resolution saying that Hitler and Stalin are "enemies of mankind."

Miami of course is a pleasant place in Florida. At this season of the year it is considered highly desirable because it is warm, while the northern part of the continent is apt to be somewhat cold.

Miami is a comfortable place in which to gather and pass resolutions. A comfortable place in which to denounce Hitler and Stalin. It is far more comfortable there than in Berlin or Moscow.

So the denouncing was done and it was made known to the world that the American Federation of Labor considered Hitler and Stalin "enemies of mankind." And being enemies of mankind they would be enemies of people in United States just as much as enemies of those in Britain or France.

So what? Our belief is that if calling Hitler and Stalin names were going to bring about their downfall they would have tottered some time ago. By now they would be so thoroughly down that they could not abandon their horizontal position. We've tried it ourselves and are satisfied neither Hitler nor Stalin has ever heard of what we said.

Perhaps we should feel better since the A. F. of L. has joined with us from comfortable Miami to call Hitler and Stalin names. But it's no use. These men understand only the language of force, so we have come to the conclusion that passing a resolution or making a speech doesn't mean a thing.

That Other War

Britain retains its unemployed problem even with the country in a state of war. Official figures issued at the first of the month show there are now a quarter of a million more unemployed than when war was declared at the beginning of September, and that in spite of the number of men who have been called for active service under conscription.

There has been a conference between Government officials and those of the engineering union and a program submitted which the head of the union declared to be the most ambitious he had yet seen.

The bone of contention is that the new scheme calls for many women to be employed in munitions factories and war work, while the union officials do not desire to see more women pressed into service while there are so many men with nothing to do. They contend, and with considerable force of argument in their contention, that putting more women at work is not going to solve the unemployment business. In war months we are apt to forget about unemployment because we do not like to fight battles on two fronts at the same time. But the people of Britain and the people of Canada cannot blink the fact that even if they are at war that other war against unemployment has yet to be won.

The Experts Look At Russia

There are a class of men known as military experts, and they look upon war according to planes, equipment, mechanics and all such. They appear to leave out of consideration such assets as human life unless it be included as part of war material; of suffering and misery they reckon not at all.

Rather cold-blooded you say. And we agree. But there are times when one finds their analysis of a situation interesting because they speak of factors which the non-military mind does not understand. We have been reading several reviews of the Russian situation, written by these people. They spend no time at all condemning Stalin, but are interested only in telling why he has not succeeded in subduing Finland. All admit it is something which he should have accomplished long since had his air force and army been anything like as strong as the world had believed.

For years there has been that threat of air invasion from Russia, and that fear has been built because Russia wanted the world to feel that way about it. Germany was none too happy when the Russian air force grew to 5,000 machines and the word was sent to the world that air strength was just in its infancy.

Russia has been using its air force and its bombs and the experts say the exhibition has been poor. Admittedly Finland has been battered and homes and men and women and children in them have been smashed, but Finland has not been crushed, nor has its morale been broken.

Here the experts start on figures. Russia had 5,000 planes and a 30 per cent. reserve when the attack on Finland was made. Finland had but 60 planes. So far Finland has destroyed 240 Russian planes and has lost but 15 of her own. New planes, fast and capable, are arriving in Finland from Britain and France, some also from Italy and United States. How they are arriving the experts do not bother to inform us. They merely state they are there and the number is increasing, and they look toward the time in the Spring when Finn planes will assert their superiority as the Finns are better pilots; they are not as dull as the Russians and are more daring. The experts look ahead to the time when Leningrad will be bombed.

What is wrong with Russia? Several things. For years Russia has depended on the outside world for design and invention. Her people are not engineers; they were never trained, and as mechanics they are admittedly second-raters or lower. When things go wrong they do not know what to do about it.

Another claim is that Russian aviators are not well trained; they are not self-reliant; it has been noticed that when a squadron leader drops and formation is broken, then the whole thing is up and the airmen do not know what to do next.

Their machines are slow; the aim of those who drop bombs is what they call "just plain awful." There are hundreds of their bombs which never explode and hundreds drop where they do no damage. The experts conclude by saying Russia has shown no reason why she should be feared or regarded as a great military nation. Some of the experts extend their telescopic range to the point where they see Russia crumbling if attacked by a first-class power.

A Sensible Plan

There is something entirely sensible in a report from Washington which says that any arguments which United States and Britain have in future due to the delay of United States trade or shipping will be settled by conference rather than by writing notes from Washington to London and from London to Washington and having copies of them furnished to the world in general.

The Associated Press writer at Washington says the Government there will refrain from writing any more "waspish notes" to Britain, and that word is used because it was realized some of them contained a sting.

The note-writing business, and the publication of the text, was not working well. In United States it was found many people read only the notes sent from Washington containing a protest and paid little heed—or none at all—to the British reply. In that way there was an alarmed public opinion being created for no good reason.

It was also found that the subject matter of these notes was being used by the German propaganda machine. They were so doctored that when finally served to the German people in their own tongue and in their own newspapers it was made to appear that relations between United States and Britain were stretched like a fiddle string to the point where a couple more turns would cause them to snap.

So in future the accredited representatives in Washington and London will sit down and talk over all matters in dispute, and the international washing will not be hung on the line where the Germans can look at it. And the whole idea looks rather sensible.

Keep On Saying It

President Roosevelt issued a proclamation regarding travel in the year 1940. That was done because people from United States would be cut off from Europe; and he advised them to visit "among the friendly nations of the Western Hemisphere."

It is possibly necessary for one to be in some parts of Britain or Europe to realize the extent to which United States people do spend their money travelling. We recall having looked through a register at the little church at Stoke Poges, not far from Windsor and it was necessary to turn back for seven full pages to find a name which did not have a post office address in United States.

The coming tourist season is going to find a great number of people in United States undecided. They will want to go some place, and this country must make certain that we break down the feeling that it is dangerous to travel here because we are at war. It is something about which we cannot speak too often or in too many ways. The Northern Ontario Tourist Association is making use of a stamp which it asks people to print on all envelopes going to United States. It says this:

NOTICE

"No restrictions or inconvenience on travel in Canada. Come and go as you always did. Take advantage of the premium on your American funds."

We suggest that our Tourist Associations wherever they may be should do the same thing. If we had most of the letters crossing the border bearing this message on the envelope it would have an effect. It would keep on saying something which needs to be said and the cost of saying it would be very small.

Ranks With The Great

Andrew Mathieu of Montreal went to New York to play the piano, and his place of performance was in Manhattan's Town Hall on a Saturday night. And that in itself is significant because only the best or the near best are welcomed there. And Andrew is but nine years old.

He played Chopin, Daquin, Debussy; he played three etudes which he himself had composed when he was four and five years old. The New York critics are a hard lot to warm, but they responded when this lad of nine from Montreal played.

He started playing the piano when he was three. When he was five the Quebec government gave him a scholarship which entitled him to study under the best masters in Paris. When he was six he gave a recital in Paris and was acclaimed as nothing short of phenomenal.

Andrew Mathieu is described and pictured as a sturdy lad, much like any other child his age, but the critic of the New York Times wrote that even Mozart did not show the promise in his earlier compositions which is evident in the work of Andrew Mathieu.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Hore-Belisha says he will return to newspaper work, a place where he can be assured of having the last word.

Word from Ottawa tells of the appointment of another assistant censor. Possibly they need a goalkeeper for a hockey team.

A woman in London, Ont., was "struck by one of two cars," and we are waiting for owners of the cars to both come forward and insist on taking the blame.

Premier Hepburn is going to leave the Grits alone to do as they please in the Elgin riding. And we have a feeling that is about what they would do anyhow.

Detective in Hamilton had a bullet removed from his back after being there for 17 years. He said it was beginning to bother him, and possibly that was what was intended in the first place.

Any Canadian soldiers can be nominated for a seat in parliament, but his army pay stops and he cannot wear the uniform during the campaign. One thing left open is knowing victory or defeat without waiting to go overseas.

There was quite a little ceremony when the City of Flint reached its home port in United States, and the right thing would be to tie it up to some convenient post. Apart from getting into plenty of trouble it accomplished little on its memorable voyage.

United States is selling planes to France, but on some new model the engine and guns are not included as they are secret. Admittedly we know little about planes, but it seems some place we have read that in war time it is necessary for them to have an engine and guns.

Clark Gable and Carole Lombard of the movies were reported missing for a few hours, and all that happened was a broken axle on a bus. And yet this bit of "news" was put on the wire and sent all over the continent by a press agent who is paid to keep their names before the world. And the nice soft spongy newspapers fell for it as usual.

ERROR

¶ My Cousin Jake is soft and fat, and not much stronger than a cat, no vigor in his spine; two rolls of fat are on his neck, 'twould fill I think most half a peck, gets bigger all the time.

¶ Jake bought some stock ten years ago, the stuff's done nothing since but grow, 'twas either gold or oil; and now it keeps him for his life, and feeds and clothes his kids and wife, he doesn't need to toil.

¶ Jake doesn't really do a thing, he doesn't spade his yard in spring, he hires his odd jobs done; in winter he sits by the range, and never once his pace he'll change, his life's a lazy one.

¶ Jake says his stomach has gone bad, the worst attack he ever had, his liver's out of sorts he visits doctors here and there, they tell him things about his care, and issue long reports.

¶ It must be thirty years ago, Jake found the going hard and slow, but he was sound of limb; he worked upon the railroad track, had muscles in his arms and back, no stomach worried him.

¶ His liver was a dandy then, 'twould win a prize for healthy men, he had no cane or crutch; the only thing that's wrong with Jake, is that he's made the sad mistake—of settling down too much.

Women Of Today Are Not Of The Pioneer Type

THERE have been many stories published telling what people used to do in pioneer days. But here is one which goes into detail and mentions a number of things about which most people of today have never heard. It invades a day when people had to make almost everything for the home, when the travelling shoemaker made his rounds and when shoes were worn only in the cold weather.

GLENCOE. — Birthday greetings from numerous friends were received by Mrs. Hannah Smith, widow of John A. Smith, as she celebrated her 90th anniversary amid the family surroundings at "Saratoga," Bend Road, Mosa Township, the home of herself and daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. and Mr. W. A. Edwards.

Born in Euphemia Township, one of a family of four boys and three girls, children of Mr and Mrs. David Scott, pioneer settlers of the district, Mrs. Smith speaks interestingly of her early life on their 100-acre farm.

She laughed when asked how women of the present generation would fit into the life of the pioneers. "They could never do it," she asserted. "There were no vacuum cleaners then, we had to clean the floors with swamp rushes. The walls were whitened with a mixture of clay and water with blueing added to whiten it. There was no furniture as we know it today and children stood around a home-made table for meals. Our beds were home-made bunks woven with basswood bark strips. Mother made salt rising bread because there was no yeast. Our chief meat was salt pork with whatever other meat the wild life of the bush provided.

PRIMITIVE COOKING

"There was no stove; all our cooking was done at an open fire, a tin oven being placed in the fire and covered with hot ashes. Wild fruit was dried and pressed in a keg to be preserved later with maple sugar, the only sugar we ever got.

"We children couldn't go out of reach of home without father or mother being near, because of bears. Father would take us to school 2½ miles away and coming home after school would use a torch to scare away the animals.

"We had no concerts or picture shows, but we had lots of fun going to singing school once each week. We had church services at the homes, and later, a church was built near Cairo and we all walked to service wearing handkerchiefs on our heads. Pat Slattery made our shoes out of cowhide but we wore them only in winter, going bare foot in the summer. Pat would make shoes for all in one house before moving on to the next.

"Father made our brooms, axe-handles, oxen yokes and other necessities. Mother carded wool, spun it into yarn and weaved it into blankets, cloth and such like. My first knitting needles were feathers and I started knitting 80 years ago and am still able to keep the boys in warm socks, although I do seem to tire easily now."

When asked how the early settlers managed to overcome sickness she replied: "There didn't seem to be so much sickness then as now."

"Our school was held at McEwan's grist mill and "Pap" Armstrong was the teacher until he was superannuated because of old age. "Pap" would fall asleep in his chair and the children would walk out. Then "Pap" would wake up suddenly and dash out of the school after the children and he would thrash the first he could catch as a warning to the others."

Of all born in the district during her early years there only one survives, her brother, Ben Scott, of Dresden. Her family moved from Euphemia to near Aberfeldy, in Brooke, transporting all their possessions by oxen.

Elder Huff, Baptist minister of Florence, officiated when at the age of 33 Hannah Scott became the bride of John A. Smith. They settled on a homestead on the 10th concession of Euphemia, where they farmed until some 23 years ago, when they moved into Newbury where Mr. Smith died 16 years ago, since which time Mrs. Smith has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Edwards.

BIBLE IN GERMANY

A SINGLE day's oratory, mostly in the German tongue, invites brief notation. First of all, one is struck by the rather poor team-work between Adolf Hitler in Berlin and the German Consul General in New York on the subject of the Bible. In the Sportpalast the Fuehrer evoked much laughter by his spirited imitation of the "pious, Bible-reading warrior for God," Neville Chamberlain. The idea was that the Bible habit is no guarantee of good character.

But over here Dr. Borchers told a Yorkville audience that the Bible is still the most popular book in Germany. We pass over the thought that the Consul General may have been taking risks in suggesting that there is in Germany a more popular book than "Mein Kampf." But if that is the fact, and the Bible is indeed widely read in Germany, then it must have been in Hitler's mind that there is a wrong way and a right way of reading the Bible. The wrong way is presumably the way the Bible is read by Hitler's representatives in Poland. Not a suggestion of "hypocrisy" that those Germans firing squads in Poland.—New York Times.

HELP THE PIPES

(Fort Erie Times-Review)

It is suggested that a stiff increase in the price of cigarettes is on the way, which, no doubt, will help to increase the respectability which is attributed to pipe smoking.

Letters To The Editor

THE WORK GOES ON

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—This is in answer to a letter signed "Getting Along."

I was looking over the Editorial page of the Examiner and saw your letter. I was very interested in it, also your age you say 76 years. When I read your letter I was led to write you and would like to meet you if possible; you could get my address from the editor. I can quite understand your letter when one is denied the beautiful privilege of getting to God's house for prayer and church service and the work of God we have loved to take part in. You say you are disappointed when you read the reports of the year about church work, the things you desire to read are missing, and you wonder if that part of God's work is vanishing or drying up. I say "No." God's work is still being carried on and souls are being saved; visits to the sick and afflicted are being made; children being fed, clothed, sick being visited, hospital and homes are being visited by the servants of God. I like to see results of church work as I believe God's work should be carried on like any other business to see if the best results are being obtained. The problem of what to do to keep young folks out of danger today is very hard. The world holds so many attractions, but while the church is holding them this way they do come under spiritual teachings or should when it is held in His church.

I know what happened in my life as I came in contact with good men and women, and it was the means of me becoming converted. So I say if we feel we don't just understand we leave it to the One above who will use these things for his service and we will pray and we can all do that for those who are trying in their humble way to serve Him who did so much for us. I was so glad to read of one who is so interested and led to write the Examiner of the things as a Christian you desire so to read about.

A NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The strongest condemnation of party politics is voiced by those calling for a National government. If the party system is incapable of dealing with a national crisis, how can it be depended upon at any time? Opposing parties cannot both be right, it is quite possible that both are wrong. They have one feature in common in making the state the supreme authority and in delegating that authority to a bureaucracy whose decisions are specifically protected from review by the courts. Such legislation, reducing the electorate to the status of serfs, is the road to dictatorships.

We are assured that the Magna Charta is the safeguard of our liberty and freedom. It appears that in this we are wrongly informed as a legislature at its pleasure may and does ignore all restraints and safeguards. The true function of government is to protect its citizens in the free enjoyment of their rights. This the party system has failed to do. When justice, reason and respect for human rights become the guiding principles of administration, then we shall have a truly national government, not merely for a crisis, but all the time.

A. S. THOMPSON, M.D.

Havelock, Ont., Feb. 3, 1940.

• Using That Prefix "Reverend"

RECENTLY, in one of his inimitable "Lessons in English" as taught to perusers of The Readers' Digest, that stout fellow, Mr. Alexander Woollcott, offered the consolation of his sympathy to the clergy. He conceded the merit of their complaint "about the light-hearted vulgarity of addressing a clergyman as 'Reverend So-and-So' instead of 'The Reverend John W. So-and-So'." The former, of course, is frightfully slipshod. Even when the strictly proper form of address appears too cumbersome, it should never be reduced to less than "Rev. John W. So-and-So." The other contraction makes no better sense than using "Hon. Meighen" in a reference to that distinguished member of Canada's Red Chamber.

Nevertheless some people "will do it every time." Even ministers themselves have been known to offend! Of course, other citizens do things even more silly. There is, for instance, the classic case of the patriotic cigar manufacturer during the last war who, anxious to recognize the qualities of the British Army Commander-in-Chief, turned out a product branded with the striking but riotously inaccurate name, "Sir Haig."

Considering the case of the gentlemen of the cloth, however, the Catholic and some Anglican congregations are saved this particular embarrassment by their use of the title "Father." In some other denominations the use of "Pastor So-and-So" similarly circumvents the difficulty. For the rest, annoyance at being addressed as "Rev. So-and-So" is quite readily understandable and commendable. Just the same, the bad habit will be a difficult one to break. Recognizing that, at least one organization, the Ministerial Association of Lansing, Michigan, has decided to supplement complaint with remedial action. The other week its members formally resolved that "in addressing one another, or in referring to one another in speech or in writing, we discard all titles except that of mister."

Well, "Mister," which is the pronunciation of "Mr.", which, in turn is a contraction of "Master," is an old, serviceable and eminently honorable prefix, and even "Reverend" only serves to qualify it. So the Lansing ministers probably have the right idea.—Brantford Expositor.

• Rumania A Land Of Farmers

RUMANIA has a land frontier of 1,800 miles to defend. Since the Polish carve-up, and the seizure by Russia of the old Polish-Rumanian border, 700 miles of this frontier adjoin somewhat uncordial Soviet lands. For the rest, 390 miles face Hungary, 340 miles Jugoslavia and 370 miles Bulgaria. In addition, Rumania must guard 500 miles of flat Black Sea coast.

The peace treaties of 1919 gave Rumania wide Russian, Austrian and Hungarian lands which more than doubled her area and population. She received Bessarabia, formerly a government of southwest Russia, and some 17,000 square miles in area; the Banat, once a frontier district of Hungary, about 10,000 square miles in extent; Transylvania, some 22,000 square miles, until lately a province of Hungary; the Dobrudja, 9,000 square miles, taken from Bulgaria; the Bukovina, a duchy of the Austrian empire, embodying some 4,000 square miles. Thus three of her four neighbors hunger for extensive territories now within her borders and feel that they have grievances against her. In addition, she remembers that in the last war Germany invaded to gain possession of her oil wells. Germany still needs oil!

Rumania is a predominantly agricultural country, and is entirely self-supporting in so far as essential foodstuffs are concerned. Cereals are her principal exports, being worth some $35,000,000 annually. Petroleum products and timber are also important exports. In regard to petroleum, however, although a great deal is heard about Rumania's oil wells and Germany's desire to reach them, two points is that Rumania has been producing approximately 48,370,000 barrels yearly, whereas it has been estimated by expert statisticians that Germany needs at least 180,000,000 barrels per annum in war time; the second that Rumania's oil production has been steadily falling. — Charles B. Bailey, in Hamilton Spectator.

SWEDEN'S DANGER

SWEDEN would be a rich prize. She is the world's greatest exporter of iron ore. Swedish Lapland, above the Arctic Circle, is said to possess two billion tons of high-grade ore, much of it available through strip-mining.

Germany gets more than half of her iron-ore imports from Sweden. If that source were cut off, German arms factories would shrivel up.

Therein lies not only a danger to Sweden, but a safeguard. For if Germany were to throw a blitzkreig at Sweden, and the blitzkreig didn't take, the lifeline of the Reich's foundries would be smashed. Sweden has a substantial army, and would certainly get prompt help from England for the asking. Hitler, knowing all that, would presumably consult his astrologer twice before attack.—New York World-Telegram.

OUR LEADING CUSTOMER

THE United States has supplanted the United Kingdom as Canada's best customer. Its purchases from this country in the calendar year 1939 were valued at $350,357,000, up $110,000,000 compared with the 1938 total. The increase was 40.6 per cent.

The United Kingdom total did not decrease a great deal, at $336,084,000 compared with $339,989,000. In fact, there were increases in most months but the big drop in October and November more than offset all that.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

POSTAL ECONOMY

Just as mamma cut down papa's short ones for Willie, Jim Farley's efficient postal boys each year take around 100,000 mail bags that are worn at the bottom, make 'em into smaller bags and save Uncle Sam about $1.25 apiece on the process.—Neal O'Hara in New York Post.

CROWNING ADOLF

A dispatch from Switzerland states that Adolf Hitler is planning to celebrate his fifty-first birthday on April 20 by proclaiming himself Emperor of Germany and Austria and King of Great Britain and Poland. We suspect that the Archbishop of Canterbury will immediately go into training with a punching-bag to get ready to crown him. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

A Bit of Nonsense

No Art Required

Artist—yes, art is a wonderful thing! With one stroke of the brush I can change a laughing child into a crying child.

Landlady (mother of six)—Oh, I can do that with one stroke of the cane.

Real Proof

The manager of the big insurance company stormed into the office and banged his hand heavily on the junior clerk's desk.

"W-w-what's this you've done?" he raved. "Why in the world did you write a policy on a man 90 years of age?"

"Well, sir," he replied, "I looked in the census report and found there were only a few people of that age die each year."

THE OFFICIAL UNBENDS

A FRIEND (writes a correspondent) has been complaining that those branches of the Civil Service with which the public have to deal are entirely devoid of imagination and humor, a very sweeping statement which was refuted by another member of the aforesaid public who was present. He had a small pet dog which was unfortunately killed. When the licensing period arrived he received the usual notice, and in a spirit of levity, perhaps not common in a Scottish doctor, he wrote across the form, "Wee dug's deid. Nae dug noo."

He expected either to be asked for details of the dog's death, ticked off for his levity in answering an official form, or ignored. Instead he received a reply on offical notepaper which read, "Puir wee dug." So humor does exist even in the most austere of official quarters. (And, what is more, in Scotland.)—Manchester Guardian.

FIXING THE ACCENT

ADMIT', Verb. To allow entrance. Do not say "ADD-mit." This should never be accented on the first syllable.

It is worthy of note that teachers in certain sections of the country tolerate, if not actually encourage, the erroneous use of admit as a noun, as "an ADD-mit to class."

Your word reporter fails to find sanction for this, even as a colloquialism, in any recognized dictionary. "Admit as a noun simply does not exist except as a dialectal "trade" expression in the lingo of teachers and students. It obviously results from false analogy with the noun permit (PER-mit), which is the correct word to use, as "this permit will admit you to class."

Use admit only as a verb and accent the second syllable. Correct pronunciation: add-MITT. (Capitals indicate syllables to be accented.) — Frank Colby, in New York Post.)

MAN WITH A COUGH

The man with the wheezy bass cough was in evidence at the meeting in England at which Viscount Halifax spoke the other morning, and which the radio brought to Canadian listeners. The man with the cough seems to attend all the big British political functions, at which he provides a running background of rumbling throat clearings. It may be the climate, but it might be in order to send him some cough drops.—Regina Leader-Post.

King And Rogers Open Election Campaign Today

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—(CP).—A general election campaign which promises to be as vigorous as any in Canadian history will be opened formally to-day by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Defence Minister Rogers.

At a nomination convention in his Kingston, Ont., constituency, Mr. Rogers will review his department's part in the war effort. It is expected he will be nominated again as Liberal candidate for the seat which he won in 1936 in his first election campaign.

From 10.30 to 11 p.m. EST, the Prime Minister will speak over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with his subject "Parliament and the People."

These two speeches in the Liberal campaign will be followed probably by a swift transcontinental tour by the Prime Minister. Conservative Leader Manion will launch his campaign to-morrow in Brockville, Ont., and follow it up by a trip to the Pacific Coast, speaking in several western cities.

The entire Liberal cabinet will make several speeches in various communities within the next few weeks. Transport Minister Howe will speak at a Liberal convention here to-morrow night and go to Pembroke, Ont., to address another convention Saturday.

Other Campaigners.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie Friday will speak at his nomination meeting in Vancouver Centre and Labor Minister McLarty speaks in Toronto next Monday. Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Resources Minister Crerar are campaigning in Western Canada.

Parliament Hill keenly anticipates the keynote speeches of the Liberal and Conservative leaders and the Defence Minister and expects they will clarify the election issues and provide a trend for the entire campaign.

Political observers here also are watching the Ontario situation closely for definite indication of the part Premier Hepburn and Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, will play in the campaign.

The Cabinet met late yesterday but the Prime Minister did not attend, spending the afternoon working on his speech.

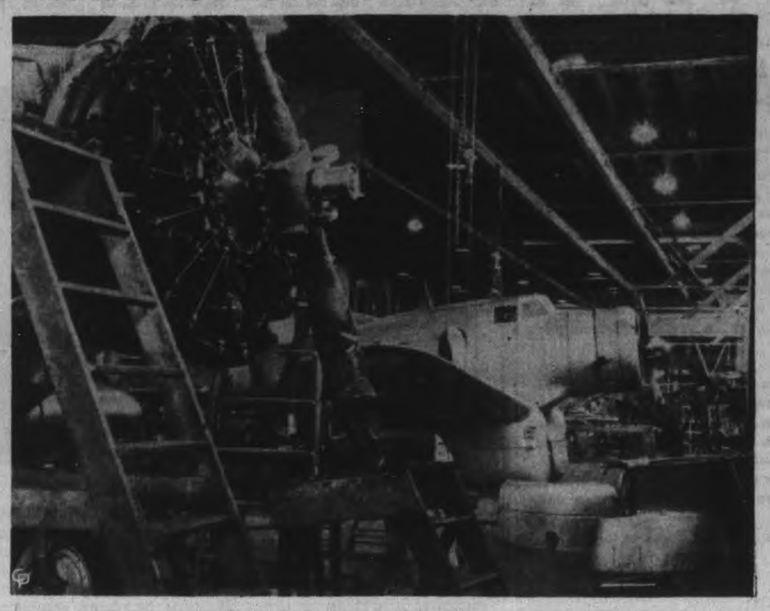
Canadian Firms Build Planes For R.C.A.F.



Canada's air force is rapidly being expanded to meet the war emergency and to give 100 per cent. co-operation to the British Commonwealth Air Training scheme, which is now getting under way. Designed for photographic work, speedy Northrop Deltas are being built at the Vickers plant in Montreal for the R.C.A.F. These planes are fast, all-metal low-wing monoplanes which can carry a crew of six and attain a speed of 205 miles per hour. In addition to these planes, huge Stranraer flying boats are also being built at the Vickers plant. These huge boats carry five men and have a range of 2,000 miles and are the biggest planes built in Canada.

Campbellford Heating System For Schools Discussed

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 7 (ENS).—The first step in the direction of a new central heating system for the two Public Schools here was launched at the Council meeting when a delegation headed by the Board of Education chairman, A. G. Thompson, put the facts plainly up to Council.

"We are appearing before you tonight," Mr. Thompson said, "as a committe from the Board of Education and wish to acknowledge receipt of your request for our estimates. This will have our attention, but a few items arise which cause difficulty in making an estimate and it is in connection with one of these that we are here. We have for some years, been having difficulty in properly heating the Public School. During the last few weeks our caretaker has been firing from 2 o'clock in the morning, and on some days it has been necessary for the children to wear their coats until eleven o'clock. At the last meeting we authorized Mr. Massey to procure extra help during the cold weather and we anticipate that we will get through the present season. As we are burning an excessive amount of fuel which requires extra help and we are not securing very satisfactory results, we feel that in order to take care of the situation for another winter we should discuss the matter with your Council as close co-operation is always necessary."

"Our property will go into this matter, but in order that we may have the close co-operation of your Council I would suggest that a committee be appointed from the Council. If it is decided to attempt a repair job it will be necessary to make a start at an early date, if not found feasible to repair then the expenditure might reach some $15,000 in which case you would require to decide in what manner this would be financed."

On the motion of Reeve Calver, the Mayor named a committee comprised of Councillors MacMillan, Battisby, and Burgiss to go into the matter with the Board.

Asks for Usual Grant.

A delegation from the Seymour Agriculture Society including Secretary G. G. Stephens and President Garnet Curle, requested Council to make their customary grant of $100 to the society.

During the reading of correspondence it was indicated that oil companies which had been asked for quotations for supplying oil for the streets, were not in a position to give any prices on future deliveries owing to present conditions.

Councillor MacMillan reported in this regard that roads might need a heavier coating of oil this summer, "depending on their condition when frost leaves them."

Though Mayor Long felt that the service rendered by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities was valuable enough to warrant the town's becoming a member, Council turned the matter down supporting Deputy-Reeve Donald's motion that the letter be received and filed.

The report of the fire marshal's annual inspection was read and indicated to council he had found the tests of hose and equipment made to be very satisfa tory.

Grant Likely Be $10,000.

Answering the reeve's question as to what grant the Water and Light Commission would be able to give the corporation this year, Mayor Long expressed the opinion that the same amount as in 1939 ($10,000.00) would be forthcoming. Before the outbreak of war the Mayor said everything had pointed to the commission being in a position to increase the amount of their grant, but now the fact that they have to keep guards on the plant and are also absorbing the additional eight per cent tax on domestic light accounts it looked as though the saving effected by the retirement of one of the commission's debentures would be entirely absorbed. Under the circumstances to expect any increased grant "is out of the question."

As a part of their contribution towards the present war the council will forego the use of their individual desks during the conflict. This was decided when it was brought to attention that the Red Cross Society which was at present using the chamber did not have enough room. The society had asked if the desks could be removed merely between the meetings of council, but members unanimously agreed to group around the one long table in the chamber.

"Does that mean the Mayor's dias goes too?" asked the reeve, to which the mayor quickly responded that he was quite willing to do without it if necessary. However, as the matter stood it looked as though the dias would remain as most of the council were of the opinion that it should.

Councillor Macmillan brought up the matter of brush cutting in the lot at the south-east corner of Front street, claiming that whoever had done the work left the brush in the ditches and would cause the water to back up in the spring. Councillor Dorie, chairman of the property committee, declared he had given orders to have the work done and would see that the lot was properly cleaned up.

The matter of having all purchases made on the voucher system was brought up by chairman of the finance committee, Reeve Calver. He recommended the slips should be attached to accounts so that each committee chairman would be able to go over and okay his own accounts in a short time. On motion, the finance committee was given power to act in the matter.

Dental Defects Are Numerous

Appointment of a full time dental officer for Peterborough schools was mooted at the Board of Education Tuesday night after members heard a report by Dr. J. C. Green that showed, once again, deplorable condition of children's teeth in this city. Dr. Green is the school dental officer, is employed part time only.

Dr. Green's report covered King Edward and Central schools and revealed that 83 per cent of students at King Edward school needed dental care, 79 per cent at Central school. At King Edward, only 63 pupils out of 361 examined were free of dental defects and of 399 at Central, only 79 had no defects.

He reported that at King Edward school he had found 202 temporary fillings necessary, 208 extractions of temporary teeth, 922 permanent fillings, 41 permanent teeth extractions. At Central school 204 temporary fillings were required, 240 extractions of temporary teeth, 741 permanent cavities, 41 permanent extractions.

Following the reading of the report Dr. A. Moir reported to the board that he doubted, after talking the matter over with some of the city dentists, the practicability of conducting an educational dental campaign for the parents of school children, to impress on them the need for care of their children's teeth. He was convinced, he said, that the only practical solution was the appointment of a full time dental officer.

No Need To Move In Finn War Germany Finds

BERLIN, Feb. 7 — (AP). — The German government can see no basis for mediation in the Russian-Finnish conflict, it was authoritatively indicated to-day after the Reich's envoys to Moscow and Helsingfors had come to Berlin to make personal reports.

Spokesmen said that Finnish President Kyosti Kallio's declaration last Thursday that Finland was ready to make an "honorable peace" offered no concrete basis for action by Germany.

Germany is keeping aloof from the Northern conflict, it was stated, although of course Russia is the Reich's special friend.

Count Freidrich Werner von der Schulenberg, Ambassador to Russia, and Dr. Wipert von Blucher, Minister to Finland, have come to Berlin to give first hand reports.

Von Schulenberg, who arrived yesterday from Moscow, conferred with various Berlin ministries to-day, and it was indicated that difficulties in transportation between the Soviet Union and the Reich were under discussion.

Plans for exchange of Russian raw materials for German industrial goods can not be carried out efficiently, informed sources said, unless better communications are obtained between the two countries.

Canadian Freighter Torpedoed

One member of a reported crew of 77 was reported lost when the Canadian Pacific freighter, Beaverburn, was torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Eire. The 9,874-ton freighter was bound for Canada when struck by a torpedo. No passengers were aboard the freighter at the time of the sinking.

Shorthorn Men Hear Prof. G. E. Day Retiring, 22 Years As Sacretary

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—Prof. George E. Day, retiring after 22 years' service as secretary, was showered with rewards yesterday by the Canadian Shorthorn Association in 48th Annual meeting at the Royal York. Unanimously, he was elected a life member; then he was tendered a luncheon at which he was presented with travelling bag and with an illuminated address, signed by Wm. Waldie, president and H. R. White, of St. Mary's, the new secretary. Then T. A. Russell presented him with a purse and a substantial sum of money to which every member of the association contributed.

And finally, Prof. Day was informed that his retirement, reluctantly consented to, will carry with it a lifetime annuity of $100 per month.

A motion was carried to work with other organizations with a view to having the Royal Winter Fair opened again in 1940, as last year's closing entailed many losses to shorthorn breeders.

A report by . D. Durno, the western representative, showed that bull sales showed increases averaging $25 per head. There is an insistant demand for better bred bulls, and two sold at the exceptional prices of $350 and $800.

A motion was passed to request the registration branch at Ottawa to recognize the protest of the British and Irish shorthorn associations against the use in Canada of names registered in their records.

The financial statement reports receipts of $37,606, of which $27,478 were from registrations and transfers. Cash balance is $6,886. Among the expenditures was $6,234 for exhibition grants and $2,182 for meetings. Assets total $51,567, mostly gilt-edge bonds. Liabilities total $1,708.

In 1939 there were 10,098 registrations, 8,487 transfers and an association membership of 6,146.

PETES SMEAR BELLEVILLE 10 TO 2 FOR A FIRMER GRIP ATOP LOOP

Locals Outclass Homesters In Fair Tussle

Intermediate "A" standing:

Team	P.	W.	L.	T.P.
Petes	7	6	1	1
Fliers	6	4	2	2
Redmen	7	0	7	1

Smearing the Redmen by a 10-2 score last night on Quinte ice, the Petes took a firmer grip on first place in their O.H.A. intermediate "A" group standing. A small Belleville crowd of fans saw the locals in their last scheduled game away from home.

It was a fast open and fairly clean contest, but the Petes looked much superior all the way. They took a 2-1 edge in the first frame, and led 5-1 going into the one-sided third stanza. With Referee McAlpine of Oshawa late arriving, Referee A. Weir of Belleville took over for the first period, McAlpine finishing up. It caused much delay, and the first frame threatened to become unduly rough at times. Later, the teams settled down to fair hockey, speedy most of the way but drab sometimes, too.

Broken Skate

Coughlin broke his skate early in the tussle and had to retire, which necessitated a switch in the locals' front lines. Gardner got a bang with a stick but apparently suffered no real injury. Of the 10 penalties passed out, the homesters drew five. The Redmen have one more game against the Fliers, while the Airmen play the Petes here Friday.

Starr and Heal appeared to be the main scoring threats for the Buckland bunch, but all the forwards were in there regularly for tries and Ellis and Gardner pulled some neat rushes. Harding handled a fairly easy task well, some of the forwards failing to back-check consistently, though the locals' second forward line worked hard both ways. There were no particular stars on the Belleville team, which was without the two Jackson brothers but worked in several strange puckists.

Started Early

The Petes went on the attack early and after two minutes Gardner rapped home Heal's pass at close range. A few minutes later, Coughlin counted a nice one, giving Goalie Watt no chance. The locals continued to hold an edge on play but could not tally, even when Barriage and Windsor were off for penalties. Late in the inning, Howie rapped one past Harding, with Levesque and Windsor both getting assists well inside the Petes' defensive zone.

Starr opened the second stanza with a solo rush and goal. Ellis came back to counter another on a pass from Starr and a few minutes later saw Heal score a nice one with J. Jopling assisting. The Petes bothered Watt regularly with their speed and passing plays through the second inning, which ended with a 5-1 margin for the visitors. Tompkins drew two penalties this heat with F. Jopling getting one and Howie one for the other side.

Blewett made it 6-1 early in the thrid with a sizzling drive around defence, and play was up and down for a space. Then Starr passed to Kingdon and the latter rapped one home on Watt's doorstep. J. Jopling counted again neatly on Heal's assist, and the Petes kept up the torrid pace with another, Tompkins scoring and Kingdon and Starr both aiding inside defence. Storms got one back for Belleville on a lone effort, but Starr concluded the sniping when he bulged the twine on an assist by Ellis. F. Jopling and J. Jopling drew penalties for the Petes, as Windsor and Crawford were gated for the Redmen.

The line-ups:

Belleville: Goal, Watt; defence, McCreary, Crawford; centre, Storms; wings, St. Louis, Barriage; subs, Howie, Windsor, Yates, Levesque, Stojan, Belnap and East.

Peterborough: Goal, Harding; defence, Gardner, Ellis; centre, Kingdon; wings, Tompkins, Heal; subs, Crowe, F. Jopling, J. Jopling, Coughlin, Blewett and Starr.

St. John's Win Cage Tilt From Fliers

A fast-breaking, accurate-passing last half attack gave St. John's a 35-27 win over Trenton R.C.A.F. Intermediate O.A.B.A. entry in a good exhibition basketball game at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

The local junior church team trailed 10-8 at the half, after 20 minutes of hard-checking, fast, but low-scoring basketball, but in the final period the winners started to go as their offence beat the Fliers' defence to the punch.

The winners started fast and ran in several quick ones to lead at one point 23-15 and after that the closest the losers came was within six points, 27-21, mid-way in the period. Both teams missed plenty of chances and poor ball-handling by the winners cost them some more chances, but checking was hard and both teams were forced to shoot fast.

St. John's made three of their five free tosses, while the losers scored seven for nine tries. Stewart, Thomas, Gillespie and Dyer were stand-outs for the winners and Verkerk, Power and McCann were the pick of the Fliers with Verkerk and Power scoring 10 and 8 points respectively. The teams:

St. John's (35).—Centre, Craig 8; forwards, Stewart 10, Marshall; guards, Dyer 3, Thomas 3; subs., Currie, Gillespie 11.

Trenton R.C.A.F. (27).—Centre, Carson 2; forwards, Bailey 5, Power 8; guards, McCann 2, Verkerk 10; subs., Fallis, Gibson, Clifford.

ALEX MOTTER
Detroit Red Wings

Something a little unusual in defences is one of Detroit Red Wings' blue line pairs made up of Ebbie Goodfellow and Alex Motter, both by a coincidence, having played at centre for a large part of their careers. In fact, for Motter, this is his first season back at the blue line, but it's working out fairly well and he and the veteran Ebbie form a steadying influence on the numerous youngsters with the Wings. This is Motter's third season at Detroit, to whom he went from Boston Bruins in exchange for Clarence Drouillard and cash midway through the 1937-38 season. He almost made his pro debut with the Wings, being scouted by Goldie Smith of his native Melville, Sask., who also acts as a Red Wing scout, but when Goldie cast an approving eye at him he (that's Goldie, not Alex) was working for the Bruins. Motter being his last recommendation before changing his allegiance. Alex never saw much N.H.L. action at Boston, being shipped down to the Canadian-American league farm team, first Boston Cubs, later Providence Reds. He was with the latter when the Red Wings secured him. His major league statistical totals for the little action he has seen stood at 11 goals, 32 assists and 27 minutes in penalties until the start of this season. He'll be 27 come June. Played amateur with Regina Pats and Prince Albert Mintos.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Hotter than high noon on Arizona's Painted Desert, the Norwood Hornets are hanging grimly onto top place in the torrid Thump Valley Loop. They're at home in Kemptville this Wednesday eve to the men o' Madoc, and then tackle the Tweed team Friday in Norwood. Meantime, Campbellford treks tonight to Tweed, and is at home Friday to the Bata boys of Frankford. Marmora is at Madoc on Friday. Yassuh, they play a lot of hockey in this T.V.L., and it's good rousing hockey. With many a fight and the odd mob scene when the frantic fanatics get out of hand. Schedule runs right out till March 4th, for the luvva Michael, ere playoffs commence!

Coming up this Thursday p.m. at the palais d'ice on the Rue Brock is another Industrial Hockey League triple-header. Lined up as follows: Canada Packers vs. Raybestos at 7.30, Watercrafts vs. Brintons at 8.30, and Quakers vs. Westclox at 9.30. Marines getting the weekly bye. And Brintons stage the skating party at the Brock on Monday night. The third tussle tomorrow will be a warmish number between the top-place Porridge Punchers and Westclox just a game behind 'em. Packers and Rays will stage a sizzling struggle also, and we look for hectic action in the Watercraft-Brinton joust.

Jim (Pontiac) McMartin

Furthermore, we look for an interesting comeback with Brintons when Coach Jim McMartin dons the skates and takes up a position on defence. On rather reliable authority, we learn that Pontiac (as O.H.A. fans here used to delight in calling him) will be out there trying to lead his team to glory and victoree. Yes, indeed. And who can forget the biff-bing-bang game the veteran Pontiac used to dish up here, with oodles of color and a shot that had the Brock St. north and south walls pock-marked? Jim is said to be in shape now and will be out there proving the truth of the old army song: "Old Soldiers Never Die!"

Corporal Laurie Gibson and his cohorts of the R.C.A.F. camp at Trenton will be here this Friday eve to wind up their O.H.A. intermediate "A" schedule with the Petes. Gibson is the star goalie of the Fliers and he is also a corporal in the Air Force—and a rather tough hombre in a scrap, as well. But not too popular here, where he always gets a ride from the cash customers. He is good, but knows it, and is practically unbeatable when his team is a goal or two up. With the corporal will be Irvine, Deryer, Legris, Baldwin, McNab, Gathercol, Higgins, Harrison, Lemieux and McLeod. Better keep Friday evening open for this event.

With An Adding Machine

Last e'en in Belleville, the Petes had a rather easy chore in slapping over the revamped Redmen by a 10-2 count. To give the locals a tighter grip on first place as they ended their away-from-home schedule for this season. The Redmen went far afield on the prowl for new players, the Jackson brothers not playing this tilt, and even used a real honest-to-gosh Czech hockeyist from Bata, one Jan Stojan—and he went fair. Several other odd characters turned out with Speedy St. Louis' squad, including a guy who couldn't skate, a chap with a cushion bulging out his sweater about the midsection, and a lad who had no pads at all. Yes, the boys of Greater Belleville seldom know each other from one end of the season to the other, so what can ya expect in the way of hockey?

* * * * * *

After a late start—the Oshawa ref, maybe having trouble finding the Quinte centre—the Petes pranced into a quick lead and gradually rolled up the count. They played pretty fair hockey in a so-so sort of scrap, rough in the first period but settling away later to a tidy if one-sided tussle. Coughlin had to retire early when his skate busted and Gardner later got a nasty slash but should be okay for Friday's fray, and the rest seem to be all in good shape. Starr, Heal and Kingdon fired a lot of rubber at Ken Watt, and the rest of the gang weren't a bit backward about stepping forward for a shot, either. Thus endeth the Belleville-Peterborough puck rivalry for this year, a season most definitely the Petes'.

Goal Light Burned Out

About as close as a Rome-Moscow military alliance was the junior joust here last p.m., final count being 18-1 for the Colts. The poor Port Hopers made it a battle in a scoreless first frame, but the bigger and faster Weir puckists ran wild the last two heats. Naturally they should win, being a "B" team in against a "C" squad and also on home ice. It was the second highest junior count of the season, Oshawa Bees previously taking a 20-0 win in Port Hope. A skinny crowd viewed the lop-sided affair as the Colts fattened up their batting averages, and the Harwood hopefuls—in a clean contest—claimed some devil's machinery was tipping the rink up from the opposite side each period to let streams of hot rubber pour over them! Or tho it theemed—tch, tch, that lisph.

* * * * * *

Joe Rochetta and Julian Wade headed the scoring parade for the homesters in a fine performance, each being in on seven goals. With Dutch Pammett and Nels Foster almost up with 'em, being in on six apiece. Nichols played some good hockey, too, and Bill Beggs continued to show class. Rest of the gang went fine, also, the whole crew clicking after the first period like bones on pay night in the cotton belt. The 15-year-old Port Hope goalie kicked out a million but a porous defence let the locals roar in and around him all evening, and darned if the defencemen — who were much milder in their bumps than on home ice — weren't panning the poor kid! It wasn't his fault.

Cude Recalled To Canadiens

WILF CUDE

CLAUDE BOURQUE

Wilf Cude, who has been tending the net for New Haven Eagles this season, has been recalled to Montreal Canadiens, according to a statement by President Savard. Bourque, regular Canadiens' goalie this season, will be given a short rest from N.H.L. competition and play in the International American section. Bourque has been somewhat off color in recent games.

Cleveland Barons Trounce Eagles

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Don Deacon didn't waste much time in paying dividends to Cleveland Barons on the deal that saw him switch from Indianapolis Capitals for Centreman Bob Gracie and cash.

Deacon, the leading scorer in the International-American League last year, switched teams on Monday, and then went out last night with his new club to score the winning goal in a 2-1 victory over New Haven Eagles.

The victory advanced the Barons to second place in the Western Division 10 points behind the leading Capitals and a point ahead of the third place Pittsburg Hornets. Meanwhile, Springfield Indians scored a 2-1 success over Hershey Bears.

Deacon, who had a spell in the National Hockey League this winter with Detroit Red Wings, scored his winning goal in th ninth minute of an overtime period after Earl Robinson had tallied for the Eagles and Ossie Asmundsen for the Barons.

The Indians had to play without Owner Eddie Shore, who was in uniform with New York Americans against Detroit, but they still packed enough punch to edge out a victory on goals by Joe Lamb and Alf Thurier in the third period after Hank Lauzon had opened the scoring for the Bears with a goal early in the session.

Dahlstrom Suffers Blood Clot In Foot

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 — (AP). — Cully Dahlstrom, leading scorer for Chicago Blackhawks in the National Hockey League, is suffering from a blood clot in a vein in his right foot and will be out of the next three games at least, Manager Paul Thompson said to-day.

Loss of Dahlstrom, coupled with the absence of the injured Doug. Bentley, prompted Thompson to recall Ab De Marco form the Providence Reds to serve as a utility forward.

Household wastes are to be collected and utilized in the United Kingdom.

Tony Frightened Someone Will Trim Joe

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 — (AP). — That old cauliflower combination of Two-ton Tony Galento and Yussel the Muscle Jacobs are parrying with a great deal of vigor these days.

It's all because heavyweight champion Joe Louis and the Chilean rough-rider, Arturo Godoy, are tangling for the title in Madison Square Garden on Friday night.

Now, that doesn't seem to add up at first glance, since Tony isn't a party of the first or secnod part in these festivities. But remember that the barrel-shaped gent has met them both and knows what each can do. And, because of—or in spite of—his four-round showing against the Brown Bomber last June, he's in line for a return shot.

Tony and Yussel, his manager, took a look at Joe's semi-final boxing drill up at the champ's Pompton Lakes, N.J., training camp yesterday, and that's when the praying started.

"Y'see, pal," Two Ton said, "Joe's in great shape, and figures to win this one. But he's slipped back, and I'm afraid maybe Godoy or some other guy is gonna hand one on him before I get a crack at the champeenship."

"Look," Yussel interrupted. "Godoy is all shoulders and head. No fighter can get a clean shot at him. His best "punch" is his head to the other guy's chin. And there's always the chance some one he fights will punch him on top of the head—and that fellow's hand will be broken. That happened to Tony with Godoy in Chicago. (Godoy won a six-round decision in that one, and previously had taken a 10-round verdict over Galento in New York.)

Hudson Adds Three To Season's Total

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 7 — (AP). — Ronnie Hudson, scoring sparkplug of the league-leading Indianapolis Capitals, added three more points to his season total during the last week and climbed into a first-place tie with New Haven's Tony Hemmerling for scoring honors in the International-American Hockey League.

League statistics released to-day credited Hudson with a goal and two assists during the week and Hemmerling, kept out of his club's last two games by illness, added but one goal for the 41-point total each has.

Norm Schultz of Springfield add-five points to his total and was pressing the leaders with 38.

COLTS STAMPEDE THROUGH PORT HOPE FOR ONE-SIDED JR. WIN

Local Puckists Cop 18-1 Triumph Over Young Visitors Before A Small Crowd At Home

Running wild in the last two periods here last night, the local Colts swamped Port Hope under an 18-1 score before a slim crowd of fans. After a fairly even first period, the young Petes broke loose to turn the contest into a carnage in their last O.H.A. junior "B" game at home for the schedule.

There was no count in the first, though Colts should have scored several as they had an edge but kept shooting into the goalie's pads and were a bit disorganized. In the second, the Weir squad began to click with their superior speed and experience to ram home 10 goals as the visitors got but one. Again in the third, the homesters had a big margin to tally eight markers and blank the losers.

It was a clean tussle throughout, fairly fast at times but too one-sided after the initial inning to prove very exciting. Some good hockey was shown by the fast-stepping Colts, who passed well and checked well, while the visiting outfit was decidedly outclassed. The ice was rather sticky and interfered some with puck-carying. The refereeing was good all the way.

All Go Good

Rochetta and Wade were the pick of the Peterborough crew as both played fine hockey, each being in on seven goals. Pammett and Foster were right behind with six points apiece, and the rest also turned in a good effort. Beggs was the best local defenceman, while the home goalie had an easy evening. For the visitors, the 15-year-old net-guardian, despite the score, turned in a good effort—having no defence in front of him. Hills and Rowden went fair for the Hopers.

The Colts had an edge in the first but were held off by good checking by the young Ontarios, or else lacked finish when in around the net. They looked three or four goals better in a clean, even period, but their passing was disorganized and they missed half a dozen fine chances at close range. It was a scoreless period, with no penalties handed out.

Go To Town

At the start of the second, Pammett scored in close from Foster, and the Colts began to click to pile it up. Wade rapped in a neat one on Mason's assist, and Rowden scored in a scramble for the Harwood gang's only counter. Rochetta went off for tripping, followed right away by Foster for slashing, but the Hopers couldn't tally. They pressed till all were back and Cournyea kicked out some hot stabs. Rochetta returned to tally in close, and then Wade scored, aided by Foster and Beggs. Rochetta got another from Nichols, and the same pair combined in fine fashion for another, Rochetta sinking it. Pammett bagged Beggs' pass and gave Anderson no chance, and then Rochetta took Nichols' passout to make it 8-1. DeMill went off for tripping, and Foster counted in close on a passout from Wade. Just before the end, Wade scored on Beggs' pass.

The Colts went on the attack again in the third and peppered the young goalie from Port Hope throughout. Hills came close for the visitors but Wade went right back to counter in a scramble at close range. Rochetta got another on Vitarelli's pass and then Pammett bulged the twine on passes from Foster and Wade after an in-close faceoff. Nichols rapped home Rochetta's rebound and Rochetta tore in alone from the faceoff to net another. Rowden made Cournyea jump with a nice rush, but Wade went right back to tally on Pammett's pass. Pammett counted two quick ones near the finish, with Foster assisting on both to make the final count 18-1 for the homesters.

The teams:

Port Hope: Goal, H. Anderson; defence, P. Anderson and Breslan; centre, Pemberton; wings, DeMill and Bradshaw; alternates, Hills, Rowden, Bradley, Snelgrove and Bird.

Colts: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Vitarelli and Beggs; centre, Rochetta; wings, Craig and Nichols; alternates, Wade, Foster, Pammett, Mason, MacDonald and DeCarlo.

Berger Pounds Rinaldi In Bronx Show

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (CP)—Canadian boxers more than held their own in hard-fought bouts here last night before sell-out crowds.

Maxie Berger, clever Montreal welterweight, pounded his way to a unanimous eight-round decision over Johnny Rinaldi of New York before a capacity crowd of 6,000 at the Broadway arena in Brooklyn.

At the Bronx Coliseum, Walter Franklin, hard-hitting middleweight from Hamilton, Ont. battled the "Belting Brakeman" Harry Balsamo of New York to a draw in the eight-round main bout before a crowd of 13,000.

Berger, fighting, his first bout since his wedding last December, found a tough opponent in the bull-like Rinaldi. Maxie weighed 142½ pounds, 1¼ less than his opponent.

Berger began to flash some of his old style after the fifth round and punished Rinaldi with a hard left.

The Montrealer ran away with the last two rounds when he brought into play his right hand, opening a bad cut over Rinaldi's right eye. The Italian was in bad shape at the end of the bout.

In the Coliseum bout, Franklin at 162½ was 1½ pounds lighter than Balsamo. The Canadian brought his heavy artillery into play to floor the Italian for a count of five in the opening round.

Balsamo, reported to have one of the hardest right hands in the business, did little damage to Franklin. He was penalized two rounds for low punching, referee Al Reich awarding Franklin the fourth and seventh rounds.

Balsamo suffered cuts over the right eye and right cheek in the third round.

Two Tweed Games Played To Tie

TWEED, Feb. 7.—(ENS).—In the first game of the East Hastings Rural Hockey League at the local arena on Tuesday night, Farnsworth Bees and the Roslin Imperials played to a two all draw, in a closely contested game.

In the first period McCaw took a pass from Meraw to put the Bees one up, while the second period was scoreless. Three penalties were handed out in the first period.

Meraw took a pass from the corner in the last frame to put the Bees two goals up. However, the Roslin Imperials earned a gift goal, credited to Burleigh, when Palmateer in clearing tossed the rubber behind him into the nets. Hart tallied the tying goal half way through the period. Four penalties were handed out by Sayers in the last session, when the boys showed signs of fighting. Palmateer and Mattis each secured two penalties in the last frame.

Line-ups:

Farnworth Bees—Goal, McIlory defence, L. Gunning, A. Tufts; centre, McCaw; wings, G. Gunning, R. Palmateer; subs, D. Palmateer, S. Bateman, L. Gunning, J. Lajoie, D. Meraw, G. Jones.

Roslin Imperials—Goal, C. Mills; defence, W. Slingerland, S. Colden; forwards, D. Chisholm, H. Hart, J. Mattis; subs, W. Chumbly, J. Chumbly, E. Tracy, D. Barker, H. Vance, E. Burleigh, C. Hart, A. Alford.

Referee—R. Sayers.

A Second Tie Game.

In the second game of the double header, Tweed Bearcats and Plainfield played to a one all tie. In the first period both teams were scoreless. In the second Plainfield took the lead when Platt scored from Denyes. However, in the last period, a backhand shot from Hayes found the corner of the goal to tie the count.

Line-ups:

Goal, McIlroy; defence, Woods, Hall; forwards, Hayes, Thompson, Tufts; subs, D. Courneyea, A. Sherry, Emerson, Doran, Gilroy, Doran.

Plainfield—Goal, Pennington; defence, C. Carleton, Palmer; forwards, Platt, G. Denyes, D. Denyes; subs, Palmer, W. Carelton, Parks, Gray, Harrison, Dunning.

Remember When—

'Way back in the days only sport fans of the horse and buggy era will remember, John L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan in the 9th round at Mississippi City, Miss. 58 years ago tonight, and claimed the world heavyweight boxing title. He later won universal recognition by defeating Jake Kilrain in a 75-round epic at Richburg, Miss., in the last fight under bare-knuckle rules.

Boston Wallops Rangers 6-2; Wings Win 3-1

TORONTO, Feb. 7.—(CP).—Look out for Bill Cowley, the blond and personable centre from Ottawa, via Halifax, as Boston Bruins drive down the National Hockey League stretch in pursuit of the leading New York Rangers.

At this time last season Cowley had scored three goals and contributed 15 assists to the Bruin cause. When the schedule ended, after most of the all-star teams had been picked, Bill had eight goals and 34 assists and had leaped from far down the list to third among the League's individual pointmakers. In the playoffs he led everyone with three goals and 11 assists as Boston won the world championship.

Bill Cowley

Last night Cowley popped in two quick goals and the Bruins swept to a 6-2 success over the Rangers before 15,000 howling customers at Boston. Their first victory over the Blueshirts this season lifted the unpredictable Bears to within a point of the leaders and brought the slippery Cowley his 10th goal and 26th point to date.

Off To Grand Start

Cowley fired a loose puck past Davie Kerr after six minutes and then sliced his way through the Ranger team from his blueline in the second period to make the lead 2-0. Scrapping with the Bruins and arguing with the officials, the Rangers fought in a hopeless cause after that and Kerr took his worst beating of the campaign.

Red Hamill made it 3-0 before the second ended and Herbie Cain scored another Boston goal midway through the third. Neil Colville finally punched in a New York counter but Woody Dumart and Milt Schmidt came right back with goals that put the Bruins up 6-1. Alf Pike hammered a meaningless Ranger score 14 minutes from the finish.

The clubs staged a free-for-all fight in the bitter last peroid and Johnny Crawford of the Bruins drew a misconduct penalty for arguing the wrong way. Cowley drew a major in the second for charging Kerr and the rival captains, Dit Clapper of Boston and Art Coulter of New York, got major sentences in the third for precipitating another free-for-all.

Wings Stop Amerks

Detroit Red Wings, extending their string to seven games without defeat, stopped the Americans 3-1 at New York despite the brilliance of Eddie Shore. The Wings climbed to within two points of the fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks.

Tiny Thompson

Shore sped away from his defence position to tie the score at 1-1 in the second period after Mud Bruneteau had scored for Detroit in the eighth second of play on a dash from the opening face-off. Captain Ebbie Goodfellow and Syd Howe scored for Detroit in the third, however, and Goalie Tiny Thompson was brilliant in the face of American drives led by Nels Stewart.

Poderjay Denies He Is Bigamist

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 — (AP). — Ivon Poderjay says he is no bigamist, even if he did serve five years on such a conviction, and that although his missing second wife is alive, he probably will hunt up his first and go to India.

The soldier of fortune and former Yugoslavian army captain—he was relieved of his rank when convicted—will be deported on Saturday, ten days after completing his term in Auburn Prison. Meanwhile, he is at Ellis Island.

Poderjay sprang into public view when his second wife, Agnes Tufverson, disappeared in December, 1933, a short while after their marriage. She was a prominent New York corporation attorney.

Her husband said he had heard from her by code as recently as seven months ago, and that although he didn't know just where she was, he would find her in two months "if your government would give me a black and white guarantee that nothing would happen to me or her."

He blamed her for his plight, saying "she knew about Mme. Ferrand (Suzanne Ferrand, his first wife) and advised me that it was all right for me to marry her, Miss Tufverson.

"My marriage to Mme. Ferrand in London was illegal in France and also in Yugoslavia, so I was not really her husband. If so, how am I a bigamist?"

Poderjay said he probably would hunt up his first wife somewhere and have a religious marriage ceremony performed.

statements of the local assembly do not represent the opinions of McGill students."

Misleading Title.

"The title 'Canadian Student Assembly' is misleading and deceptive to those who do not know the real nature and purpose of this minority organization," the resolution said.

In a statement commenting on the students actions, Reginald Louthood, chairman of the McGill committee of the C.S.A., said the "traditional basis of university life — freedom and discussion—was arbitrarily set aside."

"The undemocratic tactics of a group of hoodlums has been the means of preventing other students from making a fair and objective judgment of the national conference reports which McGill delegates were prepared to present."

Louthood said the C. S. A. "will welcome the opportunity to present the facts regarding its conference and program at a students' society meeting."

Noisy scenes attended the first meeting, held in Strathcona Hall, facing the entrance gates to the University grounds.

Catcalls, boos and cheers greeted Ivor Williams, chairman of the session and executive member of the C.S.A., when he attempted to call the meeting to order. Richard Murray, leader of the protesting students, had no more success and the C.S.A. executive and their supporters filed from the meeting room.

Finally, as the uproar continued, Alexander J. Grant, warden of the building, aided by Montreal police, turned the students, estimated at about 500 strong, from the building. They went from there to the McGill Union in the next block.

The C.S.A. has been under discussion since Dean C. A. Krug of Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., and two student delegates from that college termed its December conference, which was to have been the subject of yesterday's meeting, "anti-British and anti-war."

The assembly has denied the withdrawal from the body of several university student societies across the country.

Toledo Strikers Stone Guards

TOLEDO, Feb. 7—(AP).—Toledo city officials, posed on the threshold of new industrial warfare, stationed police at Ohio Fuel Gas Company plant today after a stone skirmish between armed guards and striking workers.

Safety director Edward DeAngelo described feeling as "tense." He ordered guards' shotguns put away and instructed patrolmen to prevent a recurrence of the midnight outbreak—first in the six-day labor dispute.

Appearance of about 10 shotgun-bearing guards at the firm's west central avenue plant, in the heart of the industrial district, precipitated the stoning. They took their stations—three in a tower high within the fenced plant—about dusk. The pickets grew in number from a dozen to 300, until, in a flare of tempers, the stoning began.

Police reserves quickly dispersed the throng as the guards ducked to cover without injury. There were no arrests.

The issues involved in the strike are seniority, wages, closed shop and a signed contract.

The strike was called against Ohio Fuel and a subsidiary last Thursday by the Gas and By-products, Coke and Chemical Union.

A priest who had administered last rites for Barnes and Richards left the prison half an hour before the execution.

The rites were administered last night, and the priest told the pair all hope for reprieve or clemency had vanished. They were reported to have spent their last hours quietly.

First Since 1867

Theirs was the first civil trial and execution of Irish Republican extremists since the 1867 hanging of three men for the killing of a Manchester police sergeant. These three became known as the "Manchester Martyrs" to Irish Republicans.

Theirs also were the first death sentences handed down since the I.R.A.—outlawed in Great Britain and Eire—began its violent campaign a little more than a year ago for the avowed purpose of forcibly uniting Northern Ireland with Eire.

Barnes and Richards went to their death despite numerous appeals for clemency or reprive.

One of these, initiated by Premier Eamon de Valera of Eire, was carried last night to Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Nationalist sentiment had risen in Eire accompanied by pleas that carrying out of the death sentence might make British-Eire relations difficult.

Authorities were confronted with the possibility of a renewal of time-bomb explosions such as those yesterday at London's Euston railway station and at post offices in Birmingham and Manchester.

Seven Are Injured

Five persons, postal employees, were injured at London and two at Birmingham in yesterday's renewal of a sporadic, year-long campaign of I.R.A. terrorism.

In the past year, time-bombs have been planted or sent through the mails to burst in public places—particularly railway stations and post offices—in power stations and under bridges. In 1939, bombings attributed to the I.R.A. totalled 291. Seven persons were killed and many injured.

The bomb which Barnes and Richards were convicted of planting burst in the crate of a tradesman's delivery tricycle as it stood along the curb at Coventry last Aug. 5. Five persons were killed.

Barnes and Richard were convicted of murder in connection with one of the deaths—Miss Elsie Ansell, a shop assistant, who was to have been married the following month.

On Dec. 14, the two men were sentenced to be hanged. When sentence was pronounced, Richards shouted: "God bless Ireland and God bless the men who fought and died for her!" Barnes declared he was innocent.

Dublin Tense

DUBLIN, Dec. 7.—(AP)—An atmosphere of tension was evident in the capital of Eire today as news spread of the execution of two members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army at Birmingham, England. There were no demonstrations.

Several sporting events scheduled in Dublin and other Irish cities were postponed because of the executions.

Tom Barry, Irish Republican of Cork, who had sought a reprieve for the condemned men, announced Republican leaders would address a public protest meeting tonight in Cork.

Oppose Policy

BUDAPEST, Feb. 7 — (AP). — Hungary and Bulgaria today indicated vigorous opposition to the Balkan Entente's newly-proclaimed policy of "safeguarding national territory" by demanding explanations as to whether this phrase means upholding the present boundaries of southeastern Europe.

The two nations, which have been campaigning for settlement of their claims on Rumania, undertook to learn from the foreign offices of the Entent whether it had undertaken to resist all possibility of territorial concessions.

Help Keep Up Finnish Morale

A plentiful supply of modern mobile kitchen units gives the Finnish troops a decided advantage over the reportedly ill-equipped Russian forces. Russian prisoners are astounded at the amount of food with which the armed forces of Finland are kept supplied.

White Addresses Havelock Rally

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7.—(ENS). — George S. White, of Madoc, National Conservative candidate for the local Hastings-Peterborough riding in the forthcoming federal election, addressed members of the Havelock-Belmont and Methuen Conservative Associations as they assembled in the local council chamber last night.

Richard Sanderson, president of the village group, assumed the chair for this meeting, at which preliminary details for the campaign were set forth. Other duties made it impossible for Isaac Anderson, president of the township branch, to be present.

Firm support of both Mr. White and Conservative Leader Hon. R. J. Manion was pledged by the meeting. Plans for a general public meeting here early in March are being made, when a prominent member of the Conservative party will be chief speaker.

ing, Mrs. L. Monk, who had nominated Mr. Ainslie, called out, apparently referring to the majority of four for Mr. May: "That was the four who were brought in at the last."

John Barnes, secretary of the meeting, answered with the statement that only three persons had "voted at the last," and as he was the official recorder, his remark was presumably correct.

Large Attendance.

M. H. Park, Public School Inspector, called the meeting to order shortly after eight o'clock. One of the largest class rooms was crowded to its capacity, and more than two-fifths of the ratepayers were women. Others from the section increased the attendance to more than one hundred.

Mr. Park briefly explained the purpose of the meeting, to elect a trustee to the seat declared vacant by judicial order. He explained also that it was the responsibility of the ratepayers to appoint a chairman and secretary of the meeting, receive nominations and take the vote by show of hands or by standing.

Harold B. Rye was almost the unanimous choice for chairman. Only two persons voted for another ratepayer who was proposed.

John Barnes and Arthur Pitchford were proposed for secretary, and the count of the standing ratepayers went in favor of Mr. Barnes by 38-37.

Two Nominated.

Mr. Rye immediately called for nominations. Ernest Ainslie was proposed by Mrs. L. Monk, seconded by A. McIlwain, and Bert May was nominated by Roy Pilling, seconded by Horace Naish.

The division of the ratepayers resulted in a tie, 44 for Mr. Ainslie and 44 for Mr. May.

Bert Arnott then asked for a poll, and his motion was second and adopted. The next three-quarters of an hour was spent in the process of polling nearly one hundred ratepayers. Each person qualified to vote went up to the front of the room and declared his or her choice to the secretary, until the registration was completed. Mr. Rye then announced that ten minutes would have to elapse without any person voting before the poll could be closed. And eventually Mr. May was declared elected by 50-46.

The other two members of the board are W. Harry Welch and Walter E. Bannon.

School Section No. 2 comprises May's School and Confederation School. Mr. May has had previous experience on which he served six years as a trustee.

Eight Ships Sunk 'Not Bad Week'

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP).—The Admiralty announced today that eight British ships totalling 25,069 tons and six neutral vessels of 17,546 tons, were sunk by enemy action during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

The announcement termed this "neither a particularly good nor a particularly bad week."

The Admiralty said Britain had made an average weekly gain of 20,000 tons of merchant shipping by new construction, capture of German ships and purchase of foreign craft, since the start of the war.

A naval source said official reluctance to deny every German claim of success at sea and lack of detailed information about actual losses was due to unwillingness to "give Germany every bit of information on a plate."

"The general policy is not to answer German claims of sinkings because we want to leave them guessing," the naval source said. He added that most Nazi claims of successes were "grossly exaggerated."

London still has fashion shows.

MORE ABOUT—
British Fliers

There are no comparable figures available with allowances added.

When Canadian airmen go overseas the situation will be reversed. They will be paid according to the British standard for their rank. But their dependents in Canada will get Canadian rates.

If, however, the pay and allowances provided under the Royal Canadian Air Force regulations "should exceed those admissible under Royal Air Force regulations, the difference will be issued by the Government of Canada as deferred pay, either on termination of service or otherwise in special circumstances."

It is expected that British fliers in Canada will escape the much heavier British income tax during their residence here. As yet no ruling has been given on income tax, but if the same regulations cover officers that cover civilians they are liable to Canadian levies from the day they arrive in this country. If British fliers pay Canadian income tax, it is expected that Canadians in Britain will be liable to the heavier British rates.

Lady Mechanic Seeks War Job

MONTREAL, Feb. 7 — (CP). — Janet Carruthers of Winnipeg, who likes tinkering with motors as much as she does social life, is on her way overseas where she believes her mechanical bent will help her do her bit in the war.

Janet, who took advantage of her visit to Montreal to attend the socially-important charity ball, isn't sure in what kind of service she'll enlist but knows she'll be useful.

She said last night she learned about motors during summers spent at the Carruthers' summer home on Lake of the Woods.

Janet and a few friends worked during the summer holidays for experience at a garage where "mechanics laughed when we appeared at nine o'clock in the morning and climbed into our overalls for a day's work.

The same mechanics had a "holy respect" for the girls after they had worked steadily for several weeks.

CARRERAS LTD. LONDON, ENGLAND (EST. 1788) 150 YEARS' REPUTATION FOR QUALITY

FROM men and women in all parts of the riding and in all walks of life offers of help have been pouring into the Conservative headquarters. That is fine. This fight for a more vigorous Canadian participation in the war is not a one-man affair. It is a task that challenges every man and woman who believes that the Dominion's share in Empire defence should not be half-hearted and inadequately representative of the will-to-serve and the resources of this Dominion.

The opportunity to strike a blow against Hitlerism arises in this campaign. The election in Canada of Hon. R. J. Manion's national government, pledged to prosecute the war with the utmost vigor, will hit Nazi dictatorship like a depth bomb. It is up to Peterborough to elect Gordon K. Fraser as a member of that government.

We want your help. Drop into headquarters at 392 George Street or telephone 9922 and line up in this crusade for a live, virile government at Ottawa.

Fire Department Had 591 Alarms During Past Year

The Fire Department responded to 591 alarms last year, Chief Gimblett records in his annual report to the council. Calls by telephone were 534, from boxes 23, verbal 24, sprinkler alarms 8, and Chief's special 2.

There was an increase of 97 alarms and 13 fires over the previous year, the number of alarms setting a new record with 14 more than the last peak.

Total damage during the year amounted to $32,650.05 from 48 fires "of a more or less serious nature." The loss was an increase of $11,350 over the prvious year, and the number of those fires was 26 more than in 1938.

"In addition, the department responded to 7 inhalator calls, 6 drownings, of whom one drowned, and one accidental death. The conduct of the department has been exceptionally good."

Chief Gimblett again recommends the building and manning of a bungalow station in the southern section of the city, and that two more men be added to the strength of the department to bring it up to the required strength of one man per thousand of population, "as we have only 22 men for a population of 24,171."

"Again I most strongly recommend to the council to establish a pension fund for the fire department members."

Inspector's Report.

Captain A. McDonald reported 5,206 inspections last year, as follows: Stores 2,742, hospitals and public institutions 21, schools 45, churches and Sunday schools 52 factory inspections 76, theatres 11, dwellings 2,032, special 84, chimneys 143.

Re-inspections: Stores 228, dwellings 291, special 18, chimneys 74—total 611.

Dilapidated buildings taken down 32, chimneys rebuilt 65, Fire Marshal's orders served 3, fire prevention orders served 24, letters sent out re fire hazards 8, inspections by Chief 534.

Various other activities by the inspection department were reported by Captain McDonald.

The amount of the insurance on the buildings involved in the 534 alarms last year was $384,765, and the loss on buildings was $21,627.33. The insurance on contents was $57,-175, and loss on contents was $11,-022.72. Total insurance was $443,-940, and total loss $32,650.05; and the loss not covered by insurance was $745.

Causes Of Fires.

Chief Gimblett's report includes an analysis of the causes of fires last year. Of the 591 alarms 319 were for pipes and chimneys, children with matches 13, outside the city 15, grass and rubbish 40, spontaneous combustion 7, defective wiring 9, defective chimneys 9, incendiary 3, cigarette butts 9, automobiles 19, sparks 14, clothes close to stove 2, damper shut off 1, and many other classifications.

Windy April led the year with 67 alarms, May was second with 66 and January third with 65.

One of the Gimblett charts shows that fires begin to break out when people are up and about, and that their number declines when folks go to bed. The noon hour topped the time of day with the most alarms with a total of 53. On the other hand at 3 a.m. there was only 1 fire; at 1 a.m., 6; at 2 a.m., 2; at 4 a.m., 2; and the number for each hour from then on up to noon was 5; 2; 5; 24 (at 8 a.m.) 31; 37; 39 and 53. The morning total was 207, and the number of alarms during the afternoons was 384. The peak of alarms in the afternoon was at 1 o'clock; 26 at 3 p.m.; 44 at 6 p.m.; and then gradually declining to 11 at midnight.

Evidently the night shift at the fire hall escaped serious interruption of sleep during the year with only 29 alarms from 12 p.m. to 6 a.m. inclusive, although their evenings were decidedly active.

Frank Statement.

Chief Gimblett makes the frank statement that 10 of the 48 fires he singles out for listing damage were extinguished by "nothing used"; six were by water; 2 by booster and water; 1 by chemical and water; 4 by chemicals; 23 by handpumps; 2 by master hose and chemicals.

Two major fires last year were: Market hall, $14,213.93, and Parker's Dye Works, $12,290.95.

CONDITION IS IMPROVED

HASTINGS, Feb. 7— (ENS). — The condition of Oscar Scriver, injured at a hockey game here Monday night, was reported as good by Dr. W. N. Campbell Tuesday night. He said the lad was strapped and would be able to move about the house to-day. Oscar received a flesh wound and several ligaments in his back were torn when he was struck by a hockey stick.

A Poser

"I'm afraid you have me out on a limb. I don't know," was the admission drawn from Dr. R. F. Nott, newly appointed school medical officer when T. J. Carley, K.C., asked a question at the meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night.

Dr. Nott favored making all children who had left school suffering from a communicable disease bring a certificate of health from the city Medical Officer of Health before re-admission.

"What about their books?" asked Mr. Carley. 'What do you do about them?" He wanted to know whether the books of a student with, say, scarlet fever, were removed from the desk and fumigated, or were they left there for other pupils to use at will. None could answer him.

When the question of possibility of contracting such a disease through books came up, Dr. A. Moir recalled that a patient of his had contracted scarlet fever through a letter.—P.

Admit Reporters To Committees

Newspapers will be represented at committee meetings of the Board of Education in future unless two-thirds of the members vote for their exclusion, it was voted at Tuesday night's meeting of the entire Board.

The motion was presented by G. Wilson Craw, and was seconded by T. J. Carley, K.C. The motion read: "That the motion passed by the Peterborough Board of Education on January 4, 1934, be amended so as to read: 'That in the future all committee meetings of this Board be open to the Press, but should a committee desire that the press should be excluded from any meeting for any reason they may be excluded by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members of the committee present at such meeting; and that the press be notified by the Secretary-Treasurer of all meetings."

The 1934 motion read that the press could be excluded at the discretion of the chairman of any committee.

Feeling of the meeting was that the press should be excluded from some meetings where matters of a confidential nature are brought up.

Mr. Carley believed, too, that presence of the press might sometimes eliminate "frank and free" discussion of topics.

Warsaw Congregation Holds Vestry Meeting

WARSAW, Feb. 7.—(ENS)—The anual vestry of St. Marks' Anglican Mission was held on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tighe. The Rev. R. T. F. Brain, priest in charge of the mission, was chairman of the meeting.

The report of the last vestry was read by the vestry clerk, Mr. Jackson. Officers of the vestry elected were Mr. Gordon Cuffe, people's warden; while Mr. Brain appointed Mr. T. Send School Choir To Music Festival

If parents notice in the next few days that their youngsters have started to run up and down the vocal scale in place of singing—interminably—"O Johnnie," they are not to worry. Nothing is wrong.

All that is happening is that they are vieing for a place on the Provincial Choir at Massey Hall when the Ontario Educational Association holds its convention this spring. Twelve Peterborough pupils are to go for authorization to do so was given Miss Rannie by the Board of Education on Tuesday night. Schools from every part of the province are represented in the huge choir.

BERLIN (AP)—Lively scouting activity developed between Mettlach and the Palatinate forest on the Western Front, the German News Agency reported today in elaborating on a brief military communique.

Artillery fire was weak, the agency said, but one reconnaissance squad engaged in an energetic scuffle east of the Moselle River yesterday and one German soldier was killed. The high command communique said "No special events."

LONDON (CP)—Members of a Royal Air Force squadron served as a guard of honor to their fallen foe when three German airmen were buried today.

The aviators' bodies were washed ashore near the scene of an air battle off the Northumberland coast in which a German plane was felled.

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The newspaper Le Journal said today that Prince Ernst Von Hohenburg, younger son of the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand, whose assassination at Sarajevo precipitated the last war, died decently in the Nazi concentration camp at Dachau. He was 35 years old.

Le Journal said it was informed of the 35-year-old prince's death by "the Brussels radio." Prince Ernst had been imprisoned with his brother Maxmilian since the Anschluss, the paper said.

LONDON (CP)—Several wireless-equipped weather balloons which apparently had been sent out from across the North Sea were found today on the east coast of England.

The transmitters attached to the balloons automatically broadcast atmospheric pressure and other meteorological data, which could be picked up by listening posts on land or at sea. The authorities took charge of the balloons.

CALGARY.—(CP). — Reinforcements for an Alberta contingent, now overseas with the First Division, will be recruited in Alberta, it is announced here.

AMSTERDAM.—(AP).— Resignation of the commander-in-chief of the Netherlands army and navy, Lieut.-General I. H. Reynders, was caused by differences with the government over "problems of military policy," parliament was told to-day by Prime Minister Derek Jan De Geer.

In response to a question the Prime Minister said that "without damaging the interests of the nation" nothing further could be disclosed. Reynders resigned Feb. 5 after serving five months as commander-in-chief.

LONDON.—(CP).— British-Spanish talks are under way concerning the sale of copper from British-owned mines in Spain, the Ministry of Economic Warfare, said today.

These mines are the source of one leak of vital war material which Britain is anxious to halt in her campaign to keep vital raw materials from reaching Germany.

FREDERICK, Md.—(AP).—Senator Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, told an audience last night that military necessity may force Germany to invade Holland and establish an air base within 150 miles of England. Economic necessity may force Germany to invade Rumania to obtain wheat and oil supplies, he said.

Tydings advocated an American army and navy "equal to those of any other nation, for there is not only the possibility that we may be drawn into the war against our will: we must be prepared for the dislocations and difficulties that will accompany the cessation of war."

Craw complained that pianos in two schools at least were seriously out of tuning and asked what provision was made. He was informed the work of tuning was done by one man. "How can you expect to teach music when the pianos in our schools are so badly out of tune?" he asked. "The pianos in our schools are a disgrace to the Board of Education."

Purchase Is Banned Of Military Equipment

The public is warned that it is illegal to purchase military equipment from members of His Majesty's forces.

The point comes to light by reason of a case in Oshawa in which a merchant bought a pair of military boots from a member of the Tank regiment.

The accused was allowed to go with a warning by reason of the fact that the illegality of buying military clothing or other equipment in this way does not seem to be generally known. The incident, however, is expected to act as a deterrent to others who may be tempted when a soldier offers something for sale.

Department Rules M.O.H. Must Be Thoroughly Qualified Official

Notices to the City Council from Dr. J. T. Phair, Toronto, Chief Medical Officer of Health, relating to qualifications for the position of Medical Officer of Health in communities the size of Peterboorugh, are mentioned by Alderman Stocker as confirming his persistent demands.

Quotations from memoranda are summarized as follows: "In the event of there being no resident physician available with the qualifications required, provision will be made whereby the physician appointed will be permitted to secure such qualifications after his appointment, but prior to his taking over the responsibilities of this office."

"No person shall be appointed full time Medical Officer of Health unless prior to his appointment he has secured a certificate or diploma issued by a Canadian university, following not less than a year's full time post-graduate study of public health.....No person shall be appointed part time M.O.H. in municipalities exceeding 4,000 unless prior to appointment he has devoted not less than one month to a course of instruction required by the Minister of Health and completed to his satisfaction, or has had at least five years' experience as M.O.H. in a comparable municipality in Ontario."

Alderman Stocker said he had contended that thoroughly qualified officials were necessary, and that the Department of Health took the same view of the importance of this work. He also referred to a regulation now requiring that a full time Sanitary Inspector must be a veterinary surgeon, or prior to his appointment has secured the certificate granted by the Canadian Public Health Association or by organizations recognized by the Association for this purpose."

Committee Is Resentful Of Board's Action

The Board of Education's Advisory Vocational Committee, half of whose members are not members of the Board, has pared estimates for expenditures in 1940 from $3,300 to $1,846, a reduction of $1,354, on request of the Board.

T. J. Carley, chairman of the committee, submitted the revised estimates to the Board Tuesday night under the signature of G. A. Macdonald. "In submitting this revised estimate, your committee feel they should express their considered opinion, that the efficiency of this Department of the educational work, for which there is a fixed expenditure of approximately $65,000 per year, is being seriously impaired by this drastic cut, in much needed equipment and supplies," the report added.

Mr. Carley felt there was "quite a bit of false economy about this reduction." He said that while work could possibly be carried on at about the same level as in past years, the Board should consider that "if demand for this kind of worker is increased, we must not stand pat, but must advance to meet it."

Chairman D. G. H. Melton said the Board felt it had to restrain new capital expenditures and that many of the items contained in the original estimate had been for such expenditures. His point was that the Board's requirement from the city must not keep advancing year after year.

Mr. Carley complained that the members of the committee were not given an opportunity to state their case, but were asked arbitrarily to reduce their estimate. "It hardly seems right when a committee has gone into a thing earnestly and conscientiously, that someone who has not sat in on their meetings or on the arguments in favor of those expenditures, should slaughter their estimates," he declared.

"It does seem autocratic, doesn't it?" said Chairman Melton, and Dr. A. Moir agreed.

The Board's reason for asking the committee to reduce the estimate was that the committee would be able to choose the things they could best do without in light of those earlier meetings, Alex. Sollitt pointed out. The other course would have been for the Board to name them—a more arbitrary method.

Mr. Melton said that the discussion might well bear fruit another year, when committee members could be called in for a conference on estimates, along with other committees, when the finance committee held its meeting to prepare estimates.

OBITUARIES

MRS. WILLIAM H. COMSTOCK.

For many years a well-known resident of Asphodel Township, Margaret Elmhurst, beloved wife of William H. Comstock, passed peacefully into rest at her home, after a short illness on Thursday, January 25.

Born in Otonabee Township on October 2, 1859, she was the last of a family of eight, of the late Richard Elmhurst and Margaret Steele. Her radiant personality and warm hospitality won for her many friends who regret her passing.

Besides her sorrowing husband she leaves to mourn the loss of a loving wife and mother, seven children, Mrs. S. McDonald (Edythe) of Norwood, Mrs. Albert Graham (Bessie) of Peterborough, Wilbert of Castle Point, Manitoba, Harry of Unity, Saskatchewan, John and Harold of Lloydminster, Saskatchewan (the latter driving home in time for the funeral), and James at home.

The funeral, which was held on Monday, January 29, was largely attended and the beautiful floral tributes bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which she was held.

Services at the house and graveside were conducted by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough. Miss Bryce of Keene sang "The City Four-Square." Interment was made in Westwood Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Stephen, Charles, Harry and Louis Elmhurst, Robert and Donald Hope.

SILAS PEARSON.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7 (ENS). — The funeral of the late Silas Pearson, Lakefield, was held on Sunday afternoon from the family residence, Bridge Street.

Mr. Pearson was born in Smith Township eighty-five years ago, son of the late Elizabeth Freeburn and Harvey W. Pearson. He had farmed in this township until thirty-five year sago, when he moved to Lakefield, where he resided until his death. He was a member of the Lakefield United Church, but owing to ill-health had not been a regular attendant in late years. Rev. George Kelly had charge of the funeral service. The esteem in which he was held was evidenced by the many friends who attended his funeral.

Left to mourn his loss, besides his wife, formerly Mary Northey, are four daughters, Elizabeth (Mrs. Walter Nugent) of Peterborough, Elsie (Mrs. William Boville) of Montreal, Vernie of Timmins, and Marion (Mrs. Curtis Van Duzer) of Rochester, and one son Elwood of Temagami, also four brothers, Samuel of Peterborough, Nathan of Buckhorn, Harry of Smith, and Harvey of Peterborough.

Pall-bearers were: Stanley Pearson, Elmer Northey, Russel Rosborough, Reg. Pearson, Wellie Pearson, and Bruce Preston. Interment took place in Lakefield Cemetery.

Three Women!

SHE was tall and slim like a young birch tree, well groomed and rather expensively dressed, and her voice, at least her trading voice, was level and low. She looked like a young lady of leisure, and when she had gone out, the proprietor said: "I wish I had more customers like her," and by way of explanation he added, "She bought a $1.50 worth of cigarettes."...It was about 10:15 p.m. in a restaurant. Half a dozen persons were quietly reading and eating. The library atmosphere of the place, at least it was then, was abruptly broken by a young girl who strode from a bench, calling: "Hey Charlie! How about rushin' that order for me; I gotta a date and I haven't any time to waste around here." She seemed to be about fourteen or sixteen...Noon hour in the same place, and heavily perched on an end stool was a woman who from her appearance will never see seventy again. She was partly leaning on the counter, sipping coffee, and between sips she was puffing a cigarette; seemed to be inhaling it, too. Of course, if you are indifferent to people, you might pass her by without a second glance, but otherwise you look twice, and even a third time at an unusual variation of the feminine scene. And you might recall lines from an old school book:

"The woman was poor and old and gray,
And bent with the chill of the winter day..."

and you knew although the rest of the exemplary poem escaped your memory, that there was nothing in it about the old woman tossing away a cigarette butt before a boy arrived to help her across the traffic lane; and you might speculate about the possibility of "Somebody's Mother," exhaling cigarette smoke being left to her own devices at the busy corner; or would a "fag" make any difference in that school book scene?

No Old Uniforms Available For City Cadets

The Board of Education would not find old style military uniforms, still in use by Canadian active service troops in the country, good enough for use by Cadets in the Collegiate, was the astonishing verdict of Captain P. M. Millette in a letter read at the Board of Education meeting on Tuesday night.

The Board had written to ask whether, in view of the fact that, new-style uniforms are being worn by overseas soldiers, "here were any old-style uniforms suitable and available for Peterborough Cadets, who are sorely in need of new equipment.

Not only are the old uniforms still in use by Canadian active service troops, but there aren't enough to go around them, Captain Millette replied. In any case, he believed that the Board would not find the uniforms suitable because they are worn out.

School Doctor Reports.

The Board heard Dr. R. F. Nott, newly appointed medical officer for Peterborough schools, outline an exhaustive program aimed at improving health of school children. He said he had been in touch with Dr. Phair of the Department of Health and two school medical officers in other communities, collaborating with them on the procedure to be followed.

His program included three medical examinations for each pupil during the time he was attending Public School. First examinations were to be made with parents present wherever possible, he said, emphasizing the importance of medical history which could be gleaned in only small part from the youngsters themselves.

He advised that he would be willing to add Collegiate students to his number of patients, citing the advisability of examining students who are taking part in strenuous exercise.

In his work in schools so far, Dr. Nott said he had been impressed by the interest evinced by parents. In fully 85 per cent. of examinations to date, parents have been present. In most other cases they have sent notes explaining their absence. Only two parents have refused to let him examine their children, he said.

Youth Suffers Leg Injuries

Young Hotts was tossed off his bicycle in the crash and hurt his right leg when he struck the road. He was taken to the Standard Surgical and Medical Clinic where his injury was treated.

Auxiliary Reviews Book On India

The Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox United Church held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. John Donaldson, 593 Bolivar street, with Mrs. Howard Clegg, president, presiding for the opening exercises. Mrs. Ross Williamson played quiet music while silent prayers were offered by the members, concluding with the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was given, and reports of the secretary and treasurer adopted.

Interesting reports of the 12th annual Presbyterial meeting held in St. Andrew's Church January 23, were given by Mrs. O. Gourley and Mrs. R. Hanscom. An announcement of the World Day of Prayer, to be held in the Salvation Army Temple on Friday, February 9, was made by Mrs. Clegg.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. R. Hanscom and had as its theme, "Beginning From Jerusalem." Scriptural readings were given by Mrs. M. Starr, Mrs. R. Goodfellow and Mrs. R. Bowen. Prayer was led by Mrs. G. Hutchinson.

Chapter Six of the study book entitled "The Christian Church in India," was capably handled by Mrs. R. Hanscom, assisted by Mrs. J. Donaldson, Mrs. I. Oesch and Mrs. H. Clegg. Charts were used showing India as the home of nine different religious groups with the Christian church having the highest percentage of literary male and female. It is the aim of India to have her own people as leaders, and the service rendered through the Indian Christian Church can be a powerful factor in the regeneration of the land.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction.

Over 80 Young People Attend Y.P.U. Meeting

Mr. Phil Ristow presided for the Christian Fellowship of George Street Church Y.P.U. Tuesday evening, at which over eighty young people were present. A sing-song was led by Miss Loretta McDougall, and the call to worship by Miss Elspeth Boorman. Brief and appropriate poems were read between verses of the hymn, "O, Word of God Incarnate," by Mr. Ristow, who also led in prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Mr. Roy Hudson, and a story of the life of Jenny Lind was told by Miss Noreen Dunford.

An address on success was given by the leader, in which he stated that one must love one's work, putting into it everything one has without thought of reward, which would then take care of itself.

Mrs. Lloyd Ash, president, conducted the business.

Announcement that the meeting next week will be held in the board room of the church was made. All those wishing to identify themselves with the church were requested by the pastor, Rev. M. C. Parr, to get in touch with him.

An impromptu program, under the leadership of Mr. Lloyd Parnall, was an enjoyable feature.

Western Missionary Tells Her Experience

A large number of members were present Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Murray Street Mission Circle to hear Miss Abbie Garbutt, a misisonary among the new Canadians of the west, who was guest speaker.

Mrs. H. H. Graham presided, and introduced Miss Garbutt, who is a former resident of this district. Her bright, natural manner and her lucid story of varied experiences in the West held the listeners' utmost interest. Her success with lantern slide services and the unique Sunday School services by post were evidence of the endeavors and resourcefulness of this fine missionary.

An added feature of interest was a sacred song by Mrs. Gibson, whose rich contralto voice was heard to advantage in the hymn, "Take Time to Be Holy." Mrs. L. Gould was the accompanist.

Mrs. Graham expressed the thanks of the Circle to Miss Garbutt and Mrs. Gibson.

Wm. Wheeler Tells Of Conditions In The West

Missionary work and conditions in the west were spoken of by Mr. Wm. Wheeler at the Y.P.U. meeting of St. Andrew's Church Tuesday evening. Mr. Wheeler has just returned from a mission station at Milestone, Sask., thirty-six miles from Regina, and is well known among the young people of the city.

Mr. Harry Vass was in charge of the meeting, which was on "Citizenship." The Bible reading was given by Mr. James Harris. A short and interesting quiz contest was conducted by Miss Dorothy Ridyard.

A sleigh-ride, which leaves the church at eight o'clock, will be held by the group on Tuesday evening of next week.

FASHIONS

A suspender skirt with a contrasting plaid jacket is the delight of every little girl. You can make this outfit for your young daughter to wear to school, and very easily too. She will love the full, flared skirt with its pointed waistband and trim suspender straps. The jacket will keep her extra warm on cold day, under her coat, and will serve as a suit jacket when the weather grows warm. Dark cotton, sheer wool or rayon crepe, are all practical, suitable fabrics for such an ensemble. The blouse is included.

Style No. 3087 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1½ yards of 39-inch material for suspender skirt; ¾ yard for short-sleeved jacket; 1¼ yards for blouse.

WHITE IN BRIEF

By ALICE ALDEN

MADELEINE CARROLL never fails to do well by herself, as this recent picture again proves. Her pretty face and figure justify the brief playsuit others of us will leave to tots (including the wistful-eyed Carolyn Lee), or will top with a matching skirt or beach coat. It's vanity, not modesty, which accounts for the knee or slightly-below trend in play togs; most of us need a little coverage on the tennis court and on the sands. One fashion pointer all of us can take from this twin pose, though, is that white is a leading resort choice from morning until after midnight. Frequently, it's set off with patriotic red and blue, if in nothing more than nail lacquer and sun glasses. And it's about the loveliest possible contrast for a golden tan.

Try Shopping For Relief From Winter Doldrums

By FLORA

Yesterday we remarked about a drab world that had come out from under its transforming mantel of white snow to make our mid-winter doldrums seem even more profound, but this morning as we sit at our typewriter we can glance out over a world that is bright and cheerful again for a brief window tour of the town that heightened interest in living and caused a secret thrill.

Up one side of the street and down the other may not sound much like an exciting stroll, but we found it so. Mentally we were blossoming forth from head to toe in a symphony ensemble that had color as its grace note.

You must have noticed the hats—afte rall, they are a woman's first thought when she fells the need of a "lift," and what female doesn't understand the amazing things even a new chapeaux can do for a dull winter wardrobe—and not just outwardly, either—it has power to snatch one up into a new world just as soon as the flower-bedecked creation snuggles gayly down above a once discontented nose.

Swagger felts in a dozen of interesting shades in one window had just come out of perky boxes lined with orchid and yellow tissue, and in another a straw sailor with a bright green taffeta bow caught the eye. Further down the street was a window filled with flower garden hats—every variety of posy that ever grew went into their making, and the effect was pure enchantment.

Typical of the new popularity of grey, we noticed a simple little frock of light wool with a skirt flaring from stitched pleats at the waistline, and white, green and red woven stripes of color adding brightness. For the girl who prefers the smartness and practicability of black, there was a chic little frock with a froth of narrow lace at the neck and forming a crisp jacket. Pastel frocks of crepe and light wool are everywhere, and the shades are very delectable and amazingly flattering. Prints, too, are as popular at this season as ever, and everyone knows how idea they are for wear beneath a fur coat.

Shoes, gloves, bags and other accessories are creating an unusual disturbance in the fashion world because of their interesting materials and colorings, and there is lots to be said for a gay little bouquet of flowers to adorn a winter lapel.

Valentine Tea Is Held in Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7.—(ENS)—Under the capable leadership of the hostesses, Mesdames S. E. White and H. R. Howden, the annual Valentine Tea of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, held in the parish hall on Tuesday afternoon was a most successful event of the Valentine season. The hall was prettily decorated with the Valentine symbols and suitable Valentine pictures.

Mrs. J. Twist and her committee, Mesdames S. Touchburn, Percy Watson and Miss Amy Watson were in charge of the daintily arranged tea tables, each of which was centred with a scarlet tulip in a silver holder.

The surprise table was something new and the ladies in charge, Miss Florence Atwood and Miss Susie Hetherington did a thriving business. Each parcel was wrapped but the customer was assured each contained the value of the purchase.

The appetizing home cooking table was in charge of Mesdames F. Kendall and H. Wannamaker. Many were the articles offered to the guests who were in search of dainty aprons and many other neatly finished novelties. Mesdames E. Waldon and T. Junkin presided at this table.

As always the fish pond drew the attention of the younger guests and did a rushing business with Mrs. H. F. Ketchum in charge.

The candy table in charge of Mrs. William Webdale reported large receipts.

The results of the tea were most gratifying as reported by the cashier, Mrs. C. Stenner.

World Prayer Be Broadcast Theme

A special coast-to-coast broadcast over the C.B.C. network in connection with the World Day of Prayer is to be held Thursday, February 8, at 4.15 eastern time. Mrs. G. Ernest Forbes, chairman of the Inter-Board Committee of the Women's Missionary Societies of Canada, will conduct the service.

Groups of women throughout the world will unite in observance of the World Day of Prayer on Friday. The program to be used by Christian women all over the world was prepared by the Misses Muriel and Doris Lester, founder of Kingsley Hall in the East End of London. Its theme is "In Quietness and Confidence shall be Your Strength." Offerings received at these meetings will be used to supply Christian literature to many lands.

The service in Peterborough will be observed in the Salvation Army Temple, with a meeting for senior women at three o'clock; C.G.I.T. groups from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening, and business girls from 8 to 9.

Hockey Dance Held In Lakefield Hall

This Lovely Footstool Simple to Make

Cover in Victorian Style

Comfortable and colorful is this Victorian footstool. And its foundation is just a pair of cake cutting boards, its legs—doorstops!

To make, glue between two boards four wooden blocks, each about an inch thick and two inches square. Now screw your doorstops into your bottom board as our diagram shows—piercing each of the four blocks. Paint doorstops in a gay color.

To pad the top of the stool, cut three circles of cotton batting, one the exact size of the surface, one a little smaller, the third smaller still. Place this smallest circle on the stool, then the next size, then the largest. Press edges down firmly.

For a cover—choose flowered chintz, a gay cretonne or lovely needlepoint. Cut a circle large enough to reach down sides of stool to bottom board, fasten in four places, then tack down in small pleats about one inch apart. For a finish—a fluffy fringe.

Full directions for making this stool and 23 other useful, attractive articles are given in our 32-page booklet. From inexpensive materials easily you make a smoking set, candle holders, book ends, tea tiles, many more items desirable for home or gifts.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of DECORATIVE AND USEFUL OBJECTS EVERYONE CAN MAKE, to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Every Man and Woman Should Make Ready for the Time When They Will Be on Their Own Resources After Their Time of "Usefulness Is Over."

All intelligent human beings recognize the wisdom of laying up money for a rainy day so that they may not be a burden upon others, or suffer the degredation of dependence when they are no longer able to be self-supporting.

But very few people ever give even a thought to making any mental provision for the time when their plan of life may be broken up and they are left alone, so that they may save themselves from becoming bore sand afflictions to all who know them.

Of the two catastrophies, the latter is more likely to happen to us than the first. We can safeguard our money, but there is no way in which we can protect ourselves against the death of those we love, against separation from friends, against the breaking up of our homes, or against our children leaving us and going about their own affairs. When this happens to us we are paupers in happiness if we have not some resource within ourselves that makes us independent of balance of the world. That few people have this consolation is proved by the fact that when most men give up their business or profession they are restless, dissatisfied and miserable, and rarely survive more than a very few years. As Chauncey Depew once said, there are plenty of men who have enough to retire on, but they have nothing to retire to. They made shrewd investments for the long pull in business, but none for the long pull of age, and when it comes they are unprepared to meet it. No sight is more pathetic than that of men who have been used to juggling railroads and banks and factories trying to amuse themselves knocking little golf balls about.

With women the case is even worse. Especially with the woman who is all mother and whose whole life has been bounded by the four walls of her home. Since her first baby was born she has never read anything but the baby book, she has never talked of anything except the children and her household affairs. Empires may fall and dynasties rise and they were less important to her than the baby cutting a tooth, or butchers' meat having gone up a cent a pound. She has had no interest, no thought, no pleasure except in her home.

Then her little world falls apart. The husband dies. The children marry and set up homes of their own. Young people no more bring gayety and laughing and dancing to the house. There is nobody to get up good dinners for. There is no work to do. Nothing to keep her occupied. She has given up her friends long ago. She has never been interested in any "causes." She is poorer and more unhappy than the washwoman who scrubs clothes for a living because she, at least, has something to do.

It is these women who have plen-

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.

Gives Quick Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of really splendid cough remedy—and it gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love its taste.

And for quick, satisfying relief, you'll say it's really splendid. It has a three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear air passages. You'll be delighted by its prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and guaiacol, in concentrated form, a well-known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

"The Late Miss Smith Isn't late any more!"

"How can I be early when I even wake feeling tired?" she used to say. Many people have this dull feeling that drags on them like a ball and chain.

Often the cause is a sluggish system—due to too little "bulk" in the diet.

Post's Bran Flakes help to prevent this trouble. They provide bulk in the form of bran—the natural regulator—to keep food wastes moving promptly.

"Now I eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly," says Miss Smith, "I'm always right on my toes. And how delicious they are, too!"

HELP keep your family free from the effects of faulty elimination by serving Post's Bran Flakes regularly. They are so appetizing, wholesome and convenient. If this does not readily relieve constipation due to insufficient bulk in the diet, it's time to consult a physician.

Novelist Weds Despite Temple Drama

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Ludwig Lewisohn, an immigrant intellectual who wooed and won three women, set out today to gain custody of his six-year-old son from his self-designated common-law wife.

The 56-year-old novelist, literary critic, scholar and translator, said he and his bride of a day, Edna Manley, 31, a former newspaper reporter, would go to court, if necessary, to get back the boy.

"I am determined to get Jimmy back," said the writer.

Lewisohn said Thelma Spear, concert singer, poetess and mother of his son, is "a friendly, mutual agreement" last summer had given him custody of the boy, but later got him back by "tricking" his housekeeper.

Miss Spear, holding Jimmy by the hand and trailed by her attorney, tried to stop the Lewisohn-Manley wedding in Baltimore yesterday by rushing into Har Sinai Temple, protesting:

"This wedding must not take place. I have been his wife, his muse, his soul!"

3 Hour Delay

The ceremony went on — three hours later—despite her objections, and her counsel, Bernard Sandler of New York, made a bigamy complaint against Lewisohn.

Back in New York, Miss Spear wept in a telephone interview:

"I am a spiritual refugee, hounded and persecuted. I gave Ludwig 16 years of my life. I inspired all he ever did. I was a mother, wife, housekeeper and secretary to him. Now he casts me aside like an old rag.

Sandler said the novelist owed Miss Spear $9,000. He said he was contemplating an action for a declaratory judgment ruling the child legitimate and voiding the marriage yesterday on the grounds Lewisohn was in reality the husband of his client.

The first Mrs. Ludwig Lewisohn, who tiffed with the author in court 13 years before obtaining a divorce Oct. 1, 1937, said she had given him a divorce "so that he could marry Thelma."

of money to live on, but nothing within themselves to live with, who become a social menace. For they do more than any other one thing to disrupt their children's homes and send their in-laws scurrying to the divorce courts. They wish themselves on their children because they are lonely, because they have no interests of their own, and they camp on the back seat of the automobile and listen in on every conversation and give the husband and wife no privacy. And because they have no occupation they meddle with all the household machinery and stick their fingers in every pie.

Besides these parasitic mothers who suck their children's life-blood for their own sustenance, there are thousands of middle-aged, dissatisfied, disgruntled, peevish women who weep on our shoulders and tell us how poor and miserable they are now that the children are gone and that they do not know what to do with themselves.

As one listen sto these tales of woe one cannot help but feel for them some of the contempt one feels for the spendthrift who has wasted his fortune in prodigal living and then comes begging for bread. One would not say to them: Why in your days of prosperity did you not lay up something for the future? You knew that your children were bound to grow up and leave you in a few years. Why, then, did you not take the trouble to keep your husband in love with you so that you would have companionship when the children had flown the home nest? Why didn't you keep in touch with all of your old friends? Why didn't you join clubs and take part in civic movements? Why didn't you cultivate the habit of reading? And, above all, why don't you learn to be a good companion to yourself?

In a word, why didn't you take out insurance against loneliness and lack of interest in anything? Why didn't you think of the future and prepare yourself for it?

There Is No Magic in College Degree

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a high school graduate. Have been working as a stenographer for ten years and hold a high position in the firm by which I am employed. Here is my problem: I have an inferiority complex due to the fact that I did not get to go to college. Most of my associates are college graduates, or at least attended some university, and I feel they are superior to me.

What should I do?

TROUBLED

ANSWER:

Try to get over the superstition that there is some magic in a college degree that assures its fortunate possessor fame and fortune. Most of the successful men and women in this country got their education in the University of Hard Knocks, which isn't any slam at the colleges, but just to comfort you with the knowledge that education is where you find it.

Ask yourself these questions: Are the college girls I work with better stenographers than I am? Is their work more intelligent? And which gets the bigger salary? That is the final test of efficiency.

Residents Along St. Lawrence See Prosperity With Seaway Plan

Thirty thousand acres of land along the St. Lawrence River (shown in black) will be inundated when, and if, the St. Lawrence seaway plan receives the final approval of Canada and the United States. With this inundated ocean-going vessels may continue on their way straight up to the Great Lakes. If the plan goes through the village of Iroquois will be wiped out and much of Morrisburg will be under water. Residents along the river are jubilant at the prospect of the seaway and forecast a wave of prosperity should the proposed plan receive the sanction of the Canadian and United States governments. Thousands of men and millions of dollars would be employed to put the plan in operation.

'Quake In Greece

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (CP).—The Exchange Telegraph Agency reported to-day a severe earthquake at Odessa, near Salonika, Greece. Reuter's news agency reported on Saturday 18 earth tremors along the shores of the Gulf of Salonika damaged or destroyed at least 120 buildings.

French Village Blackouts Worst Of All

With the B.E.F., Somewhere in France, Feb. 7 (CP).—The blackout in the French village is the most baffling of all the blackouts this side of the Rhine for the traveller who scorns to carry a flashlight.

Aboard the troopships bound from Canada to England in December the blackout was 100-per-cent perfect—a lighted cigarette on deck brought a warning signal from accompanying warships. But ship decks follow an accepted plan and it's easy to get about blindfolded.

In London the blackout, allied with frequent fog, is depressing and eye-tiring but it still is comparatively easy to get about with the glow of passing traffic lights and the will-o'-the-wisp guide of the tiny "starlights" recently approved for us each city block or less.

In Paris the blackout is as free and easy as the Parisian folk, with street lights a bit dim but store windows aglare and street-cars sometimes darkened, sometimes not. It is about as strict as in Halifax.

But the peasants retire early in the villages along the British front line and the lights go out. The winding streets become a darkened maze with deep gutters, silent sentries and gnarled roadside trees to test the directional instinct of the wayfarer.

The safest plan is to carry a torch, as they say in London, or a "pile," as the villagers say. But flashlights are hardly buyable at any cost in London or in the front-line villages.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

After studying the weather probs. and looking over ice conditions the open bonspiel committee decided last night at 9:20 to postponed the Canada Packers Co. bonspiel until 9:00 a.m. Friday of this week. All skips who had entered in the bonspiel for today have been notified to that effect. No doubt the postponement may cause some to drop out and on the other hand the entry list may be greater for the change in dates.

No matter how long you have been at anything, you can, if you keep your ears and eyes open, always learn something. There have been many incidents happen on and off the ice, but the gesture that took place the other day was a brand new one. We have tried to hunt records to see if any other curling rink could boast of such fine sportsmanship. It happened the other afternoon when two lady rinks were playing off the final of the Waddell trophy. Who won, doesn't matter. At the conclusion of each curling game it is customary for all players to shake hands all round.

These ladies not only did that but the two opposing skips walked up to each other, embraced each other with a good big hug and a kiss and walked down the ice arm in arm.

Could you imagine the men skips doing just that? We are afraid the ladies have set an example that is going to be hard to enforce.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, February 7

A DAY of surprising developments, with unlooked-for activity in the business, intellectual and social relations, is presaged from the ruling lunar and mutual aspects. These events may have a rather intriguing or mystical complexion, making them memorable and of far-reaching effect on the life and its loftiest aspirations. There might be trivial elements of conflict in the social or domestic associations, but there is promise of fulfillment and gratification. Refrain from impulsive change.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of high attainments with rich fulfillments, possibly by an intellectual, cultural, social or mystical character. There may be deep-rooted or curious undercurrents prodding to notable achievements, subtly affecting the destiny. Business ambitions are lively and promising, but in any relations make no needless changes, and refrain from snap judgments.

A child born on this day may have abilities of a high order, either in an intellectual, artistic, scientific or some unusual creative field.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

PRUNELLA answered the telephone which was in Ellen's bedroom. She came into the living room where Fabienne was wielding an impossibly small watering can over a very large plant. "It's Dr. Mallory, Miss Fabienne. He wants to talk to you," she said.

Fabienne put down the watering can, spilling a little water because her hand had become a trifle unsteady. His familiar ring at the doorbell, the knowledge that he was coming into the clinic, that she would hear his voice on the telephone always did that to her. It set her pulse to running faster, made her breath uneven. She could control her conduct in the presence of others, but her reactions were something else again.

"Hello, Bill," she said pleasantly.

"Hello, Fabienne. Are you busy this afternoon?"

"No," she answered at once. The hair dressing appointment and Camilla Morse's musical could be scratched. "Why"

"I thought I might play hooky about four o'clock if you'd come uptown and have tea with me."

It was an invitation. All the other times she'd been with Bill had been accidental, in a sense—occasions when Ellen and Nicky were with them or things like Bill's taking her home from Willoughby house. But this was an invitation, a real one. It was the sort of thing she thought wouldn't happen, and if it should, she meant to reject it.

She found herself saying, "That would be fun. Where shall we meet"

He named a small tea shop on the East Side of the Eighties near the Parka-Plaza hospital, explaining that they could spend more time together if she joined him there.

"I'll be there," she promised, turning to Prunella with shining eyes.

Prunella said, "I'll get yore red suit, Miss Fabienne. Dr. Mallory sez you looks more like yo'self in that."

Fabienne thought she had discouraged Prunella's assumption of a budding romance and felt that she ought to say she'd wear something else. But she knew that the scarlet shetland suit gave her animation, so she kept silent.

Dressed in the scarlet suit, a fine white cashmere sweater, a simple crushable felt riding hat and a square-shouldered topcoat of midnight blue, she needed no scarlet to lend animation to her pale features; anticipation had made her radiant.

She had no trouble finding Ye Olde Dutch Oven, the tearoom Bill had suggested as their meeting place, for the simple reason that Bill was waiting for her outside the building.

"Not much like the Ritz, but it's cosy and we can have an uninterrupted talk," he explained after they'd greeted each other.

"It's nice," Fabienne told him, inspecting curiously the big dutch oven from which the small place got its name. There were red-and-white checked cloths on the low tables, a fire in the hearth and a nice, spicy aroma of gingerbread. There were only two other people in the room and the low murmur of their voices hardly disturbed the silence.

A stout German girl with a broad smile on her wholesome face said, "Good afternoon, Doctor. What'll you and the young lady have? Sandwiches? Cinnamon toast? Cake? We've some nice fresh gingerbread."

"Everything," Bill said grandly, " and several pots of tea."

"Oh, Bill!" Fabienne protested, laughing. "If I shared many of the meals you order, I'd have three chins."

"I like three chins, and on you—" Bill broke off, remembering that he was not to make speeches like that.

In spite of her protests, Fabienne helped Bill make generous inroads in the heaping plate of delicious sandwiches the waitress brought to them. She said she really couldn't do anything about the gingerbread, but when she finished there wasn't a crumb of the rich brown cake left on her plate.

"You've done a pretty good job," he told her when she refused a second square.

"I do all the things you tell me to," she said obediently. "But I only do them so that you'll be impressed with how healthy I'm getting. Bill, please tell Ellen that I'm quite capable of going back to work. The days are terribly long and deadly dull with nothing to do."

Bill picked up the last of his crumbs and tossed them into his mouth. "What did you use to do with your days before you came to Willoughby, Fab?"

She shrugged her shoulders. "That would depend on where I was. In New York, I used to go to movies, play bridge, go to the hairdresser. Just the usual things."

"Not in New York," he said. "In Maryland?" It was in Maryland that she'd live with Nicky.

"Ride, hunt, play bridge, give luncheons, have people in to tea. I can't imagine how those days ever seemed full."

"That stuff doesn't interest you now?"

She shook her head.

"If you were married," he said with elaborate casualness, "you'd find your days busy. In addition to riding, hunting and playing bridge, you'd have a home to look after. I don't need to tell you that even with a houseful of servants there is plenty for the mistress to do.

Fabienne knit her brows and gave him a questioning glance.

In the same tone of voice he went on: "A young married woman in your position would find plenty of charitable work to do. There must be organizations which you could serve."

"Bill, what on earth are you getting at?"

He folded his arms on the table and regarded her seriously. "I'm trying to tell you Fab, that you ought to get married. Don't let any —er—opposition stand in your way if you've found the man you want to marry. Marriage is the right and natural answer for any girl. I think you'd make a swell wife."

"Do you?" she asked coolly, perplexed by the entire trend of the conversation.

"I do," he said promptly. "You're fond of children and you've learned to take responsibility. You were born to lead—well, you've got everything a man would want in a wife."

"Thanks," she said miserably, hurt. Bill was trying to tell her something. She wasn't sure what it was. She was only sure he was telling her that she'd make a good wife for someone else.

Suddenly she decided on a bold stroke, Ellen forgotten for the moment! If she'd done it seriously, the results would have been very different. But she laughed derisively and said, "This wouldn't be a proposal, would it?"

For an instant Bill forgot Nicky and what Gertrude had said to him. He looked into her eyes and saw that they were mocking. Then he remembered Nicky again, and said, "No, I know my place, Fab."

The waitress said, "Some more hot water, Miss?"

Fabienne pulled her gloves on. "Was that what you wanted to talk to me about, Bill?"

"Gosh!" he answered boyishly, "I forgot! How'd you like to give a few hours a day to some social work at the Park-Plaza Hospital? We need someone and I could keep an eye on you."

"When can I start?" she said promptly.

"Tomorrow. You won't find it very exciting, but it will fill in some of those deadly hours you're complaining about."

Bill was very wrong about her experience at the Park-Plaza not being very exciting.

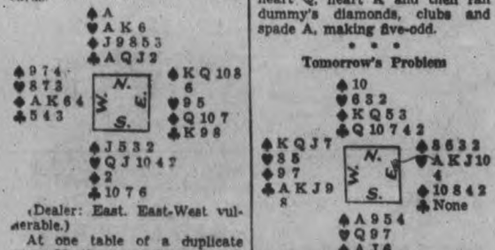
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

SET UP THE DUMMY

MOST PLAYERS are taught in their early days—and soundly—that the normal play for a suit contract involves elimination of losing cards from the hand which contains the longer string of trumps. When they are eliminated, the rest of the cards are good. That applies generally, but sometimes it is better to reverse the process and perhaps set up the dummy because, though it has a shorter string of trumps, it also has a smaller number of losing cards.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

At one table of a duplicate game, North opened this deal with 1-Diamond, East bid 1-Spade, West 1-No Trump, North doubled, South bid 2-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

West led the diamond K, then the A, which South ruffed. South then embarked on a plan to get rid of his spade losers. He took the spade A, re-entered his hand with a heart, ruffed one spade, re-entered his hand with a diamond ruff, trumped a second spade, ruffed another diamond, then his last spade, but wound up losing both a trump and a club, making barely four-odd.

At another table, after winning the second diamond, South got busy setting up the dummy. He led the club 10 and let it lose, won the returned trump in dummy, ruffed a diamond, setting up the rest of that suit, then took the heart Q, heart K and then ran dummy's diamonds, clubs and spade A, making five-odd.

French Peasants Are Finding War Profitable

By GILLES PURCELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

WITH THE B.E.F., SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Feb. 7—(CP). — The war of waiting in Northern France is nothing less than a "lovely war" for the French peasant. There is no bombing, no shelling, no evacuation—and the influx of British soldiers by the thousands has made the tourist industry a year-around affair.

In the last war these villages were evacuated before the German drive and billets were left available for the troops. Now the villagers are staying on and finding billets in their little plaster and brick homes for the British Allies. The billeting allowance is small but over a period it is "money in the bank" for the villagers.

The peasant farmer really must be enjoying this war. He is paid for the land that is taken to make an anti-tank ditch or a trench and for the area made useless by barbed wire entanglements. He is told in advance not to sow on this piece of land or that because it will be used in fortification plans.

A staff officer of a British division told this correspondent that a French farmer came to him after being advised of fortification work in four of his fields. The farmer said quietly: "I was a soldier in the last war and I know your difficulties. I donn't want to interfere with your plans or cause you any trouble. But I would be obliged if you possibly could put all those trenches together in one field and leave me the other three for my crops."

All Aid For Civilization

In many cases wiring of defences has been delayed for a time to permit completion of work on the land. So as not to inconvenience civilians the British have delayed putting into a state of defence certain homes located in what are termed defended localities. In such cases, the material necessary for the work has been piled nearby ready for fast transformation into defence-works where necessary.

In order to be able to get ahead with defensive works, the British troops in many cases assisted farmers in getting their crops into barns or into the root-stores which are really six-foot-high piles of earth over the stored crops.

An amusing incident occurred when Britis htroops started to hack down a forest in a forward defended locality to provide revetments for excavations. Promptly came complaints from the French farmers and shortly from French authorities —there was no objection to the use of wood, but the forest must not be recklessly destroyed.

Just as promptly the British set up forestry courses for their woodcutters and in a couple of days the cutting was resumed, but the exactly-correct number of trees of eachtype were left standing. Everyone was satisfied and now the forestry-minded troops are as careful of the valuable saplings as any expert.

LAKEFIELD

Bhil Mission Field Described To Y.P.S.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 7 — (ENS). — Mrs. J. M. Young gave a most interesting paper to the members of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church, Lakefield, when they met for the regular meeting on Monday night. She spoke of the Bhil Field in India. This field is of particular interest locally, because one of the missionaries, Rev. F. G. Knox, had charge of several of the services of St. Andrew's Church a few years ago. The Bhil country is situated in Central India about 350 miles north and east from Bombay. It is a farming district, where there are three crops harvested each year. The mission work in this district was begun by Dr. John Buchanan in 1896.

An interesting quiz program followed, when Mrs. Young asked the members various questions from her paper.

During the business period a committee was formed to secure a suitable play for the society.

The society also donated a sum of money towards buying wood for the church.

140 Friends Honor Fallis Couple On Silver Wedding Anniversary

MILLBROOK, Feb. 7—(ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Fallis, well-known residents of the Fallis Line, were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening when over one hundred and forty guests from Springville, Bethany, Millbrook, and the Line itself, arrived at their hospitable homestead, to mark the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

A warm welcome was extended to the "invading" host, the chair being taken by Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., and his opening remarks followed by a mouth organ and piano selection, "The Old Apple Tree," by the Misses Windrem of Springville, and a guitar and vocal number, "Cathedral in the Pines," by Misses Laura and Viola Neals, also of Springville. Mr. H. Preston contributed a song, "Some One," and Donald McKnight was heard in a cornet number, "You Are The Only Star In My Blue Heaven."

The highlight of the evening was reached when the bride and groom, who have attained their silver wedding milestone, were presented with a set of flatware numbering 56 pieces, the address being read by Nathaniel Belch, and the gift offered by Leonard Henderson, Clifford and Nelles Fallis. Those signing the address were Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Mrs. Austin Sutton, Mrs. John Rowland, Clifford Fallis, N. Belch and L. Henderson.

Mr. Fallis made suitable reply on behalf of his "bride" and himself, and all sang heartily, "For They're Jolly Good Fellows," after which a musical selection was given by Miss Dorothy, Keith and Alvin Porter, and the Misses Isabelle and Margaret Aiken sang "Little Red Fox." "Ten Pretty Girls" wa sthe title of the next number by the Misses Neals, and a duet, "'Neath the Crust of the Old Apple Pie" was contributed by the Misses Windrem.

Speeches stressing appreciation of the high type of citizenship which Mr. and Mrs. Fallis have constantly set before the community in their standards of daily living, were made by Messrs. Melville Johnston, T. W. Belch, A. J. Henderson, Henry, Milton, and Stewart Fallis, and the committee served lunch, following the conclusion of the program with the National Anthem.

Crokinole Party.

The Young People's Union sponsored a successful progressive crokinole party in the basement of St. Andrew's church on Friday evening; ten tables being in use for play.

Prizes were won by Miss Phyllis and Mr. Kenneth Kidd, with the consolation going to Mary Ridge. A number of musical games completed the program, the whole event being under the recreational committee, Earl Edworthy convener.

Homemade candy was served before dispersal, and while the informal social hour was being enjoyed, Mr. John Blair, recently moved from Toronto to the village to reside, contributed a number of guitar selections.

His itinerary: Brandon, Man., Feb. 13; Regina, Feb. 14; Victoria, (afternoon) Feb. 17; Vancouver Feb. 17; Calgary Feb. 19.

After the Calgary meeting Dr. Manion said he probably would speak at Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg on his way East.

Gitz Rice Active Organizing Concert Parties

OTTAWA, Feb. 7—(CP). — Gitz Rice, the man who composed the musical hit of the first Great War, "Mademoiselle From Armentieres," is back in Canada helping keep up the morale of Canadian troops. But he hopes to get back to France and look up the mademoiselle who inspired his song of more than 20 years ago.

Too old for active service, at present he is assisting the Canadian Legion war services and giving all his time to entertainment work among the 2,000-officers and men of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals at Barriefield Camp, near Kingston, Ont.

Rice will organize concert parties throughout Military District No. 3 which includes most of Eastern Ontario, and eventually may join the Legion's overseas organization. In the first Great War, this Canadian soldier-song writer served overseas with the 5th battery, 2nd Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery.

After his work in Canada is completed, he's going to England to locate Red Rowland, who as a sergeant in the Imperials was billeted with him in an Estaminet near Armentieres and who collaborated with him and wrote the words of the song.

"I'm going back to England," Rice said in an interview here, "to find my pal Red Rowland. Together we'll help the Legion give the lads the bucking up they'll need.

"And if we can make it, we'll beat it back for Armentieres and find our mademoiselle no matter what the shock may be. They tell me she's fat, and she's fair and she's 40 now, and dandles her ninth on her knee."

Waves Undermine Beach Homes, Shops

REDONDO BEACH, Calif., Feb. 7 —(AP)—Hundreds of workmen labored desperately today, throwing up bulwarks along the ocean front against an expected assault of towering waves threatening to smash shops and homes with the next high tide.

Damage estimates, all unofficial, ran as high as $50,000 as the tide receded last night. Old-time residents said the breakers—their origin unexplained—were the highest in 25 years. At times they reached 15 to 20 feet.

Tenants moved from one apartment house threatened with undermining. Front porches and balconies of several beach homes tumbled into the sea.

Kennedy Brings Complete Line Up Of U.K. Resources As Credit Guide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—(AP)—A document which might guide a mathematician toward predicting the victor in the war is locked in a safe at the United States state department.

Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, recently brought from London this confidential report analysing the monetary and economic resources possessed by the British Empire in the United States.

The information in the document is known only to the President, some members of the cabinet and a select group of state, treasury and commerce department experts.

Analysis of the data will enable United States authorities to determine Great Britain's maximum capacity to pay for airplanes, munitions and other war supplies in the United States. It may provide a forecast of the influence which those purchases — already under way on a large scale in planes, tools and a narrow list of manfactured goods—may have on industry, agriculture, labor and trade.

President Roosevelt has received —or will receive when Ambassador William C. Bullitt arrives from France—a similar report on French resources in the United States.

Enormous Purchases.

War goods already bought in the United States, and orders placed and in prospect, show that Great Britain and France plan to make purchases running into millions of dollars. Some stimates place potential allied war orders at $1,000,000,000.

While Kennedy's report remains a secret, clues are available from other sources.

Winthrop W. Case, associate editor of the Annalist, estimated last April that Anglo-French gold and other reserves in the United States amounted to between $9,500,000,000 and $12,000,000,000, which he figured would provide war supplies for two years.

Large shipments of gold, accelerated after the Czecho-Slovakian crisis, have boosted earmarked gold in the Federal reserve banks to more than $1,000,000,000.

The Commerce Department on Aug. 29 estimated total British investments in the United States, not including earmarked gold, at between $2,800,000,000 and 3,000,000,000, somewhat less than two-thirds as large as in the years just preceding the First Great War.

CANADA'S 3RD CONTINGENT ARRIVES IN BRITAIN

Tweedsmuir Reported Gravely Ill

Governor Gets Weaker After Tuesday's Fainting Spell, Fall

OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Condition of Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, is giving rise to "grave anxiety" said a bulletin at 12:30 p.m. EST today from Government House.

His Excellency suffered a concussion Tuesday in a fall at Government House while dressing.

Today's bulletin said:

"His Excellency spent a restless night and his condition this morning gives rise to grave anxiety on account of increasing weakness."

The bulletin was signed by Dr. Jonathan Meakins of Montreal, Dr. Gordon Gunn of Ottawa, the Governor-General's personal physician, and Lieut.-Col. Colin Russel, R.C.A.M.C.

Last night's bulletin on the condition of the 64-year-old representative of the King in Canada had been one too encouraging. It said: "There is no change in His Excellency's condition but he has had a rather restless day and seems somewhat fatigued."

Until noon today there was no information given out from the Government House on Lord Tweedsmuir's progress during the night.

Today's bulletin was the third such statement since His Excellency suffered a fainting spell and fell Tuesday.

Protest Refused

Moscow, Feb. 8 (AP)

THE Soviet Union has accused French police of widespread raids against Russians and Russian agencies in Paris and has demanded surrender of documents allegedly seized from the Soviet trade office there.

Tass, Soviet News Agency, reported the raids and a resulting diplomatic protest in a communique last night.

In Paris the French government was reliably reported to have refused to consider a Soviet protest against the raid.

Russian Admiral Boasts Finns To Be Annihilated

MOSCOW, Feb. 8—(AP).—The Soviet Union is determined to continue its offensive against Finland until the Finnish forces holding the Mannerheim Line are annihilated, according to Admiral Tributs, commander of the Soviet Navy in the Baltic Sea.

The Admiral's pledge of continued war was made yesterday in connection with the bestowal of decorations on 255 naval officers and men "for exemplary fulfillment of tasks on the front against the White Finns."

The Communist newspaper Pravda at the same time accused Great Britain and France of "striving to turn the war tides against the Soviet Union."

5 Liners Make Crossing In Nine Days

Specialists, Artillery Among Troops On Secret Sailing

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN, Feb. 8 (CP Cable)—Under the guardian wings of the Royal Navy, a third contingent of the Canadian Active Service Force has crossed the Atlantic and landed safely in Britain.

Like the two contingents that arrived before it, the latest khaki wave of Canadian youth came unheralded. During the night grey troopships glided silently into harbor under cover of darkness and rode at anchor until morning.

Crowds thronging docks and promenades overlooking the harbor waved and cheered without knowing from what part of the empire the convoy had come. They were kept in suspense until the first tender brought ashore its cargo of singing, whistling Canadians.

"More Canadians"

It did not take the crowd long to recognize the khaki-clad men.

"Why, it's more Canadians," someone shouted.

The roar of greeting that followed rolled across the water and through the welcoming din came the chorus: "Well done Canada!" and "bravo! bravo!"

Not until the entire force had disembarked and dispersed to its allotted training camps was word flashed to the empire at large that a further contingent of Canadians has arrived.

To-day the boys are busy settling down in their billets, sorting out their kit and equipment, and trying to find their land legs after a bit of tossing on the way across.

The voyage, which was without incident, was described, however, by veteran sailors as a "ride on a duck pond."

The newcomers who have crossed the Atlantic to swell the growing force of Canadian fighters already in training at Aldershot represent every part of the Dominion. Among

From The Ranks

Kingston, Feb. 8 (CP)

DEFENCE MINISTER Rogers said here last night that so far as might be done the government is going "to make provision for promotion from the ranks to commissions" in the army.

Speaking at the nomination convention which chose him Liberal candidate for Kingston city in the March 26 election, Mr. Rogers said:—

"As one who served for a time as a private in the last war, I know something of the bitterness that developed among the soldiers with regard to political influence in high places.

Disguised Chute Patrols Taken By Finns

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The capture of "several" patrols of Russian soldiers who parachuted to earth behind the Finnish lines was reported today in a Finnish communique which said four soviet war planes had been downed in aerial fighting.

The Russian patrols were disguised in Finnish army uniforms. The communique described fresh Finnish successes against the invaders on the Karelian Isthmus, northeast of Lake Ladoga and further north along the Russian frontier.

A weakening of Russian attacks was noted in the Summa sector on the Karelian Isthmus, scene of a week-long Soviet offensive. Two assaults were thrown back with the destruction of four enemy tanks.

Thain Is Committed For Trial On Charges Of Slaying Wellman Couple At Harold

Hearing Is Scheduled For Fall Assizes After 2 Days' Evidence

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP). — Fred Thain to-day was committed to stand trial on charges of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wellman, aged farm couple of Harold, Ont., 22 miles north of here, last Monday.

Decision to send the 46-year-old Thain to trial was made by Magistrate E. J. Butler at the conclusion of a two-day preliminary hearing. Thain was a neighbor of the Wellmans.

Bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Wellman were found on Thursday by a mail courier, the heads of both having been practically blown off by blasts from a shotgun. Thain will appear for trial at the Fall Assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Nothing to Say.

"I have nothing to say, Your Honor," Thain, a smile on his face, replied when Magistrate Butler asked him if he had anything to say.

At to-day's hearing a pitchfork and grain bags, allegedly found on Thain's property, were identified as belonging to Arnold Wellman.

David Wellman, a Rawdon farmer and distant relative of the Wellmans, testified concerning ownership of the pitchfork and grain bags.

Thinks 2 Shots Fired

Police Sergeant Harry Thompson, resuming his evidence, told the court that Thain had made a free and voluntary statement.

Asked by the crown to form an opinion as to how many shots were fired in each instance, witness replied two.

"One shot could not have done the damage evident in the condition of both bodies," he said.

Thompson said he went to the Thain farm with Inspector Ward. A box containing two empty shot gun shells was found in a box near a pig pen.

The shells were new and had been fired recently as indicated by corrosion. The firing pin was slightly

Police Find Wellman Grain Bag In Suspect's Barn

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP). — Preliminary hearing of testimony against Fred Thain, 46-year-old farmer charged with the murder of aged Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wellman, his next-door neighbors, continued here to-day with Magistrate E. J. Butler expected to rule on the admissibility of two statements allegedly made by Thain after his arrest.

The statements, contents of which have been kept secret, were handed to the Magistrate by Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan towards th close of yesterday's hearing which was immediately adjourned while Magistrate Butler examined the statements. One statement, introduced as Exhibit 42, was made by Thain immediately after his arrest and the other, labelled Exhibit 43, was given to police after his removal to the county jail.

Feature of yesterday's hearing was the calmness with which Thain sat in court as police and witnesses gave testimony calculated to pin the crime on him. Occasionally the prisoner smiled at acquaintances in the court and during recess he chatted casually with police and reporters on any matter not touching the murder charge.

Mrs. Victor Graham, a storekeeper at Wellman's Corner, testified that Thain had purchased five shotgun shells from her on January 31. Four spent shells, believed from the slayer's gun, are in the possession of police.

Warrant For Grain Theft

Sergeant Harry Thompson told of police activities leading up to Thain's arrest. He said a constable learned that Thain, then a member of the coroner's jury sworn to inquire into the double slaying, had purchased the shotgun shells and immediately obtained a search warrant for Thain's arrest on the charge of grain theft.

Sergeant Thompson said a search of Thain's barn produced one grain

Swiss Order Red League Expert To Leave

BERNE, Feb. 8—(AP).—Switzerlan dtoday ordered Soviet Russia's League of Nations expert, Vladimir Sokoline, to leave the country within two weeks.

The order was issued by both the Swiss Federal and Geneva Cantonal governments, rejecting Moscow's explanation for wanting to keep Sokoline in Switzerland.

Sokoline was dismissed as an undersecretary of the League of Nations after Soviet Russia's expulsion and Moscow had tried to obtain authorization for him to remain in Geneva as 'liaison officer" to the International Red Cross committee.

League experts, co-ordinating League members' aid to Finland, have made no secret of their displeasure at having a trained Soviet observer remaining in Geneva.

Election Key Unity Says King

Urges Electors Leave Government To Experienced Men

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP).—On the decision of the voters at the March 26 general election "will depend not only our contribution to the war but the maintenance of our own integrity and unity as a nation in a shattered world, to which a United Canada may well bring a new hope to mankind," Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in his opening speech of the Liberal campaign.

In a 30-minute address last night over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Prime Minister said that never before have the Canadian people been called upon to make so serious a decision.

He said: "I would earnestly suggest that before arriving at your decision you ask yourself these questions:

"Should not this great task be entrusted to men who, tried in the school of experience, familiar with the problems to be faced, and advocates of policies widely supported, have throughout been united by a community of views?

"Or should the conduct of your government in these critical days be handed over to men, most of whom are without experience in government, and who are bound together

Germany Admits 42 Ships Lost; 409 UK, Neutral

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Germany acknowledged today the loss of 236,957 tons of shipping since the beginning of the war and claimed the allies and neutral countries had lost 1,493,431 tons.

Germany's losses were given as 42 ships and allied and neutral losses as 409 ships sunk up to the end of January.

(In London an Admiralty tabulation was issued announcing that 274 allied and neutral merchantmen were lost up to midnight Feb. 4. A British spokesman commended: "These are the correct figures. The others (the German figures) are not."

The German statement put Germany's losses at 13,196 tons of shipping confiscated at the outbreak of war in allied ports; 82,236 tons seized and 141,525 tons scuttled to avoid seizure.

The German communique further claimed that the German Navy had seized 354 ships which were taken to German ports to be disposed of in prize court proceedings.

More British Aid For Finland Now On Its Way

LONDON, Feb. 8.—(CP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that further British aid for Finland was on the way and that "the help given from this country has been of real value to Finland."

The success attending Finnish arms, Mr. Chamberlain said, "has evoked the admiration of the world."

This statement drew loud cheers from the House.

The Prime Minister voiced satisfaction over the results of the recent Balkan Entente conference in Belgrade.

He asserted the seven-year renewal of the Balkan Entente pact "indicates the determination of the governments of those countries to do everything in their power to maintain stability and security in southeastern Europe."

He expressed the belief that other states of southeastern Europe had "this important object equally at heart."

Of the Russian-Finnish conflict, Mr. Chamberlain said: "The Finnish people continue their heroic struggle against an enemy who is using his huge air fleets in a vain endeavor to shake their spirit by burning the homes of the poor, shattering with high explosives hospitals full of

Czech Confesses Murdering Ex-Landlady

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP)—North York township police said they held a written confession today from Joe Duglos, 36-year-old native of Czecho-Slovakia, in the axe slaying of his former landlady, Mrs. John Mazsin.

Two hours after the hacked body of Mrs. Mazsin was found in the basement of her home, Duglos rushed into the township police station last night and declared: "I murdered her."

He was arrested on a murder charge and locked up. A neighbor of the Mazsin family said that he was chopping wood in the back yard of the home yesterday.

Mrs. Mazsin's husband was too grief-stricken to speak, but their four daughters related that Duglos had spent the past two winters as a boarder with the family. Three weeks ago Mazsin ordered him from the home because, the children said, he tried to run the affairs of the house. But Duglos came back yesterday and asked to be allowed to room at the house again.

Mrs. Margaret Seminsky said Duglos was chopping wood when she called on Mrs. Mazsin in the early afternoon. He came into the house and said that he had chopped enough for one afternoon, Mrs. Seminsky revealed.

The youngest daughter, Martha, 12, found her mother's body when she returned home from school and started to climb through a basement window because the doors were locked.

Japs Preparing For Chinese Bombing Raids

TOKYO, Feb. 8—(AP).—There are "definite grounds" for reports that the Chinese plan air raids on Japan, a spokesman for the Japanese navy said today as newspapers declared that defence precautions were being taken throughout the western part of the country.

The spokesman refused to give further details on the plea of military secrecy. It was learned military authorities believed such raids possible. There was no "official nervousness."

(These observers, all widely-travelled in the interior of China and familiar with the extent of Chinese equipment, said: "China hasn't a single aircraft capable of reaching Japan from present Chinese bases with a cargo of bombs."

(Kyushu, southernmost of the main island of Japan, is about 500 miles from the China coast at the nearest point, and 200 or 300 miles more from the nearest possible point of departure for a Chinese bombing squadron.

The Japanese navy spokesman who commented on the air raid possibility said also that "it does not stand to reason" that the United States should make representations against recent bombing of the French-operated railroad in the south China province of Kwangsi.

Allies Holding 500,000 Army Ready In East

LONDON, Feb. 8—,(CP).—Britain and France were authoritatively disclosed today to have about 500,000 troops concentrated in the Near East.

The disclosure followed a Paris announcement that France had an army of roughly 275,000 in the Near East.

France Prepared

PARIS, Feb. 8—(AP).—Authorized French sources disclosed today that France has 275,000 troops concentrated in the Near East under the command of General Maxime Weygand.

These sources said the German and Russian estimates of the French force were wrong. Berlin had placed the figure at 150,000 and Moscow at 400,000.

Weygand, 72-year-old former chief of the French General Staff and Marshal Foch's right-hand man in later stages of the last year, is in

Canada, US Clear Border For Patrol Work

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — (AP). —Canada and the United States have started a joint effort to clear the Eastern Canadian-American border for patrolling to prevent entrance of spies and saboteurs into the Dominion.

Officials here said to-day that storms and hurricanes in the last two years have partly destroyed the boundary vista. Reports have come from Canadian and United States customs and immigration officials that the border cannot be patrolled. In some places trees are piled 10 or 12 feet high.

The American State Department has been informed that Canada is expressing concern over the state of the frontier, on the ground that the boundary should be guarded carefully against violations by spies and saboteurs. At this time, Canada pointed out, the Dominion is manufacturing large quantities of war supplies, particularly airplanes.

It was feared saboteurs might be able to collect explosives in the United States, transport them across the frontier at the "blind spots," and plant them in Canadian

Canadian Plane Plants Get 25 Million Order

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP)—Canadian airplane factories stepped up plans for increased production yesterday with latest orders from the British air ministry variously reported at between $25,000,000 and $40,000,000.

No official information on the size of contracts received or under consideration from the United Kingdom was available, but at the office of the British High Commissioner here it was said that a statement might be made before long.

One reliable authority reported the award of a large contract for Hampden Bombers had been given the Canadian Associated Aircraft Ltd., a six-company organization.

Speaking for the Ottawa Car and Aircraft Limited, Redmond Quain, president, made known his company had orders totalling $4,000,000 from the United Kingdom for warplanes. Other details of Associated Aircraft contracts were lacking but the Ottawa company previously had been given a $10,000,000 contract for Bombers.

The other five firms in Canadian Associated are Canadian Car and Foundry Company of Fort William, the Fleet Aircraft of Fort Erie, Ont., National Steel Car Company of Toronto, De Havilland Company of Toronto and Fairchild Company of Montreal.

Pupils Chase Teacher Out Of School

BANCROFT, Feb. 8.— (ENS).—Pupils chased their teacher from the little tin schoolhouse three miles west of Bancroft on Tuesday and there won't be any more classes for the rest of the week. A board meeting is being called for Saturday to ascertain what steps to take.

The departure of the teacher was preceded by a ducking when a girl pupil upset the contents of a wash basin over his head and close to 30 pupils set on him with fists and boots.

The mutiny came as the result of the teacher's attempt to strap one of his pupils before the others. Recently the noon hour was reduced by fifteen minutes in order that school might be dismissed at 3.45 o'clock in the afternoon. On Tuesday one pupil, a boy, refused to enter the school building at the revised opening time and was punished by the teacher. Then he is said to have refused to take his seat, dodging back and forth behind it, just managing to keep out of the teacher's path. The teacher, who is experiencing his first year in the school, attempted to strap the youngster for his insubordina-

Balkan Neutrals Call Conscripts For War Footing By Mid-March

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8—(AP).—The little neutrals of southeastern Europe, fearful of a springtime crisis imperilling their peace, will have their conscript armies on a war footing by mid-March.

A survey showed today that defence measures repeating the "military concentrations" of 1939 are ready to be put into force in Rumania, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Turkey, Bulgaria and Greece.

Some of these small powers already have announced the calling of certain classes for "additional training," but none permits use of the word mobilization to describe its plans.

Rumania, holding about 700,000 to 1,000,000 men under arms through the winter, will increase the total during spring exercises.

A 900-mile defence line is being built along Rumania's frontiers most open to invasion and King Carol's army chiefs today began requisitioning scrap iron and cotton for munitions factories. Private stocks of more than 400 pounds must be turned over to the government under penalty of a heavy fine.

The defence efforts of Rumania, at the moment the most exposed of the southeastern states, will decrease her productive capacity for an indefinite period, British and French observers believe, and adversely affect deliveries of oil and other supplies to Germany.

The absence from farms of hundreds of thousands of peasants called for military service already has cut down winter wheat planting.

Rumania, like her co-members of the Balkan entente—Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey—is making her effort to stay out of war independently as a result of the entente conferees' decision last week against collective measures.

Yugoslavia is expected to have an army of about 500,000 by spring — more than double her normal strength.

Turkey, officially "not neutral but non-belligerent," has kept 200,000 soldiers on her frontier with Soviet Russia despite an urgent need for man-power for reconstruction of the large areas recently devastated by food and earthquake.

Great Britain and France have prepared to co-ordinate the Turkish army with the strategy of General Maxime Weygand if the war spreads to the Near East.

50 Boys Flogged, 10 Shot For Broken Window As Nazi Terror Gains Momentum In Poland

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 8.—(CP).—The Manchester Guardian, declaring "there is not the slightest sign that the terror is coming to an end," to-day published new reports of Nazi atrocities in Poland.

"All indications are," it declared, "that the Germans mean to stamp out all Polish civil, cultural and religious life.

'At Burzo, near Gdynia, unknown persons broke a window in the police station. The Germans arrested 50 Polish school boys and ordered their parents to flog them publicly. Ten of the boys were then shot and the bodies exposed for 24 hours.

"At Inowrociaw a number of German officers who had been drinking heavily, entered the prison and shot 70 Polish prisoners.

"There are thousands of Polish men and women in concentration camps, where they endure fearful treatment. It is estimated that there are 3,000 in the camp at Gdynia, 5,000 at Torun and 3,000 at Poznan. Many Poles have been sent to concentration camps in Germany.

"Some observers put the total number of persons who have perished in Poland at several millions but it is impossible to arrive at any sure estimate.

"At Bydgoszcz (Bromberg) hundreds of persons were shot in the market square.

"Close on 50 persons were publicly executed at Korsian. At Zyblocki 14 Polish workmen and the local priest were shot.

'Among the Poles shot at Bydgoszcz were 136 students, some of whom were only 12 and 13 years old.

"At Wolsztyn a number of Poles were shot at night-time in the glare of searchlights. The inhabitants were awakened to witness the execution.

US Sees Business Boom As Allies Tap 10 Billion War Check In States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8—(AP).—The Allies and Germany are spending so many millions of dollars every day that they are forced to buy supplies from other sources despite their tremendously increased production of war materials.

Germany, blockaded by sea and lacking cash to make purchases, is forced to depend on the Scandinavian and Balkan nations and the territories it has seized—Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, and part of Poland.

The Allies can buy some of the products they need from the dominions and colonies and from neutral countries, but the United States is a logical market in which to buy planes and other war accesories.

Great Britain and France already have placed orders and made plans to purchase United States goods to an extent that officials here predict a "boom" war trade which may hit the $1,000,000,000 mark.

Assets For War Goods

A survey of informed federal departments reveals that—as a conservative estimate—the Allies have assets in the United States totalling $10,000,000,000 which may be used as a "war chest."

Those assets are:—

1. An estimated $6,800,000,000 to $7,000,000,000 in gold, with shipments continuing weekly from Britain, France, Canada, South Africa, India and Hong Kong. Besides its stored gold reserves the British Empire produces $800,000,000 in newly-mined goal annually.

2. An estimated $1,000,000,000 in stocks, bonds and other securities in United States corporations and companies.

3. An estimated $1,000,000,000 in direct investments in the United States industrial plants, factories, mines and other enterprises.

4. An estimated $1,000,000,000 in dollar balances in United States banks.

5. The favorable balance of trade which Britains wants to obtain by increasing its exports from $1,756,000,000 in 1939 to approximately $2,400,000,000 in 1940.

In the First Great War the United States loaned $8,800,000,000 to Great Britain and France to pay $11,800,000,000 worth of goods purchased here.

In this war the Johnson Bill has made it impossible for war debtor nations to obtain loans or credits in the United States and the Neutrality Law provides for "cash-and-carry" sales of war materials to belligerents.

Rogers Demands Opposition Support Charges

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 8.—(CP)—In calling this general election, the government is taking the initiative, placing its critics in a position where they must produce support for their "bitter and unwarranted" attacks on the government's conduct of the war, Defence Minister Rogers maintains.

"The government is not on the defensive," he said here last night in one of the key-note speeches opening the Liberal campaign. "We have appealed beyond parliament and legislature to the source of all political power and authority. Our opponents are on the defensive.

"We have compelled them to go to the people and prove that in thought or deed we have failed to put forth our maximum united effort or that this effort in the light of all the facts does no entitle the government to carry on with the great undertaking it assumed five months ago."

The defence minister outlined this approach as he addresesd a nomination convention of 400 persons which unanimously selected him as Liberal candidate in Kingston City riding, which he has represented since 1935. No other names were submitted to the open convention.

Following his nomination he carried the fight into the opposition camp by a joint attack on Conservative Leader Manion, Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, and Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader.

These gentlemen, he said, were silent when members of the King Government was fighting a battle for Canadian unity and Canadian participation in the war during the Quebec election.

The defence minister stressed how different the organization for this war was from anything before it, how vital was the unspectacular but essential long-range planning in a "total war."

Says Calm Fundamental.

In such a struggle, calmness, steadines sand determination were fundamental requirements. "Those like (Conservative Leader) Dr. Manion who give way to impatience, ill-temper and reckless accusations, those who demand hasty, ill-considered and spectacular action are really the first casualties in this war of nerves," he said.

Mr. Rogers described how the government had worked to maitain national unity in the crisis, first obtained almost unanimous approval of Parliament of its war policy and then the defeat of Premier Duplessis in Quebec and his opposition to active participation in the war.

The Minister doubted that the same unanimity of sentiment could have been preserved by Dr. Manion, by Premier Hepburn or Col. Drew.

While the struggle in Quebec was raging, with national unity at stake, Dr. Manion had watched from the sidelines. "The very men who charge us now with doing so little in this wa rare the very men who stood aloof for reasons best known to themselves when this crucial struggle was in progress a few months ago."

Mr. Rogers related how the government had selected the best men available, regardless of political connections, to fill the numerous wartime boards and posts. That policy gave the country the best kind of national direction without sacrificing the vitality of the parliamentary system by doing away with an Opposition party in time of war, he said. He wondered where Dr. Manion would find men of greater capacity than those already lined up by the government.

The government's organization of the economic front was reviewed briefly, the Minister pointing out that the problems of the post-war period were being kept constantly in mind as well as those of the moment.

None Better Equipped.

As to military efforts, the Defence Minister said that "no contingent of soldiers ever left Canadian shores with a better outfit of clothing and personal equipment than this first division of the Canadian Active Service Force."

There had been some occasional causes of complaint when Canada multiplied its army 10-fold almost overnight but steps had been taken to prevent a recurrence. The government had not possessed complete supplies for wartime needs at the beginning of hostilities but no country made military expenditures on a wartime scale during peace.

The Minister tabulated the substantial supplies on hand at the outbreak. The only shortages in equipping the first division had been lack of new web equipment (and old web equipment had been distributed) and lack of flannel shirts, because of difficulties in speeding flannel production.

The soldiers' health had been protected by balanced rations and efficient medical organization, with the result the troops' health right now as "most encouraging," considering the fact this is the season of colds and influenza.

Canada, it is learned, already has increased her frontier guard, partly because of the unsatisfactory condition of the border.

On this side American officials want a clearer frontier to assist them in preventing violations of United States neutrality.

Thain Is Committed

off centre, he said. Other shells, much older, were in the box but he had not disturbed them for fear of damaging possible finger prints.

On Feb. 5, Thompson with Constable E. Smith found a spent shell in a calf stall, he said. In the northeast corner of the Thain barn a lot of refuse and an old pail were evident, behind which the shell was found.

A file was found by witness and Inspector Ward on Feb. 6 on a window ledges in the Thain barn. Both shell and file were produced in court.

Hoofprints Compare

Identifying Thain's horses by means of a photograph, Sergeant Thompson told the court the horse on the right side was larger than that on the left and prints of hoofs taken from them compared with tracks found near the Wellman barn.

Footprints of a man had been seen by witness leading from the Thain barn to a cedar bush. In the bush was found a pitchfork and a scoop, which witness identified when produced in court by the crown.

"Both articles showed no exposure to weather, indicating they had been placed in the bush recently," the witness said.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel Robert McCulloch, Thompson said drawers in one of the two dressers in Mrs. Wellman's bedroom were open and those of the other were closed, when the woman's body was discovered.

Main splatters of blood in the Wellman barn were found in the centre of the west wall. Having in mind this fact and that no damage was done to the cow, witness was of the opinion the shot was fired from the aisle in the barn. "There was blood on the side of the cow," he said.

Referring to tracks found in a field south of the Wellman farm and those found north of the Wellman barn, counsel asked witness if they were the same. "They compared favorably," he said.

"Would you go so far as to say they were the same?" "No."

Tracks found leading to the cedar bush where the fork and, shovel were found near the Thain barn, had been obliterated by storm.

Four spent shells had been found altogether, two in the Thain barn near a pigsty, one by Constable Smith and another by another witness.

Identifies Fork As Wellman's

David Wellman, 4th Concession of Rawdon, farmer, and a distant relative of the slain couple, saw them 10 days previous to the murders. He had been to the Wellman barn on Feb. 6, and found a key to the Wellman granary in a fanning mill.

The lock was missing and yesterday the lock was found by witness's father in some rubbish and grain.

The fork found in the cedar bush on the Thain property was identified by witness through marks as being the property of the slain Arnold Wellman.

Witness also identified grain bags produced in court, found in the Thain barn, as the property of Arnold Wellman, by the patchings and green yarn on the side of the sack.

A steel bag filler produced by the crown was also identified as being the property of his slain relative, by witness, but he could not say whether scoop found in cedar bush was the property of Arnold Wellman.

Saw Team Pass

Mrs. Hazel Hegle, 6th Concession Rawdon resident, told the court Thain had passed her home on afternoon of January 31st driving a black team on a sleigh, the horse on the left side being the smaller of the two.

Her husband, John Hegle, told defence counsel, he did not see the accused on the afternoon in question.

While in his woods cutting wood on the afternoon of January 31st, Charles Dunham, neighbor of the slain couple, said he saw a man going in southwest direction across a field. He did not notice where the man came from, but saw him get over a fence in the southwest corner of the field and walk west along the road. He did not recognize the man.

It was about 3 o'clock Dunham told Defence Counsel McCulloch, although he was not sure.

Jack Dunham, son of the former witness, corroborated his father's statement regarding seeing a man crossing the field. He did not observe how the man was dressed, but "I would say he had 'no long coat on."

Investigated Sleigh Tracks

Constable Everett Smith told the court he had been called to the scene of the tragedy and had immediately conducted a different line of investigation to that of other officers.

He examined sleigh tracks that had entered the laneway and had apparently turned around on the ramp of the barn.

At a point in the first field east of the sideroad tracks had been found leading diagonally in the direction of the Wellman house.

From this point Constable Smith corroborated evidence given by Sergt. Harry Thompson regarding tracing of footprints leading to the Wellman home, the search and finding of grain in the Thain home and information received from a Wellman's Corners store.

He told the court of the arrest of Thain on a grain theft charge and of the finding of a 12-gauge shotgun which had been fired recently, indicated by a strong smell of powder. He identified grain bags taken from the Thain barn. He also corroborated evidence given regarding spots appearing to be blood, found on clothing of accused.

Early on the morning of Feb. 3, he charged Thain with the murder of Nancy and Arnold Wellman and brought him to Belleville.

Two Statements Taken

Two statements had been taken, the second one at the accused's request which was given voluntarily in the presence of witnesses and each page signed by him.

Returning to the Wellman farm an empty shotgun shell had been handed to witness by Dr. Marvin Wellman, in the presence of a witness. Further evidence of witness was of a purely corroboratory nature.

Samples of horsehair had been taken from two of the Thain horses, identified in a photograph as 'Molly' and 'Guy.'

Comparisons between hair taken from the horses and that found on the elm bush in the concession sideroad, were similar, Constable Smith said, but "I am no expert."

"What you are really saying," defence counsel said, "is that the hair found on the bush and that of the horses' mane are of the same color."

Home In View From Knoll

Cross-examined by Defence Counsel McCullough upon resumption this afternoon, Constabel Smith told court that the Wellman home would be visible from tracks discovered north of a small knoll north of the Wellman barn.

Answering a query of the Crown, witness stated accused had a bobsleigh on his premises and tracks found on Wellman property could be made by runners of these sleighs.

Samuel Woodward, brother of the slain woman, had been in the Wellman barn on Feb. 5th when David Wellman was getting articles ready for the auction sale. He found a shot gun shell in the cow stable about an inch from the wall. He gave it to Constable Smith.

Woodard could not swear that his brother-in-law owned a pair of sleighs. There were 'no sleighs around the Wellman property at the time, however. Constable Smith recalled to the stand said.

Inspector A. L. Ward, C.I.D., Toronto, placed on the stand, corroborated police officer's statement. He listed articles received from the officers, shot guns, shells, wadding, false teeth, eye glass-lens, letters, clothing, etc.

Final Evidence.

He had examined clothing, overalls, coat, etc., and found spots resembling bloodstains on them. He had turned over all articles received to Dr. Frankish, Ontario medico-legal expert.

This concluded evidence offered by the Crown.

Ordering the accused to stand up, Magistrate Butler read charges of the murders of Arnold and Nancy Wellman against him. After the usual warning, and asked if he had anything to say, Thain, the inevitable smile on his face, said in a firm voice, "I have nothing to say, Your Honor."

the contingent were many specialists skilled in the technical branches essential to the efficient operation of a modern, mechanized army.

There also was a handful of men in Air Force blue, several artillery units, mechanical maintenance detachments, ambulance corps, and other units whose function and composition cannot be disclosed.

No Ceremony.

Apart from the informal reception of the enthusiastic townspeople of the port of debarkation, there was no official ceremony of greeting. They marched off the transports singing the rollicking tunes heard whenever soldiers are on the move.

They came ashore in the same high spirits, cheering and shouting a mixture of warm greetings to natives of the port.

Before debarkation began, Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, General Officer Commanding the C.A.S.F., accompanied by the Duke of Devonshire, Under-Secretary of State for the Dominions, and a group of senior staff officers, paid a personal call to each troopship.

Secret Sailing.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 8 — (CP). — When the third contingent of Canada's fighting men started off for Britain, precautions taken to ensure the safety of the men were, if anything, more rigid than measures adopted in the first two movements.

As before, secrecy shrouded the sailing date for the troops whose arrival in the United Kingdom was announced to-day.

Even the soldiers themselves didn't know when their convoy of five great liners was due to head out of this port with its escorting warships.

The troops departed on the afternoon of January 30.

Military authorities said orders were to strengthen precautions against any leakage of information, perhaps because the Nazis, failing to get a shot at the first two contingents of Canadians, might be expected to redouble efforts to do damage to this convoy.

Sentries Tighten Up

At any rate, the sentries ringing the embarkation area scrutinized visitors just a bit more closely, and restrictions were tightened up all along the line.

An illustration of how tough it was for an unauthorized person to nose around is afforded in the case of the two newsmen—(including this reporter)—who were gently but firmly escorted off the biggest of the ships, though they carried a fistful of passes from embarkation and other military officials, the Navy, and even the Air Force.

The skipper said he just couldn't afford to take chances, as he summoned a burly seaman to toss the reporters off. On other ships the welcome was a bit more enthusiastic, but the general attitude of these entrusted with charge of the men was one of careful scrutiny of anyone not connected with the embarkation.

The holds of the ship were loaded down with war materials—artillery pieces, sturdy trucks, and great stores of food, especially flour. The great freight sheds at the piers were choked with cargo when the ships came in; they were virtually cleaned out at sailing time.

Fighting ships of the Canadian and the Royal Navy escorted the squadron of liners across the ocean. Before they sailed, ships first sped out of this harbor to search the Atlantic approach to the port for enemy submarines or mines.

Strong Guard on Hand

Then, at a prearranged hour, the transports hauled away from the pier one by one and steamed away. Battleships, cruisers and destroyers precede them. Bombers and fighter planes of the Canadian Royal Air Force darted back and forth overhead, some going far out to sea to assist in the reconnaissance for German craft.

On the ships, soldiers packed the shore-side rails, cheering, waving and singing. Some had climbed the rigging halfway to the crow's nests to shout their farewells to Canada.

Watchers on the dock were restricted to a handful. Only three or four women and a couple of dozen men were on hand when this contingent of the first division severed its last link with home.

Soviet Offices In Paris Are Raided

PARIS, Feb. 8 — (CP-Havas). — French authorities announced today that police had conducted a raid on the Soviet Russian trade offices in Paris. The purpose of the raid was not revealed.

(In Moscow the Soviet news agency, Tass, said the Russian Envoy in Paris had protested the raids on their trade offices and the alleged seizure of files).

Informed sources here said that since the Franco-Soviet commercial accord expired last December 31 no member of the Russian trade delegation had enjoyed diplomatic immunity.

Prior to that time three high officials of the trade delegation who were also members of the Embassy staff here did have extraterritorial rights as a special concession under the treaty.

It was noted here that the German news agency, DNB, reported the Soviet version of the raid, although in the past the German government itself has repeatedly raided the Soviet trade mission in Berlin. French officials said the version distributed by Tass and DNB was inaccurate.

Of the Allied conflict with Germany, the Prime Minister said winter weather had halted war operations in recent weeks and even interfered with normal activities so that there were few events of importance to record.

However, in mentioning the last Supreme War Council meeting—held on Monday in Paris—he noted that the Council had become "not merely a convenient means of harmonizing the views of the two governments but a vital instrument in the successful prosecution of the war."

He asserted he could not give the details of the last meeting, but said it seemed "even more valuable and businesslike than on previous occasions."

DemandDefence Censorship Laws Revised

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP).—Identical letters signed by 47 Toronto citizens urging that steps be taken to submit the defence of Canada and censorship regulations for systematic revision to a committee of Parliament have been received here by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative Leader Manion.

A copy of the letter as handed out at Toronto by William C. Grant said that while emergency powers and regulations are necessary in wartime, "regulations should not, by vagueness of expression and unwise application, become a means to the unnecessary curtailment of democratic rights."

The letter said this has been most clearly recognized in Great Britain where emergency regulations came before parliament, and were submitted by the government to a committee of all parties. Canada should follow the British example.

The good will of the United States towards the British Empire may be prejudiced, the letter said, "if it appears that the totalitarianism we are combatting in Europe is making inroads in Canada.

"We therefore respectfully urge that you, as the leader of one of Canada's political parties, should publicly undertake that, upon election, you will take steps to have all defence of Canada and censorship regulations submitted for systematic revision to a committee of parliament as soon as possible."

The letter was signed by Mr. Grant and 46 other Toronto citizens including Sir Robert Falconer, Clifford Sifton, Prof. G. M. A. Grube, J. C. McRuer, B. K. Sandwell, Morley Callaghan, Brian Doherty, J. M. Macdonnell, and J. B. Bickersteth.

Mr. Grant said a copy of the letter also was sent J. S. Woodsworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, at Winnipeg.

Youth Is Given Freedom To Enlist

Jack Webster, eighteen-year-old Toronto youth who pleaded not guilty a few days ago to the theft of $10 from J. K. Hughes asked to be brought before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning and changed his plea to guilty.

Adjutant Buckley of the Salvation Army spoke to the court in his behalf. It was the accused's first offence, he said. Webster had already been nine days in jail and was prepared to make restitution. Adjutant Buckley suggested that the youth be given suspended sentence.

"This scarcely seems to me to be a case for suspended sentence," said Magistrate Langley. "This sneak thieving has to be stopped." Webster said that he had enlisted in the Air Force and was anxious to report in Toronto.

Crown Attorney McElderry said that he would not oppose the request for suspended sentence and finally Magistrate Langley consented to the request, allowing the Toronto youth to go after Adjutant Buckley agreed to go on his bond for good behavior.

Ducks Stay North Likely To Starve

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8—(CP). — The exceptionally mild winter on the prairies has lured thousands of ducks from their annual southern jaunt. Flocks have been seen on the lakes and streams in the three Prairie Provinces, the majority of them in Alberta.

Ray Benson, secretary of Ducks Unlimited, said in New York yesterday that a late breeding season last spring, forest fires, floods and a long warm fall had dulled the migratory instinct of the ducks. He said instead of flying to southern United States feeding grounds, the birds had remained by the hundreds in the North and are faced with extinction.

Several thousand ducks have found so far that Alberta is a nice spot to spend the winter. About 2,000 are at Clear Creek in the Rocky Mountain House district, 175 miles southwest of Edmonton, while Sylvan and Buffalo Lakes in Central Alberta have attracted others, with the largest flock, 4,000 obtaining winter feed at Inglewood Sanctuary at Calgary.

Last year in Alberta birds were captured and shipped to Spokane and Seattle for movement south, but this year this is unlikely because of the cost. There is little danger of starvation in the Rocky Mountain House district as the ducks feed on farmers' stacks of greenfeed and even steal food from pig pens.

In Southern and Central Saskatchewan ducks have been seen defying the winter. Two hundred were seen at Shackleton, 300 each at Moose Jaw and Riverhurst, and smaller flocks have dotted various lakes and streams in the southern part of the Province.

Saskatchewan old timers agree the outlook is not a good one. The rainfall has been below normal and very little snow has fallen, all of which means light water runoff in the spring, leaving dried-up sloughs and creeks in the south, where millions of ducks formerly raised their young.

Blimps Aid Ducks

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Feb. 8—(CP)—United States Navy blimps and a rowboat fleet manned by deputy game wardens have been pressed into service in a campaign by the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission to save thousands of ducks threatened with starvation by the freezing of their winter feeding grounds along the New Jersey coast.

Harry M. Armstrong, a member of the commission, said today the blimps, operating from the navy base at Lakehurst, N.J., drop tons of grain every other day on the ice-locked coves of a 65-mile stretch of coast. Grain also is distributed by the game wardens operating in rowboats.

Broadbills predominate in the area, but large flocks of mallards and black ducks also are wintering here.

Otonabee Council Asked For Grant

KEENE, Feb. 8.—The Ontabee Council met with all the members present on Monday. A deputation from the Otonabee Red Cross society was present asking for a grant to start the Red Cross workers in Keene. The Reeve stated that under the present law they were not allowed to give a grant from the township.

The clerk was instructed to write the Peterborough Utilities Commission asking them to cancel the contract on the Keene Curling and Skating rink as one half of it had fallen down, and in their opinion the service will not be required on this building, and the clerk to pay a bill of $22.20 owing on the same.

The township again insured with the A. E. Wilson Co. for Public Liability and property damage on the roads in the township for 1940 at a premium of $204.60, also on the Trucks and Tractors, etc. at a premium of $27.00.

The auditors presented their report which was received and accepted by the council and 150 copies ordered printed.

Music Is Theme Of Y.P. Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 8 (ENS)—The entire theme of the weekly program at St. John's Y.P.U. was "Music" and far nearly every member the idea seemed a success as it was generally agreed that it was one of the most interesting evenings held in many months. The purpose of the program according to Arnold Bates who very capably arranged the affair, was to familiarize the young people with the compositions of the composers and particularly to show the type of music which each gave to the world.

Opening sketch was of the life of Johann Straus. This was given by Mrs. Don. Holmes and followed by "Tales from Vienna Woods" played on the piano by Don. Bennett. Miss Gladys Stephen contributed the sketch on Johannes Brahm followed by a violin solo of one of his compositions "Weigenlied" with Clark McKelvie playing the solo accompanied at the piano by Arn. Bates. Following a verse on "Platform Manners" by Mr. Bates the musical portion of the program continued with Ethelbert Woodbridge Nevin the next subject with Elva McConnochie giving the "Rosary" as a vocal solo. Miss Ellen Pallister highlighted the composer's career. Schumann was next by Madeline Lisle and the "Merry Peasant" was the selection chosen to be played by Marian Seymour. Final composer was Stephen Collin Foster with Len Smith doing the speaking and the whole group joining in the singing of "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." Only other number on the program was a comic reading on opera provided by Arn. Bates.

At the close Rev. G. N. Maxwell gave a few interesting remarks on the winter school in Belleville.

BECKLEY, W.Va., Feb. 8—(AP).—R. L. Reardon dropped $170 into deep snow last week, and long, cold searching brought no results. So he kept quiet, "afraid to tell anybody." The snows melted this week. Reardon went out and picked up the money.

Japs May Cancel 9 Power Treaty

TOKYO, Feb. 8 — (AP).—Foreign minister Hachiro Arita told parliament today that the government is "weighing the advantages and disadvantages of abrogation" of the nine-power treaty of 1922 concerning China.

"Some of its provisions obviously were incongrous," Arita said of the pact which pledged Japan, the United States, Great Britain, Canada and other powers to respect the integrity of China and the policy of the "Open Door" in trade with that country.

Japan is preparing for "anticipated difficulties" in her economic relations with the United States, the lower house of parliament was told.

"The government is devising methods of industrial expansion and other rearrangements in order to prepare for such difficulties, especially in importation of needed supplies," Kakichi Takeuchi, president of the cabinet planning board, replied to a questioner.

In a discussion of American-Japanese relations in the light of the expiration Jan. 26 of the 1911 trade treaty, Yoshimichi Kuboi, member of the Seiyukai, major political party, advocated economic preparedness, declaring "it is a serious matter if Japan relies on the United States for the majority of the imports."

(In recent years about one third of Japan's imports have been from the United States. She has relied heavily on American sources for oil, scrap iron and other military necessities.)

Habitual Constipation Is a Danger Signal

Constipation is always bad enough . . . it drags you down; makes you feel headachy, dull, irritable. But when constipation becomes a habit, look out! It usually tends to get worse and worse. Frequent resort to harsh purgatives and other emergency treatments only makes you the more dependent on them.

The one sensible way to treat constipation is to get at the cause. Common constipation often results from not getting enough of the kind of food that will help form a "bulky" mass in the intestine.

If this is your case, you should eat Kellogg's All-Bran. It only takes a small amount—an ounce a day is enough for most people—but you must have it regularly and drink plenty of water. Get a package at your grocer's today and just see what a world of difference it makes when you keep "regular." Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

A Woman Spoke Up

We are having too many "incidents" in Canada connected with public addresses. Montreal had two in one day, and we refer here to interruptions made when James Waterman Wise, son of Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York, undertook to criticize Chamberlain and Daladier. The charge was that England and France had been derelict in their duties to democracy in Spain and Czecho-Slovakia, and their weakness was responsible for the tragedy which has fallen over the world and for making Hitler's way easier.

A woman in the audience interrupted and said it was an outrage for the man to come and say such things at this time in Canada. The speaker tempered his criticism by admitting that Britain and France were now fighting the battle of democracy.

There is something about that unknown woman—for she is not named—that we admire. We're glad she stood up right where she did and when she did and said what she did.

This land of ours is not in need of speakers from New York to stand on their hind legs and become critical of what Britain and France did in the past.

The cause of democracy was—and is—just as much in the hands of United States and in the hands of James Waterman Wise for safe keeping as it was—or is—in the hands of Britain and France. And James Waterman Wise is doing mighty little for his professedly beloved cause of democracy when he can find nothing better to do than heap criticism on Britain and France.

The woman who had the good courage to get up and tell him off was speaking on behalf of all red-blooded Canadians.

Germany Not Interested

There has been nothing definite on the question, but there does appear to be fair enough reason to believe that Germany is not going to the assistance of Russia in subduing Finland. If there had been a close-knit alliance between Moscow and Berlin it would be reasonable to suppose that Berlin would have taken a hand before Russia was allowed to make such an exhibition of inefficiency before the whole world.

Russia has lost something which it cannot stoop over and pick up and Russia and the world know it.

Our belief is that Russia and Germany came together in the first place because each wanted to use the other, and we have no cause to believe there has been any change.

Germany wanted to use Russia so there would be no interference in the invasion of Poland, and because Germany believed it would be possible to secure large qantities of raw materials from Russia in exchange for manufactured goods from Germany. That is Germany's way of carrying on trade and securing what she needs.

Today there is veiled if not open admission from Germany that she cannot get much out of Russia. There have been German officials and engineers sent to Moscow and elsewhere through the country to see what the trouble is. They have found Russian transportation systems so clogged and disorganized by the short haul toward Finland that little else can be moved.

If one wants an explanation of Russian transportation it is to be found in the effort to purchase Canadian wheat and have it shipped to Vladivostock on the East coast of Russia. It would have been easier and quicker and cheaper to have wheat make that journey than to ship wheat from Russia's interior to Vladivostock.

The one great drawback to exchanging products between Germany and Russia is that the railways of the two countries are run on different gauges. The rolling stock of one will not travel on the other, and that means a complete reloading at some junction point.

Germany is not interested in what happens to Russia in the war with the Finns. A weakened, a bothered and a humiliated Russia means a more subservient Russia in any future dealings with Germany. Beside which Germany knows she has more on her hands at the moment than she can deal with without becoming involved in the aid of Russia.

Something Wrong

There is a unusual case booked to appear before a Western Ontario court, one of those cases which should never come to court at all.

A farmer sold a pig for $28.50 (although that seems to be quite a price for a pig) and the son who made delivery came into possession of the money which he did not turn over to the father.

One report has it that the young man used part of the money to pay a police court fine for a friend and bought for himself some clothing.

It was the father who laid the court charge of conversion of funds against his son. There was a warrant out for the young man's arrest, but it was not used as he walked into police headquarters and gave himself up.

There's something wrong in that home; something out of order between that father and son. A young man stealing money from his father to go and buy clothing does not make sense.

In ordinary circumstances a father and son working together on a farm are in daily contact; they have plenty of opportunity and occasion to discuss anything or everything. With such a case going to court they will have opportunity of discussing their family affairs and financial arrangements in court where the whole countryside will hear all about it, and on top of that the son now has a mark on his record of having a warrant issued for his arrest. Something wrong on that farm.

Rebates On Vacant Property

Ald. G. N. Gordon mentioned at a recent Council session that he intended revamping the existing by-law which has to do with the granting of rebates in taxation owing to vacancy of premises. The Municipal Act recognizes the right of the property owner to make application to the Court of Revision for such rebate, but also stipulates that it is contingent upon a by-law of the municipality.

Prior to 1936 Peterborough's by-law refused to recognize the right for rebates due to vacancies in premises, but when a case was taken to court in Toronto (which also had a similar by-law) it was found the municipality had not the right to take the "no rebate" attitude.

On May 4, 1936, the Peterborough by-law was changed and provision made for applications to the Court of Revision for rebates. The various periods of vacancy are covered, ranging from three months to a full year. Over three months and less than four, entitles the owner to a rebate of one-eighth of the year's taxes on the building only; if the property is vacant for a year then the rebate may be one-half of the year's taxes on building only.

In order to have the right to claim such rebates the by-law provides specifically that the premises must be made fit for habitation, and sufficient is placed in there to make it certain that an owner cannot leave his premises in a loose way and then go and claim exemption from taxation because no person would rent them.

It may be an extension of that principle which Ald. Gordon has in mind, or a more strict application of existing clauses. There are some long-lived vacancies in Peterborough which might well stand some investigation.

Making Speeches In War Time

Mayor Lyle Telford of Vancouver made a speech last Sunday night before the Washington State Commonwealth in Seattle. He said among other things that a war dictatorship existed in Canada, and he spoke also of the futility of war. Members of Vancouver City Council then passed a resolution in which they dissociated themselves from what they termed the disloyal utterances of the Mayor.

The Mayor made an offer that he would repeat the address for their benefit, but that offer was not accepted. The feeling was that by his utterances in the American city Mayor Telford had given comfort to the enemy, and his address would be interpreted as meaning that the first magistrate of a great Canadian city was not at all in favor of the war and Canada's participation in it.

It is a plain fact that there is dictatorship during war years, and we do not see how it could be otherwise. There are certain things which we do not do which at other times are considered quite right and are catalogued among our liberties. In newspaper offices there is a day-to-day effort made to refrain from publishing news of the movement of troops in our own country; we say nothing at all about the time or place when troops are going to leave or be moved from one place to another. As far as this paper is concerned we try to avoid useless criticism of a government, believing that in a general way whatever government we have in power needs support in war years. All that is done by most of our Canadian papers for two plain reasons, (1) they are seeking to comply with the requests and instructions from those in authority, and (2) because they want to be as helpful as possible.

When Mayor Telford spoke of the futility of war he touched on a subject which has been freely discussed in other times. Right now an address of that sort is not at all helpful because we are facing the grim fact that we are at war. We have to deal with conditions as they exist and not with conditions as we would like to have them exist.

We have only to look at Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and Finland to see the grim reality of battered life today. The width of the Atlantic ocean and the power of the British navy are the two factors which have spared us from positive attack. Germany would strike Canada today if it were possible to do so, and if the blow were to come it would help us not at all to inform the invaders that we had certain views about the futility of war.

We believe it is right and reasonable that the citizen in a democratic country should willingly sacrifice certain of his liberties in war years, and we doubt whether such action is entitled to pass under the full-freighted meaning of sacrifice as the world has come to know it. This has special significance for those who feel called upon to make addresses in places and under circumstances where they will be widely reported. In that way they reach the enemy, and the enemy is dangerously well skilled at taking such addresses and recasting them, mutilating them and twisting them so they fit in admirably with the day's work of imparting intestinal fortitude to the residents of enemy countries. It is much better for our people to learn the fine old custom of closing the mouth and then allowing it to remain in that harmless condition.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Canadian soldiers training in Canada are not being fed prunes. Apparently they have some new wrinkle.

Man in Toronto complains he had a bogus $10 bill stolen from him, and the question now rises—did he actually lose anything?

A bachelor in British Columbia would gain $1,500,000 outright if he married, but he says he will remain single. Wow! Imagine a man talking that way in Leap Year!

Wentworth county and Hamilton city are working to secure the international plowing match. The city is interested in such an event as there is such a large turnover in it.

It is announced that for the first time in 20 seasons there will be no change in the Fish and Game Act. But we can still have our annual argument regarding the proper date to open the bass and lunge season.

Between France and Britain orders for 8,000 more planes are being negotiated in United States. And that in turn may result in a renewal of that old argument which followed the previous conflict. We mean the one about who won the war.

Merchant in Chatham was fooled by a customer who had both $5 and $10 bills and switched them around so rapidly that he took too much change out of the store. Possibly a man could become confused when seeing such an unusual customer on the premises.

Mr. V. Eastwood, chairman of the Peterborough City Trust, said that in the 79 years the Trust has been handling the city's sinking fund investments it has never had a loss or a default in payment. And there are plenty of larger concerns which have not been able to pick investments with that sort of result.

VICTUALS

¶ There's one time when I like to eat, it's humble but it's hard to beat, and I enjoy it too; there's never any crowd around, no music makes a pleasing sound, the items there are few.

¶ Some times when I am out of town, I pick a spot and sit me down, and it looks rather nice; there's fancy names upon the card, to understand them it is hard, I have to read them twice.

¶ And waiters come and waiters go, they romp to bring me so and so, I marvel at their zest; but all the show and all the style, it never seems to me worth while, it's not what I like best.

¶ I sit at counters in a crowd, where folk inhale their soup out loud, that comes sometimes at noon; I cannot tackle things quite square, nor swing my elbows sitting there, because there is no room.

¶ I go to banquets now and then, and meet with good and jolly men, the victuals are all right; that's not the spot I think of now, that weaves contentment on my brow, and brings we pure delight.

¶ When I land home quite late at night, and in the kitchen spring a light, and reach the coffee pot; I raid the ice box and I take, a chicken leg, a wedge of cake—ah that's the favored spot.

Czechs Keep On Hoping For Their Freedom

THE EXAMINER has received what can be regarded as an official document telling of life in Czecho-slovakia and the undying hope of the people that they will eventually win their freedom. From this paper we quote:

The nation is not only hoping for freedom; it is struggling. Every street in the cities and larger towns has its underground organization. Neither Jews nor prominent persons are accepted in these groups in order to attract as little attention as possible from Gestapo. Their members assisted officers, aviators, and officials of the Republican government to escape abroad, thousands of soldiers were sent to fight the invader in Poland. The secret groups keep lists of all German officials, where they live and the places they habitually visit—movements of troops into or from barracks, planes and gasoline supplies at airfields, deliveries of army provisions and supplies. There is a volunteer counter-espionage service to report on any Czechs who serve the Nazis.

Underground organizations have their members in factories, railways, telephone exchanges, public offices. By the simple process of obeying all normal regulations punctiliously, Czech railwaymen delay German army movements and supplies. At times like the week before the war on Poland, they threw railways into utter confusion. Telephones from German offices cease to function "for unknown reasons" just when vital military orders are being given. In factories forced to produce for the German military, improper chemicals are mysteriously mixed into metals to damage the product.

Due to the well-known greed of many Nazi agents, the Czechs have been able to bribe so many officials, even of Gestapo, that the whole force has had to be withdrawn to the Reich every month or two and replaced. Very many "unreliable" SS men have been arrested and sent to concentration camps, but their successors are bribed in turn or led to divulge bits of important information unintentionally. In this way the Czechs were warned in advance about the wave of arrests on September 1st, and plans to provoke street incidents on October 28th.

On the other hand the Czechs have maintained absolute silence, even under torture, about the arms secreted during the demobilization of the army after Munich, the complicated locks of underground reservoirs for gasoline have not been opened even though officers and workmen have been killed by Nazis in the attempt to learn the secret.

The name of Lt. Rudolf Beran has become heroic. It was he who was tortured for days to tell how to reach the underground gas reservoir at Kbely airfield near Prague. In the final test of wits, shackled and almost crazed with pain, he led seventy Nazis to a spot near one of the hangars, kicked a ring in the ground and said, "You have to pull up on that with all your strength." One of his tormentors pulled. It was the electric contact of an underground mine which exploded and killed them all—Beran included, of course.

YOUNG people who have known nothing but the era of freedom used to be more generous than their elders in relations with Germans. The brutality of the Nazi occupation, however, has brought them a double hatred of all things German and Nazi. They are immune to the means used to win youth in the Reich; uniforms and parades, anti-Semitism and propaganda of hate, the cult of leadership and opportunities to command others. Czech students are simply too intelligent to be won by the falsification of history or unfounded race theories; they are incensed by stupid vilification of what their nations holds sacred.

The disturbances on October 28th were occasioned merely by students wearing the national colors and "Masaryk caps," on their Independence Day, even though they knew that the Nazis planned to create trouble on any pretext. When Jan Opletal, who was wounded on that day, was to be buried on November 15th, students insisted on marching in his honor. Chased through the street by S.A. troops, they barricaded themselves in University buildings, but were finally captured. The last authentic report is that 1,260 students arrested that day were taken in buses to Ruzyn airfield, lined up and every tenth one shot.

Such brushes with the police do not lead to execution without trial in any civilized country, and the 126 have become martyrs. Among the others, those over twenty are in concentration camps; those under twenty years of age were released after seeing their comrades executed. The age of the youngsters subjected to such treatment is a pointed commentary on Nazi Kultur.

The fact that students are taking an active part in the struggle has given the Nazis an excuse to close the Czech universities entirely for three years, including the University of Brno and the School of Mines in Pribram. How seriously the Nazis mean this is seen in the fact that they are removing all Czech university equipment to the Reich. Denying education to a people is one of the time-honored means of keeping them in subjection and has been used by all tyrants. Our information is that the whole series of incidents was provoked for these reasons.

Our youth has its martyred heroes now and ranks with our officers, intelligentsia and our laboring class, who had their martyrs earlier in the struggle.

SO WHAT?

Mistress (to nurse, back from walk): "Where's Freddie's cap, nurse? This one's got 'H.M.S. Irresponsible' on it."

• About Our "Dollar-A-Year" Men

WE ARE hearing much these days about "Dollar-a-Year" men. Most of what we hear is misleading. To begin with, the term "Dollar-a-Year" man is what Mr. Churchill once called a "terminological inexactitude." It is that because the Government, recruiting these "Dollar-a-Year" men (provides expenses and living allowances for them up to between three and six thousand dollars a year.

That being the actual position, the Government should not say that Mr. So-and-So is working for a "dollar a year." It should say, claims the Ottawa Journal, that Mr. So-and-So is working without salary, but that the Government is paying his expenses.

Equally misleading were published reports last week purporting to show that these so-called "Dollar-a-Year" men were receiving all the way from $12 to $20 a day for expenses and living allowances. What the reports should have said was that these people, under the orders-in-council appointing them, were entitled to such amounts for expenses and living allowances.

Actually, several of these "Dollar-a-Year" men are not taking these expenses; have (apparently) no intention of taking them. One or two of them have already made this known publicly. Yet the public, discovering suddenly that men supposed to be serving the country for a dollar a year are drawing or entitled to draw $3,000 to $6,000 a year from the treasury, becomes a bit shocked—and cynical.

The fault is not with the "Dollar-a-Year" men; it is with the misleading label the Government attaches to them.

If a man be willing to leave his business or profession in Halifax, Montreal, Toronto or Winnipeg and come to Ottawa to do some outstanding war work for which he is particularly fitted, no reason exists why he should pay his own expenses. It is enough that he neglect his own business, serves without salary. But the Government, we think, should state the position precisely, chuck the talk about a "Dollar-a-Year."

Further: It is hard to understand why the Government should provide $12 a day for the expenses of one man, $15 in the case of another, $20 in the case of some. All these men, residing temporarily here in Ottawa live under the same conditions.

Also, many will think that if it be merely expenses the Government is taking care of—"th salary out—$20 a day is a bi. high. The Journal knows of one very distinguished Canadian who, serving Canada in a notable capacity, (and without salary), has declined $20 a day, or any other flat sum, insisting instead upon putting in his actual expenses. The Journal knows further that this gentleman, denying himself nothing in the way of comfort, is saving Canada considerable money.

In the opinion of many, the business of having people work for the Government without salary, should, apart from very exceptional circumstances, be discouraged. In the first place, it is not always the man who happens to be drawing a large salary in some private capacity who is best qualified to perform some special and perhaps entirely different task for the Government. A man on a much smaller salary, or with much smaller means, might be better qualified for it, in which case the Government's duty should be to take the man with the better qualifications and pay him a salary accordingly. The Government, after all, is not a pauper; it has no business filling vital jobs on the basis of the willingness (or ability) of certain people, no matter how patriotic they may be, to work merely for (or even without) expenses. Also, and not unimportant, when a Government employs an individual and pays him a salary, the Government is likely to have more control of his actions.

Finally, none of us should want anybody to work for the Government without being paid adequately. We have no right to expect that men who are specialists in their line should give up substantial salaries in their particular calling for smaller salaries here in Ottawa. A number of them have done this, and instead of criticizing them—as some are doing—we should commend them.

• $100,000,000 Daily Cost Of War

The present war in Europe is costing $100,000,000 a day, it is disclosed by study and current news dispatches of the appropriations of the warring powers.

Six months ago, before the Nazi invasion of Poland set off the European explosion, it was possible to estimate that the world's efforts to build up armaments would cost $20,000,000,000 for 1939.

The figure was for cannon and shells, warships, planes and the cost of keeping men in uniform. It left out of account the appalling destruction of wealth occurring already in China and elsewhere.

Great Britain was devoting half of all Government outlays to defenses, France 40 per cent, Italy 50 per cent, Germany probably 60 per cent and Japan 70 or more.

Now, Sir John Simon, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, has informed the House of Commons that the war will cost Britain nearly $8,000,000,000 the first year at the present rate, and warns of heavier sacrifices to come.

France, in the first 12 weeks alone, spent upwards of $1,000,000,000 on military expenses, by official estimates. At that rate, with the Western Front still quiet, the direct burden would be around $4,000,000,000 for the year.

Not even Reichsfuhrer Hitler and Joseph Stalin know exactly, but the best available "educated guesses" were that even before the first shot of the Polish campaign and before Russia invaded Finland, Germany was spending $4,500,000,000 annually on arms, and Russia possibly $7,000,000,000.

Among the technical neutrals, aside from Russia, Japan's Army and Navy have asked Parliament to approve a new arms program of about $670,000,000. The appropriation would be in addition to a total of $1,862,017,660 which already has been approved for war purposes.

What the fighting is costing the Finns is anybody's guess, but it is more than they have, their Premier warns, in advising friendly Governments that funds are running low.

Premier Mussolini's approval of a $542,000,000 military budget for Italy represents the heaviest arms outlay projected in any year for Italy since the 1914-18 World War. Relatively it is far heavier than the $1,800,000,000 budget President Roosevelt recommended for the United States Army and Navy in the same fiscal period, the twelve-month commencing next July 1.

Nevertheless, as long as fewer countries are engaged, and the Western Front stalemate continues, the European war is costing far less than its predecessor of the century.

ANSWER ENOUGH

A FEW nights ago Ed Jenney of Charleston, W.Va., celebrated his birthday, surrounded, he tells us, by a group of supposedly reliable friends. It seems that it became necessary to talk about something. In the ensuing coverage of important topics, someone wondered why Adolf Hitler gave up paper hanging for politics. And that, unfortunately, reminded someone of what the late Calvin Coolidge said to Rudy Vallee. Mr. Vallee was playing for Mr. Coolidge at the White House, but it did not become apparent during the evening that Mr. Coolidge was fully aware of it. After Mr. Vallee had finished he was introduced to Mr. Coolidge, explaining that he was the conductor of the orchestra. "Well," said Mr. Coolidge, "everybody has to earn a living."—Walter Davenport in Collier's.

NOT SURPRISING

(Toronto Saturday Night)

Premier King dissolved Parliament because he wouldn't stand for any criticism of Canada's war effort. That's not surprising; parents are always sensitive about their most unpromising offspring.

Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness? To The Editor

WANT THE BRIDGE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Please allow me space in your paper in reference to the London street bridge and the Waterford street residents who signed the petition against the bridge. Some of the residents o East City have paid taxes longer than a lot of the Waterford street residents; and have not asked the city to do much for them in years. Surely the city could give them some convenience.

It is not very nice for people with children to have to walk all the way around Hunter street bridge ot get to town, as we could not push a baby carriage through the Nicholls Park this weather. And most of us are not fortunate enough to have cars as are some of the Waterford street residents. And we like to live and let live. I do not see how it will decrease the values on the west side.

Umbrella Man Watched For By French

PARIS, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Those European skies that are credited at times with "raining cats and dogs" may now, according to the authorities, rain spies under parachutes, so we'd better watch out.

Man's ingenuity has greatly increased the variety and quantity of things it can shower over Europe today. Anything from propaganda to parachutists goes—and it's the latter who are by far the more dangerous—at least in France. The propaganda, because of its soviet-red covers, has simply become the butt of innumerable jokes.

The parachutists, however, are a different matter, and the public of France is being warned that every private citizen, every peasant and villager has a part to play in the protection and security of the country in aiding the police and the army in keeping a wide eye for this, probably the most audacious and redoubtable of enemies.

The Germans let these agents fall in Poland in large numbers and scattered over wide areas —behind the Polish lines, of course. They quickly, divested themselves of their flying suits under which they wore civilian clothes; hid their parachutes and found their way to their destinations where they engaged in placing bombs, sabotaging factories and munition plants, causing railway and bridge accidents and at the same time carrying on an efficient espionage service.

These tactics, according to a recent report, are beginning to make an appearance in France where there is reason to believe that several such agents have been rounded up in the army zones directly behind the lines. Unless the whole nation is vigilant it is difficult to prevent at least some of these being dropped by speedy planes from high altitudes, especially at night in the fields in sparsely populated areas.

Talk Like Natives.

These men who thus fall from the sky are the most dangerous of enemies for they speak flawless French. Of course it is obviously impossible for the police and army to keep a constant watch on every field and valley—so the call has gone out to all citizens to play their part.

Says the appeal: "The plane which lets fall the parachutist may well be taken for one of our own, but as a general rule our parachutists carry out their exercises in their own airfields and camps and any parachutist who is seen to fall into the fields outside these areas must be considered as 'suspect.'

"If one is discovered he must be taken into custody at once, treated with the greatest respect and courtesy. It is always possible that he is a genuine French soldier obliged to use his parachute because of an accident. But he must be kept under guard until his identity is proven."

Even in the First Great War the German Intelligence Service had begun to use this means of introducing spies into France. Today however, the danger is accentuated by the speed, altitude and distances which planes may attain.

It's a Long Time Since These Uniforms Were Worn

It's a far throw from these uniforms to the new streamlined affairs Canadian troops are wearing in World War II. This picture was taken in about 1896 and shows No. 5 company of the 57th Regiment.

Greater Education Needs In Wartime Are Stressed

MONTREAL, Feb. 8—(CP).—Efforts of organization working for "education and culture" are needed urgently during wartime, Miss D. Shearwood-Stubington, secretary of the Quebec Musical Competition Festival, said in an interview today.

Miss Shearwood-Stubington said she stressed this need because during a period of war "the conditions and lives of children should be kept as normal as possible." More than 1,300 entries have been received for this year's festival, to be held March 6-16, and 85 per cent are from school children.

The festival will have contests in music, drama, public diction and literature and both English and French groups will be heard. Contestants will come from Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough, Cornwall, Sherbrook, Quebec, Stanstead, Coaticook, Thetford Mines and Noranda.

There will be 70 awards including the Sir Charles Lindsay trophy for winners of the contest's main event, the choir competition. The Lieutenant-Governor's Medal is for the winner of grade "A" adult vocal solo classes, sung in any nationality.

A New Feature

The festival, affiliated with the British Federation of Music, will have a new feature this year, the co-ordination of two Anglican church ritual choirs. Also in the choir competition will be a group from Hamilton, the Ladies' Hamilton Choir, who have sung in Wales.

Miss Shearwood-Stubington said the phrase "music is an international language" will be demonstrated when groups of Hungarian, Russian, and Italian singers render their national songs in native voice.

Adjudicators will be Lady Tweedsmuir who will judge the finals of the English literary works competition; Dr. C. H. Moody, organist and choirmaster of Ripon Cathedral, England; Bernard Goss of London; M. H. Potiron, Paris; Mrs. Dorsey Zimmerman of Columbia University and Maurice Genevix of Paris.

Canadian Corps To Support Nationalists

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP). — The Council of the Canadian Corps Association today announced: "The association is prepared to support to the fullest extent a genuinely national movement designed to establish in Ottawa a government dedicated to the prosecution of the war to the full extent of our national strength. It is not interested in the fortunes of any political party, but will support any coalitiorf of political groups or individual candidates who are prepared to put the good of Canada before any consideration of partisan advantage.

"The Canadian Corps Association has repeatedly said during the past year that a national government alone can solve our problems. In this time of crisis it is more than ever necessary. It feels strongly that the question of ultimate leadership must be decided by the elected representatives from among their own number. In no other way can unity of effort be secured. In no other way can the association or loyal people generally be assured of the genuineness of the movement."

Officers Of The Old 57th Regiment

Officers of the old 57th Battalion will remember this picture, for it was taken on the occasion of their last gathering, about 1907 or 1908, in the old Armouries. The regiment originated during the Fenian Raids, had been active in Peterborough until the opening decade of this century.

This mild spell in February may be ok. with some people, but as far as we curlers are concerned it sure does upset everything. It has been very quiet down here for the last couple of days and nights and while the probs saw a little colder, that does not always hold good. Two or three degrees of frost is not much to go and come on.

Now then if the weather holds good we will play the Canadian Packers Co. bonspiel to-morrow. Play will commence at 9 a.m. and the players are asked to be on time—3 10-end games will be played and we understand that there are five sets of good prizes. If any of the local boys are not as yet entered, come down to the rink to-night and we'll see what can be done.

It is more than likely, due to this lay-off, that the schedule committee will start right in on Monday night and run double-headers every night until all postponed games have been played. Players are asked to keep this in mind.

We believe a number of mixed rinks are going up to Bobcaygeon on Saturday night to play the return game for the "J. G. Harkness" trophy.

Ladies' Basketball

The third and final round of the ladies' basketball schedule gets under way on Friday evening in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium:

6.45 p.m.—Westclox v. Quaker Debs.
7.45 p.m.—St. John's v. Quaker Aces
8.45 p.m.—Orfuns v. "Y" Gym.

The Debs will be making a final bid for a junior play-off position when they meet Westclox in the first game. Both squads have been battling to keep out of the cellar, and a Westclox win will keep them well ahead of the Debs and will practically assure them of a junior play-off slot.

The champion Quaker Aces can step up near the top with a win over St. John's and this second game promises to be full of action.

A win for the Saints will keep them in sight of the senior play-offs, while a loss may mean a drop to the junior division.

Orfuns and "Y" will fight it out for the top position in the final struggle of the night. Each team has a decision over the other to date, and both outfits will be out in full strength trying for the win.

Scorer—Sybil Ecobichon

Referees will be:

First game—Joe Cooper and Bob Dyer.

Second—Joe Cooper and Hymie Smith

Third game—Whitty Thirnbeck and Ken Gillespie.

Taisto Maki, the Finnish runner, is nuts about our orange juice and swing music....John Morley, the Youngstown (O.) veteran, will be named greenkeeper of the year by the Greenkeeping Superintendents' Association to-night. These unsung heroes of gulf are here for their convention 1,000 strong... Walter St. Denis, ace press agent for Mike Jacobs, wasn't in Miami 48 hours until he had talked the dog tracks into closing up shop for the Conn-Lesnevich fisticuffs. February 28.

Florida Stamps On Gamblers

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8—(AP).—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has joined hands with Florida State prosecutors in a drive to stop gambling at the height of the winter tourist season.

Three suits to close alleged gambling establishments in this area—the preliminary step in a drive backed by the State Attorney-General, George Couper Gibbs—were based on information furnished by Federal operatives.

This link of Federal and State enforcement agents developed a few hours after testimony by J. Edgar Hoover, Federal bureau chief, describing the Miami area to a congressional committee as an underworld mecca, was made public.

The first step in the new anti-gambling drive struck three resorts in South Broward County, about 15 miles north of downtown Miami. The establishments were named as the farm in Hallandale and the F. & W. Bar and the Pine Inn in Hollywood.

The State asked Circuit Court to enjoin the night clubs from gambling operations.

"We have good reasons to believe," Hoover said, "that the operations of confidence men in the Miami area are carried on at least with the knowledge of some law enforcement officials."

Tactful, Frugal Dictator Of Greece Slaves At Post

ATHENS, Feb. 8 — (CP). — War in Europe, an international situation requiring a strong hand and concerted public opinion have etched in clearer outline John Metaxas, Prime Minister, Foreign Minister, Minister of War, Marines, Air and Education—Dictator of Greece.

And yet the 68-year-old Metaxas is unique among European dictators. He is not a popular hero, in the ordinary sense of the word. He has no outwardly dynamic quality. He does not look like a dictator, and in a crowd you would never notice him. He has no interest in public spectacle; makes no impassioned speeches.

A military genius, he never wears a military uniform. He is hard-headed, practical, frugal; an organizer, a patriot, with determination to see his ideas carried through.

Since August 4, 1936, when he directed the coup d'etat that gave Greece an authoritarian regime, there has been no disputing the position of General Metaxas in Greece.

He has the backing of a highly efficient secret police, and the support of the Greek army.

The last show of open opposition against Metaxas died in February, 1938, when a number of party leaders were banished.

Metaxas is carrying out a wide program of social legislation, public works, and national discipline, and he slaves at it. There has been land reclamation, new roads, greater industrial activity, higher wages, and a better standard of living.

On the other hand, higher taxation and higher costs of living must be considered, while rearmament, social legislation and a heavily increased police force have cut deep into the national revenue.

As regards Greek foreign relations Metaxas has achieved notable successes. He set out to improve the Greek-Turkish relations and succeeded. Through vigorous defence measures, Greece is in a much better position militarily. Relations with Italy are improving, and the British guarantee did much to soothe the fears of the Greeks.

General Metaxas was in the past regarded "pro-German." He has repudiated any such sympathies, pointing out that Greece, with Germany her most important market for tobacco, hardly can afford to ignore the Third Reich. And there is no question but what Greek public opinion is strongly pro-British.

With the present war in Europe there are new problems for Greece, not the least the threatening problems of national economy with the disruption of the German market and trade.

His pictures appear everywhere side by side with that of King George, but one can detect no trace of personal vanity in the man, who at a reception, can usually be found in a quiet corner talking about his plans.

His First Loss

Pittsburg, Feb. 8 (AP).

CAB DRIVER Herb Flanigan has been rushing women to hospitals for the past 12 years and has beaten the stork every time. But the other day when he took his own wife to the hospital he got only as far as the driveway when she presented him with a baby girl.

Marries Anyhow

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 8. — (AP).—The appendicitis attack that Edward Shaffer suffered on his wedding day resulted only in a change of scene. Instead of a church, the marriage ceremony took place in his hospital room. Surgeons, getting ready to operate, said they thought the honeymoon would have to be postponed.

Japan placed 306 guards in the House of Representatives to be prepared for stormy sessions of the 1940 Diet.

France's Quiet War Sees Men Busy Making Roads Ready For Fireworks

By GILLIS PURCELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

WITH THE B.E.F. SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, Feb. 8—(CP).—The so-called "sitdown war" in Northern France is no sitdown at all for the administrative side of the British army staff in the field. These "A and Q" officers—as they are termed in the highly systematized army—and the troops they direct are busy 10 to 15 hours a day with an anxious eye on the calendar.

Everywhere one travels along the British front he hears officers say: "This is a funny war," or "there's never been a war like this one." But they know that as time goes on the stage is being set for a war that may be fiercer, faster and far more deadly than the war fought in this very area a quarter-century ago.

The "A" stands for "adjutant" and the "Q" for "quartermaster" and these two divisions of army effort rank alongside the "G" or "general" side. At the moment the "G" side is planning for the future with its various alternatives of attack or defence or just waiting. But the "A" and Q" are occupied day and night with making the present positions into the best possible positions from every angle.

They must put roads in shape for an emergency. In one British division one-way roads to and from the forward defended localities are being bolstered by to withstand the heavy traffic of war.

In this division, 300 tons of road metal—cracked stone from French quarries—has been hauled daily for use to hold the pavement in position. The side of the road is dug out, the metal is thrown in, then rolled. The result is a road that will stand any test. Since the war started 13,000 tons have been hauled.

One field ambulance is an example of well-directed effort. A two-storey country house has been converted into a hospital. Since the war started 160 operations have been done. A six-bed room is available for severe cases. Next the house the engineers set up a 30-bed hut heated by two stoves.

Across the road the field ambulance troops let their ingenuity run riot. They converted a rabbit-run into a cookhouse and built from bricks and sheet-iron a field oven where this correspondent saw two roasts cooking, potatoes at the boil and two "dixies" of vegetables simmering.

Adjacent to the cook house the troops themselves had constructed from waste lumber and packing cases—new sawn lumber at the moment is at a premium—a rest room in which already several concerts and a pantomime have been held.

Half a mile away more than 40 troops bustled about making over an abandoned factory into a "naafi" (navy army and air force institute) store to replace the present somewhat constricted one.

While the "A and Q" gang may be keeping the troops busy with moves to add to present comfort and future safety, the relaxation of the army is not being neglected. Concerts are staged by the troops themselves and by visiting companies from London.

In addition, a battalion at a time from each brigade is moved out for 14 days from the extreme quiet of village billeting to a rest and training area near the larger settlement where it is possible to see a cinema of an evening.

Football and rugger competition has started and inter-unit and intra-unit competition already is under way.

Planes' Route Changed

HASTINGS, Feb. 8 — (ENS). — An airplane, illuminated with red and green lights, has been passing over this village nightly a few minutes before nine o'clock and has been a source of wonderment to residents as to its purpose. It is believed to be a T.C.A. plane flying btween Toronto and Ottawa. It was reported the regular route of the plane until recently was closer to Norwood but owing to the high voltage hydro lines in that vicinity, the planes are flying a few miles south of Norwood. Occasionally planes going in opposite directions pass over this village about 8.50 p.m.

Never in the history of the world was your attendance needed more at this service for prayer. Will all the ladies in the community please accept this invitation and attend. This is your prayer service.

Last Sunday the sermon at the United Church was based on the words of Ezekiel: "I sat where they sat." "The need for mutual understanding which will lead to friendship is very much in evidence today in all phases of life," Rev. Mr. Murray said. "Too often we pass judgments upon people without understanding the circumstances in which they live. We are too prone to see the bad faults and to exaggerate them and to close our eyes to the good qualities sin other lives or to minimize them. We cannot save the world, community, or person by condemning them; they need our mutual understanding. Ezekiel was angered at the Israelites, but he went down by the River Chebar and lived amongs them for seven days and he became more sympathetic. We need more of this spirit to-day—the spirit of Christ—to help each other and save the world." The music by the choir and soloist was appreciated by the large congregation.

Hubbies Fighting Women Run Locks

LONDON, Feb. 8—(CP). — Wives of many Thames lock-keepers have been manning the locks since their husbands have been called for service with the armed forces, keeping river traffic moving until relief keepers can be hired.

Nature of their work is illustrated by the job of Mrs. Dorothy Newin, wife of the lock-keeper at King's Weir, near Godstow Nunnery, Oxfordshire.

Mrs. Newin lives near the lock and, except for a single farm house, there is not a dwelling within three miles of her home. She described a typical day like this:

"We have to take the height of the water four times a day. If the water is too high the level has to be lowered. To do this I have to draw the bucks (stop locks) at the Weir. There are two sets of bucks, one of iron and one of wood. Generally I can manage both, but I have my two sons to help me if necessary.

"My husband and I came here two years ago and I always assisted him, so that his absence does not really mean a great change so far as the work is concerned. It is a good healthy job and it tends to keep one slim."

MONTREAL STARTS DRASTIC REVAMPING TO MAKE PLAYOFFS

Canadiens Free Wentworth, Marty Barry

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP). — Interest along the National Hockey League front centred today on the efforts of Montreal Canadiens to revamp their line-up in a drive to obtain a playoff spot in the month and a half left on the regular schedule.

The first move was made yesterday when the management announced the release of the veterans, Cy Wentworth and Marty Barry, and the signing of Smiley Meronek, an amateur centre star with Verdun Maple Leafs of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Meronek, a 22-year-old originally from Portage La Prairie, Man., will get his N.H.L. baptism tonight when the Canadiens play at home against Detroit Red Wings. At the same time Toronto Maple Leafs invade New York for a game with the Rangers, while New York Americans take on the Black Hawks at Chicago.

Meronek, who left the Q.S.H.L. while holding down third place among individual scorers with 14 goals and 23 assists, will go to centre between the club's great scorer, Hector (Toe) Blake, and George Mantha.

Barry, one of the all-time greats of hockey, declared that he had received an offer to play with Syracuse Stars of the International-American League shortly after the announcement of his release was made public. Barry added, however, that he "may be back in the N.H.L. with another team pretty soon." He refused to divulge just what club he meant.

Wentworth, on the other hand, intends to retire completely from hockey and devote his energies to a job in Toronto with a beer company. The hefty defenceman had intended to retire from the game at the end of last season but came back for another season because of the team's scarcity of defence players.

Only possible change in the standing from tonight's games involve the Wings and the Hawks. Should the Wings win and the Hawks lose the two clubs would be tied for fourth place.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

It's Industrial Hockey League night at the Brock this eve, commencing at 7.30 o'clock. Packers play Raybestos in the first fray, followed by the go betwixt Watercrafts and Brintons, with Quakers and Westclox winding it up. Quakers are on top with Marines right on their heels, and then Westclox crowding close. Packers are half a game up on Brintons, while the Rays and Watercraft are tied at the foot of the ladder. As we mentioned yesterday, something of a feature in what should be a rousing triple-header—before a good crowd of fans—will be the return of that old ice warrior, Jim (Pontiac) McMartin. The coach of Brintons, a former O.H.A. ace, will be on defence for his club.

Wes Champ recently wrote to Bill Jackson here and said he was laid up with the flu. The first vice-prexy of the local Hockey Club is in Regina and had hoped to return to Peterborough early in the year, but was flattened by a miserable little germ! However, Mr. Champ is not downhearted and said he'd be here in time for the puck playoffs, coming east to Ottawa around the end of this month to attend the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. there, and then heading up this way. Wes gets a copy of The Examiner regularly, and we're wishing him a fast recovery.

Next O.J.H.A. game in the district round-robin serial will be here Tuesday next when Norwood's Bees—they have Hornets, Bees and midget Drones down that way—play St. Peter's at the Brock. In the only tilt played to date, the Bees edged out a close win. Meantime, the local Grads have an exhibition joust Friday this week at eight in Lakefield with the Bullets (gosh, such monickers!) of that spot. Grads meet at seven at George and Romaine streets. Dave Leether, Jr., is coach of the Grads and Ed Jobe assistant. Players include: Leon Shea, Reg. Leether, Wally Agnew, Barney Dundas, Gord Patterson, Edgar Roberts, Chum Gillespie, Jack Ainslie, Ken Anderson, Lionel Batten, Ab Woodgate, Midge O'Donnel, Pinky Robinson, Jack Cournyea and Bud Hallihan. Grads play St. Peter's Monday eve at 6.30 in the Brock.

Trenton Fliers zoom into town tomorrow after supper to play the Petes at 8.30 in the Brock St. rubber plantation. The locals' last scheduled game this season. It's important because first place in the group has not been settled yet. A win for the locals here tomorrow will put the clamp on the top rung, but a win for the Airmen will give them a good chance of grabbing that preferred berth. It's much preferred since it means the first home game in the playoffs for the top-place team, and might add up to a coupla hundred simoleons for one crew—and that is by no means hay.

Resuming their rivalry of several seasons—and with no letup so far this semester—the Fliers and Petes should dish up another torrid tilt before a full house. The R.C.A.F.-ers nosed out a 2-1 win o'er the Buckaroos second last game, but in their last encounter on Quinte ice the Petes 5-0'd them and were they as mad as damp chickens! An Irisher by the name of Higgins tangled with Bun Kingdom on the ice, and the lads started throwing punches again when they got into the sin bin, with Goalie (Corporal) Gibson, a smart netter, tearing out and mixing with Coughlin. Gibson also conked Starr over the noggin once. Oh, 'twas a swell brawl and a lightning-fast fray, packed with hot action and color.

Yeah, Bill Calladine signed a contract recently — an ironclad one, good for many years—in Baltimore (where he plays for the Orioles) but it wasn't a puck contract. 'Twas a wedding license. The smart high-scoring forward from here, and member of the Petes' ball club, was married a few days ago to a Baltimore lass whom he met a year ago. A girl who is a keen hockey fan, and whose dad heads a business firm in that U.S. city. Bill was offered a contract by Les Patrick to go pro with the Ramblers, but he said he'd finish out the season with the Orioles and probably play professional next winter. We wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Calladine apply for papers and live in the States now. He started out in hockey with King George School here and broke into O.H.A. junior with St. John's just 10 years ago, being 15 years old. Bill has gone a long way since school hockey days—and might yet wind up with N'Yawk Rangers.

Church Loop hockey executive met last night to deal with several knotty problems. A request for the catering of the league banquet from All Saints' Ladies' Guild was granted for around the end of March. The Murray St.-St. James' senior game, which the latter won using an ineligible player with the losers' consent will be replayed if necessary at the schedule's end. To be eligible for playoffs a player must be in two scheduled games. Vice-Prexy George Beauclerc and Secretary Don Charlton will act on the committee to draw up rules for the Ministerial Assoc. trophy. However, all the executive members will have a part in selecting the winner. Knox Bantams beat St. Paul's 4-1 last night. Games tonight: All Saints' Bantams vs. George St. at six, Mark St. vs. All Saints in a juvenile semi-final at seven, and St. James Juniors vs. George St. at eight.

We read with interest of a service last Sunday in Stirling when members of the hockey clubs of Ivanhoe, Glen Ross, Zion Hill and Foxboro — of the Central Hastings Rural Puck Loop — had a church service in Ivanhoe United Church. Choir was composed of hockey players and officials, and the church was jammed. It was instigated by Rev. S. Delve, who is an ardent sportsman and keenly interested in the welfare of this hockey circuit. The players on the various clubs, recognizing his interest, co-operated with him in the church gathering. In his address, Mr. Delve emphasized two things, one being that Christianity is not based on efforts of sissies but upon the work of strong men who could "take it"—and the other maxim was " a team which gives up when beaten is worse than a poor team which stays in the game and keeps trying to the end."

CHICAGO, Feb. 8—(CP). — The race is beginning to get hot in the International - American Hockey League's two sections.

A few weeks ago New Haven Eagles and Indianapolis Capitals were so far ahead in their divisions it was expected they could almost finish out the schedule in a walk and still end up in first place.

Lately, however, these clubs have fallen off the pace and now the Eagles, forced from the eastern lead by Providence Reds, are being pressed for second place while the Capitals' big margin has been sliced to eight points.

Springfield Indians, about the hottest team in the circuit at present, picked up a point in a 3-3 draw with Philadelphia last night and moved to within three points of New Haven. In the western half, the champion Cleveland Barons cut two points off Indianapolis' margin by beating Pittsburg 5-2.

Chuck Corrigan and Alf Thurrier were the big guns for the Indians while Lude Wareing was the Ramblers' hero. Corrigan fired two goals and an assist while Thurrier had a goal and helped on both Corrigan's counters. Wareing scored twice for the Ramblers, including the tieing goal in the third period.

After two periods of close play, Cleveland broke loose with a four-goal splurge in the final session to trounce the Hornets.

Mason scored a pair of goals in quick succession in the third period to win the game for the Barons. Shearf got one back for Pittsburg but Peg O'Neil and Earl Bartholome got two more to make the victory sure.

Pete Bessone scored for the Hornets and Ossie Asmundsen for Cleveland in the opening stanza.

R.M.C. Defeats Trinity

PORT HOPE, Ont., Feb. 8.—(CP)—Scoring three points in the final moments of play, Royal Military College first team defeated Trinity College School first team 20-17 yesterday in an intermediate basketball game. High scorers of the game were Pratton, R.M.C. centre, with six points and Svenningson of T.C.S. with eight points.

Experts Expect Godoy To Stay Five; Joe Fights Paychek In April

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Boys who place their money on the line are "getting down" for plenty on tomorrow night's Joe Louis-Arturo Godoy championship fight, despite the fact the Brown Bomber is rated so highly that his next title defence already has been lined up.

Promoter Mike Jacobs broke just about all rules for fistic publicity last night in announcing that Louis' next trip to the post would be in April against Johnny Paychek, thin-haired heavyweight out of Des Moines, who recently has run up quite a victory string.

"Uncle Mike" did qualify the announcement by pointing out that Louis would have to whip Godoy first, in 15 rounds or less tomorrow in Madison Square Garden.

Even the bettors, having examined the somewhat peculiar "schedule" of odds for the fight, let the 1 to 7 price on the bomber to finish on top in his ninth title defence strictly alone. Instead they climbed aboard another item as a sinch.

This was a quotation of even money that Godoy would last five rounds. The odds-makers have rigged up a scale on just how long Arturo would be around, making him 1 to 2 to hang on for 10 and 1 to 4 to be on deck at the finish.

The fact that Arturo is a rough customer and fights low—two peculiarities Louis definitely does not enjoy in a rival punch pitcher—was what the boys and girls liked about his chances to stay.

However, it was pointed out that there was little or no betting on Godoy being victorious.

TO MEET ON SATURDAY.

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP.—Members of the Ontario Rugby Football Union will hold their annual meeting here Saturday, Feb. 17, according to announcement by Secretary Harold Bailey.

TWEED SETS BACK CAMPBELLFORD — NORWOOD BEATS MADOC

Norwood Rally Trounces Micmacs 7-4

NORWOOD, Feb. 8—(ENS). — Tightening their hold on the T.V.L. leadership, the Norwood "Hornets" handed the Madoc "Mismacs" a 7 to 4 setback Wednesday evening at the Norwood arena, after spotting the visitors a three-goal lead in the early half of the game.

The Hornets have dropped only one game in their last eleven starts, and that to the Tweed "Terriers" who are scheduled to visit Norwood on Friday night.

A last period rally by the Hornets, with a couple of scraps as added attraction, saved the contest from being placed in the mediocre class. Sofe ice had a lot to do with slowing up the game, the players having considerable difficulty in controlling the wayward puck.

The Micmacs grabbed an early lead, when Emery left uncovered in Norwood territory slammed one past McMaster, on a pass from Kellar. A goal by Heyworth, scored about the halfway mark gave the visitors a two-goal margin.

The first stanza was entirely free of misdemeanors but six penalties in the middle frame were evenly divided between the two teams. Two minutes after the period began, Akey combined with Kellar for Madoc's third goal. Norwood's continued efforts to enter the scoring column were finally rewarded after four minutes of play, when Rogers golfed a rolling puck by Martin, as he sped alone through the visitors' defence. A penalty to Aboud, giving Madoc the odd-man advantage, backfired in favor of the Hornets, when Richardson banged home Brady's rebound for their second counter. This one was nullified by another Madoc marker, when McMaster let a long drive from Kellar slip by. Both sides were shorthanded at this time, Coe having joined Aboud in the hoosegow. A Madoc penalty, Hailstone being the offender, paved the way for Norwood's third goal this stanza, Brady notching this one on a nice solo effort. Aboud drew another penalty for boarding Akey, and Stewart and Richardson went off together for tangling towards the end of this session.

The pace stepped up considerably in the final canto, especially after Puffer deadlocked the count at 4-all with a neat goal from the face-off in a Madoc corner, after only a minute of play.

Half way through the period, the tide of battle suddenly reversed and it was Madoc that was forced to take the defensive. After several unsuccessful sallies, the Hornets finally took the lead for the first time during the game, Hill snapping home Puffer's rebound. Two minutes later O'Leary, accepted a pass from Richardson to give Norwood a two-goal margin, and Hill combined with Rothwell for another at the 19-minute mark to place the game definitely in the bag for the homesters.

It was during this final minute of play that the hostilities broke out. Rogers taking a swing at Gilman as the latter dumped him roughly. This was apparently the signal for several other players to square off and battle. When the smoke finally cleared Rogers, Puffer and Stewart were all in the cooler with a major apiece, while Gilman accompanied them with a minor. With seconds remaining Hill and Akey decided to settle a private feud by means of fisticuffs. At this turn of events, the Madoc manager decided to withdraw his team from the ice, as a quick means of settling the trouble.

Outstanding for the winners was the Puffer-Hill-N. Rogers line who figured in four of the Norwood goals. The work of Richardson and Brady was particularly noticeable among the rest. For the Micmacs, Kellar, Akey, Heyworth, Gilman and Emery were the pick. The teams:

Norwood.—Goal, McMaster; defence, R. Webb, Rothwell; centre, G. Puffer; wings, Hill, N. Rogers; alternates, Brady, Aboud, O'Leary, Richardson, W. Webb, and W. Rogers.

Madoc.—Goal, Martin; defence, Coe, Emery; centre, Kellar; wings, Akey, Heyworth; alternates, Hailstone, Gilman, Stewart, Vance.

Referees.—R. Ennis, Norwood; C. Caverly, Madoc.

Remember When—

Hockey's mighty atom, Aurel Joliat, played his 500th National League game with Canadiens at Montreal six years ago tonight. The 136-pound Ottawan, a master stickhandler, and one of the outstanding players in hockey, made that season one of his best, finishing eighth in scoring lists. He played four more years with the Frenchmen before retiring to run his Montreal grocery.

Tweed Terriers Grab 9-8 Win On Campbellford

TWEED, Feb. 8 (ENS)—Before the largest crowd of the season at the local arena on Wednesday night, Tweed Terriers won a hard fought overtime game from Campbellford by a count of 9-8.

In the first period, nine goals were tallied with the Terriers taking a 5-4 lead. J. Courneyea rapped in the first goal of the game on a pass from Harold Long right after the face-off. However the Suncos tied the count when Robinson took a pass from Hendy to drive in a long shot from the blue line. The Terriers then rapped in four goals in quick succession, with Elsbury tallying twice, securing the first on a pass from J. Courneyea and the second on a pass from Tummon. A. Courneyea scored from the corner to put the Terriers one up after Hendy had scored from Robinson for the Suncos. Tummon drove up a pass from Elsbury to tally the last goal of the Period for the Terriers. However, the Suncos tallied twice before the period ended with McIlrath taking a pass from Blake and Hendy taking McIlrath's pass to out the Terriers margin to one goal.

In the second frame, Campbellford tied the count in the only goal of the period with McIlrath taking a pass-out from Hendy. Penalties were handed out freely in this period with Harold Long, Tummon, McIlrath, Elsbury, Hendy and Couch going to the box for tripping.

The steam was turned on full force in the last period, with the Suncos breaking the tie, when Couch took a pass from Kelly on a scramble in front of Reeves to put the visitors one up. The lead was short-lived when Harold Long, Tweed wing, banged in a three-way pass from Wagar and Tummon. The Terriers gained the lead when Joe Courneyea scored on a solo. Blake for Campbellford tied the count. McIlrath drove in a closein shot with the period nearly over. However with only seconds to go, Tummon and J. Courneyea combined on a nice play, with Tummon taking the pass to backhand one past the corner of the nets to tie the count. Only two penalties were handed out in this period with Hendy and Couch getting them.

This is the second game in succession that Campbellford have lost by the same count of 9-8, having lost one on Tuesday night in a hard fought game against Madoc.

Lineups:: Campbellford: goal, Donald; defence, Atkinson, Wilks; centre, Hendy; wings, Robinson, McIlrath; subs, Blake, Free, Kelly Couch.

Tweed: Goal, Reeves; defence Tummon, Orr; centre, J. Courneyea, wings, Elsbury, Harold Long; subs Howard Long, G. Wagar, H. Leal, J. Marsh, A. Courneyea, Woodcock.

Glen Ross Whips Ivanhoe 5-3; Foxes Blanked

TWEED, Feb. 8 (ENS).—Handicapped greatly by the absence of Cooke, Wright, and Reid from their lineup, the short-handed Ivanhoe squad made it plenty interesting for the league leading Glen Ross of the Centre Hastings League on Tuesday night, for two periods, but faded in the final period to lose 5-3.

Less than thirty seconds of play netted Ivanhoe their first counter when Bray batted in a pass from Kirby. Martin got the equalizer, and the first period ended 1-1.

In the opening minute of the second frame G. Fraser scored on a shot from the blue line and Hagerman and Martin added goals to put the Riversides well in the lead 4-1.

Play was fast and even throughout the last period, and Ivanhoe were robbed on several good tries by good netminding of Hagerman. Thompson scored at eight minutes and gave Kirby the pass for their third counter. Sending every man up on the play, the Easterners pressed hard, but hope slipped when Armstrong broke away to make the final count 5-3 for Glen Ross.

The line-ups:

Glen Ross — Goal, Hagerman; defence, Brown and Fraser; centre, Martin; wings, Pyear and Armstrong; subs., Boroks, Hagerman.

Ivanhoe — Goal, Delve; defence, Tomlinson and Woods; centre, Thompson; wings, Kirby and Bray; subs., Fleming and Downey.

Referee—J. Hulin.

Irish Blank Foxes.

The second game of the double-header between Zion Hill "Irish" and the Foxboro Foxes, proved to be a much faster battle, as the Zionites shut Foxboro out 5-0.

The winners moved to the front with two fast goals in the first period, J. Ray getting the first on a pass from Simms, who was responsible for the second counter himself.

A scoreless second period gave both goalies plenty of work. Simms and Ketcheson divided the three-goals scored in the last period to make the final count 5-0.

The line-ups:

Zion Hill — Goal, Gifford; defence, Bedford and Dickey; centre, Brough; wings, Ketcheson and Faulkner; subs., Simms, Tummon, J. Ray, and B. Clarke.

Foxboro — Goal, N. Guay; defence, Noley Guay, J. Guay; centre, Elder; wings, Thompson and Spencer; subs., W. Dafoe, Halliwell, and Gough.

League Standing.

The first release of the standings of the four teams in the Centre Hastings League, shows the Plainfield boys leading with five points, one point ahead of the Tweed Bearcats. Following is the full standing:

	P	W	L	T	Pt
Plainfield	3	2	0	1	5
Tweed	3	1	0	2	4
Farnsworth	3	0	1	2	2

MORE ABOUT—

bag that bore the name "Arnold Wellman" on the side. A quantity of bagged grain was stolen from Wellman's barn at the time of the killing.

Thompson also told that he had taken a pair of Thain's shoes and found that they compared with footprints found in the snow around the Wellman homestead. A shotgun found in Thain's house smelled strongly of powder as if it had been used shortly before, he added, while some of the prisoner's garments were soiled with spots believed to be human blood.

Health Had Improved.

Dr. E. A. Carleton, Stirling physician, told the court that Arnold Wellman's health had been better the last year than previously. He had had a large hernia, but no heart condition. Mrs. Wellman had a bad heart condition and had been treated frequently.

Witness had been called on the previous Thursday by Mr. Wellman because his wife had had a "bad spell." Witness had seen Mrs. Wellman the following day. She had been taking medicine given by a doctor son. It was recognized by witness as digitalis. Witness advised Mrs. Wellman to go to bed, which she did.

He had received a call from Faulkner, a few minutes after ten o'clock a.m. last Thursday morning. Arriving at the Wellman barn, he found Wellman's body in the cow stable, lying on its back. He had seen by the light of a pocket flashlight that the top of the brain was gone, witness said.

"I thought the man had been shot or pounded to death. I felt his chest. His body was cold. "In my opinion he had been dead for hours," Dr. Carleton said. "In the house were Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Thain, wife of the accused. There I saw Mrs. Wellman's body, part of her head had been destroyed."

Witness had no doubt that death was instantaneous in both cases.

Cause of death, witness testified, was destruction of skull and brains, caused by external violence. Under Crown questioning he admitted the violence was caused by shooting. He gave the court identification of the bodies.

Cross-examined, witness testified he had not seen any evidence of foreign matter, such as leaden pellets, in Mrs. Wellman's pillow.

Finds Mrs. Wellman Dead

Mrs. Eleanor Reed, Harold, stated she knew the deceased "very well" and was able to tell the court the ages of the deceased. "I was called by Edmund Faulkner and when I arrived the house was cold," she said. "I went into Mrs. Wellman's room and thought she was sleeping but when I touched her arm it was cold and I knew she was dead. I pulled up the blind and saw brains scattered on the wall."

Bought Gun Shells

Mrs. Mildred Graham, Wellman's Corners, storekeeper, stated she saw the accused at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 31. What did he buy? He bought a file and five shot gun shells of guage 12."

"How did he come?" asked Mr. Donnan.

"With a team of horses," said witness.

"What else did he buy?"

"A chocolate bar."

Mr. Donnan produced a file, but Mrs. Graham was not sure whether it was the one purchased by Thain from her.

"What quantity of shells did you have?"

"Just one box."

"Have you any of them left?"

"Yes all but one that Constable Smith took." Mrs. Graham then produced the remainder of the shells left in the box and they were taken by the court.

"What number were the shot?"

"Number four I think."

Found Shotgun Wadding

Sergeant Harry Thompson of the Ontario Provincial police, in charge of the investigation with Inspector A. H. Ward, of the C.I.D., Toronto, was the next witness called for the crown, testifying that he was called on the case on February 1st by Inspector Frank Gardner and arrived at the Wellman home at 11 o'clock.

"I inspected the house and saw the body of Mrs. Wellman lying reposed with hands across her chest.' At the time of the first intimation of the tragedy it was understood it was an axe slaying but shot gun shell wadding was found and we concluded the victim was shot.

"What was her condition?"

"The inside of her head was just a shell as all the brains had been blown out and scattered over the room."

"What else did you find?"

"A partly written letter to her daughter Dr. Iona Wellman, and her teeth were out of her mouth. One lens of her glasses was on the coverlet of the bed and the other in the rims. All these exhibits were given to Dr. E. R. Frankish.

"What next did you do?"

"I went to the barn and visited the cow stable, finding the body of Mr. Wellman, and part of his skull was blown 14 feet from the feet of the deceased.

The milking pail was held tightly between his knees and the milking stool was close by. The wall near where he was lying was spattered with brains and blood.

We found pellets of small shot, I believe number four, in the house, witness said.

In witness' opinion, Wellman was killed by discharge of a shotgun from the east.

Pellets found in the bed and the wall in the bedroom indicated Mrs. Wellman met her death from discharge of a shotgun.

Powder Marks On Face.

"What at first made you believe she had been shot?"—"A distinct dark ring was on her face."

"What was that?" — "Powder marks."

Shot covered a radius or spread of 21 inches about 46 inches above the floor, witness said.

Pieces of board with embedded pellets taken from the Wellman home were introduced by the Crown.

"Had you any knowledge of a grist?" the Crown asked. "We did not find any grist but there was considerable wheat and oats in the granary."

Samples of ground grain had been taken by police officers, witness said. A check of barn floor had been made where grist had been on wagon.

A fresh sleigh mark on the barn ramp indicated a team had been turned around. There was a distinct difference in imprints of horses' hoofs.

by no common principles or agreed policies?

"When a vague suggestion is made of a 'National' government of all the talents, you would do well to ask and to insist upon knowing who the men will be, and what talents they possess?

Another Angle

"It is not further essential that you should know whether they represent, in fair proportion, the two great races of the Dominion? It is my firm conviction, on which I have acted throughout my political life, that our national unity can only be maintained by a government in which there is always an intimate and generous association between French and English."

A united war effort of a united Canada represents the heartfelt wish of the Canadian people, the prime minister continued. "If you ask yourself the questions I have suggested, ponder them in your hearts, and answer them as Canadians, I have no doubt what your decision will be."

There are two "real issues" in this election, he declared. Behind the clashes of political conflict, the first issue concerns the maintenance of national unity and on the first issue depends the second—the whole policy of the government in prosecution of the war. "Both issues rise superior to personalities," the prime minister added.

The men the electorate selects to bear the responsibilities of government "must be ready not only to face unflinchingly the dire necessities of war; they must also be prepared with a sense of national unity and the idealism of international good will to face the problems of peace."

Mr. Mackenzie King reviewed in detail the circumstances under which he called parliament Jan. 25 only to tell its members he proposed to have a general election as soon as possible and to obtain dissolution four hours after the formal opening.

Wouldn't Have Waited

He told of the government reaction to criticism directed towards it by Ontario Liberal and Conservative leaders and said that they would have been ignored. But he could not ignore the Ontario Legislature's vote of censure and would have dissolved parliament at once but for his pledge to call a sixth session before the general election.

It had been hoped parliament might have discussed the government's conduct of the war but national unity was endangered by the political controversy which broke out.

"That controversy, once it had begun, would not, because of the time at our disposal, have been carried to any conclusion on the floor of the House of Commons. It could not have been ended before there was reason to expect a spring offensive in Europe."

The prime minister declared that no government could allow a situation to drift in this manner and he acted as he did in order that the unity of parliament might be preserved in the eyes of the world.

"The decision to dissolve was not the result of impulse. It was the inevitable result of the outbreak of political and partisan struggle, combined with the factors of time. If there had been any hope of a brief session, calmly devoted to the discussion of national affairs, such a session would have been held."

In reference to proposals for "a so-called national government that might enforce conscription or disfranchise many classes of Canadian citizens," and to suggestions that life of parliament might be extended, Mr. Mackenzie King said 'Memories of those experiences in the last war are still bitter in the minds of Canadian people.

Must Have Unity

Canada could not have entered the war, without disastrous results, except as a united nation, the prime minister declared, and the Dominion cannot continue without this unity.

"I believe that every fair-minded citizen will agree that the policies which have united Canada are the policies which will keep our country united. Extreme measures, used by men of extreme views — whatever means or methods may be taken to enforce them — will only serve to divide and destroy what is most essential to the prosecution of the war—the support, by the people at large, of Canada's war effort."

The reality of Canadian unity was demonstrated by the decision in the Quebec provincial election last fall, the prime minister said, adding that he would always regard this as evidence of the common determination of all Canadians to share in the struggle and sacrifice.

The government's record will be presented fully to the voters during the campaign and criticism of that record met without fear.

Constructive criticism has been met by appropriate measures but other criticism has developed in recent days, Mr. Mackenzie King warned, which is destructive, is designed to advance personal ambitions, spread disunion and undermine confidence in the present administration "whos econduct of the war up to the beginning of the present administration "whose conduct of the war up to the beginning of the present year received general commendation."

William Wright Passes Away In 89th Year

CAMPBELLCROFT, Feb. 8 (Special). — Death yesterday separated one of the longest married couples in all Canada when William Wright of Campbellcroft died at his home after a week's illness. He was 89 years old on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright had been married for 67 years last October and were considered to be among Canada's longest wed couples. On their 65th anniversary they received a cable of congratulation from King George himself, and telegrams from the Governor - General, Lord Tweedsmuir, and Acting Prime Minister Ernest Lapointe.

The community of Campbellcroft feels itself the poorer in the death of Mr. Wright, for he was one of that district's most highly respected citizens, a man who had lived all his life in the vicinity and had waged a successful battle against Nature to make a happy home in the early days of Hope Township's history.

Born in Monaghan.

Born in South Monaghan Township, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wright, and he moved to Hope Township the year after his marriage in 1873 to Harriet Ball of Hamilton Township. Although the farm to which he moved had some land that has been under cultivation before that time, a large part of the 200 acres was in stumps, just as it had been left when the timber had been felled. Mr. Wright had to clear it before he could plant his crops there.

He was a most active man in his youth and regularly cradled from four to five acres of grain a day because there were no mowers at that time. Even in retirement he insisted, until the past few years, in growing his own vegetables.

Ploughed at Ten.

He started to plough when he was ten years of age and kept at it for more than 60 years. It was only 15 years ago, at the age of 74, that he left his farm, now operated by a son, and retired to Campbellcroft.

Old-age left Mr. Wright in possession of good health until a few years ago, and even to the last he was far more able-bodied than many another man his age. And although his health had been failing toward the last, it was not until a week ago that he took to his bed.

Had 11 Children.

One of his chiefest joys was his large family, by whom he was held in great veneration. He had 11 children, of whom ten are living, 46 grandchildren, and 8 great-grandchildren. The children surviving are John A. Wright of Peterborough, Mrs. F. C. Coates of Beverley, Alberta, Leonard B. Wright of Redvers, Manitoba, Mrs. D. J. Cameron of Peterborough, Dr. C. Stewart Wright of Toronto, Mrs. Charles E. Dean of Garden Hill, Mrs. F. E. Boddy of Toronto, Mrs. Saunders Findlay of Thornhill, Robert G. Wright of Toronto, and A. Bruce Wright on the homestead in Hope Township. Also surviving are his wife, one brother Robert D. Wright of Campbellcroft, and two sisters, Miss Sarah Wright and Mrs. Elsie Fleming, both of Galt.

Mr. Wright was a member in high standing of Garden Hill United Church.

The funeral will be on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from Garden Hill United Church, Rev. Mr. Robertson officiating. Interment will be at Welcome Cemetery.

Farmers Plan To Do Part In Bacon Pact

A survey of farm activities and outlook in Central Ontario is afforded by the following reports from Agricultural representatives in some of the counties:

DURHAM—Most farmers are keeping an extra sow or two in order to do their part towards furnishing the increased war demands by Britain. There appears to be plenty of good seed in the county to meet requirements. We have had several inquiries for Vanguard oats, which supply will have to be obtained from some other district.

HASTINGS—A series of six bacon production meetings were held the first of the week and were well attended. Farmers are busy putting up ice and cutting the season's wood supply. Conditions have been favorable for both operations. Seed cleaning plants have been busy. The portable Clipper Cleaners are doing considerable work at home, particularly in small seeds. Portables will be on the routes earlier than last year.

NORTHUMBERLAND—There has been a good demand for pure bred dairy cows and good sales have been made to outside buyers. The number of winter litters is above normal, but some mortality has been reported. Farmers, generally, are dissatisfied with the price for hogs, as they maintain that a reasonable profit cannot be realized in view of the present prices of grains and feeds. There is still a shortage of water on many farms.

PRINCE EDWARD—Considerable demand has prevailed throughout the winter for cows to go to American buyers. Four cars of livestock were shipped out in the past week. A number of the large poultry raisers are disposing of their laying hens at a good price. Local feed stores are paying 40 cents for good feed oats and 80 cents for wheat.

VICTORIA—The scarcity of water is the most serious problem on many of our farms. Cattle are doing well, although more feed is required because of the cold weather. Farmers are already enquiring for seed grain and potatoes. Fortunately, we are able to direct enquiries to nearby sources in most cases.

Ship Torpedoing Tale Treat For Kiwanians

LINDSAY, Feb. 8.—(ENS)—Lawson "Blink" Blakely, former member of Lindsay football squads and radio officer on the S.S. Pensilva which was torpedoed and sunk off the British coast by a German submarine, described his experiences in an address to the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay Tuesday evening.

"We were three days from port in England when we received a report of a sub ahead of us and we changed our course immediately," he said. "However, our first warning of submarines came when we heard a report, or explosion, and saw the water shoot up some 300 feet in the air. I was in the wireless room and continued to send out wireless messages that we were being shelled. Finally the captain returned to the wireless room and asked me to hurry along that the boats had been lowered and were about to leave the ship. I grabbed my coat and left.

"After that we saw nothing of the sub and were about to return to the ship when she was struck by another torpedo and she began to settle in one end. We then noticed the periscope of the submarine as the craft ran away.

"A British destroyer came along and asked us if we were all right and then set out in the chase for the submarine. They picked up the location of the submarine on the hydrophones and we could hear the sharp reports of discharges from the destroyer some two miles away. Some 25 depth charges were let go at the submarine. We were then picked up by the destroyer and while we were on board another depth charge was discharged, the whole boat shaking with the concussion. Then we saw oil rising to the surface and it was stated that the destroyer had succeeded in getting the sub."

Radio Officer Blakely also said that the ship on which he was returning home to Canada became wedged during the night between a troop ship and the convoy. The ship had to return to England for repairs.

STOCKHOLM — (CP-Havas). — The Swedish Parliament to-day voted a special credit to provide 800,000 gas masks for the country's civilian population. It also provided 10,000,000 kroner (about $2,382,000) for military hospitals.

LONDON — (CP). — Lifeboat crews scanned the sea in vain at dawn to-day along a section of the East Coast, looking for a clue to the cause of explosions which flashed against the sky during the night. Windows and doors of homes in several towns were rattled by the blasts. The likeliest conjecture was that floating wreckage had exploded mines.

Training Of Children As Citizens Never As Important In Canada As Now Inspector Tells Board

At no time in Canada's history has the necessity of training school children for citizenship been as great as it is to-day Inspector K. S. Wightman told the Board of Education in his annual report, submitted this week.

In a review of the year's work, he warned against accepting "the traditional view which limits the task of the Public School to the training of the child in the elementary skills of reading, writing, and arithmetic, together with the imparting of certain selected fragments of knowledge." Such an interpretation is too narrow and can hardly be acceptable to even the most casual student of education," he submitted. "It errs in placing the emphasis on subject matter rather than on child development; and it ignores entirely the social implications of any system of public education." The primary purpose of the public school, he said, must always be the training for citizenship.

"We are exerting ever effort to maintain for ourselves the democratic way of life; it is equally essential that the new generation be so trained that it can use with advanatage such freedom as we may be able to preserve. In the long run, the maintenance of democracy depends on the development of the type of citizen who, conscious of his individual rights and resolute to preserve them, is, in equal degree, both able and willing to assume the social responsibilities they entail. Intellectual training there must be, for each according to his capacity; but even more important for the rank and file are the fostering of initiative and independence of mind, the development of a sense of social responsibility an dthe ability to live and work with others with tolerance and understanding, and, so far as it may be possible with immature minds, the instilling of a love of freedom and a living faith in democracy."

"What is your occupation?" one of the local enumerators asked the woman of the house at which he called Wednesday. "Minding babies and cooking meals," was the prompt reply.

NOT ON BICYCLE

In connection with the accident in which twelve-year-old Edwin Hotts was injured on Tuesday the Examiner is informed that the boy was riding on a sleigh when struck by an automobile and not on a bicycle as was first reported.

SIGNALS REVERSED

Motorists driving west on Hunter street and approaching the intersection on George street must have paused uncertainly today, because the traffic signal which usually blinks its warning lights towards the east—the one at the north-west corner—had its back towards East City and was facing due west.

LOADING COAL

In a roto section of a Montreal paper this week appears the picture of a number of Canadian soldiers at Aldershot, England. One of the soldiers is Jimmy Welch of Peterborough, but his usual broad grin is absent—possibly because of the phase of army work he and his buddies are engaged in, loading huge chunks of coal on a cart.

THOSE WHO HELPED

The Elk arrived safely in Peterborough County but behind the suggestion were Herb. Routley, Christopher Hughes, G. N. Gordon, Peterborough Canoe Company, the County Council, J. J. Turner, and a few other men who promised and gave financial backing to get them here. It requires this kind of cooperation to get things done.

SERVED WITH 75TH.

The Examiner has credited the wrong regiment with the services of Lt.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, M.C., officer commanding the Prince of Wales Rangers, in the Great War. At a Kiwanis luncheon last week it was stated that Col. Hicks-Lyne had been a junior officer to Col. B. O. Hooper, D.S.O., M.C., in the 20th Battalion which Col. Hooper commanded. Col. Hicks-Lyne, actually, was a company commander under Col. Hooper in the 12th Reserve Battalion in England prior to joining his own unit, the 75th Battalion, in which he served with distinction in France. The 75th Battalion is now perpetuated in the Toronto Scottish regiment.

A North Ward resident pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having consumed liquor while on the interdicted list. The man was arrested Wednesday night after a disturbance at his home and was fined $10 and $4.50 costs or ten days in jail.

ON CBL PROGRAM

A CBL broadcast Wednesday night featuring Niagara Falls, Ontario, in "Canadian Snapshots," included a former Peterborough boy, Martin J. Guerin who spoke from the Falls View observation tower. The famous burning well made an interesting subject for the trans-Canada program, and was aptly described by Mr. Guerin.

ESCORT HERE

A military escort from the Guelph Battery arrived in town on the noon C.N.R. train today to take back a member of the unit who has been under arrest here on a charge of being absent without leave. Local police had the gunner waiting at the station for the escort and the party left for Guelph when the train pulled out a few minutes later.

WILL BE BROADCAST

Major General McNaughton, officer commanding the 1st Canadian Division will be heard Sunday night in a broadcast from Aldershot Camp in England during the course of a program that will announce the Canadian Legion War Services drive. The broadcast will be carried by the Canadian network and will be heard between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock or as Col. Macintyre told Wednesday night's meeting "between Jack Benny and Charlie McCarthy."

REGISTERING BICYCLES.

Province-wide licensing and registration of bicycles was a resolution that met with favor at the 23rd annual convention of the Canadian Bicycle and Sporting Goods Manufacturers' Association in Toronto yesterday. Don Smedmore was a representative from Peterborough. Purpose of the proposed licensing and registration was to cut down the number of thefts of bicycles in Ontario. At the present time some municipalities have local licence fees, but there is no uniformity in the province.

Third Offender Gets 3 Months

Eddie King, former transient who has more or less permanently adopted Peterborough as his home was charged as a third offender on a drunk charge this morning and finally pleaded guilty after he had first entered a not guilty plea and had been remanded.

When the charge was read to him first King said that he was guilty in a sense.

"You will have to plead guilty in every sense," Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., stated.

"I was more weak than drunk," King replied. "I had just got out of jail and was going away for a job. A fellow gave me a couple of drinks and they were to much for me."

The accused was remanded until next week but returned to court shortly after to say that he wanted to change his plea to guilty. "Be as lenient as you can," he said, admitting two previous convictions.

"You know that under this law I am not permitted to be lenient," said the magistrate. "For a third offence the sentence is three to six months in jail without the option of a fine. Would you like the three months?"

"I wouldn't like them," said King ruefully.

"But you would rather have them than the six," said Magistrate Langley, smilingly.

Liberals Meet On Saturday

Arrangements have been completed for the Liberal convention in the Canadian Legion Hall Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, Jacob Low, secretary of the federal Liberal Association told the Examiner today.

Business includes both election of officers and nomination of a candidate. The announcement calls for a delegated convention, and presumably delegates have already been appointed in the many polling subdivisions of the riding by the poll organization. Both floors of the Legion have been engaged for the afternoon with a loud speaker for the advantage of an expected overflow attendance.

New projects, based on innovation and novelty, being pursued vigorously, diligently and decisively, may have aspects of disruption and devastation prior to attaining high objectives.

Wm. F. Connal Is Named Chief Engineer

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 8—(Special).—William Ferguson Connal, mechanical engineer of the Canadian National Railways at Montreal since 1923, has been appointed chief mechanical engineer with jurisdiction over system matters, according to announcement made today by John Robertson, chief of motive power and car equipment.

Born at Peterborough, Mr. Connal is a graduate of McGill University in mechanical engineering. After two years as a draughtsman with the B.C. Electric Company at Vancouver, he obtained a thorough grounding in railway mechanics as a special apprentice in the car shops and the locomotive shops of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway (now part of the New York Central) at Cleveland, Chicago and Elkhart. He became mechanical expert to the general purchasing agent, New York Central and Hudson Railway at New York, following several years in various positions at Philadelphia, Montreal and Sharon, Penn.

In 1910 he joined the National Transcontinental in construction work and in 1916 transferred to the mechanical department of the Canadian Government Railways, Western lines. Mr. Connal joined the Canadian National Railways as mechanical engineer in 1919, serving at Toronto until 1923, when he was transferred to Montreal.

Son Of Peter Connal.

William Ferguson Connal is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Connal, whose home was on the north side of Brock Street, between Bethune and Stewart Streets, now occupied by Mrs. J. H. Connal. It is a stone house, built in the earlier days of the city when that material was used in the construction of the Court House and many other buildings of the old town.

Peter Connal was for many years a grocer on the east side of George Street, about opposite Grafton's. In his later years Mr. Connal took his son, the late James H. Connal, into partnership with him.

W. F. Connal attended school nere and went on to McGill University. One other brother was Thomas Connal, also deceased, who was employed in the Peterborough Hardware Company's store.

Mr. Connal married Lydie Higgins, a sister of Miss Mary Higgins, 1043 Water Street, and they have one daughter Betty.

Price Increase Is Expected New Garments

Price tickets on men's combination underwear made of combed cotton yard are still marked at $2.00 a suit, George Hildebrand of the Fashion Craft store told a reporter today, but replacement orders after the first of February are accepted by the manufacturer on an increased price basis to retail at $2.50.

Mr. Hildebrand mentioned the advance in the cost and retailing selling price of this garment as an indication of the present trend in the trade.

The new price list in the range of garments manufactured from cotton yarns is for men's underwear for next fall and winter, but they "will apply on all further sorting business this winter," the advice from the makers stated.

The retail price of $2.00 on the underwear that was mentioned as an example will continue, it was said, as long as the present stock lasts.

Hope To Maintain Price.

A recent letter from the manufacturer included the following observations which should be of general interest: "The prices we have been forced to set on the attached sheets are prices which we hope we will be able to maintain. No one can foretell, however, what increased costs we will be called upon to face several months from now, and therefore we are unable to guarantee that these new prices will remain effective for any longer than four or five months. Any important further increase in the price of raw materials or wages, etc., will naturally have an immediate bearing upon the prices we are quoting to commence this placing season. It is important that if at all possible your fall requirements on these lines should be booked fairly promptly."

Basic Increases.

The letter to the trade pointed out that Botany wool yarns "which we use for our winter underwear lines" have increased in price 55 per cent.

"It is true that the industry had a quantity of lower-priced yarn in advance of manufacturing requirements for civilian needs before war was declared. It is equally true, however, that hundreds of pounds of this lower-priced yarn has been used for emergency requirement of clothing an army. It well to realize that the Government right now is preparing orders for this industry for over 1,000,000 garments for war purposes. Whatever background of lower-priced yarns we have had, has been required for this unexpected emergency. The result is that new manufacturing for 1940 has to be based on yarn which has advanced most substantially even to the point of 55 per cent.

The price of cotton yarns of the carded variety such as is used in the lower-priced cream ribs (combination underwear) on these price lists has advanced 30 per cent.

The price of mercerized cotton yarns, such as we use in our more expensive numbers, has risen 37 per cent. The price of combed cotton yarns has risen 32 per cent.

The price of raw silk has approximately doubled in the last few months.

These increases are just in the yarn state, or in the case of silk, in the raw, before any manufacturing of the garment has commenced. To these increases must be added higher costs for sewing threads, buttons, chemicals, dyestuffs, bleaching materials, and in fact almost every item of supply from knitting needles to labels, to say nothing of wages. These in our company have voluntarily been increased 10 per cent. to take care of the higher living costs of our workers.

This entire situation applies generally to the industry as a whole, and the above remarks will give you the background upon which you will find an explanation for what may seem too sharp an increase in general price levels. There have appeared in one or two newspapers some absurd statements to the effect that the Canadian public will not have to pay more for its clothing in 1940 than it did in 1939, before war was declared. The writers of such articles are of course completely ignorant, for the facts are as I have stated them above."

It was also said that manufacturers may strive to maintain some lines at present price levels "for special reasons of their own, and if so are prepared to absorb the sacrifice he must make in doing so."

Legion To Seek $5,000 In City Drive Next Week

Declaring that the war represented a real job for Canadians and that all the country's resources might be needed before it was over, Lieut.-Col. D. E. Macintyre, D.S.O., MC., of Owen Sound, assistant general manager in charge of administration of the Canadian Legion War Services Inc., got the local campaign in aid of the Legion's wartime organization away to a flying start at a meeting of representative citizens in the council chamber Wednesday night.

In a plain, unvarnished exposition of the Legion's plans to give the new army the benefit of assistance and experience of the veterans of the last great war Lieut.-Col. Macintyre stressed the absolute necessity of maintaining the morale of Canada's fighters in the air, on the land and on the sea at the highest possible level and of so educating the younger members that they might return trained to take their positions in civilian life.

"Canada is so far removed from scene of fighting," he pointed out "it is hard to realize that we are at war. Life seems to go on just about the same and yet the country is facing the greatest crisis in its history. Some day I am afraid we will have an awakening."

Maintaining Morale

"One of the most important factors in regard to Canada's fighting forces," Lieut.-Col. Macintyre continued, "will be the spirit and morale of our men. We have all been thrilled by the resistance offered by the Finns and the chief reason for that heroic stand is the spirit which animates the Finnish people not to submit to conquest."

The Peterborough campaign for an objective of $5,000 will be carried on next week and the organization that execute the drive was announced at Wednesday night's meeting. The local effort will be staged at the same time as the general campaign throughout Canada which will seek $50,000 to finance the wartime services of the Legion's organization.

Chief Gimblett in his opening remarks outlined next week's drive and then Lieut.-Col. M. R. Sloan, district commander of the Legion, introduced the guest speaker. He referred to Col. Macintyre's work in connection with the Boy Scout movement and to his appointment as assistant general manager of the Legion War Services.

Men Still Necessary

Col. Macintyre said that this had been often called a mechanical war but he asked his hearers to remember that in every machine, on the bridge of every ship and at the throttle of every plane there was a man.

"It was necessary to stand behind those men and to see to it that comforts and recreation were provided. In this connection he pointed out that there were a number of organizations who were anxious to take part in furnishing what was needed. There would be no overlapping, however, because Col. Foster, head of the Canadian Legion had been appointed in charge of auxiliary services and all the different agencies would operate under his control. The Legion, he said, would have liked to have had full charge of auxiliary work and felt that it could have handled it but it was recognized that others wished to serve.

The Legion's Program

In regard to the work of the Legion War Services he said that a five-point program: education, personal services, entertainment, recreation and the use of local facilities of the Legion had been adopted. Legion War Services would operate some cantees, dry ones, and not in competition with other similar canteens.

Col. Macintyre emphasized particularly the educational objects of the Legion in which field it had a special mandate from the government. "All of us know the long days of boredom," he said, "and conditions in this war are much different from those of the last great war because of the blackouts in England and because of the hours and days spent underground by the troops along the front in France."

In the last war many youngsters who had not completed their education enlisted and came home after the war unfitted for civil life. About all they had learned during those war years was how to shoot Germans. As a result of that experience the Legion now planned to give the young soldiers of the new army a chance to continue their education in the many idle hours they had on their hands.

"We are not trying to put them through the university," he said, "but we are endeavoring to give them a chance for training so that they may more easily be adapted into civil life when they get back. We are trying to plan their tomorrow today and thus save the country millions of dollars by facilitating their absorption after the war is over."

London Headquarters

Col. Macintyre told of the leasing of the Legion of a fine building in London where soldiers on leave could be taken care of, explained how the Legion War Service would provide recreation and entertainment wherever those things were needed and described the work that was already under way toward carrying out the Legion's program.

In the discussion that followed the speaker said that there would be other calls upon the generosity of Canadians before the war was over. "We have a real job to do in this war and we have got to get out and do it. There is no fooling about that," he said.

Mayor Hamilton said that in view of what the Legion proposed to do there would be no difficulty in getting the $5,000 objective aimed at. His Honor Judge Smoke, who regretted that he would not be here for the campaign agreed with His Worship as did Jim Wharry of Y.M.C.A. campaign fame, who said the Legion drive would succeed if only as a tribute to the president, Chief Gimblett.

Impressed By Speaker

C. A. Salmonsen said that he had been impressed with the address of Col. Macintyre. Others who took part in the discussion were Mrs. R. H. Turner, Doug. Loomis who urged the public be asked for one dollar donations and Gordon K. Fraser. Dr. H. R. H. Kenner elicited applause when he announced that he would personally undertake to canvass the 40 teachers on the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

Lieut.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne moved a vote of thanks to the guest speaker, Col. Macintyre, before the enthusiastic meeting closed with the Hockey's might atom. Aurel National Anthem.

To Relieve Bad Cough Quickly, Mix This at Home

Does the Work in a Hurry. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother probably used, and, for real results, it is still a very dependable thing for distressing coughs. Try it once, and you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough remedy—more than you could buy for four times the money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

This splendid home mixture has a three-fold action. You can feel it take hold at once. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. This explains why it gives such prompt, pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Had Weak, Nervous Stomach Limbs, Back Pained Badly

Dashwood Man Lost Weight; Was Nervous and Rundown Because of Indigestion and Restricted Diet. Is Overjoyed by Relief SYNTONA Gave Him. Skin Blemishes and Rheumatic Pains Due to Acid Overcome.

MR. IRA TETREAU

"When I say that Syntona has given me relief, it means something, for I was in misery for ten awful years with my stomach," said Mr. Ira Tetreau, well-known farmer, Dashwood, Ontario, in a recent interview.

"Everything I ate just seemed to sour in my stomach and cause cramps, gas and constipation. Awful dizzy spells and headaches were a daily occurrence and there were rheumatic pains in my back and legs. I went on a diet but that didn't help me, and besides, you can't do farm work on a diet. I just became weakened and rundown and I was losing weight. My skin broke out in pimples and I felt nervous, worn out and discouraged, for it didn't seem that I could get any help.

"I kept reading about Syntona, but I put off trying it, because all the other medicines I had used failed to do me any good, but when finally I did begin taking Syntona, I soon found out that it was different from anything else I ever used. Why, I can eat regular meals now; things I had been afraid to eat for YEARS. I am rid of all that stomach misery and those sick headaches. The rheumatic pains have left me and my skin has cleared up. By actual weight, I have regained ten pounds and I am more healthy and energetic than I ever thought was possible."

Syntona contains no harmful drugs or opiates. It is made only from the pure extracts of selected herbs, roots and barks that have long been known for their medicinal value.

Syntona is now being introduced in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Get yourself a treatment today and see how much better you, too, will be feeling in just a short time. Ask about the special introductory offer. (Advt.)

Manvers 'Phone System Cuts Rate By Dollar

BETHANY, Feb. 8—(ENS). — The annual meeting of the subscribers of the Manvers Municipal Telephone System was held in township hall, Bethany with Mr. W. A. Neals, head of the commissioners, in the chair.

The auditors' report was adopted as read.

A discussion arose regarding extension of lines. It had been decided some time previous that a connection with Orono by way of Pontypool was too costly. But the subscribers feel that a connection with Janetville would be in the interests of the township. The commissioners were asked to confer with south Janetville subscribers regarding extension of the line.

Because of complaint, the time limit was made of 5 minutes on local calls.

The rates of service were reduced One Dollar per year to each subscriber and renter.

Mr. Ward moved an amendment to the motion, which was in direct opposition, and it was lost.

On motion the secretary cast a ballot for re-election of three commissioners—L. H. Staples, F. H. Ward and W. A. Neals.

Moved by A. B. Sisson and H. Smith that Messrs. Peters and Veals be re-elected auditors for the following year.

Dies Is Cleared Of Fascist Tie

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — (AP). —Controversy over mysterious letters purporting to link Chairman Martin Dies of the Congressional Committee probing un-American activities with the Fascist-like Silver Shirts organization was ended to-day by their removal from the record of the United States House of Representatives.

But a new Dies Committee episode was in the making—examination of William Dudley Pelley about his Silver Shirt activities.

Pelley, sought for months by the committee and its agents, popped up yesterday and was reported ready to testify on committee charges that his organization is probably the largest Fascist group in the United States.

First, however, he helped bring about a quick denouncement of the furore over the letters used by Representative F. E. Hook, Michigan Democrat, in a recent House statement designed to show a connection between Dies and Pelley.

The latter told a House Rules sub-committee yesterday that the documents were rank forgeries and that he gave Dies "a clean bill of health."

David Mayne of Washington, a one-time aide of Pelley who had produced the letters, following him on the stand and calmly said that he had manufactured them "right out of the clear air."

It wasn't long before Hook arose in the House, said the letters were the "figment of somebody's imagination," and withdrew them from the Congressional record.

The band is collecting Christmas cards for the Sick Children's Hospital. Program committee for March is Gerald Rogers, Betty Prettie and Bruce McAuley. TAKE THE "LEAD" FEELING OUT OF YOUR LEGS

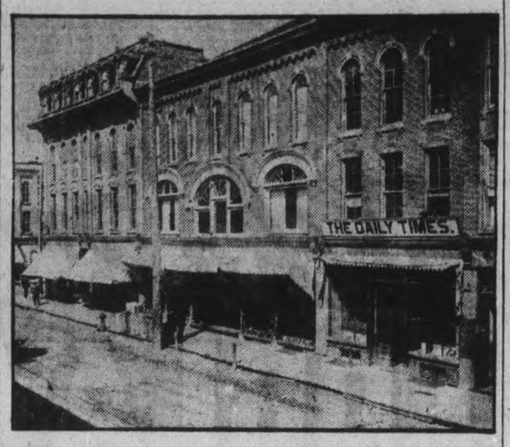
Get More Oxygen In Your Blood and Get the Pep that Sends You Bounding Up the Stairs

People who smother to death die because oxygen has been completely cut off from them. Just as surely you are slowly smothering if your blood lacks red corpuscles. Red corpuscles are your oxygen-carriers. They carry the oxygen you breathe in to every part of your system. Without enough oxygen-carrying corpuscles, your kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels slow down. Your skin gets pale, flabby, often pimply. Your nerves may become jittery — you tire quickly — feel depressed.

What you need is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These world-famous pills help make more and better red corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today at your druggist. See for yourself how quickly this time-proven blood-builder will help give you back your pep. Copr. 1939, G. T. Fulford Co., Ltd.

This Spot Not So Hard To Recognize



This spot isn't hard to recognize, for at least one building is still somewhat the same, the one at the extreme left. The Daily Times office is on the same location now occupied by the Regent Theatre. The easily recognized building still stands, largely unchanged, at the corner of Water and Hunter streets, and houses the Bank of Commerce.

Censorship Whim Angers Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 8 — (CP Cable). — The Morning Herald severely condemned the British censorship of news bound for the Dominions in an editorial to-day.

"The suppression of news, which on the face of it can be of no conceivable value to the enemy, is bad enough when the British and Dominion peoples are equally the victims of official timidity and rigidity —to use no harsher terms," the paper said.

"But when the British Ministry of Information or the services intervene to prevent the people of Sydney, for instance, from reading news which is not banned in London the position has become frankly intolerable.

"So anomalous and so unjustified on any discernible grounds of policy is this interference with the Imperial channels of communication that a mere publication of the facts relating to it ought to have been sufficient to ensure its discontinuance.

"Yet three weeks after the first protest, our correspondent records that the censor is still refusing to pass for Australia items of news published in London newspapers."

WHYNOT, N.C., Feb. 8.—(AP).—People kept asking why not name this village after this or that hero. They finally compromised. The result? Whynot.

'Quake In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 8. — (AP).—A light earthquake at 12.08 a.m. (3:08 a.m. EST) shook windows and aroused hundreds of sleepers throughout Northern California, but apparently caused no damage. The shock was reported in all sections of Sacramento and its suburbs and in a number of other cities in the Sacramento Valley.

Does Your Food Cause You Distress?

The impairment of the stomach is often of serious consequences, for only by properly digested food is the system nourished and sustained.

Burdock Blood Bitters is a reliable remedy for stomach disorders such as dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, headaches, etc.

It helps to stimulate the secretion of saliva and gastric juice, the main factor in digestion, neutralizes acidity, tones up the lining membranes of the stomach, and restores the natural, healthy process of digestion.

Put your stomach right by taking B.B.B. and see how quickly you will start to enjoy your meals free from digestive troubles.

The Canadian Legion's War Services are undertaken with the approval and active co-operation of the Canadian Government

HELP PLAN HIS TOMORROW—today!

ONTARIO
Major-General John A. Gunn, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., President
Brigadier-General Alex. C. Ross, K.C., C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., A.D.C., National Campaign Chairman
Lt.-Col. E. A. Olver, D.S.O., V.D., Campaign Director
Col. The Hon. G. V. White, C.B.E., V.D., Honorary Treasurer.

GIVE FREELY, GIVE NOW!

DURING the last war, thousands of young Canadians were transplanted from civil life into the army. Quickly and intensively they were trained for war. For months and years they lived realistic lives, suffered, faced death constantly. Then came peace. They were thrust into civil life again. No wonder many were unable to pick up the thread where it had been broken off.

Leaders in Canadian public life are determined this must not happen again. Our young men — soldiers for a few months or years — must also be developed as citizens of Canada. The Canadian Legion has been authorized by the Government to organize this great work, for the veterans of the last war are believed best able to understand the problems of the Canadian soldier of today.

To provide funds for this great new cause, Canadian Legion War Services launches a financial appeal for $500,000 on Monday, February 12th.

VAST EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM NOW UNDER WAY

The Canadian Legion War Services, in collaboration with the Canadian Association for Adult Education, has undertaken to provide educational and vocational training for the Canadian Forces. Our men will be able to continue their education, to take courses in agriculture, technical subjects, various trades, book-keeping, stenography and other subjects. Advanced courses leading to matriculation and college degrees will be available.

Canadian universities, departments of education, and technical school bodies are co-operating actively in this effort. Co-operation of British and French educationists is assured.

Every effort will be made to focus the men's attention on their vocations after the war — to maintain their interest in pre-war activities at home.

Personal Services to Our Enlisted Men — Advice and assistance in the settling of any personal affairs of the soldiers on service, counsel on worrying business problems, will be undertaken by Legion representatives in the field in collaboration with 1100 Legion branches located in every part of Canada. Help in the solution of these intimate problems will relieve the soldier of a great deal of worry.

To Lighten War's Grimness — The establishment of leave hostels, assistance in forming and training soldiers' concert parties and help in the organization of sports activities will be undertaken where necessary by Legion men in the field. The Legion will also assist the I.O.D.E. in placing libraries of selected books at various places, as well as libraries of motion pictures.

HELP WIN THE WAR

Never has there been such an opportunity to invest in the future manhood of Canada. This is not charity — it is a great undertaking to develop character and citizenship, and to give our soldiers a leg up the ladder of success when the war is over. Give generously to this great new much-needed cause — the drive commences next Monday.

The Home Of Rev. Vincent Clementi

sense, Mr. Wightman said. It must be taken far more seriously, studied far more carefully, and supported far more fully than ever in the world before. "One encounters at times the curious fallacy that a time of war is a time for the subordination and curtailment of educational activities. No idea could be more erroneous. The danger to our social structure will come, not during the crisis of war, but in the inevitable strain and confusion that accompany the readjustment that must follow. The generation that must take up the world's work at that time needs all that can be given in the way of training and preparation.

Mr. Wightman found much to favor in the operation of Peterborough Public Schools. For example, "classrooms are clean and bright, well lighted, properly heated, and not over crowded." In regard to developing mental effort properly, he said, "I believe that a marked change is gradually taking place in this respect. In the past we had pupils who were letter perfect in the day's task and made satisfactory marks in the final examinations in such subjects as history, but who would, one felt certain, never willingly open a book on history once school days were over; to-day (under the new educational system) we find children eagerly using their leisure moments in reading books that supplement the classroom work."

He summed up as follows: "The healthy growth and development of the child to prepare him for his part as a future citizen is the conscious aim of each day's work in the schools. The degree of success achieved in such an aim obviously cannot be expressed in figures and percentages, but it can be judged from the atmosphere of the classrooms, the attitude of children toward their work, and the relation existing between teachers and pupils. From my observations of these I can assure the Board that the work of the Public Schools is making satisfactory progress."

Enrollment Down.

Enrollment in Public Schools in December, 1939, was 2,639, and showed a decrease of nearly a hundred pupils from 1938, which Mr. Wightman anticipated in his 1939 report. Average attendance for the year was 90.56 per cent. "The loss due to illness was unusually heavy, amounting to approximately 84 per cent. of the total. This was in part due to the prevalence of infectious diseases such as measles, chickenpox and whooping cough. The small loss through truancy indicates a satisfactor ycondition in the school."

Mr. Wightm ananticipated that supplies will cost somewhat more during 1940. He pointed out that a total of $380.20 in fees, for text books and supplies, is in arrears and is not collectible. "While every effort will be made (in 1940) to prevent expenditures exceeding the amount of fees collected, the fact that nearly 10 per cent of the fees are not coming in, is a serious handicap."

W.F.B.C. To Assist With Protective Sidewalk Rail

During the last month the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Anglican Church has been successful in securing funds to assist with the building of a railing along the sidewalk leading from the church to Brock Street, which is particularly treacherous for pedestrians at this season.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for a social evening, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. H. Bassett, 461 Bolivar Street, on Friday, February 23rd. Reports were read indicating splendid work accomplished by the class in raising funds through social evenings and afternoon teas. On one of these occasions members were given an opportunity of examining one of the late British gas respirators, the property of one of the members, who brought the mask home while on a recent holiday visit to England. She also gave an interesting description of the home life of British people, and conditions in England at the time of the outbreak of war.

The class is receiving fine co-operation in connection with their other undertakings, including the sewing committee, which meets each Wednesday afternoon in the Parish Hall, and the bowling teams, which meet Thursday evenings.

Function Of Municipal Government Is Explained

The function of a Municipal Government was the subject of an absorbing address Wednesday evening at the Knox Y.P.U. meeting, when Mr. John Bradshaw, local lawyer, was guest speaker. He dealt with the topic in an informative and concise manner that was brightened with touches of humour.

Miss Helen Ward, citizenship convenor, presided, and was assisted in the worship service by Miss Gertrude Lancashire. Miss Gladys Gerard conducted an enjoyable recreation period.

During the business session, future activities were discussed, including the presentation of three one-act plays early in March; a fireside fellowship hour next Sunday evening at the home of Miss Betty Allen, and a return visit next Tuesday to Park Street B.Y.P.U.

FASHIONS

Jackets and blouses are just what you need to brighten up your frocks. If you have a dress that seems dull after many wearings, just make a gay, striped bolero and matching sash, and see what that does. A fitted packet blouse makes a new costume when teamed with a skirt or suit. For dressier moments, bow trimming and perky short sleeves do the trick. Add a tailored bolero of flannel to a silk sport dress for added warmth and a gay note of color.

Style No. 3137 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 36 requires 1¾ yards of 39-inch fabric for long sleeved jacket; 1¾ yards for short-sleeved bolero and sash; 1⅞ yards for short-sleeved jacket; 1⅝ yards for long-sleeved bolero.

We Noticed

...Any day now after school hours the stores are crowded with youngsters carefully choosing a Valentine for mother, dad, the teacher or a cherished school mate. They get quite a kick out of it you can tell by their excited faces, but we don't feel that purchasing their good wishes over a counter can compare with the thrill of our own school days when for weeks ahead we drew our own designs and colored them elaborately with paints or crayons.

...However, it'll soon be the day to let yourself go and send your love a Valentine—the time is less than a week away, and if you're looking for words of love already written and done up with frills and flowers, the shops have many romantic designs.

...There are Valentines designed to amuse, others frankly sentimental, and others for a particular sweetheart. We saw some really flossy ones, too, with orchids on them and silken hearts fragrant with sachets.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

February Vegetable Wisdom Can Be Found In Salads

By MARY MOORE

If you have uncovered a miracle and know a way of removing monotony from your vegetable rations, —in the name of peace write me.

Our own winter vegetables are distinctly not welcome on our table. Potatoes are the only one my family, finicky as it is, really like.

I tried to pass of turnips beautifully topped with brown beef gravy—but no—the youngsters skimmed the gray off and left the turnip; "The Head" wasn't even taken in with the gravy.

What with broccoli 15 cents the pound, sprouts, green beans, cauliflowers, all higher; imported carrots, beets, peas and cabbage very little lower in price.—my budget is becoming vegetable-top-heavy.

Verily I have solved the problem partially by serving an abundance of salads and leaving out the cooked vegetables at such meals.—but readers have discovered this makeshift and demand February Vegetable Wisdom.

Mrs. Biggers' Spring Stew In Winter

One 2½-lb. shank veal, 1½ pounds beef from the shank, and if there are six people to be served 1 purchase of green onions containing at least 5 little onions per serving; 1 pound imported carrots cut with scalloped vegetable cutter; old potatoes cut into balls with French vegetable cutter (the trimmings can be used for mashed potatoes the next day); and if you want to make the stew stretch to seven people add half a new cabbage cut in 7 pieces, leaving a piece of the heart attached to each wedge to keep it intact.

Wash the meat, cover with cold water, using at least 2 quarts to start, bring to boil, covered, then reduce heat and simmer 2½ hours, adding a little more water if and when necessary. Have vegetables all prepared, ½ hour before serving slip the carrots in at one side of the pot, 10 minutes later add all the potatoes at one place, the onions the same, and the cabbage where you can get it in, remove cover, turn up heat, and boil uncovered for 20 minutes, using a long spoon to loosen any vegetables that might have flattened to the bottom. One tablespoon salt and ½ teaspoon black pepper may be added with the bulk of the vegetables. When done, CAREFULLY lift out the meat onto a hot platter, and discarding the bones for the pup, lift all the onions out, placing them on the platter at one end, same with the carrots; place the potatoes at one side, the cabbage at the other; place in warming oven while you prepare the gravy. Strain the gravy to remove bits off bone, fat and cartilage. If you have one quart, mix together in a bowl ½ cup flour and ¾ cup cold water until it is smooth, then stir into the hot gravy until it thickens. If it lumps please strain it. When everyone is on the mark waiting for you to shout "Come and get it," pour the gravy over the meat only ,and produly bear it to the table. This is stew par excellence —all you have done is very the shape of the vegetable, and manner of serving.

Green Onion for Non-Indulging Epicures

For the great clan who do not eat green onions raw (and we belong to it), we treat them as follows:

Trim green onions, leaving as much green as there is white bulb. Boil them starting them in boiling salted water, just until they are tender—about 10 minutes. Skim out of water. Make a sauce by melting 2 tablespoons butter, adding 1¼ tablespoons flour, stirring until blended, then add ½ cup water in which they were boiled, ¼ cup cream, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, and stir until this thickens, then add ¼ teaspoon paprika, and ½ teaspoon salt. When ready to serve place about 5 onions side by side on a piece of thin white bread toasted on under side, cover sparingly with the sauce and serve very hot—especially good with calves' liver—but what isn't?

Southern Cornsquash.

(I'll wager you have not tried this one unless you are from or familiar with the South).

Panfry for 2 minutes ¼ cup chopped onion in 1 slice of chopped side bacon, then add ¼ cup minced green pepper, and 2 cups thinly sliced squash (raw), cook 2 minutes stirring constantly, then add 1½ cups milk, cover and cook slowly 20 minutes. Then add 2 cups corn kernels and a teaspoon salt and cook until it boils through. If green corn is used, give it 7 minutes longer. Black pepper is best with this.

Tomato and Mushroom Stew

When mushrooms are cooked in a liquid they can be extended much further than when fried or broiled, for there is no loss of weight by evaporation.

When I served this dish it was the main attraction of a vegetable plate.

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in medium hot frying pan, add the sliced mushrooms and 1 tablespoon grated onion and stir over medium heat for 2 minutes, then add 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes (to each ½ lb. mushrooms) and reduce heat and let simmer uncovered for about 10 minutes after boiling point is reached—then add at least 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon black pepper. This could be baked and covered with crumbs. If not serve it in individual vegetable dishes or on toast or in small patty shells.

Attractive Vegetable Combinations.

Canned limas, green onions and sliced boiled celery in drawn butter sauce. (See below).

Canned Kentucky wonder beans, kernel corn, chopped pimiento (for garnish), moistened with a little hot cream, and seasoned with plenty of black pepper.

New green peas may be extended almost double, by cooking them separately. Also cook 1 head of shedded iceberg lettuce for 5 minutes uncovered, immediately drain and add to the cooked peas. Cover with sauce made from water in which peas were cooked thus: Melt 3 tablespoons butter, add 1½ tablespoons flour, add 1 cup vegetable liquid, and ¾ cup cream or top milk, and 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper. (You will note how I have stressed the use of vegetable liquids with cream and butter, in place of milk and butter—this is done to conserve vegetable minerals which is doubtless obvious).

Drawn Butter Sauce.

The French call sauces made with this sauce as a foundation Veloute (Velvety). It is merely white sauce made with vegetable water instead of milk—and it has the distinct advantage of taking on lemon juice or vinegar with no danger of curdling, and, secondly, of conserving the vegetable minerals, instead of pouring them down the drain. General rules are 2 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons or less of flour, 1 cup hot liquid, 1 or ¾ teaspoons salt, and paprika, pepper to taste.

Don't forget I'd welcome your vegetable variations.

You Can Easily Avoid Dance-Floor Blunders

Learn Dancing in Home Lessons

Is your dancing a series of embarrassing moments? Is it marked by colliding knees, stepped-on toes, apologies?

So easily you can make your dancing a social asset. Practice at home with directions which show correct posture, smooth leading and following—with diagrams explaining new steps.

Colliding knees are usually the girl's fault, the result of dancing directly in front of her partner. Correct for her to dance slightly to the side, looking over the man's right shoulder.

The girl can avoid stepped-on toes, too, by taking long backward steps. And, to be easy to lead, she should keep her weight on the balls of her feet instead of her heels, should hold her arms up instead of letting them sag.

The man's part? He holds the girl lightly but firmly, leads with a turn of his shoulders, a pressure of arm or hand.

And what a popular partner you are if you are up on smart steps. Learn them quickly from our 32-page booklet. Diagrams, simple directions show how to do the rhumba, tango, waltz, Westchester, fox-trot, shag, Conga, Samba—also the Castle Walk, Waltz and Maxixe. Includes basic steps and new variations, pointers on posture, leading and following.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO DO THE NEWEST DANCE STEPS AND VARIATIONS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Nobody Has Learned the Secret of Reawakening a Dead Love, So Each Wife Must Solve Her Own Individual Problem if Such Ever Confronts Her

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband and I have been married 17 years. We have four children, the oldest a girl of 16. My husband is 40 and he has fallen in love with a girl of 23. He begs me to divorce him so he can marry her. Says that he loves her more than he ever cared for me and that he gets more happiness out of being with her than he ever did with me. He gets $225 a month salary and says that if I will let him go he will give us all he can to help support us. He has no complaint to make against me. He just doesn't love me any more and loves the girl whose parents have turned her out of the house because of her affair with him, which has lasted more than four years now. I still love my husband and don't know what to do. —A BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

ANSWER.—And nobody can tell you what to do, because nobody knows how to reawaken a dead love any more than they know how to breathe the breath of life into a corpse. If you husband has tired of you and has found happiness with another woman, that is that. It is a fixed that that he is just as much lost to you as if he were buried in his grave.

True, you can still hold his body bound to you by law, but you will find smal lcomfort in that when you know that his heart and soul have escaped you; that every minute he is with you he is begraudging the time spent away from his Lady Love, and that he hates you for standing between him and happiness. So whether you let him go or stay, it is a hearberak to you.

And there is another question you must consider—the financial side. It adds to the bitterness of the tragedy that when a man wrecks the home he and his wife have built together he so often leaves her and the children with no roof over their heads. The salary that has kept one family comfortable makes scant raions for two. And it goes without saying that the preferred woman gets the most of the pay envelope.

Your husband promises to give you and the children what he can to help you when he leaves you. Compel him to make a definite legal settlement on you, or else you will get nothing. And prepare yourself to support your children. Fit yourself for some work that you can do. You will need it and it will do more than anything else to keep you from brooding over your trouble.

Companionship or Motherhood?

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married three years and have a darling little girl whom my husband and I simply adore. We are very congenial and have our fun together, as I love fishing, hunting and all outdoor sports. But now I cannot go with him as I have no one with whom I can leave my baby and no money to pay some one to take care of her. My heart aches to go with him, to be a companion to him in doing the things that we both love, but I have to stay at home while he and his men friends go. We both want more children when we can afford them, but will that solve our problem? Will I have to choose between my husband and a family? Please suggest some way that I may be a companion to him, for I love him more than anything else in the world.—PERPLEXED WIFE.

ANSWER.—For everything we get in this world we have to pay the price, and the price of motherhood for the woman unable to hire trained baby nurses and nursery governesses is slavery. A mother who does her duty by her children can't lock up the baby in the house and leave it alone while she goes to a cocktail party or the movies. She can't leave little Bobby and Sally to take care of themselves for a couple of days while she goes off on a jaunt with her husband. She hasn't any right to park her youngsters on her family and friends while she takes a trip.

Her business is to be with them continually, to see that they don't get hurt; to catch the first sniffle, to give them proper food and rest, to do the million services that children require, and she should either do that cheerfully or not bring any poor, little, helpless creature into the world to be neglected. Don't worry about not being able to go off with your husband on his hunting and fishing trips. Of course, being a gentleman, he would say that he just loves to have you along, but women are always a nuisance on a stag party and there isn't a man in the world who doesn't like to get off now and then with just men.

And comfort yourself with this knowledge—that when you husband does get back home you will look mighty good to him. There is nothing that keeps love alive so much as a little judicious separation of husbands and wives.

There Is No Reliable Test for Love.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX.—If you love a boy and you don't know whether he loves you, how can you find out without his knowing it and without asking him? Please let me know because I don't want to lose him, and it is bad on my brains and nerves being so anxious.—SILLY.

ANSWER. — That question is a brain teaser and I wish I could give you some definite recipe for easing the mental strain under which you are laboring. But, you see, nobody has even been able to devise a reliable test for love and tell whether a boy is in love or not. Often he doesn't know himself. Sometimes he thinks he is when he isn't, and sometimes he is in love when he doesn't know it. So there you are.

There are so many difficulties in the way of a girl finding out if a boy is in love with her or not. She can't tell by the way he acts because he may give her a rush and make her think she is the only girl in the world just because she is the best-looking girl around; or he wants to make some other boy jealous, or because her mother always keeps a chocolate cake handy. And the girl may think she is virtually engaged to him, then he may kiss and ride away and she will never hear of him any more.

She can't tell by what he says because his love making may be just a line. It is too dangerous to ask him because if he is sort of on the fence it may scare him so he will fall off on the wrong side. So you will just have to use your woman's intuition and trust to luck that you are guessing right.

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

"IS THIS the Park-Plaza?" Fabienne said, sweeping her eyes over the facade of the fashionable apartment house on East End avenue before which Bill had stopped his car. There was a uniformed doorman on his way to open the car door. Inside, in the dimly lighted foyer, she could see rich rugs and the usual appointments of an expensive private apartment house. There was no name on the awning, only the street number.

"Evening, doctor," the door man said, holding the door for Fabienne and Bill to get out.

They went into the lobby and got into the elevator while Bill explained, "It's a private hospital run by Dr. Chandler and his wife. They have the three top floors. It's a children's hospital. Half the patients are charity cases and the other half pays through the nose. They both get the same treatment. I do most of my work here."

"Are you here very much, Bill?"

"Yes, I do all my operating here."

That, she thought with mingled concern and delight, would mean that she'd see a lot of him.

The elevator stopped at the twelfth floor and they got out, stepping into a large foyer that was pleasantly home-like with glowing lamps and deep comfortable chairs arranged in groups. There was a thick rug of pleasant dark colors on the floor, neat piles of magazines on two of the small tables, standing ashtrays and colorful framed pictures on the walls. A small desk by the elevator door and the pervading smell of antiseptics were all that kept Fabienne from thinking that Bill had had a brain wave and got off at the wrong floor.

"This way," he said, leading the way to a room off the foyer. He knocked at the door and a woman's pleasant, hearty voice answered, "Come in, please"

Isobel Chandler, who wore a nurse's uniform and the cap she had earned thirty years before, got up from her desk with a broad welcoming smile on her homely face.

"Mrs. Chandler, this is Miss Seymour, the young lady I told you about on the telephone." His eyes met the steady blue eyes that seemed to say, "You can trust me, Doctor, not to tell this young woman what we have created for her"

There was no need for the voluntary services of a worker at the Park-Plaza, but Dr Mallory had said, "There's no obligation on your part, Mrs Chandler, but you'd be doing a fine thing if you'd help me to create a place for this girl" He'd said many other things, of course

Fabienne smiled and took the hand that the older woman held out to her In the glance that accompanied her handsshake, Isobel Chandler measured the girl before her and liked what she saw.

"You can run along, Dr. Mallory," she said abruptly. "I'd like to talk to Miss Seymour."

Bill said, "Thanks," and without even a backward glance or a word to Fabienne, he left.

Fabienne sat down in a chair opposite Mrs. Chandler, feeling as nervous as if she were applying for a job that stood between her and starvation.

"We've a very peculiar situation here, Miss Seymour. We're privately owned, you know, but we have a great many charity cases. However, these latter cases are not sent to us from the central organization, rather they're the ones brought here privately by our staff doctors."

Fabienne nodded.

"For that reason, we are not entitled to the services of registered social workers. Our staff has always handled all that work."

Fabienne wondered what that work was, and if this capable directress would find her inadequate.

"You'll find it very different from what you've been doing," she went on, smiling." Dr. Mallory has told me something of your ambitious projects at Willoughby House. You'll probably find this dull. However, we'll find plenty for you to do for whatever number of hours you can spare us."

"I can give you as much time as you want, Mrs. Chandler. What . . . what could I do?"

"Well—" Isobel Chandler said hesitantly. Bill Mallory had called her only a few hours before and she hadn't had much time to form any ideas about what Fabienne's usefulness would be. If it had been any other doctor but Mallory, she thought, she would have refused.

Suddenly her face brightened, "You've worked with children?" she said.

"Oh, yes!" Fabienne answered eagerly.

"Splendid! Chiefly, our children have to be entertained. Would you find it tedious to teach them little games and read to them?"

"Not at all, I'd love it."

"And they'd like you, I'm sure," Mrs. Chandler said, rising. "Come with me. I'll introduce you to them."

"Is that all I could do?" she asked, following the white-clad figure into the elevator that took them up two stories to the children's ward.

"Perhaps we can find something else later."

Fabienne's first view of the rows of little white beds made her feel immeasurably sad. Over most of them there were cradles made of wires to support heavy casts, the weight of which bore down impossibly slim little figures. Eager, white childish faces watched their entrance with anticipation that was half curiosity and half fear.

Mrs. Chandler said cheerily, "Children, I have a pleasant surprise for you! This is Miss Seymour, who is going to be your new playmate. She's going to come to you every day and tell you stories and play games with you. Won't you like that?"

Fear was immediately banished and animation greeted Fabienne as Mrs. Chandler took her to each of the beds and introduced the children. "This is Micky," she said, "and this is Joan, who wants to show you her new doll that Dr. Mallory brought her . . . and this is Edward. Edward knows how to sing a little song in French, don't you "

Fabienne said, "May I begin at once "

"You may, but first I want you to meet Dr. Chandler."

'I'll be right back," Fabienne told the children, and went out with her guide.

"Where are the private patients?" she wanted to know.

"Some of those you saw are private and some charity. We make no distinction. However, at other stages of illness, some children are isolated in private rooms on the second floor. We have only three cases at the moment in the private rooms. I'll take you down and show them to you. Doctor's office is on the second floor." "Doctor" was, of course, Dr. Chandler.

They went down a winding stairway to the second floor, with the older woman leading the way, chatting over her shoulder. "The operating theatre, private rooms, consulting rooms, and therapy chambers are on this flood. Also the receiving room. During visiting hours we use a private elevator at the rear. I'll show that to you. Only the doctors use the front elevators."

It was only a detail, but one that was to play a part in the drama ahead.

"On the first floor," Mrs. Chandler continued, "we have a few rooms for parents who remain here during the crises . . . Little Sonny Parsons' mother."

SONNY PARSONS. Fabienne heard a bell ring in her memory when Mrs. Chandler spoke the name. It was still amost immediately, because Mrs. Chandler said, "This is the Doctor's office."

Table Tennis Aces To Perform Here Saturday

An exhibition of table tennis—or ping pong—by star exponents of the game in Toronto will be given here this Saturday night at 8.15 in the Y.M.C.A. Several leading Toronto aces at this lightning game will perform, and those in Peterborough interested should be on hand. Possibly a few of the better players here might get an opportunity to play the visiting champions

Charles Burnside, perennial challenger for championships and the instructor at the Toronto Table Tennis Club, will be one of the performers Saturday evening. Ray Norris and Doug. Edwards, present holders of the Toronto doubles championship, are also coming. [illegible] Beedle, intermediate singles champion, and a most promising young player, will be on the party too.

Trenton Fliers To Play The Petes Here

Trenton Fliers play the Petes here tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:30 o'clock in the Brock St. rink in the locals' last O.H.A. intermediate "A" scheduled game this season. While these same oldtime puck rivals will be clashing shortly in group [illegible] offs, this Friday's fray is important as first place hasn't been decided yet. The team finishing on top gets the first home game in play-offs, and possibly an extra gate during the series. The Petes are ahead now but must beat the Airmen to clinch top place.

Another huge Fliers-Petes' crowd is expected out for this contest as it should be a typical tilt, packed with action, speed and swell hockey, between the two best teams in the group—and possibly the best outfits in their class in the province. Both teams are expected to be at full strength tomorrow night, and plenty of rough rivalry—which has been breaking out lately—should be in evidence.

Grove Seconds Beats Trinity

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 8—(ENS). — In an exhibition game here Wednesday afternoon Grove's second team defeated Trinity College 6-2. The game was fairly fast but soft ice held passing plays down. The Grove were a little better on ganging attacks and also were a trifle smaller. T.C.S. opened the scoring early, Binks counting. This was the only time they led, not scoring again till late in the third. Haig counted for Grove, with Moore receiving the assist. The T.C.S. goal minder was finding it hard to cover and while he was on the ice trying to clear Arnoldi flipped one in over his back. The first period ended 2-1 for Grove.

T.C.S. failed to score in the second frame, while Grove counted four. Hague, Moore, Perry and Arn[illegible] got the counters for Grove. Christie I saved the Grove many times this period with his fine stops and looked good throughout the game. In the final period T.C.S. tallied once.

Christie I, Arnoldi, Moore looked best for the winners, while Black, Hart and Birks tried hard throughout for the losers. The teams:

Grove.—Goal, Christie I; defence, Wilke, Hemsted; centre, Arnoldi, Urquhart, Carr-Harris; subs., Hague, Perry, Moore, Lilley I, Pope I.

T.C.S.—Goal, Langmuir; defence, Black, Lemesus; centre, Hart; wings Fairweather, Birks; subs., Cawley, Lyle Parr, Lawson; sub., goal, Higgins.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

Gord Wallace Wins In Handicap Swim

Holding a short lead over the field in the second length of the pool, Gordon Wallace scored a neat victory in the 40-yard backstroke handicap race at the Y.M.C.A. natatorium last night. Don Pinch, who was scratch man in the event, came from behind to take second place from Andy Brown and Warren Marshall, who were third and fourth respectively.

The race, which was very evenly handicapped, was the third in a series of swims conducted by Gordon Minty, swimming director, for the Y.M.C.A. Junior Swimming Club.

Following the backstroke event, Gordon Wallace's team of D. Pinch, L. Smith, A. Harte-Maxwell, and Wallace, won by a fifth of a second from the team of A. Brown, R. Rogow, W. Marshall, and B. Honour in the quarter-mile free style relay.

Results of the handicap were as follows:

First Heat — 1 A. Brown, 2 D. Pinch, 3 W. Marshall.

Second Heat — 1 G. Wallace, 2 A. Hart-Maxwell, 3 L. Smith.

First Semi-final— 1 W. Marshall, 2 A. Brown, 3 A. Hart-Maxwell.

Second Semi-final—1 G. Wallace, 2 D. Pinch, 3 L. Smith.

Final—1 G. Wallace, 2 D. Pinch, 3 A. Brown.

St. Paul's Beaten By Knox Crew 4-1

Knox Bantams won 4-1 last night at All Saints' rink from St. Paul's of the Church League to hold first place. They had more speed than the Saints, who finished the season without a win, but contested every game keenly. Slaughter got three and Darling one for Knox. McNaught counted for St. Paul's. Parnell, Carley and McNaughton, with the scorers, all went well. The teams:

Knox — Goal, Parnall; defence, Gerley, Braund; centre, Darling; wings, Slaughter, Craig; sub, Batley.

St. Paul's —Goal, Jaquith; defence, N. McNaughton, Campbell; centre, Doughty; wings, Carley, Hill; subs., McNaught, Forbes.

Referee—G. Beauclerc.

Grocers Blanked

In an exciting exhibition puck match, the Fruit Men blanked the Grocers by a 3-0 count. Shutout Crary played bang-up hockey and had a heavy evening in the cage, with Smiling Wilgar kicking out a flock too. Shorty Asta stood out on defence with Butch DeNoble making some dangerous rushes. Ski Holland scored twice and Hot-Dog Chimenti once. The teams:

Grocers—Goal, Crary; defence, Bartle and Moore; centre, Mitton; wings, Luke and Devlin; subs.: Hague, Perry, Moore, Lilley I, Pope I.

Fruit Men: Goal, Wilgar; defence, Carravaggie and Asta; centre, [illegible]ravaggie; wings, Chimenti and [illegible] Carlonis; subs: Holland, DeNoble, Asta, Anthony.

Referee, McNaughton.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THERE MAY BE A WAY

NO MATTER how absurd may seem the contract into which you or your partner may have bid the side, your job is to try to make it anyway. Careful observation of developments may disclose something peculiar about the location of the hostile cards, or something unusual about the order of events, which offers you a line of successful play. Great cardsmen perform some of their most spectacular feats in such crises.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

South, who knew North as ultra-conservative, opened this duplicate deal with 1-No Trump. West bid 2-Clubs, North 2-No Trumps, East 3-Hearts, West 3-Spades, and when this was passed to South he essayed 3-No Trumps, which West doubled. West took two high clubs, switched to hearts, in which East took two tricks, and East then led his spade 8.

"Glory be!" exclaimed South, who saw a chance to make the contract by a squeeze. He came up with the spade A, ran four diamonds and re-entered his own hand with the heart Q. That put the pinchers on West. He had discarded down to the spade K and the J-9-8 of clubs. Throwing a club would have enabled South to take the marked finesse of the 10 and thus finish with three club tricks. So West discarded his spade K, hoping East had the 9. But South had it, cashed it, then took the last two tricks by means of the club finesse.

Succession Duty Act Passes; Budget Tuesday

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP)—Queen's Park today pondered possible contents of the Ontario budget and speculated on the size of the expected deficit. Premier Mitchell Hepburn told the legislature yesterday that the budget, expected earlier in the session, would not be presented until next Tuesday.

It is known that the Premier, who is also provincial treasurer, will report a deficit on the current year's operations. Reports have placed the deficit at from $500,000 to $2,500,000, with the latest forecast placing the amount nearer the second figure. The fiscal year ends March 31 and the revenue and expenditure figures for the last two months will be estimates only.

The Act to amend the Succession Duty Act was given third reading yesterday after conservatives fought to send it back to committee of the whole for amendment. Premier Hepburn and conservative leader George Drew had a debate on the measure on third reading, an unusual procedure. No party lines were broken on division, giving the government a 53-20 victory.

The measure is designed to facilitate the collection of arrears of succession duties from estates previously closed. It closes the courts to questions of the valuation of unlisted securities and certain other assets in estates, leaving the treasurer absolute discretion. It was these clauses that caused sharpest debate.

Drew Protests.

When the Act was called for third reading, Col. Drew moved the order be discharged and the Bill be referred back to committee of the whole with instructions to strike out certain sections.

Col. Drew offered an addition to the Bill which would have enabled any person to go to the courts to find out whether he was liable for payment of any duties arising from the death of any person. The courts would also have been enabled to determine the extent of this liability.

Retroactive legislation— the measure is retroactive to September 22 last when the Act it amends was passed—was generally bad, said Col. Drew. The present Act, removing privilege in many cases, was "improper, vicious, and utterly lawless in its possible application." The speaker objected to the phrase and Col. Drew subsstituted. He said the Act was an "iniquitous mechanism of possible legalized blackmail."

"Show your intellectual integrity," Col. Drew exhorted the Liberal members. "Show your freedom of membership in this House and put the Bill back into committee."

Elliott Comments.

"The remarks of the Leader of the Opposition would sound better if there was less evidence of self-esteem," remarked A. L. Elliott (Lib. Peterborough).

"Surely we can't be built of all the things charged against us in this debate,' said Premier Hepburn. "Attorney-General Conant couldn't be as ignorant as Col. Drew had painted him. Surely he, the Premier, wasn't a party to legalized

"I can't assess an estate without going to the courts to determine if it should be assessed at all," said the premier, who is also provincial treasurer. The matter of determining the value of securities was not one for the courts. It was a job done better by experienced treasury officials and the system prevented endless litigation. Judges weren't experts in financial matters.

"I don't think there are many judges who have not been appointed for service to one party or the other," continued the premier.

"I'm not a liar—I mean lawyer," said Mr. Hepburn. The house laughed and the premier observed that the line of demarcation was difficult at times.

Wage Increases Are Made In Hastings

HASTINGS, Feb. 8—(ENS). —Taking example from the action of the village council in raising wages, the Hastings Hydro Commission has raised its rates from 25 cents per hour to 30 cents for man labor. The local line construction gang, under Everett Hess, of Hastings, will be paid at the new rate from January 1 this year. Chairman, Dr. W. E. Wilson and Commissioners Howard Fairman and Reeve Kelly attended the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission convention in Toronto this week. Monthly meeting of the local hydro board, scheduled for the first Monday of each month, was postponed until later this week, it was learned.

When The Town Clock Topped The Opera House

The central building in this old photograph was the Snowden House, now incorporated in the Charlbond apartments on the north side of Charlotte street. It was built on ground that was once used as a lumber piling ground by the founder of the English Canoe Company whose factory was the white roughcast building at the right of the picture. Above its roof appears the pinnacle of the town clock tower when it rose over Bradburn's Opera House on the east side of George street and about the centre of the block between Charlotte and Simcoe streets. Gas lights can be seen in front of the hotel along with the hotel bus and a horse-drawn cab.

Improve Quality Not Boost Output Prairie Premier Advises Farmers

REGINA, Feb. 8—(CP).—Farmers should not attempt unduly to increase agricultural production during the war, but rather concentrate on improving quality in order to retain markets after the war, Premier W. J. Patterson said last night in addressing the Saskatchewan Dairy Association in convention here.

"So long as Canada is at war," he said, "all that we do, all that we suggest and all that we ask should be predicated on that fact. If the result of this war is not such that the form and type of government we have is sustained, everything we possess will be lost."

Premier Patterson referred to increasing duties of democratic government with resultant closed contact between the government and the individual. Examples were in the inauguration of old age pensions and extension of relief of thousands of persons.

Another difficulty in government arose from the fact that there existed local municipal governments, the provincial governments and the federal government, he said. There was a tendency for each of these to try to pass on its obligation to some other government.

The Worst Problem

Low earning power of agriculture in Canada remains the responsibility of the government to correct and a successful solution may mean the end of unemployment and kindred problems, Gilbert McMillan of Huntingdon, Que., president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, told delegates.

The war had caught the dairy industry at a period when prices were at a level so low as to be economically unsound.

"The fact that the price of butter was low," said Mr. McMillan, "was the very fact that made it impossible for the sudden rise in price when war was declared. Speculators realized it was a product that would quickly come to a normal level, which it has done."

The low earning power of the agricultural population was the greatest problem facing Canada, and a fair solution of it would go a long way to put Canada on the road to prosperity."

HAVELOCK

Parents Enjoy Pupils' Musical Play

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8—(ENS). —With a capacity audience of parents and visitors in attendance, the pupils of Miss M. L. Roche's public school class presented a very fine adaptation of the musical play, "Snow-Whiteand the Seven Dwarfs" Tuesday evening at the February meeting of the Havelock Home and School Association.

The guests were extended a hearty welcome by the president. Mrs. George Rigby in a few remarks at the opening of the meeting. A short business period was conducted following this, in which several announcements were made. It was decided also to provide suitable prizes to be awarded to the top-ranking girl and boy pupils of the entrance class next June.

"Snow - White and the Seven Dwarfs" directed by Miss M. L. Roche, proved quite a hit, with little Miss Gladys Parcells making a pretty Snow-White, and Wilbert Seeney as her Prince Charming. Other members of the cast included: Queen and Witch, Helen Anderson; mirror, Douglas Forsythe; huntsman Guy Weese; seven dwarfs, Calvin McQuigge, Bobby Pressick, Dalton Bannon, Glen Yeo, Donald Revoy, Murray Barton, Grenville Young; ladies-in-waiting, Joyce Little, Jean Quinn, Joan Quinn, Elinor Wannamaker, Jaqueline Sanders. Among the songs sung were "Heigh Ho," "Whistle While You Work," "With a Smile and a Song," and Yodel Song." Miss Betty Holdcroft was the piano accompanist.

Another item on the evening's program was an interesting lecture by D. C. Drinkwalter of the high school teaching staff, on "Beautifying the Home Grounds," accompanied by illustrative lantern slides.

The parent attendance shield for this meeting was won by the pupils of Miss M. Roche's classroom. The meeting closed with prayer, by R. W. Goheen, high school principal.

Penalty He Pays

Aldershot, England, Feb. 8 (CP Cable)

THIS camp's loneliest man is the Canadian son of pacifist parents. He joined the Canadian Active Service Force against the wishes of his relatives.

Since enlisting he has received no letters from anyone. Each time a transatlantic mail arrives, bringing whoops of delight from his buddies, he goes to the barracks post office—then walks off empty handed.

He told his story to a pal and here it is: "It has been tough right along, but it is toughest when the mail bags arrived with nothing for me."

His name? "No," his pal said, "he's too good a soldier to want to penalize his parents, no matter how they've penalized him. Just call him the 'loneliest man in Aldershot.'"

Claim Network Ready For Wrecks, Havoc On Tip From Berlin

ISTANBUL, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Authoritative sources tonight said government dismissal of 180 German technicians and occupation of the German-owned Krupp shipyards were due to discovery of a far-flung German sabotage plot in the Near East.

Turkish Marines occupied the shipyards yesterday; today the Government dismissed 100 German technicians employed by the War and Naval ministries and gave them 48 hours to leave the country.

Authoritative sources said the Government had uncovered evidence of a network of Nazi agents ready to perpetrate explosions, train wrecks and other havoc throughout the Near East on the signal from Berlin.

Under the circumstances, they said, it was impossible to allow the Germans to remain in strategic positions, especially as the techinicians were completing work on submarines which Turkey would expect to throw into combat if they became involved in war.

Turkey's action against Germans came as elsewhere in the Balkans and the Near East steps were being

Greece Menaced Sends Expert To See Weygand

ATHENS, Feb. 9.—(AP).— One of Premier John Metaxas' most trusted assistants left by plane to-day for Egypt, where the commanders of powerful armies concentrated in the Near East by Great Britain and France are making a tour of inspection.

The departure of the Under-Secretary of Press and Tourism, Theodore Nikoloudis, coincided with disclosure that General Metaxas in a speech two days ago warned his compatriots they faced the danger of being drawn into the war

It was explained Nikoloudis was going to confer with Egyptian ministers "on matters interesting to both governments," but it was remarked that his visit coincided with the presence in Egypt of General Maxime Weygand of France and Lieut.-General Sir Archibald Wavell of Britain.

U.S. Sounding Neutrals Out On Peace

F.D.R. Reveals Welles To Visit Germany, Italy, France, Britain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced today that diplomatic conversations "of an informal character" have been commenced with neutral governments "in view of the evident desire of all neutral nations for the eventual restoration of world peace."

Hull emphasized that the conversations "involve no plan or plans but are in the nature of preliminary inquiries relating to a sound international economic system and, at the same time, worldwide reduction of armaments."

He added that the conversations can be "extended to belligerent nations insofar as they involve these two common problems of future peace."

Hull made his announcement shortly after President Roosevelt disclosed that the Undersecretary of State, Sumner Welles, would be sent to Italy, Germany, France and Great Britain in the near future to survey the war situation.

Hull said that the conversations with the neutrals did not embrace "matters involving present war conditions."

At his press conference, Hull also announced that Welles would sail from New York on the Italian liner Rex, Feb. 17, and go directly to Italy, which would be his first call.

No Commitments.

Disclosing the move at a press conference, the President said Welles had been instructed to make no proposals or commitments in the name of the United States.

Statements made to him by officials of European governments will be received solely for the President and State Secretary Cordell Hull, Mr. Roosevelt said.

The President, refusing to elaborate on his announcement, read the following formal statement to the newspapermen:

"At the request of the President, the Undersecretary of State Mr. Sumner Welles will proceed shortly to Europe to visit Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain. This visit is solely for the purpose of advising the President and the Secretary of State as to present conditions in Europe.

"Mr. Welles will, of course, be authorized to make no proposals or commitments in the name of the Government of the United States.

"Furthermore, the statements made to him by officials of government will be kept in the strictest confidence and will be communicated by him solely to the President and the Secretary of State."

Not Single Man Lost In Tens Of Thousands Moved To Britain Right On Schedule States McNaughton—Thanks To British Navy

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(CP Cable.)—Major General A. G. L. McNaughton General Officer Commanding the Canadian Active Service Force, declared to-day that the transfer of Canadian troops from Canada to Great Britain had been carried out without the loss of a single man and according to a schedule worked out months ago.

At a luncheoen given by Sir William Coxen, Lord Mayor of London, for the senior officers of the forces of the Dominions now in Great Britain, General McNaughton said that "now that the initial movements have been completed, I feel at liberty to say that the schedule for the transport of troops was determined months ago and has been carried through on time, to the day, to the hour as laid down in advance, and that force whose strength is measured in tens of thousands has reached these shores without the loss of a single man."

Then, turning to senior officers of the navy present, including Rear-Admiral the Duke of Kent, General McNaughton added that "for this we give thanks to Divine Providence and to the might of the British navy."

Included among the guests, most of whom were officers of the C. A.S.F., were Oliver Stanley, Secretary of State for War; Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary of State for

Man, Woman Die 3 Scorched In Timimns Fire

TIMMINS, Ont., Feb. 9 — (CP). —Two persons lost their lives and three others are in hospital suffering from first degree burns as the result of a fire in a Maple Street residence here early to-day.

The dead are Albenia Fermanic and John Sikura.

Paul Plasika, Joseph Yonik, and Bronc Panek, boarders at the house are being treated at hospital for burns and minor lacerations about the arms, face and neck.

Whirling up through a hot air pipe, fire of unknown origin swept through the living-room of the house and raged fiercely.

Breaking through the back door to get at the fire, firemen found the unconscious body of John Sikura lying in the doorway. They administered oxygen and artificial respiration and when Sikura regained consciousness, he was removed to the hospital. He died later of third degree burns, according to the medical attendant.

Albenia Fermanic, housekeeper at the house, could not be located and when one of the boarders asked Fire Chief Borland as to her whereabouts he sent a squad of firemen in to search the house. A search had been made when firemen first arrived, but no one was to be found.

As the flames died, firemen opened a closet door which stood ajar

Alderman Dutton Chosen Head Board Of Health

Ald James Dutton was elected chairman of the Board of Health at a special meeting held in the council chamber Thursday afternoon. The choice of Ald. Dutton was made on motion of Mayor James Hamilton and Ald. W. G. Ovens and was unanimous.

In moving the appointment Mayor Hamilton said that he was anxious to see Ald. Dutton chairman if he felt that he could undertake the responsibilities of the position along with his other duties.

Board members present at the meeting were Mayor Hamilton, Ald. Ovens, Ald. Dutton, D. G. H. Melton, and Dr. W J. Gordon, acting M.O.H.

Probably the most important business on the agenda was consideration of the appointment of a temporary M.O.H. to hold the position until the return from overseas of Dr. Murray Fraser.

It was stated that only four applications had been received in reply to the board's advertisement and one of these, that of Dr. N. H. Sutton, had been withdrawn.

Major Hamilton said that apparently Dr. L. F. Clark of Toronto, was the only applicant with the necessary qualifications. His Worship read a number of letters in regard to Dr. Clark's career and training.

More Critical Is Word On Condition

Emergency Operation Relieves Pressure Temporarily

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—A bulletin from government house at 1.15 p.m. EST. today reported the condition of Lord Tweedsmuir as "more critical" and the performing of an emergency operation.

Five doctors in attendance on his Excellency, who suffered a concussion last Tuesday, issued the following bulletin:

"His Excellency's condition became more critical throughout the night, and this morning at government house an emergency trephining operation was performed which has temporarily relieved the increased intracranial pressure.

The five doctors signing the bulletin were: Lieut.-Col. Colin Russell, R.C.A.M.C.; Dr. Jonathan Meakins, Montreal; Dr. Wilder Penfield, Montreal; Dr. William Cone, Montreal; and Dr. C. Gordon Gunn, Ottawa, the Governor-General's personal physician.

Throughout the morning a waiting Dominion had gone without official news of his Excellency's condition since the bulletin at 7.40 p.m. EST last night which reported the Governor-General as having "spent a restful afternoon and there is no essential change in his condition"

However, the bulletin previous to that had reported "grave anxiety" over his Excellency.

Shortly after the 64-year-old Governor-General suffered the concussion in a fall which came after a fainting spell early Tuesday, Drs. Penfield and Russel were summoned from Montreal.

Two Doctors Recalled

Later Dr. Penfield returned to Montreal but as his excellency's strength ebbed while he fought for recovery Dr. Penfield and Dr. Cone were recalled.

Sir Shuldham Redfern, personal Secretary of His Excellency, gave out the grave news of the emergency operation.

While it was in progress anxious questioners had kept telephone lines to Government House busy with inquiries as to Lord Tweedsmuir's condition. But until the official statement was made known there was not information of any kind.

During this time the most reassuring word from Government House, and none too reassuirng at that, was that the usual daily progress report might be expected between 12 o'clock noon and 1 p.m. (EST).

It was some minutes after that that Sir Shuldham relayed the news of His Excellency's condition being "more critical."

Meantime, it was learned, a special train was waiting in the railway yards here to carry His Excellency to hospital in Montreal should his condition permit it.

The train was made up early this morning and held in readiness.

British Fighters Bag Raider Near Edinburgh

LONDON, Feb. 9—(CP). — Royal Air Force fighter planes intercepted and shot down one of several German warplanes which raided Britain's east coast today and bombed and machine-gunned vessels off shore.

The Air Ministry said a German bomber crashed near North Berwick, on the south shore of the Firth of Forth, near the mouth, and only 20 miles east of Edinburgh, after being attacked by R.A.F. fighters.

Another German plane was engaged over the northeast coast and still others attacked ships.

Three British pursuit planes were unable to catch one raider which machine-gunned vessels along the coast, and later two German warplanes bombed a ship off the Scottish coast and were believed to have escaped.

Two men were feared lost when a lifeboat from one attacked a vessel, identified as the 800-ton dredger Foremost, was swamped. Lifeboats and fishing smacks put out to the

Conscription Barred Says Manion

Lays Betrayal To King For Blocking Air Schools In '37

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 9 — (CP).— Voluntary military service and the maintenance of the separate identity of Canada's two railway systems will remain the policies of the National Conservative Party under a National Government headed by Hon. R. J. Manion.

The Conservative Leader opened his general election campaign here last night with a plea for a united Canadian effort in the prosecution of the war and the promise that under a National Government as proposed by him the outstanding men of the nation, regardless of politics, would be brought into the Government. Thus, he said, efficiency and economy would replace the incompetence, inefficiency, and extravagance of the Mackenzie King Government.

Already, said Dr. Manion, malicious, despicable rumors were being whispered about regarding his National Government proposal. He was as much opposed to conscription and railway unification now as ever. Yet in parts of the country where conscription was unpopular opponents were seeking to link conscription with National Government and among railway men it was being whispered National Govern-

French Chamber Debates War Conduct

PARIS, Feb. 9 (CP)— The chamber of deputies went into a secret session today to discuss the government's conduct of the war after Premier Edouard Daladier had disclosed recent raids on Gestapo (German Secret Police) offices in France.

Daladier said the raids had disclosed an elaborate questionnaire had been sent to the agents from Germany asking about the Premier's prestige, his friends and his adversaries.

"It is today's session of parliament which will answer those questions for them," the premier said.

The premier requested that the debate take place in public but the house voted 262 to 227 to meet in secret committee, the first such sitting in more than 20 years. The secret sitting was requested mainly by the socialists.

Daladier read the questionnaire, in which the agent was to tell whether Daladier himself is liked by the masses, how he would come out in a vote of confidence in parliament, who his enemies and friends are, how much confidence the Moslem world and the negro world have in France and how the French police are organized.".

California Blast Rocks Area For 20 Miles

REDONDO BEACH, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—Explosions so violent that people 20 miles away thought they felt an earthquake shattered a fireworks plant. Three persons were cut by shatering glass and a watchman was severely burned.

The blast damaged a dozen houses in which people lay sleeping, debris from one shaken roof partially buried two people. Police said it was almost incredible that there had been no loss of life.

Rev. Nettie Denman, 50, occupant of a house 200 feet from the factory, was the most seriously injured.

She and her son, Eugene, 20, were thrown from their beds and battered by falling plaster. She suffered deep lacerations of the legs.

F. H. Bragg, also cut by flying debris, was sleeping in his bungalow less than 100 feet from the plant.

The 29 small structures in the factory lot, all levelled by the blast, were unoccupied.

Valera Passes Bill To Jail Terrorists Without Formal Charge Or Trial

DUBLIN, Feb. 9.—(CP)—The "offences against the state bill" giving Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's government broad powers to combat extremists was declared constitutional today in a majority opinion of the Supreme Court of Eire.

The majority opinion found the bill not repugnant to the constitution. It provides for the arrest and imprisonment of persons deemed undesirable without formal charge or trial.

The bill will be submitted immediately to President Douglas Hyde for signature, thereby becoming law, the Supreme Court opinion was requested by the president in order to ensure legality of the measure.

The powers contained in it are vitally important to the Eire government in its effort to round up leaders of the Irish Republican Army terrorist organization.

Under the original act passed last June, 53 men were detained. The brother of one of them secured a writ of habeas corpus from Justice Gavan Duffy in the Dublin High Court in December. The lower court held that power to intern on suspicion was fundamentally inconsistent with the rule of law as expressed in the constitution. Subsequently the judge signed an order for release of the prisoner.

Mr. De Valera pressed at the January special sitting of the Dail for an amendment to stop up this loophole. He declared that if the legislature and judiciary were going to be at loggerheads, the constitution would have to be changed.

The main amendment asked was the power to intern native-born citizens and this was passed by the Dail.

Under arrest in connection with the ring are Mike Sawchuk in Toronto, and Nancy Hill, alias Nancy Shapitka of Rouyn, Que., at Kirkland Lake. More than $200,000 in counterfeit bills has been seized.

U.S. Guns Of 1918 May Be sold To Scandinavia

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—While the United States Senate cleared the way today for action on legislation to make possible a $20,000,000 non-military loan to Finland, the administration was reported considering the sale to Scandinavian countries of surplus arms left over from the last war.

President Roosevelt conferred late yesterday with state secretary Hull; war secretary Harry Woodring and navy secretary Charles Edison, and the discussions were said to have concerned the advisability of disposing of surplus army and navy guns.

A Norwegian official mission has been inquiring into the possibility of purchasing artillery in the United States. Prince Bertil, son of the Swedish Crown Prince and head of a Swedish purchasing mission, also has been received by Mr. Roosevelt.

The army has on hand hundreds of Field Guns and large stores of rifles unused since the last war, including about 3,500 75-millimetre guns. Officials said that Mr. Roosevelt has the authority to declare the arms surplus material and to be subject to disposal.

Finns Recapture Breastworks From Red Army

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 9—(AP).—Russian spies and fighters parachuting to earth behind the Mannerheim line harrassed the Finns today as they combatted Red army offensives on four fronts.

The Russians, fighting in temperatures from 15 to 40 degrees below zero, failed to make important advances and in some sectors suffered heavy losses, the Finns reported.

They denied Soviet claims the Mannerheim line had been penetrated. Some advance breastworks had been occupied by Russian troops but they were driven out by counter offensives, Finnish officers said.

(A Russian army communique last night said attacks on the Mannerheim Line had resulted in the capture of 13 steel and concrete forts in the Hotinen and Summa areas of the Karelian Isthmus. The report said "the enemy suffered great losses.")

Several patrols of saboteurs dropped from planes were captured yesterday, the Finnish high command said, but added that others had caused considerable damage.

New Troops Shiver In Chilly England Veterans Assure Them It Spring

ALDERSHOT, Feb. 9 (CP Cable) — The ever-expanding training camp of the Canadian forces was the scene of the most intensive industry in weeks today.

At every encampment men of the incoming contingent whose arrival was announced yesterday were busy putting billets into shape, requisitioning essential supplies, and concentrating on the major task of unloading the stores and equipment the contingent brought with it.

A number of units detained at the port of debarkation for special duties filtered in today. They were greeted by Lieut.-General Charles Broad, general officer commanding the Aldershot command, and a large group of Canadian officers who arrived in the earlier flights.

The men came in marching to popular songs while friendly salutations were exchanged with Canadian and Imperial units which passed them enroute.

A majority of the newcomers were assigned to the most modern huts in the area providing every facility and even shower baths that actually worked. But the few who drew older barracks did not fancy the idea of relying on fireplaces for heat.

Like their comrades who came before them, they are finding the raw, damp English winter more severe than the sub-zero temperatures back home. A number of the men were nursing colds caught during the crossing.

"What does a fellow do to keep warm in this country?" asked a shivering youngster who had been through many Western blizzards.

"You'll find out soon enough," a first flight veteran told him. "But you should complain about the cold. We've just come through the winter. This is what they call the spring over here."

Tonight many of the latest arrivals were to have an opportunity of warming their hands in applause. They were to attend the first amateur concert staged by divisional talent under the direction of Captain Mert Plunkett. The program will be broadcast in the United Kingdom and later will be transmitted to Canadian listeners through a recording.

Aid Refused Sinking Liner's Passengers Till Pay Pledged Japs, Shipper Charges

MANILA, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Captain Crispulo Onrubia of the steamship President Quezon, which struck an uncharted shoal and sank on January 27, charged before the Marine Board of Inquiry to-day that a Japanese vessel refused aid unless he signed papers guaranteeing pay for the rescue. The 8,341-ton President Quezon, formerly the President Madison, foundered south of Kanegashima Island in the Japanese Archipelago. The Japanese freighter Ukishima Maru effected a rescue.

Onrubia said he was forced to leave his sinking ship aboard the second lifeboat launched in order to sign papers assuring the rescue of his passengers, including women and children, and his crew.

The Japanese skipper flatly refused to lower lifeboats until the papers were signed, Onrubia charged.

Rescue work began after Onrubia signed the papers, he said.

One crewman was lost in the rescue.

Nuns See Hitler Watch Bombing Of Warsaw From Convent Spire

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Two United States nuns of the Franciscan Order, who were in a convent 16 miles from Warsaw when the Germans invaded Poland last September, said today on their return here that Adolf Hitler had visited the convent and from a church spire had viewed the results of bombardment.

The nuns, Sister Bogumila and Sister Innocencia, were in Poland 17 months. They said they returned to the United States because their passports would expire in March.

Sister Bogumila said there were seven other United States nuns at the convent, established and operated with American funds, when the drive on Poland started.

The nuns made a United States flag out of pieces of cloth and painted white stars on the blue field. This they hung, with signs proclaiming the nationality of the convent, on the walls.

The German staff established headquarters at the convent, but nuns were not molested, Sister Bogumila said.

Hitler was taken up into the steeple, she said, because it was one of the highest structures in the vicinity and Warsaw could plainly be seen.

During Hitler's visit to the convent church none of the Nuns was allowed in the church, Sister Bogumila said. But she knew he had stayed about half an hour. Both she and Sister Innocencia were hesitant about talking to reporters, saying they feared the Nazis might "take revenge" upon their Sisters in Poland.

"At the convent we took care of the injured as much as we could," Sister Bogumila said. Our church was partly damaged by Polish guns because we were in line of the defence fire by the Poles."

"No words can describe the bombardment," Sister Bogumila said. "It was hellish. Dear God, they are all good martyrs, those Polish people."

She said she had read the report of Cardinal Hlond of Poland, to the Vatican, describing anti-religious activities of the Nazis, but thought that "most of those things happened in Prussian Poland and in the Danzig territory."

Allows 100 48 Hours To Quit Land

Istanbul Hints Action Precaution Against Spring Drive

ISTANBUL, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Turkish government today dismissed 100 German technicians employed by the war and naval ministries and gave them 48 hours to leave Turkey.

It was announced that the step was taken under special decree powers voted to the government by the national assembly "for the protection of national defence."

The blanket discharge, coming one day after Turkish seizure of the German-owned Krupp shipyards here, applied to 20 marine specialists at the Turkish naval base of Gyeldjuk on the Sea of Marmora; 20 technicians at a munitions factory near Ankara, and 60 others active in Turkey's military preparations.

Officials said that henceforth no German could work in state-owned industries. This was believed to affect several hundred men in addition to those discharged.

Reports that Germany's ambassador, Franz Von Papen, had been directed to make a sharp protest against the shipyards confiscation were answered in government circles with the assertion that Turkey was within her legal rights.

Marines continued to occupy the Krupp yards on the Golden Horn, at an inlet of the strategic straits of the Bosphorus, where 30 Germans had been supervising completion of two submarines for the Turkish navy until their sudden ouster yesterday.

Move Anticipated.

Confiscation of other German property in Turkey was expected "sooner or later" in informed circles, which saw the once-strong German influence in Turkey waning since Turkey's alignment with Great Britain and France.

It was learned hundreds of other German experts employed in Turkey would be discharged and sent back to the Reich. They have been acting as government advisers, factory technicians, and professors in Istanbul University and Ankara Agricultural College.

Terror of Rouyn Lumberjacks, Screech Owl Meets Its Waterloo In Steel Beaver Trap

ROUYN, Feb. 9.—The mad owl of Roger Lake is no more. Not a fearsome looking bird in the coldness of death, its days of scaring lumberjacks at a lonely camp fifty-five miles from here are over and the body is to be stuffed as a memento of the chase which took two police constables by truck and dog team on a trip which attracted continent-wide attenion.

Ornithologists to the contrary notwithstanding, the bird is a screech owl. Its measurements are: Weight four pounds; height twenty-two inches; wingspread four feet eight inches.

It met its Waterloo at the hands of International Paper Company's own Constable J. A. Charlebois and it was a beaver trap that filled the role of Blucher.

The constable, after many a vain attempt to shoot the marauder, cut down a tree not far from Boudreau's camp, near Roger Lake, sliced four feet from the end of it and wired a perch in place. He then wired on a number four beaver trap carrying two sets of strong steel jaws. The tree was hoisted back onto its stump and wired into place. This was on Tuesday evening.

Yesterday morning the trap sprang and when men arrived at the spot the tree was lying on the ground. In a last desperate effort to escape the screech owl raised the top of the tree a couple of feet in the air, then settled back into the snow finished.

There is nothing unusual about the bird except perhaps its mentality. It came into the habit of snatching men's hats from their heads and scratching them dangerously close to the eyes when doing so. Many a time it bunted men with its sharp breast bone as it plunged down out of the bush. Always the attacks were made on lone woodsmen, usually in the dusk of sunrise or sunset.

Things had returned to normal today at the Boudreau camp. Lumberjacks no longer hesitating to go to work before daylight and return after sunset. Their hats are safe for ever.

He practised for nearly ten years at Port Dover, held the necessary public health degree and for some time had been connected with the Health League of Canada.

It was decided on motion of Mr. Melton, seconded by Ald. Ovens, to invite Dr. Clark to meet the Board to discuss the subject of his appointment.

Estimates Reduced.

Mayor Hamilton said that he and Ald. Dutton had gone over the estimates and were satisfied that the Board could get along this year on $1,000 less than last year, and on the strength of that report a motion by Mayor Hamilton, seconded by D. G. H. Melton fixing the Board's estimates at $12,000 instead of $13,000 which was the 1939 amount.

Co-operation Pledged.

Mr. Melton who said that he understood he had been appointed to the Board as the representative of the Board of Education, declared that it was the desire of the latter body to co-operate as fully as possible with the Health Board in health matters.

Chairman Dutton, on behalf of the Board of Health, expressed his satisfaction with that declaration and on his part promised co-operation with the Board of Education.

An application was read from Sanitary Inspector Ronald McPherson asking for an increase in salary. The Inspector stated that he had started on his third year in the position and since his appointment had qualified by securing the necessary public health certificate. The matter was referred to the finance committee of the city council.

At the suggestion of Ald. Ovens a new method of milk-testing will be tried by the sanitary inspector. This process, he said, would save four or five hours' time in operation and was regarded as effective as the metylene blue method now in use.

Admit Differences.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—(AP).— Differences have existed for some time between Turkish authorities and the management of the Krupp shipyards on Turkey's Golden Horn, seized by the Turkish government, informed quarters said to-day.

They said also that there have been differences between German technicians, 100 of whom were reported dismissed to-day, and the Turkish authorities for whom they were working.

It was said that in many countries foreigners are being pushed out of concerns considered essential to defence. The technicians, it was added, all were on private contract and hence official relatsions between the German and Turkish governments need not be affected by their dismissal.

What action would be taken regarding the Istanbul developments was unpredictable, authorized spokesman said, until the full circumstances become officially known to the Berlin government. The foreign office at 1 p.m. to-day claimed to be still without official word from the embassy in Turkey.

pendence if it be threatened by aggression. General Metaxas' speech was made before the Salonika Rotary Club shortly after his return from the Balkan Entente meeting at Belgrade.

He said that already "difficult times" had "momentarily threatened to involve us,' and warned:

"I do not mean we shall eventually avoid the storm. What I can assure you is that we shall come out of that storm as men capable to demanding respect of others."

Commenting on the recent conference of the Balkan Entente members at Belgrade, the Premier said the door was left open for Hungary and Bulgaria "to join us in encountering the storm that is coming."

He did not disclose what already had "momentarily threatened" to involve Greece, but added:

"If we are to remain at peace in a crawling posture, it would be better that we should never have peace at all."

Firemen suggested that she had raced to the closet to put on her fur coat before going out into the frigid night air and she had been suffocated before she could follow Sikura out to the back door.

Sign Of Fascism Says Drew Of Jury Ouster

TORONTO, Feb. 9.— (CP). — Third straight party debate of the present session of the Ontario Legislature was scheduled to be resumed to-day with the government measures to streamline the administration of justice in the province as the bone of contention.

Second reading debate on Attorney-General Conant's bill to abolish grand juries and to reduce the number of jurors in county court civil actions from 12 to six was started yesterday by Mr. Conant.

"We talk a great deal about the necessity of relieving the burden of our taxpayers—they who must bear the cost of the administration of justice," said Mr. Conant. "This bill constitutes at least a substantial beginning in that direction and, I am convinced, without in any way jeopardizing the liberty or impairing the rights of any citizen."

But in proposing to abolish grand juries, Col. Drew argued, nothing was being done to take away the powers of the Attorney-General to prefer an indictment directly against an individual. If the grand jury, before whom that indictment must now be taken, was done away with, it meant the Attorney-General, or an officer appointed by him, could cause a man to go to trial without any preliminary hearing whatever.

Sign of Fascism

"What is being done here in this Legislature is simply a further encroachment of the Fascism which has been growing apace," said Col. Drew.

Purpose of the Liberal Government, if elected, was to continue the methods it followed from the start in prosecuting the war and he was convinced it had done "a good job" so far.

Coming To States

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—Once the greatest of the great Russian ballet dancers, Vaslav Nijinsky, confined for 20 years in a Switzerland institution for the insane, now is "practically well," says his close friend, Sol Hurok, Russian-born ballet producer.

"We hope to bring Nijinsky to the United States," said Hurok, who is directing the Ballet Russe here. "The matter of finances can be taken care of, I am sure, and I will be glad to assist in providing for his transportation."

Hurok said he had been in touch with Nijinsky's wife, Romola, up until 30 days ago, but was unaware the once famous ballet dancer had to leave Switzerland today.

Night Coughs

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes on at night and prevents sleep.

Sometimes it is the constant cough, cough that will not be quieted. Sometimes it is a choked-up, stuffed-up feeling that makes breathing difficult.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the remedy you need to give you relief, for the reason that this preparation contains the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent balsams, barks and herbs.

Days Long Gone By Are Recalled At Lakefield Institute Meeting

LAKEFIELD, February 9 (ENS) —Historical research was the interesting topic of the Lakefield Women's Institute when it met for the regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. Davis, who was in charge of the program, had secured an old "Lakefield News" dated December 21, 1876, from J. W. Ridpath, the present proprietor of the "News."

At the time of printing the editor was the late Frank J. Groffe and the paper was published every Thursday. The first page contained along with several advertisers, a continued story and an editorial under the heading "Late hours and little intelligence."

The proceedings of court are also recorded, it having opened on December 12 by Judge Dean, judge of Victoria County Court, he being empowered to hold the court in consequence of the recent formations of the counties of Peterborough and Victoria into judicial district. Members of the jury were John Elder, foreman, John E. Belcher, B. Cardwell, H. P. Crowley, H. Carveth, R. Colbert, W. Carter, E. Cameron, P. Doherty, R. Gardner, A. Graham, Robert Graham, John Garvey, George Nelson, A. Johnston, D. McDougal, J. H. Mann, A. Mowry, A. Roseberry, N. Travis, S. Sherin, T. Donnelly.

Even in those days the slogan "It pays to advertise" was used by the merchants. The firm of J. G. Sherin announced to its customers and the public generally, that it had received a new stock of fall and winter goods, consisting of dress goods, wincies, flannels, fine tweeds, fullcloths, etc. "Ready-made clothing of every description, gent's furnishings, complete, new felt hats and caps, groceries, crockery and glassware. Good value in fresh teas. Call and get samples and try for yourselves before purchasing elsewhere. A reduction made by taking quantities. Goderich Salt and Water Lime in Barrels for sale."

Dr. Alexander Bell

Mrs. T. W. Chaplin read the story of Dr. Alexander Bell, as written in an issue of a Toronto weekly. The vanishing of the old-fashioned, all-around country practitioner is one of the problems of modern medicine. One of the most remarkable of that valuable but vanishing species is Dr. Alexander Bell, who was in his eighty-ninth year when the article was written.

Seventy-four years ago he started practice in Lakefield, and remained there until his retirement a few years ago. It was then virgin bush, full of bears and wolves, for protection against which he carried a rifle in his buggy or cutter.

The Trent valley system of canals had not yet been constructed. The various Kawartha Lakes fringed with tall white Pine, tumbled into one another by their natural picturesque waterfalls. As he paddled to a patient the doctor always carried a troll in his canoe. More often than not it was not the settlers but the lakes which paid him his fee, a whopping maskelonge. At Lakefield, as he said, he was the only doctor between Peterborough and the North Pole. "As far north as Bancroft and the Madawaska watershed," said he, "I've been on every road. I was a doctor for the lumber companies and I was in all the camps, and I don't believe there is a lake in Victoria, Haliburton and Hastings counties I haven't had a look at."

Very often the doctor would be away for three weeks at a time. At one time during an epidemic of small pox, he found the only method by which to prevent it spreading was to seize all cheese, shut up churches and schools and isolating three townships by building fences across the roads and at each gate, stationing two constables with rifles. He had attended 84 cases of the epidemic and didn't lose a patient, though three of them lost an eye.

Display of Antiques

There was an interesting display of antiques on the table before the meeting. A sugar bowl of 1854 drew the attention of many, for it was several times larger than the modern sugar container. A wooden shoe with an iron ring worn under the soles as a protection against dampness, was something which very many had never heard of before. There were several plates, nearly all over one hundred years old. Of special interest was an almanac of 1784, so small that it could easily be put in many of the modern girls' compacts. A rupee of 1840 which is a piece of money from the country of India drew much attention.

Then there was the Bull's eye watch, over one hundred years old, and made for durability rather than style. The candle molds made one all the more thankful for the electricity so plentiful today.

An old wooden shaving bowl with brush was another relic of older days. John Tindall's book on breeding and management of cattle in 1819 gave one the idea of the older methods of caring for the cattle.

The spectacles in the wooden case, showed they were of the best material, for down through the years there was not a sign of tarnish.

A hand-knitted brush and comb bag had the year and initials worked into the pattern of the bag.

A perpetual calendar, which was about the size of a small copper, although over two hundred years old, by dialing would give the correct date up to the present time.

Sacred Heart Church Holds Final Euchre

MARMORA, Feb. 9—(ENS).—The last of the season's card parties sponsored by Sacred Heart Church congregation was held in the Separate School on Monday evening, with a large attendance. The euchre prizes were won by Mrs. Fred Johnston and Mrs. S. A. Stevens, while the bridge prize went to Mr. J. Murray. Mr. Hugh Brady was the winner of the door prize. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies in charge, after which bingo was played. Dancing also was enjoyed to music furnished by Harold Auger and Eugene Reynolds.

Miss Mary O'Neill returned home on Monday from St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, and is convalescing after an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. W. J. Cottrell is a patient in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

A pancake supper was held on Tuesday in the United Church hall under the auspices of Circle 2 of the W.A. and was well patronized.

A dance under the auspices of Circle 1 of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's was held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, with a good attendance. Music was furnished by Bert Kouri and Charles Campion. Lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

Heavy Restocking In Fish Planned

Charles G. Kingan covers a lot of territory in his applications as president of the Peterborough Fish and Games Association for restocking of lakes and rivers this year. The requisition is of course made by the local Association, but a copy of the list of waters and the fish that are asked for is too lengthy for publication.

The varieties of fish include bass, maskinonge, pickerel, brown trout, gray trout, speckled trout, and the area covered by the petition comprises every corner of the county. Here are some of the lakes: Wolf, Crab, Loon, Duck, Lovesick, Eagle, Sandy, Clear, Davis, Mud, and so on. There are also various creeks, and arms of rivers, Otonabee River, and creeks: Jacks, Eels, Otter, Deer Bay, Nogies, Sophies, Mt. Pleasant, Cavan and so on.

It seems impossible that Mr. Kingan has overlooked any water bigger than streams too wide to hop over.

He told the Examiner today that the executive is getting ready for the annual meeting, and is trying to engage a speaker from out of the city for occasion.

Livestock Sold On Wellman Farm

RAWDON, Feb. 9.—(Special.) — Sale of the livestock and some of the household effects of the late Arnold and Nancy Wellman, the aged Rawdon couple, who last Thursday morning were found slain on their farm, took place on Tuesday afternoon and drew an immense crowd of more than one thousand people, according to estimates, hundreds of motor cars being parked on the roadway and up a lane for half a mile and more, so great had been the interest in the tragedy which fell upon that community the middle of last week.

The property of the two hundred acres and the dwelling and barn was not put up for sale, the members of the family having decided to use the place as a summer home.

Fred Johnson of Marmora, was the auctioneer. Practically all the household effects were sold except a few keepsakes and other articles treasured by the family. Three horses, two cows, one calf, and three brood sows were also disposed of at auction.

Urge Investigation

HAMILTON, Feb. 9—(CP).—Investigation of all citizens who "slam the door in the enumerator's face" and refuse to provide information for the voters' lists, was recommended today by Harry Truesdale, returning officer for Hamilton East, who declared authorities should know why some individuals decline to exercise their duties as electors.

"After the enumeration is complete I think we should have these people investigated," said Mr. Truesdale.

Once Thriving Japanese City Razed By Fire

Here is what remains of the ravaged centre of Shizuoka after the disastrous fire that burned 7,000 buildings to the ground in mid-January. The fire raged for 18 hours, leaving only a blackened waste in its wake. It was the largest fire suffered by Japan since the Hakodate holocaust in 1934, which destroyed more than 22,000 buildings and killed 2,165 persons.

Plans Discussed For Expanding Swine Industry

Plans for expanding the swine industry in Peterborough County as an agricultural contribution to the winning of the war were discussed at length by the swine committee of the Chamber of Agriculture Thursday afternoon in the office of Frank C. Paterson.

Warden John McColl presided as the committee wrestled with the problem of obtaining more information about the industry for themselves and also for the farmers of the country generally, building up better relations between the producers and the packers, and also practical ideas for increasing the number of hogs in the Peterborough area this year.

Mr. Paterson was requested to obtain complete information about sources of supply of advanced registry pigs with the expectation that many farmers of the county would be interested in buying boars and sows. Other ideas were considered in regard to increasing production, but when the committee reached the subject of what might be classified as propaganda,—the spreading of information among the farmers of the county, getting facts, interviewing the packing trade for the purpose of removing suspicion and doubt, the committee apparently did not accomplish the same extent of progress.

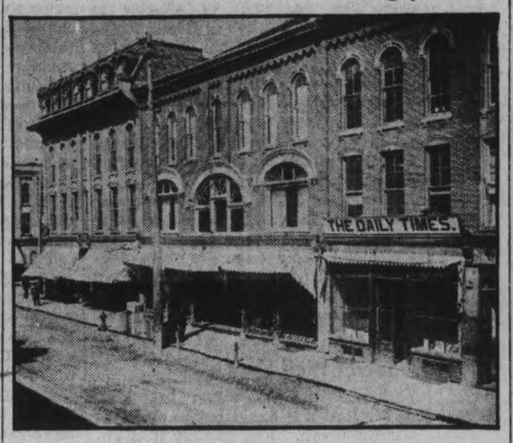
Fluctuation of prices and the causes of it were frankly beyond the understanding of the members present yesterday.

Two of them compared notes on some fairly recent sales, in which one of them on a Monday got the benefit of a rise, and another selling on Tuesday had to accept a drop of 35 cents, according to their report.

Warden McColl said the committee was eager to be of use to the farmers of the county and to the industry as a whole. Steps for increasing the members are under way, and a series of meetings is being planned for mornings and afternoons, none at night, as a means of explaining the needs of the industry at the present time.

It was suggested by Mr. Paterson that one of the morning meetings might be held at Keene, and presumably Reeve Anderson, Fred Eason and Gus Bolin agreed that it might bring out a good attendance. However, more information will be announced in regard to this committee's activities in the near future.

Yes, This Was Identified Wrongly



Yes it may not have been hard to recognize but apparently it proved too much for the Examiner for we were in error last night in identifying this old picture. It is not Hunter Street at all but George Street east side immediately south of Simcoe. The Daily Times was where the Centre Theatre is now and next to it is the old Robert Neill store as it looked before the disastrous fire and was replaced later by the modern store of today.

Mr. King's Reasons

Prime Minister Mackenzie King opened his campaign, and being the Prime Minister his address attracts attention. Possibly some or much of it was material which he would have presented to the House had the life of Parliament not been cut short. One of the most discussed points has been the reason for calling an election before having a session of Parliament, and Prime Minister King has been accused of cowardice, of fearing to face the criticism which he knew would be levelled at him, and also of throttling the free expression of opinion as it might have been voiced by members in the session.

Mr. King in his first address dealt with this matter, and his reasons for calling an election immediately were given. Because they have been so variously interpreted before it is fair enough to consider them as given by himself.

He was certain from the outset that controversy would have raged in the House and the time was too short to permit it to have been drawn to any satisfactory conclusion.

Mr. King said he knew a general election had to come, and so did all parties in the House. That can be accepted as a matter of fact, otherwise the nominating of candidates would not have gone on with the speed shown in some 100 ridings of a total of 245.

The election should be brought on before the roads broke up in the spring; the election should be held while the Canadian troops were still in England and before they went toward the battle front. He anticipates there will be a spring offensive on the western front and he desires the election in Canada to be over before that time so that whatever government is returned will be able to give its full and undivided attention to war matters. In concluding this section of his address the Prime Minister stated plainly he took full responsibility for having called for an election on March 26.

Stripped of all else that appears to be a reasonable statement. As we see it at the moment the real question before the electors of Canada is to determine whether the King Government or one headed by Hon. Dr. Manion is best fitted to carry on a war-time administration for Canada. We can see no good reason why the campaign should be any more bitter than any other pre-election effort, and the responsibility for making it bitter rests entirely with those who participate.

The situation which we are facing is one which should promote sober thinking, sober speaking and sober writing. Nothing should be said or written which would interpret Canadian feeling as being divided regarding the extent or sincerity of our war effort. Nor should we in this campaign so conduct ourselves that people in enemy countries even by stretching their nimble imaginations could come to the conclusion that on the major issue there is a division of opinion. We have only 42 days to go including Sundays and we can keep them clear if it is our desire to do so.

It Started In Berlin

Something flared up in the United States House of Representatives and for the moment it was startling. It all came about when Representative John McCormack brought in a motion to strike from the estimates any appropriation intended for the salary of the Ambassador to Russia. Later on McCormack brought in another motion which would have denied funds for the support of a Legation of any kind in Moscow.

The recorded vote on his first motion to cut off salary from an ambassador was defeated by 108 to 105. The vote came about the same time that the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate had approved an additional loan of $20,000,000 to Finland.

Cutting off appropriation for the support of an ambassador would mean severing diplomatic relationships between United States and Russia, and United States being a neutral country in the present war, the closeness of that vote can be accepted as interpreting feeling in United States. Three votes difference in a total of 213 is decidedly narrow.

Feeling in United States is strongly in favor of Finland, and from that point it is right enough to work back a little to the time when there was no war between Russia and Finland. There was no sign of an outbreak until Hitler and Stalin agreed to come together for the breaking down of Poland and the dividing of the spoils. From that beginning came the movement of Moscow to strengthen the position of Russia in the Baltic. Then came the demands on Finland for the immediate surrender of strategic positions in her territory and Finland's equally ready answer that she would surrender nothing at all. Nor would she trade any of her territory for anything which Russia had to offer. After that the war came.

The starting gun for that campaign was fired in Berlin and the hell on earth which has been turned loose on that little land came originally from Germany. That course of events was not traced in Washington debates, but it is there just as plain as a pikestaff.

A Secret Well Kept

Perhaps the impression has gone abroad that it is dangerous to cross the Atlantic ocean. And possibly it is unless you know how to do it.

Canada's third contingent has landed in Britain, and five liners made the crossing in nine days. Not record time of course, but for war time it is actually good. The secret of the time of their departure was just that—a secret. The place of departure was another. The place at which they landed and the course the vessels took are not known. Everything worked just as it was planned and not until the troops had disembarked and gone to their quarters was the information furnished that more Canadians had arrived in England. The people there saw the troopships but were unaware from which portion of the Empire the soldiers had come.

That is the result which comes from a complete desire to co-operate with government officials in war time. Granted it is not exciting for newspapers or their readers, but it is an excellent way to secure desired results, and that is all that matters.

A Stubborn Attitude

The extent to which Britain undertook to remove children from what were considered danger zones from air raids has been fully revealed. And the same can be said of the complete failure of the scheme. That too is now fully realized and recorded.

The Government has served notice that 500,000 school children must return to their schools. They had completed their summer vacation about the time war was declared, and then they were moved to sections considered remote and safe. But they did not stay. Plans were made to house them and care for them in villages and in the country, but that was wasted effort. In the majority of cases it was the same with the mothers. They did not like the new surroundings; they longed for the old places and the old habits. Even the old tenements.

These 500,000 children have not been at school in six months, and the order now is that regardless of where they are they must go along with their training.

We don't think much of the outlook of the parents who openly defied their government in the first place and moved with their children from places which were considered safe back to the locations most likely to be raided. If these stubborn folk had for a few moments considered the lot of the women and the children of Poland they might not have been so frisky about hastening back to their old haunts. They should have secured a vision or a picture of families fleeing and knowing not where they were going; grabbing a few possessions as they left with no provision made for tomorrow or the days after. In contrast the evacuation of English cities was orderly and well planned, and yet the great majority of those whom the government was seeking to protect promptly turned their backs on the whole thing.

There was an agitation in a few Canadian papers several months ago to have children brought to this country. We regarded it as something to which there were too many visible and formidable objections. Nothing ever came of it and it is well that the move paused and then came to a dead stop just where it did.

Wore a Dicky On Sunday

We read with some interest the report of a meeting of a Women's Institute where that fine old question of the family laundry was discussed, and one speaker said "I have been married 28 years and have yet to iron a stiff shirt. My husband and the three boys all wear soft shirts with collars attached." Then there was some discussion about how much starch to put in collars and so on.

It was not like that on the Tenth Concession. Grandfather had some stiff shirts, but more often he inclined toward the dicky which the dictionary describes as "the sham bosom of a shirt." That's what the dicky was; just a stiff front, with a collar band at the top and a couple of tapes that went around and tied at the back to keep the thing moored on the dead centre.

When grandfather's dickies were ironed they were stiff, and in the hot days of summer the irons had to be heated on the kitchen range. They were as stiff as the barn door and as shiny as the mare's flank on the morning of fair day. Then when they were laid away in the bottom drawer upstairs Sunday could come as quickly as it pleased.

It used to take quite a little time getting grandfather harnessed for church. Generally he wore a grey flannel shirt, and that dicky had to transform it into some semblance of a white one. Which it did. His collars were high, straight and rigid and he seemed to like the feeling of being held together by starch.

There was also quite a bit machinery attached to the cuffs which went with the outfit. The cuffs were of rubber or some such substance, and they could be cleaned by using a wet rag and a rub. Circular they were and the buttons were rather ponderous in size, but the machinery which held them exactly in place was a trifle complicated. There was a little affair on the end of an elastic which gripped the shirt sleeve below the elbow, and the other end found mooring on the top of the cuff. It was rather a delicate operation as the cuff had to extend one-half inch below the coat sleeve and that ruling was as unalterable as those of the Medes and Persians. And of course when the morning church meeting was over grandfather could shed the dicky and relax. Of course the dicky and copper-toed shoes have pretty much gone. That's why the woman at the Institute meeting was able to say she hadn't ironed a stiff shirt in 28 years of married life. And not even a dicky!

NOTE AND COMMENT

The International Labor office at Geneva has ousted Russia from its membership, and Russia will have to grin and Bear it.

Fire in Toronto is said to have started from a greasy stove, and that is rather a blunt and unlovely way of stating exactly what happened.

Young lady from Argentine is taking a trip of 13,000 miles in order to be married. Now there's one case where the true value of a man is set forth in a way that people can readily understand.

One man at Lindsay was given a three-year prison term and now the Attorney-General suggests it should be increased to ten years, and that's three times and one over.

Man in Hamilton was fined $150 for running a gambling house. The defence was that he was unemployed and needed the money, and the wonder is that a lawyer would consider it good tactics to bring such a plea into court.

Wilhelm Bohle has been named as Nazi ruler for England when Germany conquers that country. His picture has been printed in the papers and the feeling of the English folk is that they don't like the looks of the guy.

The Stratford Beacon-Herald announces that during the month of January it had an even six feet of snow, and the Peterborough Examiner takes pleasure in announcing that in the same month we had two feet and considered that sufficient.

Toronto building in 1939 amounted to $10,285,707. That might be considered satisfactory to the Bigger-Toronto people, but for the purpose of keeping population from huddling in one area the figure was about $10,000,000 too great.

A fish 20 feet long was caught under a dock in Nova Scotia at low tide, and as the thing weighs about a ton they do not know what to do with it. It might be a good place for local fishermen to have their pictures taken as long as the weather remains cool.

CAMPAIGNING

¶ When it comes near election time, my reputation seems to climb, I feel important then; for people speak and bow to me, they count me it is plain to see, with all-important men.

¶ When I start walking down the street, and use my old and corn-bound feet, they hail me from afar; a man like me should never walk, not even for a half a block, they'll take me in the car.

¶ They want to know about my name, inquire as well from whence I came, they urge that I should tell; and then they slap me on the back, and ask about my Uncle Jack, they knew him very well.

¶ They say that I should join their club, they hand me out a numbered stub, they'll gladly vouch for me; all I must do is let them know, the most convenient hour to go, it's simple as can be.

¶ They ask if how my health is good, if I enjoy life as I should, what time of day I start; they say that folk speak well of me, and all they meet seem to agree, that I am rather smart.

¶ And after that they hum and haw, the queerest way I ever saw, they sort of clear their throat; then they suggest to look at me, it's easy like for them to see—I know which way to vote.

Nazi Workers Little Better Than Slaves

BRITISH WHITE PAPER

SUCCESS on the home front does not depend on factories and machines alone. Even more important are the goodwill and morale of the men and women who run the machines.

The Nazis have reduced the workers to something like serfdom. Everything has been sacrificed to the demands of a vast war machine.

Official Nazi information reveals the plight of the German worker. The weekly report of the German Institute of Business Research admits that by the end of 1938 skilled workers were earning less than four-fifths of the wages they received ten years earlier under the Republic. The wages of unskilled workers had sunk below two-thirds of their 1928 level.

Out of this greatly reduced pay-envelope, the German worker has to pay back a large proportion to the State. He has to pay heavy taxes. He has to pay insurance contributions. He has to pay dues to the many organizations controlled by the Nazi Party. He is compelled to make "voluntary" contributions to funds such as Winter Relief.

A German worker often has as much as twenty per cent deducted from his wages.

An unemployed man in Germany, even if his insurance contriqutions are fully paid up, dare not claim benefit. If he made any such claim he might instantly be drafted to work on fortifications or to serve as an agricultural labourer many miles from his home.

The health of the German worker has suffered badly as the result of food shortage. All kinds of foods were rationed long before the outbreak of war. By August 27, 1939, Germany's rations of meat, sugar and other foods were much the same as those prevailing in Britain in 1918—after four years of warfare. The Nazis rationed in peace-time a number of foods, such as milk and coffee, which were never rationed in Britain through the whole of the last war. Within a month of war breaking out they even rationed bread—the staple food on which heavy workers fall back when there is a shortage of other foods.

It is not surprising that Dr. Levy leader of the German Labour Front, told the Nazi Party Congress in 1937 that "half the workers employed in the factories under observation had to receive medical attention."

Nor is it surprising that in 1937, when the number of insured workers rose by 10 per cent, the number of industrial accidents rose by 25 per cent.

The German worker has been driven at a pace which often became unbearable even in peace-time. Excessive overtime and speeding-up imposed a terrible strain on his health.

AGAINST all these inflictions he has no redress. The great trade unions, which won the worker such substantial benefits under the Republic, have been smashed by the Nazi masters of Germany. Their former leaders have been thrown into prisons and concentration camps. Even in peace-time there have been signs of unrest among the workers.

When Field-Marshal Goring ordered miners' hours to be increased to 53 a week (April 1st, 1939), the workers instantly rebelled. In Upper Silesia they tore down posters bearing the Goring order. At one pit in the Saar territory, only 17 men arrived for the morning shift out of a total of 5,000. As a result of such tactics there was a serious loss of output.

The Nazis have officially admitted that they have had to offer miners a 200 per cent bonus to induce them to make the required effort.

All this happened in peace-time. The burdens of war will put the German workers' morale to an even more severe test.

In Britain, on the other hand, the workers are throwing their whole weight behind the national effort.

While German wages have fallen, British wages have gone up.

According to the Ministry of Labour, the wage rates of British workers were 7 per cent higher in 1938 than in 1929.

On an average, adult male workers earn about 65s. (about $15.00) a week. Unlike the German workers, their wages are not subject to heavy deductions by the State. Every adult male worker contributes 1s. 7d. (about 36 cents) a week towards State insurances against unemployment, illness and accidents, and a pension for himself or his widow and orphans. That is all.

Above all, the British workers are free to organize themselves and to bargain for better conditions. Behind them they have a trade union movement of immense power and influence.

The workers of Britain have watched the fate of the German workers with deep and growing concern. A recent report of the Trades Union Congress stated:

"The status of the worker in Germany is rapidly being lowered to that of a convict under sentence of penal servitude."

The British workers know that a Peace Front victory will bring freedom back to the millions of German workers who are crushed under the heel of Hitler's dictatorship.

They know that the present struggle is their own struggle. They know that their own hard-won freedom and security are at stake.

Letters To The Editor

EXPERIENCE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In your issue of Jan. 31st, I noticed a letter signed "Getting Along", which I feel I must answer as it is not so many years ago since I felt exactly as our aged friend, "Getting Along" now feels, disillusioned by the worldliness and empty formality of the professing church. I can only express what I felt, in the words of the hymn, "Reality, Reality, My Soul Demands Reality." Speaking of church reports our correspondent says "These annual reports tell me so little of what I want to know. It does not matter much if $5,000 or $10,000 was raised during the year, and it is of no great importance, that two dozen people have been named as officers for the coming year. It is something the same, when I read about what they call church "activity," in all the various organizations. How many meetings they held, how many sales of bread and cake. Perhaps getting past the mark of 76 has dulled my interest."

Dear soul, whoever you are, do not be discouraged. If in seeking nourishment, from the breast of a dead church, you turn away hungrier than ever, lucky if your system isn't poisoned by what you have drawn from hers. "You'll never hatch live chicks under a dead hen."

So friend "Getting Along," your lack of interest is justified. Thank God that while your interest in worldly churches is waning, your soul is hungering after the living God, to see His power and His glory manifested as it was in the early days of Methodism, in this country. Let me tell you there is a special promise in the Bible for such as you.

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled." Hunger is a healthy sign in the natural man. So also in the spiritual realm. The Holy Spirit put that longing in your heart, and only God Himself can satisfy your longing to once more hold fellowship with God's people as you used to do in olden days. "Getting Along" says "I'm wondering if that kind of work is vanishing, or drying up, or being shoved to one side." No, friend! I think you are like Elijah was on Mount Carmel, when he sat with his head between his knees and told God, "I only am left." God said, "Not so, Elijah. I have still 7,000 prophets who have not bowed the knee to Baal." So friend with your hand on the latch of the sunset gate, I'd like to be able to tell you that you can find that loving fellowship with the saints of God right here in your own town, where God is praised "openly and sincerely," and in no hushed voices either, where at the altar you'll find nearly every Sunday, sinners smitten by the convicting power of God's Holy Spirit, weeping their way through to a real old fashioned salvation, and the saints (saved ones) kneeling 'round the altar, rejoice with the hosts around the throne above with uplifted voices in praise, worship and thanksgiving.

In this blessed fellowship every individual member is an assistant coworker with a devoted pastor who has invested all that he has and is in the Master's Service, where denominationalism is unknown, the precious blood is our only passport, the Holy Spirit our guide and teacher, the Bible our only textbook. A chorus we sing aptly illustrates the stand we take,

I don't care what church you belong to,
Just as long as for Calvary you stand,
If you're under the blood, just as I am,
You're my brother, so give me your hand.

No funds are ever raised by worldly methods. We have no play-room but we have a real prayer-room and the prayer meeting is one of our most enjoyable meetings with 75 per cent to 90 per cent generally present. So "Getting Along," just you do as I did when I came to Kadish-Barnea (valley of decisions) I had to do one of two things. I ceased to ask of man; I got down before God and asked Him to guide me wherever He would have me go. And He did. I feel sure He'll guide you aright. Jesus is coming soon and we're going to be caught up to meet Him in the air and like the birds in the fall gather together preparing for flight even so, in these last days God is calling His people together from every kindred tongue, nation and denomination, preparing for the coming of the Lord in the air. I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ for It Is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth.

I am,
ONLY A BRANCH IN THE VINE.

DOGS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—With a fine of $5.00 and a threatening of a much more severe penalty if a repetition of the offence be continued in allowing dogs to roam at large on our city streets is the assertion of His Worship Magistrate Langley, as quoted from a recent issue of The Examiner.

There have been many instances appearing in the press of a dog's bravery and loyalty to its master and others that demand a little consideration in regards to its liberty at this season of the year.

In the city of Edinburgh, Scotland, there was erected on one of its principal streets a statue of Greyfriar's "Bobby," a dog that passed the remainder of its life on the grave of its master who was buried in Greyfriar's Church yard in that land a spade is called a spade.

LEAVE IT ALONE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Just why all this controversy about the London St. footbridge on the part of the residents of Waterford street is somewhat of a mystery to the North-enders of East City to whom the footbridge is a needed convenience. These people are certainly making themselves busy when they resort to a Sunday to take the petition around when there are six other days in the week in which to do these things. I should think their Sundays could be spent in a more profitable way.

To children attending the Collegiate and Vocational School, St. Peter's High School, to those whose business takes them across the river not once, but four times a day, it seems extremely unfair that people who have no children to think of, to try and place so many obstacles in the way of the council so that the bridge issue will not materialize.

Residents as well as transients used the Quaker dam all the years it was open to pedestrians so I can not see why there would be any more objectionable characters using the new footbridge as there was the dam.

We of this section, will be perfectly satisfied with a bridge not exceeding the $10,000 set by a bylaw for this purpose as long as it is one safe for children to cross. Those people on the other side of the river think that by requesting a more prepossessing structure that will exceed the $10,000 and in this way to force a second bylaw, asking for more money, which we all know would be defeated at a time like this.

Why not let well enough alone?

FAIR PLAY TO ALL.

Peterborough, Feb. 8.

• Dr. Manion Must Give The Answer

(Brantford Expositor)

THE Peterborough Examiner raises legitimate objection to Dr. R. J. Manion's call for nomination of "National Government" candidates. "Already," that newspaper points out, "there have been ninety-one Conservative candidates named in various ridings....In most of the ridings where nominations have been made, the candidate has been in readiness for weeks or months, and he was nominated as a Conservative in a Conservative convention. Just how all that can be changed, with an election but a few weeks away, is difficult to understand."

In some instances alterations have been arranged, but in the main the difficulty remains a major one. It seems likely that, in a majority of constituencies where standard-bearers have already been selected by Conservative conventions, the candidates will carry on as essentially party men.

In a word, Dr. Manion has left his decision to call for a National Government until much too late—always supposing that it was a call for National Government! Doubt on this latter point is created by a traditionally strong Conservative newspaper. The Ottawa Journal, which says, editorially: "Dr. Manion has not proposed National Government. He has not proposed anything like National Government. Nor like Union Government."

To support this somewhat surprising and slightly abstruse argument, The Journal goes on to quote at length from Dr. Manions original and later amplified statements. The discussion depends largely upon the interpretation given to various qualifying phrases.

Whether he intended it or not, the Conservative Leader certainly left the impression with most people that when he spoke of a "truly national government," he meant "National Government." The Ottawa paper insists that he meant nothing of the sort. That can be settled only by Dr. Manion. Certainly his language was ambiguous and vague in several particulars.

This is unfortunate because the present is no time for vagueness. The remedy, however, rests with Dr. Manion himself. Having proclaimed, in general terms, that he proposes forming a Cabinet inclusive of "the best brains obtainable among our people," regardless of party affiliations, he must be specific. If "a truly national government" does not mean to him what the term usually suggests (and The Ottawa Journal is emphatic in asserting that it does not!), then Dr. Manion must say precisely what he does mean and how an adequately representative all-party personnel could be assured for any cabinet he might be called upon to form.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God....But the natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.—1 Cor., ii, 9-11, 14.

CHILD WAR VICTIMS

THE FIRST four months of the war have done great damage to the English educational system, and we are not yet on the road to its proper repair. In the evacuation areas the schools were for the greater part of the time either closed or open for the greater part of the time either closed or open for briefest kind of instruction. Now they are reopening but often on a two-shift system. In the neutral areas the same conditions have held. In the reception areas also there has often had to be resort to the shift system. We have become so glad to see any kind of schooling re-established that many administrators have become almost reconciled to the idea of continuing with a makeshift system for the rest of the war.—Manchester Guardian.

DELINQUENT PARENTS

IT IS an admitted fact that present-day youth is not getting the home training of two or three generations ago.

Many parents, tragically enough, seem to have neither the time nor the desire to rear their children properly; and the absence of proper home training is a terrible handicap to any child. The public school and the Sunday school can do much, but the absence of parental training largely nullifies their efforts.

No greater or graver task confronts the organized forces of Christianity than to safeguard and promote the sanctity and integrity of the home. Irresponsible parents are, in a very real sense, accessories when their children fall into the toils of the law.—Halifax Herald.

RIGHT PRONUNCIATION

Hore-Belisha: A British statesman. Do not say "hore BELL-lah-uh, bell-ISH-uh" or "bell-EE-shuh."

On January 6, 1940, the dapper young War Secretary, Leslie Hore-Belisha, was dismissed by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Hore-Belisha became War Minister about two years ago. He is a national liberal, vigorous and like by the people.

Hore rhymes with core, store. Belisha is a fair rhyme for Elisha. The first syllable is like the word bell; the second syllable receives the accent and rhymes with dye, lye, eye.

Correct pronunciation:

hore bell-LYE-sha.

(Capitals indicate syllable to be accented.)

Gay Young Blades Were These Football Players Of Another Year

Gay young blades were these football players of another age. They were the C.G.E. trophy winners of 1892, and apparently in those days there wasn't the same amount of worry that is felt today about broken bones, for pads are far from being in evidence. Some grandfathers are in for a lot of joshing from their football-playing grandsons when this picture appears.

Talk On Politics Features Millbrook Y.P.U.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 9—(ENS).—The Christian Citizenship Committee had the weekly meeting of the Young People's Union under its auspices on Monday evening, the convener, Miss Edna McKnight, taking charge for the program.

The theme was "He shall have Dominion," and to illustrate this a wall drawn map of North America was in front of the listeners, while the thought was emphasized that this land should belong to Christ. Assisting the leader with the worship service were Gordon Might, Leitha Edworthy, and Isabelle Aiken, the question and answer method bringing out the needed information, in an impressive manner. "The extent of your receiving will be the limit of your faith," was an axiom that was stressed.

"Present Planks in Political Platforms" was the subject taken up by Mrs. Edmund Ball, the three major parties, Liberal, Conservative and C.C.F., being principally considered. Local interest centres round the leader of the C.C.F., Honorable J. S. Woodsworth, since his wife was a Cavan girl, Miss Lucy Staples, B.A., sister of Sandfield Staples, well-known resident of the township; and his daughter was recently married to Ralph Staples, and is residing on the family homestead west of the village of Cavan.

Highlights in the "planks" considered included the dissolution bombshell; Dr. Manion's National Government appeal; the "pay as you go" policy; national unemployment insurance; provision for the unemployed by farm placement; youth training, etc.; the unfortunate fact that the heat of the election campaign will come during Passion Week, which has caused the Prime Minister to be roundly condemned in his choice of date, March 26. "That the Canada of tomorrow belongs to the youth of today," and that national ideals such as service in place of self-interest, and that co-operation must take the place of the strife of competition, will grow out of the governmental policies of today, were reasons why the topic under discussion had been chosen for the young people's program. The fact most strongly stressed was the necessity of uniting the whole Dominion in the effort to win the war, no matter what sacrifice of party principles or anything else, that may be involved.

The president, B. B. Dawson, took the chair for the business period, which included decision to continue the meetings on Monday evenings; preparations for a social gathering on February 16, when Grace Church Young People will be guests; reception of five new members: Lola Gardiner, Isabelle Aiken, Bill Kerr, Henry Gray, and M. Trick; and announcement that next week's meeting will be under the missionary department, Phyllis Kidd convener.

A recreational period under Earl Edworthy, after prayer had been offered by the president, closed the meeting.

Mrs. C. H. McColgan Is Laid To Rest

NORTH BAY, Feb. 9. — Largely attended by relatives and friends, the funeral of Mrs. Charles H. McColgan, well known and highly respected citizen of North Bay for the past twenty-five years, took place on Monday, February 5, from her residence, 132 Main Street West.

Service was conducted at the Pro-Cathedral of the Assumption with Rev. Charles McColgan officiating. Rev. C. G. Adams assisted as deacon of the Mass. Rev. Father Regan as sub-deacon.

The pall-bearers were W. T. Traynor, Dan Kennedy, E. McCrea, G. M. Simpson, E. Cavanaugh, and A. E. Doddemede.

Mrs. McColgan died suddenly on Friday night, February 2, shortly after she had taken ill at the North Bay Arena while attending the Knights of Columbus carnival. At first she seemed only slightly ill, but within a few minutes it was apparent she was suffering a heart attack. Mr. McColgan and her son Joseph Kelly, who were attending the carnival with her, rushed her to St. Joseph's General Hospital.

Formerly Loretta Devlin, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Devlin, Mrs. McColgan was born at Peterborough. She spent her early years in that city, and married the late W. J. Kelly, superintendent of telephone and telegraph service on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, in Toronto in 1915.

She moved to North Bay with her husband, residing here since that time. Mr. Kelly died in 1923. In 1929 Mrs. Kelly married Charles H. McColgan.

A devout Roman Catholic, she was actively connected during her entire life in North Bay with the activities of the Pro-Cathedral of the Assumption. For years she was an active and energetic member of the Catholic Women's League, taking a leading part in all enterprises of that organization.

Mrs. McColgan also took great interest in the work of St. Joseph's General Hospital Auxiliary, being a member of that body since its beginning. She also associated with the Scollard Hall Guild, as an energetic worker in the interests of North Bay College.

Surviving are her husband, one son Joseph Kelly, living at home; a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. Mozroll of New London, Conn.; three sisters, Mrs. A. Craik of Ottawa, Mrs. H. A. Overand of Detroit, and Miss Marie Devlin of Toronto, and one brother, Joseph Devlin, living in Michigan.

Attending the funeral from out-of-town points were: Rev. Charles McColgan of Hamilton, Rev. Joseph Collins of Trout Creek, Rev. Emmett Regan of Creighton Mines, Mrs. A. Craik of Ottawa, Miss Marie Devlin of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. H. Overand ad Miss Margaret Overand, all of Detroit, Mrs. J. M. Mozroll of New London, Conn., E .R. McColgan of Quyon, Que., Mr. and Mrs. W. McMullen and W. Hough of Sudbury, Mrs. R. A. Morris of Chapleau, Miss Maud Halpin, a cousin, of Toronto, and others.

Business Girls Warned Of Food Fads

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP)—Bachelor girls who crowd lunch counters at noon-time over a sandwich, a soft drink and a cigarette should take a lesson in eating from the men about town, Miss Laura Pepper, director of the consumers' service section of the agriculture department, said in an interview today.

Business girls are not fair to themselves or to the families of the future by skimpy eating, Miss Pepper said, warning young women not to disregard nutrition in their foods.

"Whatever you do, don't be food fadists," she said.

"Watch the men at lunchtime and you will see the majority of them insist on a glass of milk no matter what else they eat."

There are problems for the bachelor girl who does her own cooking. She must guard against being "too tired" to bother about proper cooking.

There are also problems for the small-salaried stenographer who wants to save her money for a summer holiday and cuts down on her food allowance.

"Save on a new hat if you must," Miss Pepper said, "don't save on a lifetime investment — a healthy body."

Breakfast is an essential that most girls omit, the food expert said. "Go without breakfast and no matter how heavily you eat all day you'll never make up for the loss of vitamin needed first thing in the morning."

LAKEFIELD

Bible Reading Christians Are Essential

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9 (ENS). — "Are we Bible reading Christians?" If not, we who live in Canada, have not the excuse that we cannot read. But think of India's vast population of 363 millions, of which only one in ten can be called literate. Such was the question asked of the members of the W.M.S. of the Lakefield United Church at their February meeting held at the home of Mrs. H. J. Sherin.

Mrs. William Whetung very clearly gave the first half of the study on "Higher Education in India."

Mrs. D. H. Charlton presided for the devotional period and announced the theme for the year, "The Missionary Purpose of God," and that for February, "Beginning at Jerusalem."

Mrs. J. McKercher read the Scripture lesson and said: "Acts as the life story of the early church. It tells of the missionary purpose of God, finding expression in a small company of Christian people in one city, Jerusalem. The dynamic power of God's spirit in the lives of these men and women created the Christian church and changed the course of history."

Mrs. W. W. Yale led in the opening prayer.

Mrs. Percy Darling opened the meeting with an appropriate poem, "The Pitcher Bearer," and as president, persided for the business items. It was decided to hold an extra meeting once a month to sew for the bale, while listening to a paper on the study book chapter. The first of such meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Leonard on the evening of Wednesday, February 21. Members are asked to bring cotton patches for a quilt.

A condensed report of the morning and afternoon sessions of the Presbyterial held in St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, on January 23, was given by Mrs. J. A. Porter in the absence of Miss Margaret Sanderson through illness.

Two members of the Mission Band Joan Kelly and Pauline Butcher rendered a pleasing vocal duet. It was greatly appreciated.

The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Frank Darling, after which a pleasant social period was enjoyed and a hearty vote of thanks extended to Mrs. Sherin for her gracious hospitality.

All present were of the opinion that the W.M.S. meetings are a source of spiritual uplift and of friendly intercourse.

GORE'S LANDING.

On Sunday evening the junior choir from Hiawatha crossed the lake to Gore's Landing, where they supplied fine music at the service in the United Church. Rev. T. M. Wesley of Camborne was the speaker and Herb Lander, Camborne, who is the minister at Hiawatha, also assisted in the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Thompson, Hiawatha, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson at Gore's Landing.

COLTS END SCHEDULE WITH HECTIC JUNIOR WIN IN COBOURG

Grab 7-5 Win And Riot In Wild Tussle

In a hectic O.H.A. junior "B" contest last night in Cobourg, the Peterborough Colts concluded their schedule with a 7-5 victory over the Lakeshore lads before an excited crowd of fans. It left the Colts practically even with Oshawa, these two teams now entering junior "B" group playoffs.

The game was featured by a free-for-all fight in the second period, with fans on the ice and police finally breaking it up. And the end of the game, police cleared a path for the locals to their dressing-room as angry fans crowded around, and afterward a number of die-hards were kept away from the door when the visitors came out to get in their cars.

The trouble — which had been brewing because of slashes and bumps—broke out in the second when Bambridge and Wade tangled and drew majors. Other players began to mix it and some fans climbed out on the ice. The young Petes protected themselves well with their sticks till police quickly restored order. It was a lively affair all through, with Cy Whatley handling a tough game on small ice well.

Always Tight

While the score was always close, the Colts had most of the play, showing more speed and better combination. However, the short, narrow rink fooled them repeatedly on rushes as they wound up in corners after getting through the defence. They had a 5-4 lead in the first period and were in front 6-5 going into the third. Play was fast, fairly rough and quite exciting for the most part.

Rochetta, Craig, Vitarelli and Beggs shone for the victors, with the rest going good, also. Coogan and Bird showed fine form for the losers, all of whom put up a stiff battle. Both goalies kicked out a flock of hard close-in tries. The Colts drew seven of the 13 penalties.

Thick And Fast

Rochetta scored early on Craig's pass, but Bird got it back on Coogan's assist. Rochetta got another from Craig, but again Coogan and Bird combined to sew it up. The homesters went ahead briefly when Bird clicked on a solo flight, but Rochetta raced in to rap home a pass from Craig half a minute later. Pammett got one alone for the Weir squad and Nichols added another before Coogan tallied late in the frame. Coogan took Moher's pass to start the second, but the Colts got it back late in the lively fray when Craig counted from Rochetta—this pair teaming up fine all evening. The only marker of the third came late with Pammett netting the disc. The latter turned in some swell hockey in spots, also.

The teams:

Colts: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Beggs and Vitarelli; centre, Rochetta; wings, Craig and Nichols; alternates, Strickland, MacDonald, Wade, Foster, Pammett and Mason.

Cobourg: Goal, Caine; defence, Bambridge and Moher; centre, Bird; wings, Coogan and Zealand; alternates, McNamara, Winters, Cullen, Caine, Hogan and Parkinson.

Referee—Cy Whatley of Peterborough.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

The birds along Windy Avenoo at the Brock arena tonight will be in their element, on account of it's the Fliers and Petes tangling here again this eve. A fan magnet as natural as cubes showing a six and one. Ye oldtime senior "B" and intermediate "A" rivals are back for another ice battle and there'll be chips of frozen aqua and stiffened puckists flying before the finish. In one of these tilts betwixt the R.C.A.F.-ers and the streamlined Petes, it's no place for a player with absorbent ears—as he'll sure hear some sizzling remarks as opposing gladiators pass him! Three fights marked their last meeting, and the fray this p.m. should be about as gentle as Lupe Velez in a temper.

* * * * * *

We like the locals' chances straight, place and show — right across the board—in this season's puck jousts, 'gainst the Airmen. The Buckland bullets have too much speed and scoring punch, we believe, tho' the cagey Fliers are opportunists and strong defensively. They don't score many goals, but they're right on the Petes' heels now in the standing. The homesters must win tonight to clinch top place in the group—and thus get the first playoff game for Peter's borough. So, it should be plenty hot and have the fans screaming like kittens in a turpentine bath most of the time. There might be a few fish laid on the line, too, by the betting boys.

* * * * * *

The Gallant Fliers

Guess the cash customers here pretty well know the Fliers now. Especially Gibson in goal. The pudgy veteran on defence is Pop Irvine, an ex-pro and good blocker. Deryer plays along with him. The fiery Simon Legris is centre, with Baldwin and Gathercol on the wings. Subs include McNab, Higgins (who fought Kingdon last game twice), Harrison, Lemieux and McLeod. Programs will have the numbers. The Petes will be at full strength and the gang should be known thoroughly now to all Peterborough puck followers.

* * * * * *

So that should—like six news hawks at a chimney fire—cover the situation pretty well. It'll be a heated, fast-stepping and rousing sort of struggle every minute with plenty of experienced and fine hockey players on both teams. Smart passing plays, blinding speed at times, hearty bodychecks and enough hard feelings to keep the boys wearing their sticks up around their chins. Our guess is the hot-heeled homesters will cop the duke, but it might be closer than the type to this paper before the final gong echoes through a packed arena. This is the Petes' final fixture before the playoffs — and it should be just as good as any playoff number. Absolutely.

* * * * * *

The Kids Commence

First O.J.H.A. tussle of the season here will be early Monday e'en in the Brock, commencing at 6.30 o'clock—since Brintons will be staging a skating party there afterward. The tilt is between the two local clubs, Grads and St. Peter's—with the Saints playing Norwood the next night. These kids, around 17 and 18 years old, play a lively brand of hockey and should be worth watching, if ya crave action and no pauses for breath. Three teams are in a district rour`-robin series, winner to advance into provincial playdowns.

* * * * * *

There'll be fur a-flyin' in the big Y.W.C.A. gym tonight when three girls' basketball games are staged, all loop fixtures. It's the start of the third round in the Ladies' League and goeth in this order: Westclox vs. Quaker Debs at 6.45, Quaker Aces vs. St. John's at 7.45, and "Y" Gym vs. Orfuns at 8.45. Important contests, and the damsels will be hustling every minute. We'd like to view that last one as the classy Orfuns—who lost but one game, and that to the "Y" gals—tangle with the fast-stepping "Y" Gym crew. We might wager a trifle on the Orfuns this time. Three P.C.I. teams are in Cobourg tonight. Two men's cage games at the Y.M. tomorrow e'en, C.G.E. opening the second half schedule 'gainst the Zephyrs at 7.15, and Quakers meeting the Bees at 8.15.

Those Scrappy Colts

Well, the Colts concluded their O.H.A. junior "B" schedule in Cobourg last night in typical Coltish fashion. With a fine fight in which fans again acted the fools and came swarming over the boards. But the Colts were ready for 'em this time, having been advised to cluck them with the sticks if necessary—as spectators have no business on the ice. The brave folks (who prefer about 10 to 1 odds) backed off when the young Petes started for them with the sticks up—and Pammett caught one across the shoulder. The a.m. paper reported he broke his stick over the head of a goal-judge, but that was quite incorrect. The guy was out on the ice swinging fists—hardly the role of an official—and he refused to scram when warned. But he wasn't hit over the head, nor was the stick busted. The police cleared it up neatly and no harm was done. Wade and Bambridge drawing major penalties.

* * * * * *

A ht lively joust, with the small, narrow Cobourg corral as mysterious to the locals as some of the war-censored news. They'd just get set for a pass or shot inside defence when they found they'd arrived at the end of the rink! It wasn't an unduly rough fray, but a coupla guys of the home team were bumping hard and looking for trouble—which is a grave mistake when playing the Colts, who'd rather fight any day than either eat or play hockey. However, the fans got a fine run for their oughday. Colts led 5-4, 6-5 and 7-5 by periods, with Rochetta, Vitarelli, Craig and Beggs best for the Weir-Wilgar squad; Bird and Coogan starring for the losers. Colts open their playoffs in Oshawa on Monday and back here Friday in a three-in-five series.

Phelan, Storey Hang On In Singles Quest

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—Eight players, including last year's finalists, Rod Phelan and Jack Storey of Toronto, remained in the quest for the men's singles titles in the Ontario Badminton championships today.

Phelan, 1939 champion, swept into the quarter-finals by whipping D. McLean of Stratford 15-4, 15-8 in the second round after drawing a bye in the first. Storey, runner-up last year, took a first-round bye and then defeated D. Steacy of Kingston 15-5, 15-3.

Phelan, who holds the Canadian doubles title with Jack Sibbald of Toronto, teamed with Rolland Smith of Toronto in the men's doubles and defeated Ken Patey of Toronto and Grant Henry of Peterborough 12-15, 15-12, 17-15 in three of the best games of the opening day's play.

Paul and Jim Snyder, formerly of Waterloo but now of Toronto, disposed of A. Nicholson and K. Atkinson of Toronto with an 18-15, 13-5 victory. Jack Nash of London and Doug. Kennedy of Waterloo advanced by batting out a 15-12, 15-6 win over the Kingston team of D. Steacy and R. E. Chown. Nash hooked up with Golin Brown of London last year to win the provincial title.

The women's singles provided the only upsets, two top-ranking players falling to surprise showings in the second round. Evelyn Efinert of Toronto smashed out a hard-fought victory over Mrs. Guy Perodeau of Ottawa in three games, losing the first 8-11 and winning the next two 11-8 and 11-4. Mrs. Perodeau, Ottawa district champion, is seeded third in Ontario.

Betty Snell of Ottawa forced the women's Western Ontario singles champion, Doris Gray, out of the title play into the consolation events by winning the first and third games by identical scores of 116 while losing the second 2-11.

All-England and Ontario titleholder and favorite to withstand any challenge for her provincial crown, Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., Toronto ousted Mrs. D C. Cullen, Niagara Falls district winner, by capturing two second round games 11-2, 11-6.

QAHA Protests Meronek, Demers Signing

MONTREAL, Feb. 9 — (CP). — The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association was notified of the signing by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League of Smiley Meronek and Tony Demer, it was announced last night at a meeting of the Q.A.H.A..

The meeting decided to inform the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that the Quebec body had not been notified of the signings, nor had permission been granted to the players as stipulated in the C.A.H.A.-N.H.L. agreement on players signing professional contracts after January 1.

Meronek and Demers both played with teams under the jurisdiction of the Q.A.H.A. Meronek with Verdun Maple Leafs of the Quebec Senior League, and Demers with Valleyfield Braves of the Provincial League.

The meeting also decided to notify the Ontario Hockey Association that Joe Catlin, Wingham, recently cut adrift by Cornwall Flyers, of the Quebec Senior League, is still under the jurisdiction of the Q.A.H.A. and has not been granted a release. Catlin joined St. Catharines of the O.H.A. this week.

PHIL HERGESHEIMER
Chicago Black Hawks

Phil Hergesheimer

A varied and highly successful minor league puck career preceded the National league appearance of Phil Hergesheimer in the uniform of Chicago Black Hawks, as one of the cogs in Paul Thompson's rebuilding program on the Hawk machine. Right wing he was purchased from Cleveland Barons of the International league last summer after leading the minor loop in goal-scoring with the very neat total of 34. His teammate and centre on the International-American league's most dangerous line, Les Cunningham, was brought up at the same time. Both are blondes and somewhat the same in appearance if you're watching them in action from far back. Phil has been dubbed "Hergie" to get around his typewriter-torturing handle. He was born at Winnipeg and will celebrate birthday No. 26 this July 9. Played with the Falcons of his native city for a couple of seasons before signing a contract with Boston Cubs, then the Bruins' farm team. In his second season with the Cubs, he shifted to London of the International loop, the next to Minneapolis in the American Association, where he finished second in the race for individual scoring honors. His last two seasons before this one were put in at Cleveland, and in both he was top man at banging in goals.

Speedway Driver Trains Like Boxer Says Shaw

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 9. — (AP)—Not much muscular development is required to drive one of the new deluxe models being turned out by automobile manufacturers these days, but take it from Wilbur Shaw, it's a different matter piloting a stripped down speedster at more than 100 miles an hour.

The racing driver, like the prize fighter, must be in top physical condition to stand the punishment of his profession, said the king of automobile racers.

"You know race drives have to train for their sport just like any other professional athlete," he explained.

Shaw, who won the 500-mile speed classic at Indianapolis in 1937 and again last year, declared no sport puts more stress on physical fitness and stamina.

"At Indianapolis," he said, "we drive 4½ hours at tremendous speeds with a second to relax. We take terrific physical—and mental—punishment and the man who isn't in shape just doesn't last."

Shaw added that the principal requirement of a race driver is stamina, and to get it, the speedway dare devils have to train the year around. Stomach muscles, eyes, hands, wrists and forearms are strained most in the race.

Trenton Fliers Close Schedule Here Tonight With The Petes

The Petes will be at full strength for their O.H.A. intermediate "A" game with Trenton Fliers here tonight. It's the locals' final home game of the schedule, and has a bearing on the standing—a win for the Petes cinching first place for them and giving them first home game in the playoffs. A loss will give the Airmen a chance of making first place. All the Buckland gang will be ready, including Harding, Ellis, Crowe, F. Jopling, Gardner, Burton, Tompkins, Kingdon, Starr, Heal, Coughlin, Blewett and J. Jopling. A big crowd of fans should be on deck to see a highly exciting and tight tussle between these old rivals.

With no injuries reported, the R.C.A.F. squad will likely line up like this: Goal, Gibson; defence, Deryer and Irvine; centre, Legris; wings, Baldwin and Gathercol; alternates, McNab, Higgins, McLeod, Harrison and Lemieux. Goalie Gibson is always worth watching, while Pop Irvine is an ex-pro, Legris a firebrand forward, and Higgins a hot-headed blue-line guardian. It promises to be a heated contest.

RANGERS AND DETROIT WHIP TORONTO LEAFS AND CANADIENS

Rangers Defeat Leafs 2-1 In Wild Session

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

New York Rangers, careening through the National Hockey League schedule, are willing to disregard time, place and the possibility of getting an adversary fighting mad.

Extending their lead to three points, the Rangers defeated the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 before 11,560 customers at New York last night in as wild a session as Madison Square Garden fans have seen all season. Ott Heller strode up from the defence to score the winning goal, his fourth of the season, with three minutes to play. Up to that time the Rangers risked a defeat by arousing the Leafs in a display of relentless battling by fisticuffs and fierce checking.

Ott Heller

The Rangers tactics were in complete disregard of the fact that the same teams meet again to-morrow night at Toronto.

There was no scoring in the first period, but there were three fights. Bob Davidson of Toronto and Captain Art Coulter of the Rangers put on the first but weren't penalized; Bingo Kampman of the Leafs and Kilby MacDonald of the home team fought and drew minor sentences; Murph Chamberlain of Toronto and Bryan Hextall received 10-minute misconduct terms after rolling to the ice swinging fists.

In the second the Rangers' up-the-ice method of killing penalties brought them the first goal while Coulter was off, Neil Colville taking the puck from Lex Chisholm's stick in the Toronto area and closing in to beat Goalie Turk Broda handily.

Just 21 seconds had passed in the third when Davidson raced down to sink the tying score. Between that time and the winning goal Hextall and Davidson waged a bitter fight that resulted in major penalties.

Hawks Win 3-2

Chicago and Detroit, in pursuit of the Maple Leafs, improved their positions with victories. The Black Hawks moved to within six points of Toronto by defeating New York Americans 3-2 at Chicago, while the Red Wings remained just two points farther back by a 2-1 victory over the last-place Canadiens at Montreal.

Goals by Captain Earl Seibert in the first period and Bob Carse in the second put the Hawks out far enough that they never were caught but they had a couple of scares. Charlie Conacher sank a terrific shot from the blue-line to narrow the margin to 2-1 early in the third and, after Phil Hergesheimer had scored for Chicago, Eddie Shore fired a solo goal for the Americans in the final minute.

Charlie Conacher

Everything happened to the Canadiens again. Smiley Meronek, the amateur star they signed the previous day, was unable to play because of influenza. Tony Demers, another former amateur whom they called from the Montreal ranks just yesterday, was able to play but the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association announced it would protest that it had not been informed, in line with the agreement with the N.H.L. that Meronek and Demers were being recruited.

Eddie Wares put Detroit ahead in the second period and Joe Fisher made the score 2-0 midway through the third. When Hector (Toe) Blake potted the Canadiens' goal it was too late to do much about the flying Red Wings, who ran their string of no defeats to eight games.

Petes' Star Goal-tender

When the Trenton Fliers tackle the Petes here tonight in an important O.H.A. contest, they will have a tough time parking any pucks behind Goalie Ray Harding (ABOVE) of the home squad. Harding is again playing a great game in the local net this season.

Havelock Edges Lakefield 2-1 In School Tilt

HAVELOCK, Feb. 9.—(ENS).—A close 2 to 1 decision over Lakefield High school Thursday night at Norwood arena, gave the Havelock scholars their first win of the current Trent Valley Interscholastic League schedule. The local students lost out twice to Norwood and once to Lakefield in three previous fixtures. The two squads were fairly well matched, with Havelock having just enough edge on the play to pull out a win.

Fifteen penalties were well distributed by Referee Aboud, the locals serving eight of these.

From a face-off in the visitors' territory, Yeo combined with Jamieson for the opening goal, two minutes after the initial session began. Havelock enjoyed a little the better of the play in this period, but failed to increase their one goal margin. Four penalties were evenly divided. Loyst and Hoffman drawing minors, while Stewart and K. Pollock each got five-minutes for fighting.

Taking the initiative in the middle frame, Lakefield pressed hard from the first and after many unsuccessful stabs, Stewart finally notched the tieing goal, about the six minute mark. Eight minutes later Hoffman completed a nice rush with a pass-out to Jamieson in front of the Lakefield cage, the latter banging it home to put the locals ahead once more. Scoreless hockey for the following twenty-six minutes left Havelock still out on top by the 2-1 count at the end of the game.

Clarke of Lakefield was the lone offernder in the middle session, but during the third stanza no less than ten penalties were handed out. A two-minute sentence to Millage of the visitors was upped to a major, when he took a swing at Referee Aboud. There was a loud and long dispute near the finish, when Stewart clamored for a penalty shot as he took a tumble going in on the Havelock cage.

The work of both goalies was outstanding. Curry, a new recruit in the Havelock cage showed to advantage. K. Pollock and Hoffman, defense duo, and Jamieson, Yeo, and Hamilton were good for the winners. Stewart, Loyst, Tanner, Clarke and Nicholls were most effective for the visitors.

The teams:

Lakefield—Goal, Birch; defense, Loyst, Stewart; centre, Clarke; wings, Tanner, Crowe; alternates, Earnshaw, Carveth, Nicholls, Millage, Jackman.

Havelock—Goal, Curry; defense, K. Pollock, Hoffman; centre, Jamieson; wings, Buchanan, Yeo; alternates, Hubble, Hamilton, C. Pollock, T. Pollock.

Referee—J. Aboud, Havelock.

Ten British Wartime Soccer Groups Resume Schedules On Saturday

LONDON, Feb. 9—(CP Cable). — After three weeks of idleness for practically all of the clubs making up the United Kingdom's 10 wartime groups, soccer officials hope play will be resumed Saturday with a full list of fixtures. Schedules were disrupted by the most severe weather in nearly half a century.

To add zest to the week-end program, new competitions will be started by the clubs which operated in South "A" and South "B" groups. The teams have been divided into "C" and "D" divisions with first and second league clubs grouped in the former and third divisions squads in "D."

Although matches in the "A" and "B" tournaments have not been completed, postponed games will be played as soon as possible in midweek. Arsenal clinched the championship in "A" division a few weeks ago and Queen's Park Rangers made almost sure of top place in "B" by defeating Southampton 4-1 yesterday.

Scotland's two divisions, hardest hit of all by the blizzards and bitter weather, resume play with Rangers and Falkirk setting the pace. The Light Blues, pacemakers in the West, go to Paisley tomorrow for a game with St. Mirren and Falkirk, powerful east leader, is away to King's Park.

Wolverhampton Wanderers and West Bromwich Albion appear to be the strongest teams in the Midland group of English clubs. The Wolves with a point advantage over their rivals should have no difficulty overcoming Walsall, but the Albion may encounter tougher going at Northampton.

In the northeast, Newcastle United leads the field, but Bury and Preston North End, share first place in the northwest with 17 points each. Strong Lancashire and district teams make up the western division, with Everton and the neighboring Liverpool teams battling at the top with honors even.

Groupings in the new "C" and "D" divisions follow:

Group "C"—Arsenal, Brantford, Charlton Athletic, Chelsea, Fulham, Portsmouth, Southampton, Millwall, West Ham United, Tottenham Hotspur.

Group "D".—Brighton, Crystal Palace, Norwich City, Clapton Orient, Queen's Park Rangers, Southend United, Reading, Bournemouth, Watford, Aldershot.

Fancy Rookies To Bud Out In 1940 Games

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP).—The National Baseball League has some fancy rookies coming up this spring according to the league's annual "green book" devoted to the exploits of the circuit's new-comers.

Red Tramback, for instance, the most valuable player in the Western Association in 1939, is about to make his major league debut with New York Giants. He won 21 games as a pitcher last season and played 87 games in the outfield, batting .332.

The Giants also will have the services of two others who were declared the most valuable in their league last season—Mickey Witek from the International and Babe Young from the Southern Association.

Pittsburg Pirates have the tallest man in baseball, Pitcher Johnny (Whiz) Gee, six feet nine inches and a 20-game pitcher for Syracuse in the International in 1939. Bob Elliott and Maurice Van Robays are said to be ready to step into regular outfield berths.

"Pee Wee" Reese, the Louisville kid who stole the show in the Little World series last fall, is all set to take the short-stop job away from Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Conscription

ment meant railway amalgamation.

Dr. Manion denied both suggestions. On the railway question, his own opposition and that of his party was the same as it had been, opposition to unification.

Full Co-operation.

"I advocated full co-operation under a non-political board which would have the power to see that co-operation was actually entered into," he said, "and, at the same time, there must be protection of the men whose employment might be interfered with through co-operative measures.

"That, in brief, was and is the policy I advocated throughout on railway matters and it is the only practicable policy that has been advocated. That is, it could make great savings for both roads and would, at the same time, not be unpopular with the people of Canada generally, so long as it cared justly and fairly for the men whose employment might be affected through co-operative measures."

Dr. Manion claimed that "in every section of Canada where conscription is unpopular," it was being rumored that National government meant conscription as Union government did in 1917.

"I note that even Mr. King in his broadcast last night made an implied reference to the same thing," he said.

"No one knows better than Mr. King my position against conscription because he was present in the House of March 30 last when I made my position quite clear. In that speech I very frankly opposed conscription, as I do now, on the grounds among other things that it is unnecessary under present-day conditions of warfare (it has proved true since this war began); that in the last war its chief result was national disunity and misunderstanding, while it raised very few men for our armies; and, finally, that the first duty of a public man is to hold this country together, to maintain national unity and understanding, not to disrupt the country and to cause serious disharmony and disunity, resulting in the impairment of our war effort at this very critical time in the life of our nation, when an enthusiastic war effort is so essential.

"While opposing conscription then, as I do now, I advocated complete co-operation, short of conscription, beside Britain in case of war."

Mr. Manion reiterated that a National Government would be composed of outstanding leaders, regardless of politics. Such a government would be set up with the prime object of carrying out Canada's war effort "efficiently and economically—something which has not been done in the past."

Blocked Air Schools

Dr. Manion charged Prime Minister King with having made "the supreme betrayal"—not only of Britain but also of Canadian industry and Canadian workers—when Britain was refused the right to establish her own air training schools in Canada two years ago.

"King made his refusal at a time when Britain was facing a life and death struggle for existence," Dr. Manion said.

Dr. Manion flayed the Prime Minister time and again over that event, dismissing as a "useless gesture" the Prime Minister's counter-offer to train British pilots in Canadian establishments at that time, in 1937 or 1938. The simple truth, he said, was that Canada had no such establishments then, practically no fighting planes, and no teaching air personnel.

Speaking to a party rally in a theatre in this Eastern Ontario town, Dr. Manion was joined on the platform by member of the Ontario Legislature and candidates in the approaching Federal election, headed by Hon. H. A. Stewart, member for Leeds in the parliament just dissolved.

A Costly Snub.

Dr. Manion contended that the Prime Minister had refused Britain a training school here for British pilots, maintained by Britain, "at a time when Britain felt herself helpless to train her own flyers, because of congested population, lack of open spaces, short flying days due to fogs and many accidents among airmen due to those causes. Above all, at a time when it was known that Germany had an overwhelming superiority in numbers of airships and when it was the conviction of all thoughtful people that the next war would be ushered in by mass attacks of thousands of German planes on London and other vulnerable points in Britain."

"If Britain's reasonable request" had been granted, he said, British flying schools would have been established in Canada and Canada could have trained its own airmen at "comparatively little expense," instead of, as now, embarking on what Mr. King calls the "commonwealth air training plan," which is really almost totally Canadian, at a cost to the Dominion, according to Mr. King's own figures, of $350,000,000.

By his refusal, said Dr. Manion, Mr. King had prevented the building up in Canada with British money of a great airplane industry. "His refusal was so churlish that British representatives, who had come here in 1936 or sooner with $100,000,000 worth of airplane orders to be given to Canadian industry, went back home and there began the building up of the huge industry that has since been established in the British Isles."

This was done in spite of the fear that in time of war German air attacks might wreck such plants, he added.

On top of that, huge plane orders were being filled today for Britain and France in the United States, thousands of which might have been built in Canada.

Thousands Needed Jobs.

Dr. Manion said this refusal by the Prime Minister came when 500,000 Canadian workers were looking for jobs.

"Many thousands of these men owe to the King government nothing but Christian forgiveness for this stupid refusal to stand beside Britain against Hitler's ghastly threats, as well as for that government's failure in peacetime, from 1935 on, to do anything practical or worthwhile to correct Canadian conditions in which over 1,000,000 men, women and children were on relief

That is the great betrayal of Mr. King, he charged, and the Prime Minister had been equally unfaithful to the Canadian people in other ways

"For example, I accuse Mr. King of having repudiated his public pledges of a lifetime when he gagged parliament on Jan 25—when he insulted the representatives of the people, in both Senate and House of Commons, by calling them to Ottawa at great expense to the country, and to the members themselves and then, without giving them an accounting of his stewardship, peremptorily sending them back home like school boys in disgrace.

"By this act he imitated Hitler in the latter's treatment of the German parliament. Freedom of speech, particularly in parliament, is the very cornerstone of our liberties. We are to-day fighting for liberty in Europe while Mr. King destroys it at home.

That German Visit

"I am almost compelled to believe that he must have imbibed some of the spirit of Hitler when he made that well-publicized visit to the Fuehrer in Berlin a couple of years ago.

"I accuse Mr. King in his war effort as in his peacetime inactivity, of being unfaithful to the trust reposed in him by the Canadian people.

"Millions of dollars have been wasted, dependents of soldiers were ungratefully ignored, the soldiers themselves were for months ill-cad, military equipment both for our soldiers and for the defenec of our shores was non-existent, voluntary recruiting was discouraged, profiteering and patronage were permitted.

'Indeed, the whole war effort was mishandled, resulting in discontent and dissatisfaction throughout Canada."

Dr. Manion charged Mr. King with "a tricky, unscrupulous act in torpedoing parliament," preventing members from obtaining information as was their right, yet responsible government was an "hereditary thing" with Mr. King, his ancestors having "fought and run for it."

Referring to the one-day session last month, Dr. Manion said Mr. King's "unsportsmanlike conduct" was emphasized by the fact that he himself made a prepared speech while other members were "gagged."

Upsetting Poetry

"I know it was a prepared speech" he said "because he quoted two pages from Abraham Lincoln, and he also quoted 70 lines of poetry, that took nearly the whole of the session. I have heard speakers quote a single verse or perhaps two but never before have I heard a man read 14 verses of five lines in a single speech.

"I shall never forget it if I live to be 1,000, the look of amazement and wonder on the faces of his own friends as he went on, and on."

"The issue in this election is the conduct of the Mackenzie King government in peace and war," he said.

The prime minister had said national unity was the issue.

"Every decent loyal Canadian, French speaking or English, is all for unity. How can that be an issue when there is nobody on the other side?"

The record of the government was one of inefficiency, incompetence, patronage and profiteering. When war broke out it had no defences, no equipment, and apparently no plans to get any, despite warnings from the defence association.

Defence Minister Rogers had referred to him as the first casualty in this war of nerves, Dr. Manion recalled, but from Mr. Rogers' "dismal record of failure as labor minister and still more dismal record as defence minister," he felt Mr. Rogers must be a "casualty of the last war and hasn't got over it."

Dr. Manion said T. A. Kidd, Conservative candidate in Kingston, Mr. Rogers' riding, would put Rogers "back where he belongs—teaching."

"I hate to see a good teacher become a poor minister," he added. (Mr. Rogers was professor of economics at Queens University before entering parliament in 1935.)

James Clark ruled that Col. Drew might describe legislation before the House as Fascist in tendency but he could not so describe legislation already passed.

The changes in the bill, the Jurors' Amendant Act, were recommended by F. H. Barlow, Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario, in an interim report on the overhauling of Ontario judicial procedure.

One recommended change is not being made. The Government does not propose to abolish inspection of public institutions—a task now performed by the grand jury. A clause in the bill provides for the selection of juries from regular jury panels to carry out this inspection.

Practice and procedure in Ontario courts was substantially the same as it was in 1881, said Mr. Conant. Conditions today required new methods and other reforms in the administration of justice. Most British jurisdictions had abolished grand juries. The three Prairie Provinces never had them. Quebec got along well without them.

Twelve men on a county jury was a waste and an anomaly.

Less Than Jury Cost

"It not infrequently happens that the amount involved in a county court jury trial is less than the cost of the jury," said Mr. Conant. "A litigant may have a trial before a judge and jury in the county court on an action involving $125, the maximum jurisdiction of division courts in action of court being limited to $120. It is estimated that the actual cost of a county court civil action trial with a jury is in exess of $300."

Col. Drew said he Barlow report, copies of which had been furnished the House members, said the recommendations in it had the approval of a committee of the benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

"Is is not correct that the Attorney General had a letter saying that statement is incorrect and that they do no agree with the recommendations," asked Col. Drew.

Mr. Conant said that some members of the committee might have expressed themselves in favor of the report, but it was incorrect to say the Benchers concurred. It seemed to him there had been some communication in the matter.

The report should be corrected and the letter tabled in the House, said Col. Drew, pressing for its production. Mr. Conant said he would table it.

The important issue was the protection of people who might be accused, said Col. Drew. While Mr. Conant cited the abolition of the grand jury in Great Britain, that jurisdiction still retained a form of preliminary hearing to decide whether committal was warranted.

If the bill were adopted, however, the Attorney-General or an officer named by him could take an indictment directly before an Assize Court jury.

Gossip to Decide.

"When there is no intervening protection you easily reach the place where the gossip of the countryside may decide whether there is to be a prosecution or not," said Col. Drew. He urged reference the bill to the Legal Bills Committee. It was an affront to the law profession to refuse it the opportunity to make representations before a committee.

The Legislature had no jurisdiction to legislate in criminal matters and could not provide another pre-trial procedure, said Mr. Conant. The British Parliament could so legislate.

The House had already passed this session legislation as iniquitous as any statute in Hitler's Germany, said Col. Drew. (His reference was to the Succession Duty Act.)

"This form of legislation is carrying this Government towards a form of Fascism in its legislation," he said.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn, absent from the House for two days working on his budget address, was expected back to-day and may join in the debate.

First reading was given yesterday to a bill to extend to passenger bus and motor transport drivers the privilege of voting in advance polls at municipal elections. Another bill given first reading would enable a municipality to sue the person or corporation responsible for injury to a police officer while the latter was on duty, action to be for wages and medical bills.

terprises and voluntary withdrawal of many German business men was reported already under way, the Germans alleging that Turkish obstructions made further trade impossible.

Measures against German interests were seen by foreign observers as logical upon recalling Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu's recent statement that "Turkey is not neutral but only non-belligerent for the moment."

(In Berlin, German sources said confiscation of the Krupp shipyards on the Golden Horn, an inlet of the strategic Bosphorus Straits was likely to result in nothing more serious than diplomatic words and more emphatic press comments.)

Declining to explain the seizure, official Turkish quarters remarked only that "spring is coming."

Many observers have expressed fear that spring will bring a German or Russian thrust into the Balkans to seize the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, which link the Black Sea and the Mediterranean.

In this connection, attention was riveted to-day on British and French troop concentrations in the Near East, with a statement in Paris by the French Minister of Colonies that France's colonial army could be swelled to 2,000,000 men if necessary. Turks assert that the French and British now have some 500,000 men under arms in the Near East.

An article in the Turkish press, apparently inspired, said: "The Allies have counted on the possibility of a Russian attack across the Balkans toward the Dardanelles. Allied and Turkish armies will give adequate support to the defenders."

but Mr. Howe warned the electors they should inquire what policy such a government would have on railways, labor and other domestic questions.

No better men than those now in the Government or drafted to head its various war organizations would be available to Dr. Manion for his National Government, he said. The present government had engaged for important tasks prominent men who were life-long Conservatives as well as Liberals or citizens of other parties.

Mr. Howe, who makes his second campaign speech in Pembroke, Ont., at a Liberal convention tomorrow, dealt briefly with politics and devoted himself almost exclusively with the economic side of Canada's war effort.

Work For All Near.

War orders laced in Canada already exceeded $100,000,000 and the time was close when every man and woman in Canada would have work. Because of the time necessary to plan and equip for new production, actual placing of war orders in Canada had been slow but Canadian plants would soon be building ships and airplanes and other materials in huge quantities.

Paramount issue in the campaign was "the selection of the government best able to prosecute Canada's war effort wth the maximum degree of efficiency,' Mr. Howe said. "The best experience for government is experience in government."

Economically Canada was well equipped for war. In one of the greatest essentials— transportation —no country was better equipped. Lack of such facilities had hampered the Russian advance on Finland and accounted fo rfailure of Germans to press its attack on the western front.

Many of those now criticising alleged Canadian unpreparedness were those who in recent years demanded railway amalgamation and abandonment of trackage, the Minister said. The government had resisted such demands and he prophesied that this surplus of transportation would now prove Canada's salvation in her war effort.

National harbors were bearing double the commerce of pre-war days and without congestion. The Trans-Canada Air Lines had contributed 40 fully-equipped airports, built within the last four years and available for immediate use in the British commonwealth air training plan

Agriculture, mining, lumbering, and fisheries were all ready to meet the emergency and were doing their share in supplying necessities of war.

Increases Criticized.

Mr. Howe recalled the increases asked by the Government in the past four years in appropriations for coast defence. Those who now criticized the Government for unpreparedness had criticized such appropriations.

The likelihood of war had been foreseen, he said, and both the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts were now well defended by naval and air units because of the Government's foresight.

The Government met one challenge to its leadership when four Cabinet ministers from Quebec staked their political futures on resistance "to attempts from Mr. Duplessis (former Premier of Quebec) to lead the people of Quebec away from Federal leadership in the war," Mr. Howe said.

A second challenge had come from Ontario, Mr. Howe said, "and this time the entire Government is meeting the challenge by an appeal to all the people of Canada."

Canadian agriculture is in a position to make its maximum contribution, Mr. Howe said. When war came a bumper wheat crop was being harvested and the volume of wheat in store was largest in history. Mining and fisheries were prepared to make their full contribution.

The War Supply Board, composed of a staff of more than 200 specialists, placed orders for more than $60,000,000 worth of war needs and its predecessor, the Defence Purchasing Board, organized last July for $41,000,000.

Mr. Howe gave the following distribution of expenditures by the War Supply Board since it took over from the Defence Purchasing Board November 1: Clothing, $3,700,000; foodstuffs, $2,900,000; ships, $30,000,000; defence projects, $6,300,000; aircraft, $13,300,000, and miscellaneous, $4,000,000.

The Minister said that unless international security can be restored there is little hope for freedom or happiness and that Canadians were determined to fight for a lasting peace.

"We face the greatest effort in the life of our nation. If we are to succeed in that effort you must choose a government of responsibility and competence on March 26. I have no doubt or your choice."

Two Brothers Sentenced To Reformatory

Jack Woodcock, 22, eighteen months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory on three charges of breaking and entering and three months definite and three months indefinite on two counts of theft, all the sentences to run concurrently.

James Woodcock, 18, twelve months definite and three months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory for attempted breaking and entering.

Wesley Zinston, 20, nine months definite and three months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory for breaking and entering.

These were the sentences handed out today to three local youths after pleas of guilty had been entered to a number of charges.

Jack Woodcock, who was undefended, had previously entered pleas of guilty to breaking and entering the Charlotte Street Mason Groceteria and the Arcade Store, George street, and committing theft and to breaking and entering Jospeh Detcher's garage and service station with intent to commit theft. This morning he pleaded guilty to two new charges one of stealing a number of drinking cups and a flashlight from the car of Alex. Sollitt and the theft of a bottle of liquor from the automobile of H. Mason.

Crown Attorney McElderry produced Woodcock's previous record and informed the magistrate that goods to the value of $100 had been stolen from the groceteria and a similar amount from the Arcade store.

Woodcock asked the court for leniency, but admitted previous convictions and was sentenced to the reformatory on all five counts.

Charge Amended

James Woodcock, younger brother of Jack Woodcock, had previously pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Detcher garage. He pleaded guilty to an amended charge of attempting to break and enter the place. In his behalf T. J. Carley, K.C., said that Woodcock was very anxious to enlist and he asked the court to be as lenient as possible so that he might be enabled to join the army. "I had no work and I have been waiting around until they called for recruits here," Woodcock said.

Crown Attorney McElderry produced the accused's record.

"It is painful to read a record like that in connection with a young man," said Magistrate Langley, in scanning the document which showed a number of previous convictions for car theft and breaking an entering, including two reformatory sentences.

Magistrate Langley sentenced Woodcock to a year definite and three months indefinite.

For Wesley Zinston, who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Mason's Groceteria, W. J. Arthur Fair pointed out that his client had had no previous record and he was in trouble on this occasion because he had got into bad company.

"Nine months definite and three months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory," said Magistrate Langley, and that was that.

Relief Rolls Down 909; Cost $10,481

With 909 fewer persons on the January relief list, the city's expenditure in that department began the new year with a gain to the taxpayer of more than $6,000.

The cost of relief here last month was $10,481.36, as compared with $16,840.09 for the first month of 1939, and the number of persons on relief had backed up from 2,286 to 1,377.

Per capita cost was up from $7.36 to $7.61, partly due perhaps to some increases in the general prices of foods and other necessities.

The number of families on relief last month was 294, as compared with 510 a year ago; their dependents were 982 as against 1,660; number of single men was down from 59 to 44; and the single women were 57 in each month.

The provisions bill last month was $4,931.59, and a year ago it was $8,236.48; milk had decreased from $1,506.50 to $663.25; clothing from $3,144.45 to $2,214.22; rent was down also from $2,463.05 to $1,755.09; and doctors received $481.95 as compared with $800.10 in the first month as hcarged, the first month of 1939.

The actual cost of relief last month as charged against the city was estimated by A. G. Metheral, relief officer, at $2,900.87. The rebate expected from the Government was estimated at $7,903.13 and from the Ontario Medical Association $418.95, a total of $8,385.08.

The committee decided to buy 1,000 cords slab-wood from Peterborough Lumber Company at $2.50 a cord. Two years ago a corresponding order was for 2,500 cords.

"The time is coming when we won't need any relief staff," Alderman Wilson said, but Alderman Dutton shook his head slowly, saying, "Not in your time or mine. It is something I think we shall always have with us."

Poultry Show Gets Clean Bill

There is no menace to health because the annual poultry show is held in the Market Hall, the Board of Health decided Thursday.

The matter came up because of a letter sent the City Council by Carley and Standish on behalf of Market Clerk James Brown, who complained that the show had been staged in the Market Hall without consulting him and suggested that in view of the fact that food was sold in the market on Saturdays it might be injurious to health to have the show in the same place.

The complaint had been referred to the Board of Health by the property committee and at Thursday's meeting Dr. W. J. Gordon, acting M.O.H., expressed the opinion that there was no menace to health in the conditions described, and Sanitary Inspector MacPherson pointed out that the Market Hall was fumigated and cleaned every Friday anyway.

Accordingly it was decided to send the communication back to the property committee, with the Board's opinion that they considered the poultry show no menace to health added.

City's Raw Milk Is Clean, Good Quality

That 98 per cent of the milk arriving at local pasteurization plants is clean and of good quality was the reassuring report made to the Board of Health by Sanitary Inspector MacPherson in regard to January milk tests.

His report stated that milk found to contain visible dirt, 880 pounds in all was rejected. This was approximately 2 per cent of the milk received. "Similiarly," says the report, "in checking the bacterial content of the milk by means of the reduction test no samples were graded below No. 2. In short, this means that approximately 98 per cent of the milk received at our pasteurizing plants is clean and of good quality."

"Several cans of milk arrived at one dairy, frozen solid. It was impossible to take the tests necessary to determine the milk's fitness so it was deemed unfit and rejected."

The inspector found it necessary to prohibit one producer from shipping milk for city bottle trade due to the fact that out of seven tests made of the milk four times visible dirt was found.

"Of the farms visited this month," notes the report, 'the one thing worthy of note is the fact that now more care and attention is being given to the herds. In a great number of cases cows are being clipped not only once or twice as required by this department but as often as they begin to appear shaggy. This fact is borne out in the excellent report which I have been pleased to make on the cleanliness of the milk received at our dairies."

Lakefield Man Is Charged In Port Hope

PORT HOPE, Feb. 9.—Judgment on a charge of careless driving preferred against Donald Crozier of Lakefield, was reserved till Monday by Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell when the case was heard in court Thursday. The charge was laid following a collision on Ontario Street bridge between a car driven by Crozier and H. Bird on the afternoon of January 29.

Mr. Bird said he was travelling south on Ontario Street and a short distance north of the bridge observed a car proceeding onto the bridge at the south end and from the west side of the street, apparently with the intention of turning north. He presumed it would stop but the car continued a short distance further onto the bridge and the collision occurred when he attempted to avoid Crozier. Icy condition of the road was said to have contributed to the accident.

Wilson Moves Against Salary Boost

Salaries of city employees now receiving more than $1,600 are not to be increased this year, according to a recommendation of the committee of the whole council last night with Mayor Hamilton presiding.

The motion was proposed by Alderman Wilson and seconded by Alderman McIntyre, and was supported by all the other members of the council excepting Alderman Gordon who said he was voting against it.

"Are we all making salary advances every year?" Alderman Wilson asked: "I'm not, because I can't afford it. Let them all stand as they are for this year, and they can apply again next year if they like. we've got a war on our hands."

Earlier in the discussion, Alderman Bradburn said: "Remember, it's the taxpayers' money you're paying out."

At a previous stage of the discussion which was mainly concerned with the drafting of a schedule of salaries, minimum and maximum with fixed yearly increases, the application of the firemen for an increase in their wages was sent back to the Fire, Water and Light committee for further information, on Alderman Dutton's motion seconded by Alderman Roy.

"There's no reason for putting this matter off," said Alderman Stocker. "It's only prolonging the agony. They're not doing too badly."

Scale A Little Low

Alderman Gordon remarked that on the whole the firemen's scale of wages was "a little low."

Alderman Dutton said he wouldn't consider the whole amount of 15 per cent increase as sought by the firemen, and Alderman Wilson commented: "I think they're doing pretty well as they are."

Mayor Hamilton said he was not aware of any general increase in wages throughout the country.

Alderman Dutton suggested in his motion that Alderman McIntyre's committee reconsider as soon as possible the petition from the Fire Department. His motion asked for "further information."

Alderman McIntyre pointed out that the deputation from the firemen had already provided the council with all the departmental information available, and he also passed around a comparative statement regarding fire departments in other Ontario cities, with the number of men, salaries and so on.

Proposed Schedule

The committee of the whole council was instructed last Monday night to consider a stamp meter, telephone exchange for the city hall and salary schedule for future effect, and Alderman Dutton added pensions and group insurance to the list.

The proposed purchase of a stamp meter and installation of a central telephone switch board for al lthe offices at the city hall were tossed out with brief discussion, but the fest of the long session was allotted to the salary classifications. In the end the committee suspended their deliberation of this question.

Alderman Dutton has been particularly interested in the salary schedule plan which was not under consideration for this but as an established policy, which could be hanted in special circumstances which might be considered as warranting temporary cessation of yearly increases for employees who had not reached the prescribed limits.

The schedule had been prepared by City Treasurer Shaver. It recommended that the appointment of any officer or employee who is assigned to a position for which the minimum salary at the commencement is more than $1,600 be made by bylaw, grouped in Class A.

Mr. Shaver emphasized the point that the schedule was dealing with positions and not with persons.

The other classifications extended from Class B down to the lowest, Class L.

Some of them may be quoted as examples of the plan. Class B, minimum salary $1,600; annual increase $100 to the maximum of $2,000.

Class C—minimum $1,400; annual increase of $100 to $1,800.

Class D—minimum $1,300; annual increase $100 to the maximum of $1,700.

And so on down to Class G—minimum $1,000; annual increase $100 to $1,400.

Class I—minimum $800; annual increase $80; maximum $1,200.

Other intermediate classes finally ended with Class L—minimum $600; annual increase $60; maximum $900.

The committee prepared a tentative placement of employees in these classifications, but left further action for some other night.

Kinsmen Honor Morley Smith

Morley Smith, vice president of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club was honored by the members of the club at the dinner held on Thursday evening. Mr. Smith who has been a most valuable worker in the local club has accepted a position in Toronto. A presentation was made by Vern Selkirk the president and other members added their thanks to Mr. Smith for his untiring energies in club affairs.

The speaker of the evening, A. R. Kennedy, was introduced by James Wharry. Mr. Kennedy discussed a number of cases of people who had suffered from insanity in various degrees, all of them having been encountered in the course of reporting and preparing articles for publication. The feeling of authorities with whom he had come in contact was that there was much remaining which was baffling in seeking to determine what was going on in the human mind. There had been improvements made in the way a plea of insanity was handled in a criminal action. Instead of defence and prosecution bringing experts to argue the case before a jury that matter was settled now without argument and confusion. A vote of thanks was moved to the speaker by Lorne Bateman.

Salvation Army Objective Set At $10,000

Organization of the Salvation Army's campaign in Peterborough to raise $10,000 chiefly for its war work was begun Thursday afternoon at a meeting of citizens in the Bridgeway (Braund) Building, Charlotte street.

The Army is preparing for a nation-wide appeal from March 11 to 20 to collect a fund of $1,000,000, and has decided to concentrate its several annual appeals in this drive. Linked with the financing of its assistance for the Canadian soldiers will be the usual Self-denial and Harvest Festival collections. In addition to its social agencies and evangelistic work the Salvation Army has huts in every place in Canada where soldiers are located, and has also set up agencies throughout the country for visiting soldiers' dependents. Other auxiliary services are being planned for possible later developments.

The Salvation Army is represented by officers from its Canadian Corps with the Canadian troops in England, who, with others to be appointed later will go to France with the Canadian troops. An interesting detail of the Thursday meeting was the account given by Lieut.-Colonel Hicks-Lyne of the Salvation Army's service to his men at Passchendaele. This same service will be extended in the present war where it left off in 1918.

Holland Speeds Battle Against The Zuider Zee

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 9—(CP). — Twenty years ago Holland started a war, It was admittedly an imperialistic war—against the water of the Zuider Zee.

Dutch engineers believed they could sever this body of water from the North Sea by a huge dike. With that accomplished they would embank four large undersea areas, pump out the water, bring to light more than 800 square miles of fertile land, and thus increase the agricultural area of the Netherlands by 10 per cent, the total area by seven per cent.

Plans were carefully outlined in 1919. A year later materials and financial resources had ben mobilized. The war began. The most optimistic prediction was that it would last 40 years.

One of the things that had convinced the Dutch of their need for more cultivatable land was the occurence of serious food shortages during the First Great War.

Today Europe is aflame again, but Holland has not abated operations against its formidable enemy. Up to last September the following victories had been chalked up against the Zuider Zee:

The 19-mile long Afsluitdijk (partitioning dike) had been completed after a 12-year fight. The Zuider Zee existed no more. In its place was an inland lake named after its tributary, the Ijssel River.

The first polder (dike-surrounded area) had been pumped dry. Named after the adjoining island of Wieringen, it contained 48,000 acres of fertile soil. Villages had arisen on its flat expanses, red-roofed farmhouses had been built. Farmers had sown their first crops in 1933. Three hundred farmers had applied for the 29 available holdings in 1939.

The $15,000,000 estimated as necessary for creating the Northeast Polder had been obtained. An offensive had been launched.

Dike Completed

A month and a day after Germany invaded Poland, the clay dike between the island of Urk and the town of Lemmer was completed.

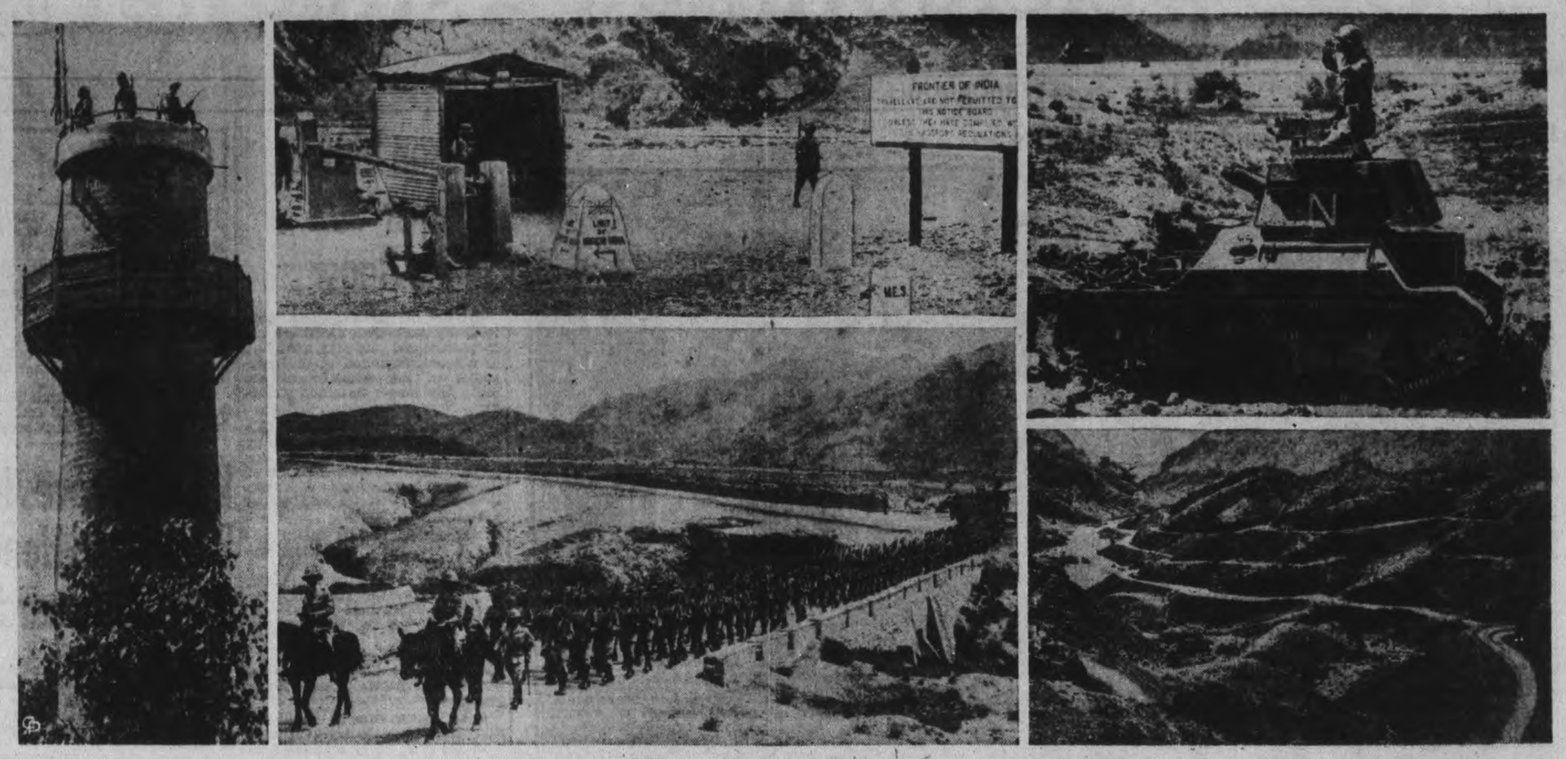
In less than a year the 20-mile dike stretching eastward from Urk is to be completed. Only three gaps remain. Pumping stations have been completed. As soon as the impoldering been effected, pumps will churn, millions of gallons will be ejected into Ijssel Lake and the Northeast Polder—132,000 acres of the newest land in the world—will come into existence.

Before this unpopulated area has been completely subjugated by agrarian members of Holland's constantly increasing populace, work Polder. Then the 230,000-acre Southwill start on the 140,000 Southwest east Polder will be brought to light.

When Holland's war is over — in about 1960 — it will have made homes for some 300,000 Dutch people. It will have created 6,000 economic holdings. It will have noticeably increased the output of wheat, rye and barley that are so necessary for a nation that eats two meals of bread daily.

Yet not one foreign border will have been crossed, not one gun will have been fired, not one soldier will have been slaughtered on the field of battle to accomplish it.

Guardians Of Famed Khyber Pass Alert To Forestall Any Attempted Invasion



With the ever-present threat of Soviet ambitions in Iran, Afghanistan and British India, Britain is strengthening defences in Northern and Northwestern India, while Iran and Afghanistan are reported to have declared partial mobilization. Manned night and day this lookout tower, LEFT, has been erected at Fort Shadkadar, north of the important city of Peshawar. Guardians of the northwest frontier, native and British troops are shown, BOTTOM CENTRE, as they march through the Khyber Pass. The roads to the northwest border are alive with columns such as these as Britain strengthens her defences there to forestall any Soviet attempt at a drive through Afghanistan and into British India. Where British India ends and Afghanistan begins in the rocky hills of the Khyber Pass, this well defined frontier, TOP CENTRE, separates the two countries. Light tanks, UPPER RIGHT, are used to patrol the frontier in the region of the pass. Some idea of the trouble an invading army would meet is conveyed by this view, LOWER RIGHT, along the rocky Khyber. This remarkable serpentine road winds through the narrow defile of the pass for 33 miles from Fort Jamrud to Dacca. A railroad also runs through the pass but cannot be seen here. Completed in 1925 it is a marvel in engineering. It is 26½ miles long with 34 tunnels and 92 bridges and culverts. Each station is a miniature fort.

RadioCensorship Is Put Upon Honor System

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 — (CP).—Radio censorship during the Dominion elections campaign will be on the "honor system," according to a modification of the wartime broadcasting code announced Wednesday by Lieut.-Col. R. P. Landry, Radio representative on the censorship coordination committee.

Instead of submitting texts of broadcast political speeches to regional censors, the speakers and managers of the radio stations "will be required of their own accord to observe the Defence of Canada regulations."

Regulations barring broadcasts from the public platform remain in effect, with all political broadcasting confined to radio studios.

The modification, Colonel Landry announced, was made at "the unanimous request of all political parties."

Speeches broadcast on free time over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will be the responsibility of the party leaders in so far as observance of the Defence of Canada regulations is concerned.

Nothing For The Enemy

"The objects of censorship," the announcement said, "are to guard against communication of information useful to the enemy, the making of statements intended or likely to cause disaffection to His Majesty or to interfere with the success of His Majesty's forces, the spreading of reports and statements intended or likely to prejudice recruiting, training, discipline or administration of His Majesty's forces, and the spreading of reports or statements prejudicial to the safety of the state or the efficient prosecution of the war.

"Constant vigilance must be maintained to avoid communication of any information useful and beneficial to the enemy, and paragraphs 16 and 39 (referring to statements prejudicial to the war effort) or the defence of Canada regulations will apply without exception during the election campaign."

Texts of broadcast political speeches must be kept on file at each station, according to the regulations of the C.B.C. and this must be observed, the radio censors said.

Referring to the ban on broadcasts from public platforms, the censor said that "it had been pointed out that at public meetings statements and utterances by persons in the audience cannot be checked."

400 mph Nazi Fighter Has Pilot In Nose

LONDON, Feb. 9—(CP). — The News-Chronicle's aviation correspondent discussed details of two new German figh ing planes capable of 400 and 380 miles an hour respectively.

One is the Focke Wulf FW-198, a single seater attack ship in which the pilot sits forward of the engine. The airscrew pushes instead of pulling the machine through the air. The tailplane and rudders are carried on two tapering booms extending back from the wings.

"The pilot, with everything behind him, is given an unobstructed view forward," the correspondent said. "The disadvantage is that he has no engine to shield him from enemy fire. With several cannon and machine guns, the FW-198 has a reputed top speed of about 400 m.p.h."

The second plane is the Dornier Do-29, with twin engines. It follows the general lines of the Do-17, with bomber-reconnaissance type which has proved such easy prey to the British eight-gun fighters, the correspondent said. Top speed is said to be about 380 m.p.h.

Hull's Stand

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — (AP).—State Secretary Cordell Hull wrote the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that the State Department did not consider the continuance of diplomatic relations with Russia to be "wholly contingent" upon fulfilment by the Soviet government of pledges made in the Litvinoff agreements which preceded official recognition in 1933.

BeaverburnRescuersThinkTorpedo Meant For Tanker-Missed By Yards

A PORT IN THE SOUTH OF ENGLAND, Feb. 9 — (CP Cable).—Seventy-six survivors of the torpedoed Canadian Pacific freighter Beaverburn, mostly clothed scantily but smiling through a three-day stubble of beard, were brought to this port in safety today, insisting they had not had their "wind up" at any time.

The men said the 9,874-ton Beaverburn sank quickly but that time was left for the launching of all the boats and for getting off all the crew except a cook, who was lost.

Members of the crew fell over like tenpins when the blast of the torpedo struck the ship, but none were in any way seriously injured.

No one knew positively how the lone fatality, Cook Alf Hockley, an Englishman, died. He was seen on the deck as the ship sank and it was believed he leaped overboard and was drowned.

Bert Coxen of Montreal, one of four Canadians aboard, was most anxious that "the missus should know I'm fine." The other Canadiens were Albert Kelly of Ottawa, Jack Foley of Montreal, and Eddie Chambers of Wynyards, Sask.

Captain Tom Jones, a rotund, bald little Welshman, had little to say about the sinking of the ship. He would not even admit he got a ducking when he was the last man overboard and had to jump.

Missed Tanker.

The Beaverburn survivors were picked up and brought here by a tanker whose crew believed the torpedo was meant for their ship, for it "missed our stern by only a couple of yards."

When the survivors landed most of them were clad in overalls. A couple who were bathing when the torpedo shattered the freighter escaped wearing towels in the sarong manner and with blankets over their shoulders.

A dingy clothing store here promptly became the most popular place in town, after which the men went to the Seamen's Hospital for a feed of ham and eggs and Cornish pastry, which is a small meat and rice pie.

The hospital is in the charge of two former residents of Canada, Rev. T. H. Elkington and his wife, who used to work in the Seamen's Mission in Vancouver.

After the blast the lost cook Hockley, directed Cook's Bay John Burns how to save his life.

"Take your time, you'll be all right," the cook told the boy.

Burns, 20, was so affected by the loss of Hockley that he did not eat for three days.

The next quota period is from March 1 to November 30, in which time Canada has been allotted 13,200 and other countries 14,900.

New Building Totals $73,550

The new building under construction at the plant of the Canadian General Electric Company gave January a decided increase in the value of building permits issued during the month as compared with the first month of last year.

Total permits reported for January by City Engineer Parsons amounted to $73,250, as compared with $6,109.50 for the corresponding month in 1939.

The C.C.E. contract was for $65,000, and the Imperial Oil Company is spending $4,000 on improvements to the service station at the northwest corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets, and miscellaneous items include alterations under way at the Bank of Montreal where the Simcoe street entrance is being replaced with a new front.

Norwood Puckists Win Out On Round

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9—(ENS)—Though the locals managed to hold Norwood to a two-all tie in the second of their home and home series last night, the 6-4 trimming which the visitors handed the locals in the first game gave them the round.

There was plenty of action and both teams gave a good exhibition of hockey with net minder R. Metcalfe taking the honors for the locals. He saved several close in shots made by Johnston and Russeau when they tore in to find him without protection. The locals took an early two-goal lead trying hard to stretch it out enough to give them the round but while they were fighting for the extra marker Godden slapped one in early in the second frame on an end-to-end rush. Hamilton gave the visitors their only other counter also in the second. For the locals Dunk and Fraser teamed up well together but failed to click on the combination plays. Storie, who was one of the fastest men on the ice, got the homesters opening tally and Fraser notched the second.

The teams:

Norwood—Goal, Bruce Parcels; defence, E. Jamieson and F. Hamilton; centre, Lorne Johnston; wings, S. Russeau and H. Rogers; alternates: T. Pollock, G. Longhurst, B. Hubble, W. Cole.

Campbellford—Goal, R. Metcalfe; defence, P. Battman and J. Storie; centre, K. Dunk; wings, G. Fraser and G. Milne; alternates: C. Runions, M. Stover, J. Smith, J. Coxwell, J. Little; sub goalie, S. Martin.

Referee, Fred Free.

Grove Ties Juniors

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9.—(ENS). — The Grove 1st and Lakefield Juniors played an exhibition game here at the rink Thursday night to a 4-all tie. This is the last game for the juniors before their playoffs with Lindsay next week. The play was very fast, with the juniors' defence being a little stronger. Grove led in the scoring till in the third when Lakefield began pressing to cut down the two-goal lead, and it wasn't tied up until 20 seconds from the finish. Morrison, the injured goalie, was back in the nets and played a fine game.

The juniors opened the scoring early in the first when Calhoun counted on a pass from Connelly. Grove tied it up three minutes later, Harris getting the goal after Frewer carried it past the defence, drawing Morrison out of the nets. The Grove took the lead when St. Remy banged in Vaughan's rebound. Vaughan put the Grove 2 up when he joined with Frewer to score. The juniors ended the scoring in the first when Connelly picked a loose puck up at the blue line to score. It ended 3-2 for Grove.

No scoring was done in the second frame, both goalie kicking them out from all angles. The juniors received three penalties, Giardino for slashing and Chappell for arguing with the referee. Connelly and Roberts were given a rest when they started roughing it up in the corner.

The third saw the juniors trying to tie it up. Chappell got the gate for slashing and while he was away Roberts broke away, taking a shot which slipped in under Morrison's knee. The Grove failed to score again the rest of the game Connelly turned the light on when he went in after his own rebound and pushed it under Herold's feet. With only twenty seconds of the game left, Stewart circled the rink to score and tie it up.

They played ten minutes overtime but no scoring was done by either side.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

The teams:

Grove— Goal, Herold; defence, Foster, Carson; centre, Frewer; wings, Roberts, Harris; subs, St. Remy, Langmuir, Potts, Vaughan, Morris.

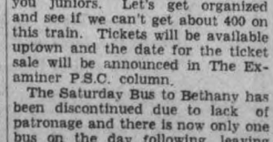
PLAYOFFS.

The Junior playoff starts in Lindsay Tuesday, Feb. 13, and at home Thursday, Feb. 15. Two games with goals to count.



The boys all managed to get back from Huntsville in one piece but the same can't be said for a lot of their equipment. Karl Duffus, Jack Holland and Andy Rutter were unfortunate enough to break a ski in the downhill, and George Cook is suffering from a slightly damaged skull. In spite of the accidents, however, they made a pretty fair showing and Huntsville certainly knows now that Peterborough has an active ski club, which fact apparently isn't mutual or shall we say hasn't been in years past. Jack Holland and Otto Laderach were 7th and 10th in the jumping, and Otto finished 7th in the cross country for a 5th place in the combined. The accidents took care of the boys in the downhill, but in the slalom Karl ended up in 5th place and George in 16th; the others somewhat farther down the line. Spike Matthews broke his harness in the cross country, but in the other three events came in, in either fourth or fifth place, which is a very creditable showing considering the junior age limit is 18 and Spike has several years yet in junior competition. Well done everyone.

Hold On Everybody.

Here comes that Jun'or Jamboree and the date is all set. Saturday, February 17, is the day and a Giant Junior Ski Train to Bethany is the event. The train will leave at 10.10 a.m. on Saturday morning next for Bethany. Bring lots of warm clothing and a good lunch and, Oh, yes, your skiis, of course. We are counting on all you adults to come along also, as this is your chance to see the youngsters ski. The Chalet will be well heated and extra food may be had out there at reasonable cost. The trip will be well supervised by a large number of senior members and it is also hoped that the parents wil lco-operate by leaving Saturday open and coming along as well. Two events in the junior club championships will be run off at Bethany, namely, the downhill and slalom races. A notice of this event is being sent around to all the schools inviting every child in the city who has a pair of skiis to come. However, any child under ten years of age must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. How about it, all you juniors. Let's get organized and see if we can't get about 400 on this train. Tickets will be available uptown and the date for the ticket sale will be announced in The Examiner P.S.C. column.

The Saturday Bus to Bethany has been discontinued due to lack of patronage and there is now only one bus on the day following, leaving at 10.00 a.m. However, the bus driver will run the second bus at 1.30 or the Saturday bus if someone will take the responsibility of rounding up at least 20 fares.

Executive Meeting

This Monday night, February 12. All officers please keep this night open. Inmportant business.

Ballots for the Telemarker '-Better Names Contest" will definitely be at the Chalet this week-end. We have a lot in already and expect a good many more. Names may be mailed to The Editor, 582 Douglas Avenue, City.

One of our very promising members suffered a serious injury out at Nassau about ten days ago and will be laid up with a bad ankle for some little time. The accident in our opinion was avoidable and resulted from almost foolhardiness on the part of a not too highly experienced skier. This is the sort of thing that puts the damper on skiing and will serve as a good lesson to everyone with wild ideas about starting to learn how to skii from the top of the ladder rather than building on a good foundation. Tough luck, old man, but you were warned not to do it.

Murray St. Seniors Defeat George St.

Murray Street Seniors, defending Church League champions, moved up atop the heap again last night at All Saints' Rink with a 4-0 daub over George Street. 18,000 Expected To See Louis Work On Godoy

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 — (AP). — Along about 10.30 to-night, unless all are wrong, Joe Louis will be ready to sit down to his first fried chicken in six weeks, still heavyweight champion of the world.

That gives him half an hour, or approximately seven rounds of his scheduled 15-round title go with Arturo Godoy, the Chilean challenger.

Of course, Arturo could make fistic history by taking the crown away from the dusky one-man wrecking crew, but so could the statue of Billie Penn dive off the top of Philadelphia's City Hall into the Delaware River. That's about as much chance as the boys are giving the rough, otugh Godoy. The oddslayers still were holding Louis a 1 to 7 favorite.

Godoy's best chance appeared to be in staying in a crouch and crowding in close. As soon as Arturo comes out of the shell to take a peek at what's happening, there's going to be a slight explosion—right on the end of his chin.

Some 18,000 to 19,000 fans will pay about $110,000 to see the Brown Bomber roll out his artillery at Madison Square Garden.

Of this, Louis is to receive 40 per cent., less taxes, or about $40,000, thereby boosting his ring earnings to more than $1,700,000. Godoy figures to pick up about $17,500.

Church Bantams Wind Up Schedule

The Church Loop bantam schedule at All Saints' Rink wound up on snowy ice last night with All Saints climbing into a first-place tie with Knox by virtue of a 3-1 win over George Street. They playoff on Monday, loser meeting Trinity in semi-finals. All Saints earned the nod with teamplay and man-power. Hill getting two goals and Chambers one, as Dundas scored for the losers. Lyons showed up well defensively with Jones being a good scoring threat. The teams:

All Saints — Goal, Panter; defence, Edgar, Shadgett; centre, McDougall; wings Jones, Baxter; subs, Chambers, Hill, Mason, Padgett, Outram, Menzies.

George Street — Goal, Griffin; defence, Lyons, Kingdon; centre, Carter; wings, Dundas, Parr.

Referee—D. Charlton.

Separate School Beats St. Andrew's

HASTINGS, Feb. 9—(ENS)—Taking revenge for a previous overwhelming defeat, the Separate School boys took St. Andrew's Presbyterian boys to task at Riverside arena last night when the latter team went down to a 6 to 1 defeat. Murray Fife, who did all the scoring against Seperate School in the previous game, was held down as the winners applied new tactics in an effort to make good their previous lost game. Skipper, Stafford McKenty for the winners piloted his team into the win column with little effort as attack after attack was made against his miniature Maginot Line only to be turned back. Paul Pettierew, Jim Herrington and Vince Herrington, Separate School snipers, each scored two goals. Oliver for losers scored their only goal.

Need For Knitting Is Still Urgent

Although thousands of women started knitting as soon as war was declared it took the arrival of wintery blasts to make thousands more realize how much the fighting forces needed the articles that came from the clicking needles

The need is still urgent say Canadian Red Cross officials and here are some of the things recommended by this organization just in case there are still women who would like to do their bit and don't know what is needed

Women are urged to follow all knitting instructions carefully; to use the right size needles the correct weight of wool and always to try the number of stitches to the inch to have the tension correct.

Do you favor the Army, the Air Force or the Navy? This is what each force needs:

Army — Socks may be of any suitable colour. The new regulation length is 16 inches maximum from top of cuff to under heel. Sweaters are acceptable in all suitable colours.

Wristlets, four inches long, minimum. Scarves, 12 inches wide and 46 inches long. Helmets and mitts, half mitts and rifle mitts. Ribbing should be done loosely on half mitts and rifle mitts to ensure perfect circulation in fingers. Khaki is the preferred colour for all these articles.

Air Force— The airmen need socks of the regular size in light blue, blue heather or black. Sweaters, air force blue or grey. Scarves, same length as those for the army, in air force blue or grey. Aero caps, gloves and wristlets, all air force blue.

Navy — Seamens stockings and scarves are needed badly. The stockings, which are worn over regular socks, are from 18½ inches to 26 inches from top of cuff to under heel; grey; should be loosely ribbed at top, for the stockings are drawn up over the trousers.

Scarves, in navy blue or grey, 14 inches wide and 66 inches to 72 inches long. These scarves are wrapped around the sailors' bodies and are sometimes put over their heads to act as helmets. Ordinary socks for the sailors are needed in grey. Sweaters, navy blue or grey.

Wristlets for all forces should be cast on or off very loosely. All sweaters are sleeveless. Socks should be washed and pressed or washed and stretched. It is advisable to attach sizes in socks and sweaters.

In 1921-22 These Girls Made a Real Team

In 1921-22 these girls were quite dashing in their hockey uniforms, but the passage of close to two decades has brought a great change to the style of things worn on the ice, as a trip to Brock Street Arena any skating night will prove. These girls were the Campbellford hockey team of 1921-22.

The prizes were presented by the president, R. Henndry, who also extended a welcome to the strangers present to be back to the Valentine dance next Thusday. Refreshments were served with the new hostesses, Mrs. S. Pooley and Mrs. A. McKinlay. A few dances ended a pleasant evening's enjoyment.

Miss Jean Trotter Is Hostess To Bible Class

The Junior Volunteer Bible Class of Knox United Church held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Jean Trotter, Reid street with Miss Betty Jory, president, in the chair. Miss Gladys Brierley read the scripture lesson, and the roll call was answered by each member with a prayer from the Chain of Prayers.

Continuing the prayer theme, a brief address entitled "What Is Prayer?" was given by the teacher of the class, Mrs. Lewis. An appropriate poem was read by Mrs. Lewis between verses of the hymn, "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee", sung by Miss Wilma Lockie, Miss Dorothy Mitchell and Miss Betty Jory. The sacred hymn, "Softly and Tenderly" was sung by a quartet, Miss Wanda Lockie, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Margaret Gertly and Miss Betty Watson.

An interesting quiz contest was conducted by the class teacher. Announcement was made of a skating party to be held by the class two weeks from Wednesday.

Mrs. E. Wand Is W.M.S. Group Hostess

Mrs. E. Wand was hostess to Group E of the George Street W.M.S. for a meeting on Thursday afternoon. After the regular business session an interesting program was given. Mrs. A. J. Throop spoke of the life and work of Frances Willard, the great temperance leader, and organizer of many moral reforms. She was the great social service worker in the interests of women, and is remembered for her Christ-like life. Her motto was "Working for the home, God, and every land."

A helpful summary of missionary work in general, and the work required from those in office, was given by Mrs. H. Rehill. She remarked that "God's spirit works in us to work for missions. Our interest in the work can be aroused by reading missionary literature; interesting others in the work; by regular attendance; helping when called upon, and by being willing to share our money and education to the advantage of the work."

Mrs. E. Wand, accompanied by Mrs. C. Renaud, sang the beautiful hymn "God Is Love."

At the close of the meeting a social half hour was spent.

St. Andrew's W.A. Has Gratifying Annual Report

A gratifying annua lreport showing receipts of $1753.03 was read by Mrs. Victor Hamilton at the monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Church Women's Association, which was held in the church parlors with Mrs. Paige Rowell, the president, in the chair for the business period. It was decided to hold the annual meeting in December in future.

An interesting paper on Red Cross activities was presented by Mrs. L. M. Brooks. Dr. E. W. Young spoke briefly on the importance of Lenten observance, and expressed his wish for the continued success of the Association.

Two teas were arranged, one to be held on February 16 at the home and Mrs. A. Moir, 190 Brock street, and one to be held at the home of Miss Elizabeth Scott, 109 Hunter street, East, on March 7.

A delightful musical program, arranged by Mrs. L. M. Brooks and Mrs. Ford Turner, with Mrs. Turner presiding, included solos by Miss Cora Charlton and Miss Gwen Bond; duets by Miss Margaret and Miss Olga Westbye, with Gwen Craw at the piano, and piano solos by Miss Eleanor Taylor.

Tea was served by Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Turner's group.

65,000 Ontario Women Enlist With V.R.C.W.

More than 65,000 Ontario women have volunteered for emergency service with the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women, it was revealed after a checkup in Toronto on Thursday at a meeting of the Provincial executive. The meeting was the first since registrations were completed. It was pointed out that registration was still open, and that those women who had not enrolled with the V.R.C.W. to date might do so by applying to Suite 501, Montreal Building, Toronto.

There is a possibility that registration in Peterborough may reopen in the spring to give women who were out of the city during the last registration period, or who did not understand the value of such a system at the time, an opportunity to add their names to the list of Ontario women who are anxious to give of whatever talents for service they have.

Miss Margaret Hyndman, director of organization, reported that 1,000 girls were now spending three hours a week tabulating registrations, that another 1,000 would be added to this number next week, and that it was expected that 3,000 girls would be engaged in this work shortly. Only $2,000 has been spent on the process of securing registrations throughout the Dominion. A finance committee to campaign for funds to the extent of $1,000 outside Toronto, but in Ontario, was appointed, with Mrs. J. A. Carroll of Brampton as convener.

WHITE IN BRIEF

By ALICE ALDEN

MADELEINE CARROLL never fails to do well by herself, as this recent picture again proves. Her pretty face and figure justify the brief playsuit others of us will leave to tots (including the wistful-eyed Carolyn Lee), or will top with a matching skirt or beach coat. It's vanity, not modesty, which accounts for the knee or slightly-below trend in play togs; most of us need a little coverage on the tennis court and on the sands. One fashion pointer all of us can take from this twin pose, though, is that white is a leading resort choice from morning until after midnight. Frequently, it's set off with patriotic red and blue, if in nothing more than nail lacquer and sun glasses. And it's about the loveliest possible contrast for a golden tan.

We Noticed

....That girls of to-day are larger framed and are shaped differently than their great-grandmothers—that was what Charleston museum officials were forced to conclude when they set about displaying dresses of the decade from 1860 to 1870.

....The original old dresses would not fit mannikins so new and smaller mannikins had to be made at the museum for 23 costumes of the Confederate era.

....Incidentally, most of the costumes for the exhibition were obtained from three Northern institutions—because Southern women of the period and afterwards either wore out their clothes or cut them up for children's dresses, so comparatively few of them have survived.

Do You Know?

To crack walnuts so that perfect halves are obtained for decorating, stand the walnut on the flat end and strike it lightly with a hammer on the sharp point.

For a cough: Slice an onion, put a layer sliced thin in a bowl with a spoonful of sugar. Let it stand twenty-four hours, when a thick syrup will have formed. Take often.

To clean and polish silver, sprinkle a little carbonate of soda into a damp cloth and rub thoroughly, then wipe well with a dry chamois.

SPARKLING ASSETS

By ALICE ALDEN

IS YOUR jewelry becoming? Some faces and hands are flattered by the gleam of gold, others by silver. The bright stone brings out the beauty of certain shades of eyes and hair and skin, the pale stone doing equally well by other shades. The only way to find out is to try on whatever you're considering purchasing, whether it's a dollar clip which amuses you or a precious piece of decor you'll love wearing indefinitely. Often the advice of another is invaluable; you may get a suggestion you wouldn't think of in a lifetime. The beautiful evening accents pictured are in line with the current vogue for pale stones. The gold, flexible bracelet is banked by diamonds and studded with one gigantic pink zircon, the clip with rose tourmalines. Diamonds are also set in the rosebud earrings. Try a stunning clip, such as the one shown, on your large felt hat or your fur jacket for spring.

Turn Old Containers Into Gay Terrariums

Use Anything of Clear Glass

Everywhere lovely glass gardens are welcome—on window ledge, desk and table. And you can make one easily in any clear glass container with a cover.

For a large display of your favorite plants, you may prefer the type of terrarium you can buy. The one we've illustrated is planted with fascinating cacti, the sempervivum "hen and chickens."

But no end to the charming things you can do with containers you may have on hand. Lovely is a candy jar planted with moss, ivy, twigs of yellow-flowering forsythia. A butter-dish is colorful with coleus of purple and green, dainty maidenhair fern.

To prepare containers for planting, put in an inch or so of pebbles for drainage, add soil. When growing cacti, use more sand than soil.

You can as easily create landscapes too—in both terrariums and dish gardens. Tiny pools are made in toy dishes, halves of rubber balls. Quaint plank bridges are made from match sticks.

Our 32-page booklet gives detailed directions for making all kinds of lovely terrariums and dish gardens—including orchid and gardenia terrariums. Tells how to grow herbs in window kitchen-gardens.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of GLASS GARDENS AND NOVELTY INDOOR GARDENS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Choir Of Old Charlotte Street Church Over 40 Years Ago

Some grown man with children of his own is going to look at this picture to see his own mother when she was a young woman, dressed at the height of fashion in those days. For this picture was taken more than 40 years ago and shows the choir of the old Charlotte Street Methodist Church at the time Rev. D. O. Crossley was minister. FRONT ROW: LEFT to RIGHT, Emma H. Stephens, organist and choirmaster; W. Fred Skitch, Charles Parks, Vina Belleghem and Florence Hall. SECOND ROW, LEFT to RIGHT, Mrs. A. A. Davis, Charlotte Coe, William Elliott, Annie Pedlar, Tena Elliott, Eva Stevens and George Harvey. THIRD ROW, LEFT to RIGHT, Lottie Batten, Mrs. George W. Hall, Mrs. Thomas Barrie, Martha Stevens, Mrs. John Lightfoot, Etta Thomas and Maude Brisbin. BACK ROW LEFT to RIGHT, A. L. Davis, Ernie Parsons, Thomas Barrie and S. H. Mitchell.

Enquiry Column

Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: You seem to have everything I ask for, from paint remover to recipes for Diabetics—but do you have a hand lotion that really heals sore chapped hands? Mine really bleed and need healing lotion. Thanks for that grand Banana Cream Pie—we are having a run on it this month. Best of luck to you.—Maggie G.

ANSWER: Your letters are always welcome and pleasant. Currently I am using the following hand lotion—it is inexpensive and smooths out our rough hands overnight.

Aunt Nett's Hand Lotion.

One-quarter gill cologne, ¼ gill glycerine, ¼ gill alcohol, ¼ gill of witch hazel, 1-16 gram. tragacanth. Dissolve the tragacanth in 2 tablespoons soft warm water (melted filtered snow will do). Then add the remaining ingredients in a pint jar, seal well and shake until thoroughly mixed. We put this in a patented dispenser which was empty and use only about 3 pushes of the plunger for each application. Personally, I think the necessary rubbing brings up the circulation and helps half as much as the lotion—don't forget that half dried hands chap much faster than dry ones. The extra rubbing your hands get from drying them well brings up the circulation too, and keeps the skin healthier. Write whenever we can help.

DOROTHY DIX

Mothers Often Set Too Lofty Heights for Their Children and Thus Do Them More Harm Than Good—Should Be Allowed to Do the Things for Which They Are Best Fitted.

One of the strangest, sweetest and most tragic things in the world is the provision of nature that enables mothers to see their children as they wish them to be and not as they are. Never by any chance do they hatch out an ugly duckling. Their broods are all swans. To the casual eye the red and wrinkled little infant in the crook of its mother's arm may hardly look human, but to the mother it is the noblest work of God. She sees in it ineffable beauty and intelligence, and spends the days of her convalescence trying to decide whether he shall be President or commander-in-chief of the army.

It is because mothers perceive future Miss Americas in their snub-nosed, toothy, spindly little daughters; trust magnates and riters of best sellers and Ministers Plenipotentiary and Ambassadors Ex- who barely scrape through grammar school that keeps the population of the world going. Otherwise most of us would have been drowned at birth, like so many unpromising pups. Nobody but Mother would have thought us worth rearing. And that is what makes us want both to laugh and cry when we listen to mothers boasting about their offspring.

If mothers' overestimation of the talents of their children is sometimes a goad that drives them on to success, it is just as often the handicap that makes them failures. For mother has made her children think more highly of themselves than they deserve and they are not willing to do the work for which their ability fitted them or to occupy the humble seats that they rate. And so they make up the army of the frustrated who are filled with bitterness and unhappiness of their mothers' making.

A young woman, whose mother suffers from an obsession of having brought forth a family of world-beaters, writes:

"My mother is one of the best, most devoted and self-sacrificing mothers who ever lived; the kind of a mother who would die for her children and has slaved all of their lives for them. But she is wrecking us by her delusion that we are geniuses, when we are just plain, common people without anything extraordinary about us.

"My older sister, for instance, is just a nice, pretty girl; nobody you would notice twice in a crowd; but from her infancy up Mother has done nothing but rave about her beauty, her charm, her glamor, and she has actually believed that there was no ancient or modern siren who could compare with her.

"Naturally, Mother was sure that such a raving beauty would make a brilliant match, a millionaire at least, with high social connections. So she drove away all the nice young chaps on a salary who would have given sister a good time, and sister was pretty lonely sitting around home with nobody but Mother to tell her how beautiful she was until she got acquainted with a young butcher and married him and told mother about it afterward. He is a grand husband, makes a fine living and sister is as happy as you please, but mother never has forgiven her and she is always wailing about sister throwing all that beauty away on a mere tradesman.

"And there is my brother, a nice, industrious boy who never did much at school, but he is a wizard with all sorts of machinery and his burning desire is to be an automobile mechanic and have a garage of his own. But mother is determined to make a lawyer of him, as she sees in him nothing less than the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

"And she is forcing me to go through college, although she can't afford it and has to make terrible sacrifices to do it, because she is convinced I am intellectual when I am nothing of the sort. I am domestic. To me a cookbook is more fascinating reading than any novel. I get more of a kick out of looking at new household gadgets than I do out of a fashion show or a jeweler's display. I want to go to a domestic science school and develop my only talent, which is for cooking, and my ambition is to have my own little hotel some time. But nothing doing. Mother can't see me as any one but Pearl Buck or Ida Tarbell.

Poor girl and poor mother. Poor mother, who must see her dreams for children unfulfilled, and poor children, who must be sacrificed to a mother's delusion. For there can be no doubt that mother blindness is responsible for many blighted lives. Mothers wil not see their children as they are, and so they are denied the help that they might have been given. They were not trained to do the thing they could have done and they failed attempting to do that for which they had no ability.

Pouting Husband Like Spoiled Child

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Is there a cure for pouting husbands? Half of my married life has been spent with a silent, sulking husband who for four or five days at a time will not speak, not even to tell what has offended him. I have tried all sorts of cures, but none of them works and I am ready to give up. I am so tired of it all.

MRS. X

ANSWER:

When a grown man pouts to get his own way or to revenge himself for something that displeased him it shows that he has never grown up. He is still a spoiled child, with the mentality of a child, and you have to treat him as you would a child. When a child howls or sulks the quickest way to stop it is not to notice it. Just go off and leave it to enjoy howling or sulking alone, and when it finds that it annoys no one it quiets down.

I earnestly advise you to try this course on your husband, and the next time he passes into the silence just fade from the scene and amuse yourself by doing something gay and pleasant. If he thinks you don't care he will quit it.

FASHIONS

If you are planning a winter vacation, or if you are going to stay at home, you will want this smart lounging and sleeping ensemble. Perfect for the train; indispensable at home. Tailored pyjamas that are comfortable and becoming to wear, covered by a three-quarter length coat of matching material. A neat rayon or cotton print launders well and can be kept immaculate. Contrasting trimming adds a chic note. A bride will love this costume for her trousseau; the school girl will like to wear it when she studies; and the housewife for quiet evenings at home.

Style No. 3163 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 7⅛ yards of 39-inch material, with 1¼ yards of contrasting for all three pieces.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

THE DATE on the calendar that hung on the wall back of the desk in the small office adjacent to Isobel Chandler's was March 17. Neither the calendar nor the desk had been there a little more than a fortnight before when Fabienne Seymour first came to the Park-Plaza hospital. There had been only a chair, a lounge and a mirror.

"If you've any use for this room you may have it," Mrs. Chandler had told the girl. "You may find other things you'd like to do here. We'll talk over any ideas you have and see if they're practical."

Fabienne's ideas had flowed in rapid succession and now, in so short a time, she had become a useful volunteer worker with an office of her own.

On her desk there was a file of the backgrounds of each little charity patient, rehabilitation work indicated for the future. This had been Fabienne's idea—to interview the parents, to make contacts with social organizations that would take up the cases if there should be future needs. There was also a small private file of Fabienne's friends who could afford to help financially in her projects.

She called on Camilla Morse saying, "Darling, I've done a complete right-about face, as you probably know, and I'm horribly ashamed of the way I treated you when you wanted me to serve on your committees. Because now I want your help."

Camilla groaned. "I might have known I was heading for trouble when I came in answer to your call. You certainly have done a right-about! Well, what can I do?"

"Open a fresh air camp where we can send our convalescents," Fabienne said promptly.

"Come, Fabienne! Not my Easthampton place!"

"No, Camilla, I don't care where it is so long as it's some place in the country. We ought to be able to get a big farmhouse somewhere for about a hundred a month. I'll pay the rent, but you and your friends are going to raise the maintenance money. You'll head the committee, get Lulu and Frances and Jane and Gloria—" She launched into an enthusiastic plan for Camilla's group to raise money.

When she'd finished and Camilla had agreed to try Fabienne's suggestions, she said, "Fab, if anyone had ever made a bet with me that you'd turn out to be a Florence Nightingale, I certainly would have taken it up and thought I'd be sure to win.

Fabienne laughed. "Don't be deceived by the white uniform, Mrs. Chandler suggested that I wear it because it's more in keeping with the whole scheme.

Camilla eyed her knowingly. "Who's the doctor in the case?" she asked.

"Doctor?" Fabienne answered, knowing perfectly well that her cheeks colored swiftly as Camilla's dart struck home.

"The doctor you've fallen in love with."

"Nonsense!" Fabienne pronounced. I'm doing this work because I love it. You must come down and see our Willoughby house actors. We're opening our first play on Tuesday. Admission free or five dollars per person to those who can afford it. You can afford it.

Camilla fled, saying, "You'll take my last cent if I don't get out this minute."

Fabienne went to the elevator with her. "By the way," Camilla said while they waited for the car to come up, "Who do you think we ran into last night? Nicky! At the Persian room at the Plaza.

"Really? You know Nicky's settled down a lot. He's working."

"Yes, he told us. We stopped at his table for a moment. He was with a very attractive girl. I wonder if you've ever met her . . . her name was Chapell or something like that."

"Chapman? Could that be it?" Fabienne asked, surprised. Of course it was surprise—it couldn't be jealousy. But Nicky and Ellen didn't have any dates together except in foursomes. She remembered that Ellen had not been in when she got home the night before, hadn't come in until long after Fabienne was asleep.

"Yes, that was the name. I thought she was quite unusual."

"Plain, but she has a great deal of charm, Camilla. She's one of my best friends. I live with her.

"Oh," Camilla said, refraining from repeating that Ellen was quite attractive. There had been a sparkle and glow about her that Camilla and her husband had observed.

Fabienne had never seen Ellen as she looked that night at the Plaza with white flowers tucked into her dark hair that she had brushed into a fluff on the back of her neck. The white faille gown she wore was one that Fabienne had given her and it's adroit lines had given fluidity to Ellen's slight figure so often obscured by the cut of her own inexpensive clothes. This gown had a simple fitted bodice and a skirt that flowed out in stiff wide folds to give her added height and bring out the natural dignity that was part of her.

Coupled with this was the glow that came from sheer enjoyment and the happiness that being with Nicky lent to her. The effect was not only attractive to Nicky it was breath taking.

The date that came with such surprise to Fabienne was almost as much of a surprise to Nicky and Ellen. Nicky hadn't seen either of the girls since the day they went up to Bill Mallory's country place. He'd called up about eight merely to talk to them, having had a hard day at the office. Ellen answered, telling him that Fabienne was at Willoughby house for a dress rehearsal and probably wouldn't return until eleven.

"Ah," Nicky said, pleased. A chance to get you alone. Get into your party clothes and I'll take you dancing. I'll call for you in half an hour."

Promptly half an hour later Nicky appeared, in tails and top hat with a florist's box in his hand.

"My, but you look grand!" Ellen said, dimpling in her happiness. "You're very much dressed up."

"Why not?" he returned, pinning the white flowers in her dark hair, "I've got a date with my best girl, haven't I?"

"Have you?" she said, and was immediately covered with confusion, saying hastily, "Where are we going?"

"To dance to Eddie Dushin's music, to drink champagne and to talk. I've got a lot of things to say to you."

"Let's do the dancing first," she said.

The beautiful Persian room at the Plaza was not crowded. They had the dance floor almost to themselves, drifting smoothly to soft music. Ellen fitted lightly into Nicky's arms as if she belonged there, the top of her head coming to his chin. She wondered if he could feel the fast beating of her heart lying so close to the fur in lapel of his coat. They danced as if they had danced together all their lives, saying nothing that would disturb their continuity of movement.

"You dance like an angel," Nicky told her, taking her back to their table.

Ellen laughed. "Would you believe I won a Charleston contest when I went to college? Can you believe I was ever that giddy, Nicky?"

"Giddy? No! Not you! But gay and sweet and lovely and kind and . . . Ellen, I'm falling in love with you."

"Oh, Nicky!" she said in a stricken voice.

"Is there any reason why I shouldn't tell you?"

She nodded unhappily, "Not now, you shouldn't," she said.

"Later?"

"Perhaps," she said, "later . . . when we all know where we are." She would not explain to him what she meant.

Honored Burial

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 9—(AP).—Honored burial in a pet cemetery was an African lion's reward today for nearly 22 years of being a faithful pet. Mrs. Mary McMillan obtained the sickly "tawny" shortly after its birth in a circus in 1918, nursed it back to health and kept it in her home ever since. The animal died Wednesday of old age.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

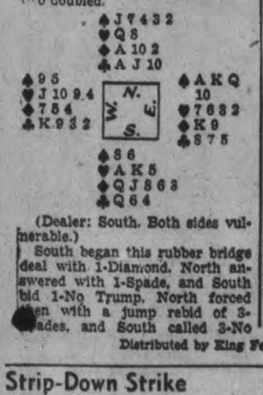
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

A GOOD CONVENTION

MANY advanced players use a business double of 3-No Trumps in an artificial sense to compel a lead of the dummy's suit, failure to double indicating negatively that the partner must pick what looks naturally to him like the best lead. Some employ this convention only when in rubber play, or total-point duplicates, but not in match-point events. The distinction is because, in any form of total-point play, the importance of doing everything possible to prevent the big score for a game is much greater than the slight increase in the value of a trick or two doubled.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South began this rubber bridge deal with 1-Diamond. North answered with 1-Spade, and South bid 1-No Trump. North forced then with a jump rebid of 3-Spades, and South called 3-No Trump, which East doubled.

West read East's double as conventional, asking for a lead of dummy's spade suit. He led his highest card of it, the 9. No matter what the declarer tried to do then, he had to lose four spade tricks. Furthermore, he had no way to pick up nine tricks except by trying his diamonds, and when he did that East took the setting trick with his diamond K.

Look this deal over and you will see that any lead by West except a spade would give the declarer his contract. West could never get in the lead later to push a spade through. Consequently, East could take nothing but three spades and one diamond.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the best defense on this deal against West's 4-Spade sacrifice bid?

Strip-Down Strike

BOSTON, Feb. 9—(AP).—Models preparing to compete in a tournament of glamor against Boston debutantes enlivened preliminary proceedings in the rival training camps today by threatening a "strip-down" strike.

Ruth Allen, captain of the models' tea mof 12 for the Feb. 19 battle of beauty, complained that the debbies had arranged for gowns from the city's best shops, while the models competing were told to "get their own."

"We will model in clothes as good as those of the debs, or we'll stage a strip-down strike to sarongs," she declared, and demonstrated what she meant.

New Hydro Addition

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP).—A ten-storey addition to the offices of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario here, estimated to cost about $1,500,000, was approved yesterday in a resolution by the Ontario Municipal electrical Association at the final session of its two-way convention.

The addition will complete the building which was planned at 16 storeys but was limited to six storeys when the Hepburn government was elected in 1934. Decision to complete the building was prompted by the growing need of office space for Hydro Commission activities.

In U.S. To Raise Funds For Finns

Paavo Nurmi, outstanding distance runner of years past, and Taisto Maki, who is regarded as the present day ace of the long travellers of the track, are pictured here—dressed to kill as you might say. They are shown in the Finnish army uniforms which they discarded so that they might help their embattled homeland by coming to the United States to raise funds. Maki on the left wears his white ski "ghost patrol" outfit. Nurmi is in regular army uniform.

Juvenile Books In Demand Campbellford Librarian Says

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9—(ENS)—The largest circulation of juvenile books in the history of the public library was announced by Miss Lillian Benor, librarian, in her annual report to the Library Board Tuesday. Miss Benor told the board that the library had maintained in 1939 the place it had held in preceding years. "The circulation for the year was 30,564 or a little more than ten books per person. The adult reading habit is slowly tending to move away from fiction to factual material. Kooks on biography and travel are in ever increasing demand," she said. Of the 430 books discarded during the year 331 were sent to the various military camps, while added to the shelves were 448 new books of which 199 were adult and 85 juvenile. With 134 new members registering during the year there are now a total of 1,704 members or over one-half the town's population according to Miss Benor. Twenty-nine out of town members also paid fees to the amount of forty dollars during the year.

"The use of the reference department is steadily growing and this is especially true of the work with senior fourth grade and first form High School. All of this indicates the success of the effort being made to increase the usefulness of the library in the life of the community and to make it library conscious. More fees were paid in 1939 by rural teachers than ever before.

"The library works in co-operation with the public and separate schools. The new school curriculum aims to give children a wider personal contact with books that they will handle and read and at the same time freedom to make their own choice of reading material. The change has put a very heavy demand on the library and more than doubled the circulation in the boys' and girls' department. While the library welcomes this development and interest it causes a problem to adopt the library service to the new situation. The influx has filled out children's rooms to overflowing. There is also another view aside from the mere library standpoint—it is the desire to stimulate in boys and girls a desire to read for the pleasure of reading, and provide books as real and important to their mental world as the people they know in real life."

Members of the board congratulated Miss Benor on her splendid record for the year, and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Harry Townsend; Treasurer, E. Brunelle; Secretary, E. H. Greig. During the business discussion it was decided to add more shelves to the juvenile department of the library.

Following is the circulation report with first figure indicating adult and the second juvenile books: General works, 763, 5; philosophy, 61, 0; religion, 107, 30; sociology, 176, 921; language, 1, 5; science, 106, 606; useful arts, 197, 280; fine arts, 123, 58; literature, 170, 112; history, 313, 153; travel, 343, 211; biography, 623, 94; fiction, 23,528, 4,572.

Additions made during the year were as follows: General works, 10, 0; philosophy, 2, 0; religion, 5, 4; sociology, 10, 13; science, 5, 3; useful arts, 6, 13; fine arts, 4, 4; literature, 8, 10; history, 16, 6; travel, 113, 8; biography, 22, 2; fiction, 199, 85.

Sailing Over?

Montreal, Feb. 9 (CP)

BERT COXEN'S sailing days are over. He may not know it yet, but the decision was made today by his pretty wife, Rita, who had a premonintion all would not be well when Coxen's ship—the torpedoed Beaverburn—sailed from Saint John early last month.

Nearly three days of anxiety ended when Mrs. Coxen received a terse cable from him from a port in the south of England where he landed with other survivors from the ship, sent to the bottom Monday. The wire said: "Safe well."

"Was I ever worried," the 28-year-old Mrs. Coxen told newspapermen. 'He's not going back to sea, so far as I'm concerned, and when he comes home I'll hide him."

LINDSAY

J. Boxall Passes 91st Milestone

LINDSAY, Feb. 9—(ENS)—James Boxall, grand old man of the Conservative party in this riding and a business man in the town for many years, is marking his 91st birthday at his home here today. I nfairly good health, Mr. Boxall will receive visits from a few intimate friends on this occasion.

Born in Montreal, he was educated in the schools of Toronto and took his first job with a hardware firm in Quebec. He was employed in this trade in many cities and towns until finally he settled in Lindsay and opened a business. The hardware business of Boxall and Matthie is the monument today to his energy.

He was a member of the Lindsay Board of Water Commissioners for over 15 years and held the position of chairman during part of that time. He is a staunch Conservative and is a past president of the local organization. He has several times refused the nomination for the legislature. For 60 years he has been associated with the Sons of England, having served on the executive board of that organization for six years and as Supreme President for two years. When a resident of Fort Perry he was reeve.

He is a member of the Cambridge Street United Church and has held virtually every lay office in the church. He was superintendent of the Sunday School for over 21 years. He is a Past Master in the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons and has also held office in the Loyal Orange Lodge. He is a life member of St. George's Society in Toronto and is a member of the Conservative Club of that city.

For many years he has been a regular attendant at the opening of the professional baseball season in Toronto and is looking forward to attending the opener again this year.

Support For Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(AP).—Bi-partisan support developed in the United States senate today for a proposal that the country lend Finland $5,98?,000—the amount of her war debt payments—to purchase any supplies need to fight the Russians.

Additional non-military aid to the Baltic republic appeared likely when senate leaders scheduled consideration of a bill to double the $100,000,000 capital of the export-import bank. It generally is understood that the bank would authorize an additional $20,000,000 loan to Finland if the legislation were approved. China also may receive another $20,000,000.

In U.S. To Raise Funds For Finns

Paavo Nurmi, outstanding distance runner of years past, and Taisto Maki, who is regarded as the present day ace of the long travellers of the track, are pictured here—dressed to kill as you might say. They are shown in the Finnish army uniforms which they discarded so that they might help their embattled homeland by coming to the United States to raise funds. Maki on the left wears his white ski "ghost patrol" outfit. Nurmi is in regular army uniform.

Juvenile Books In Demand Campbellford Librarian Says

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9—(ENS)—The largest circulation of juvenile books in the history of the public library was announced by Miss Lillian Benor, librarian, in her annual report to the Library Board Tuesday. Miss Benor told the board that the library had maintained in 1939 the place it had held in preceding years. "The circulation for the year was 30,564 or a little more than ten books per person. The adult reading habit is slowly tending to move away from fiction to factual material. Kooks on biography and travel are in ever increasing demand," she said. Of the 430 books discarded during the year 331 were sent to the various military camps, while added to the shelves were 448 new books of which 199 were adult and 85 juvenile. With 134 new members registering during the year there are now a total of 1,704 members or over one-half the town's population according to Miss Benor. Twenty-nine out of town members also paid fees to the amount of forty dollars during the year.

"The use of the reference department is steadily growing and this is especially true of the work with senior fourth grade and first form High School. All of this indicates the success of the effort being made to increase the usefulness of the library in the life of the community and to make it library conscious. More fees were paid in 1939 by rural teachers than ever before.

"The library works in co-operation with the public and separate schools. The new school curriculum aims to give children a wider personal contact with books that they will handle and read and at the same time freedom to make their own choice of reading material. The change has put a very heavy demand on the library and more than doubled the circulation in the boys' and girls' department. While the library welcomes this development and interest it causes a problem to adopt the library service to the new situation. The influx has filled out children's rooms to overflowing. There is also another view aside from the mere library standpoint—it is the desire to stimulate in boys and girls a desire to read for the pleasure of reading, and provide books as real and important to their mental world as the people they know in real life."

Members of the board congratulated Miss Benor on her splendid record for the year, and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, Harry Townsend; Treasurer, E. Brunelle; Secretary, E. H. Greig. During the business discussion it was decided to add more shelves to the juvenile department of the library.

Following is the circulation report with first figure indicating adult and the second juvenile books: General works, 763, 5; philosophy, 61, 0; religion, 107, 30; sociology, 176, 921; language, 1, 5; science, 106, 606; useful arts, 197, 280; fine arts, 123, 58; literature, 170, 112; history, 313, 153; travel, 343, 211; biography, 623, 94; fiction, 23,528, 4,572.

Additions made during the year were as follows: General works, 10, 0; philosophy, 2, 0; religion, 5, 4; sociology, 10, 13; science, 5, 3; useful arts, 6, 13; fine arts, 4, 4; literature, 8, 10; history, 16, 6; travel, 113, 8; biography, 22, 2; fiction, 199, 85.

Sailing Over?

Montreal, Feb. 9 (CP)

BERT COXEN'S sailing days are over. He may not know it yet, but the decision was made today by his pretty wife, Rita, who had a premonintion all would not be well when Coxen's ship—the torpedoed Beaverburn—sailed from Saint John early last month.

Nearly three days of anxiety ended when Mrs. Coxen received a terse cable from him from a port in the south of England where he landed with other survivors from the ship, sent to the bottom Monday. The wire said: "Safe well."

"Was I ever worried," the 28-year-old Mrs. Coxen told newspapermen. 'He's not going back to sea, so far as I'm concerned, and when he comes home I'll hide him."

LINDSAY

J. Boxall Passes 91st Milestone

LINDSAY, Feb. 9—(ENS)—James Boxall, grand old man of the Conservative party in this riding and a business man in the town for many years, is marking his 91st birthday at his home here today. I nfairly good health, Mr. Boxall will receive visits from a few intimate friends on this occasion.

Born in Montreal, he was educated in the schools of Toronto and took his first job with a hardware firm in Quebec. He was employed in this trade in many cities and towns until finally he settled in Lindsay and opened a business. The hardware business of Boxall and Matthie is the monument today to his energy.

He was a member of the Lindsay Board of Water Commissioners for over 15 years and held the position of chairman during part of that time. He is a staunch Conservative and is a past president of the local organization. He has several times refused the nomination for the legislature. For 60 years he has been associated with the Sons of England, having served on the executive board of that organization for six years and as Supreme President for two years. When a resident of Fort Perry he was reeve.

He is a member of the Cambridge Street United Church and has held virtually every lay office in the church. He was superintendent of the Sunday School for over 21 years. He is a Past Master in the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons and has also held office in the Loyal Orange Lodge. He is a life member of St. George's Society in Toronto and is a member of the Conservative Club of that city.

For many years he has been a regular attendant at the opening of the professional baseball season in Toronto and is looking forward to attending the opener again this year.

Support For Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—(AP).—Bi-partisan support developed in the United States senate today for a proposal that the country lend Finland $5,98),000—the amount of her war debt payments—to purchase any supplies need to fight the Russians.

Tornado Hits Albany Kills Twelve

Hundreds Are Injured, Every Downtown Storefront Smashed

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 10 (AP) — Between 12 and 15 persons were killed and several hundred injured by a tornado which smashed the business section of this southwest Georgia city today.

Chairman L. R. Ferrell of the Albany Red Cross chapter made the estimate of dead in a wire to National Red Cross headquarters, and told James R. Blair of the Americus Times-Recorder that "it is impossible to say" exactly how many died.

Blair said a railway express employee told him that about 85 per cent of the business buildings in Albany were either wrecked or badly damaged and "several hundred homes."

Blair said all indications were the death list would run considerably higher, with many victims in one of the smaller hotels.

Two companies of national guardsmen (militia) were ordered here by Governor E. D. Rivers. Heavy rain followed the winds, preventing fires, but making rescue work difficult.

Debris littered streets of the city, whose population is 14,507. Communication and power lines were damaged.

Relief In 5 Cities Top Million Each For 1939

TORONTO, Feb. 10 — (CP). — Five Ontario municipalities had relief bills of more than $1,000,000 each in 1939, Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, said to-day. The five were: Toronto, $6,888,565; Hamilton, $1,640,841; Windsor, $1,244,060; Ottawa, $1,206,259; York Township, $1,196,362.

Forty municipalities that account for 85 per cent. of the provincial relief burden spent $17,856,075, more than $12,000,000 being spent by the five leaders. In the 40 municipalities, 1939 relief expenditures were 3.2 per cent. under 1938 and 4.8 per cent. under 1937.

Twenty-seven municipalities had lower relief costs in 1939 than in 1938. Percentage decrease in some of these was: St. Thomas, 16.3; Wellnad, 15.3; Sandwich East, 14.7;

9-Day Attack Breaks On Finn Line

Bayonets Stop Charge As Ammunition Supply Runs Out

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Red Army's massed offensive on the Karelian Isthmus was continued for the ninth successive day, the Finns reported tonight, but all assaults were thrown back with heavy losses.

Russian infantry continued to attack with undiminished vigor and with heavy artillery and tank support, but nowhere were the Finnish lines broken, declared the high command.

Tonight's communique reported destruction yesterday of 32 enemy tanks, making a total of 72 destroyed or captured in two days. It also reported four Russian planes shot down.

Although the heaviest assaults were on the Karelian Isthmus, where the Red Army has made its main efforts to break through the Finns reported that the Russians lost 800 men killed northeast of Lake Ladoga, site of another long-continued battle.

Finns reported today that shells of all sizes were being dropped from planes on Finnish positions in the war zone. They said the use of shells indicated a shortage of bombs, believed to be the reason for a slackening of air attacks on civilian Finland.

The only home area bombed yesterday was Hangoe (Hanko), Southwestern Finland, where 25 bombs were dropped but no casualties were reported.

Bayonets Stop Charge

Fierce fighting was reported on the Karelian Isthmus where wave after wave of Russians advanced on Finnish posts but were reported repulsed in savage bayonet and hand grenade encounters with the Finns.

Finnish forces resorted to bayonets and hand grenades to resist Soviet Russian attacks along the Karelian Isthmus Front, and said their lines remained unbroken.

Finnish officers reported the Red Army had advanced in such great numbers that ammunition supplies temporarily were exhausted faster than replenishments could be rushed to the front.

Wave after wave of Soviet infantrymen pushed against the Finns in the Summa sector, military observers said, in a desperate effort to break the thus far impregnable Mannerheim fortifications.

Artillery fire was reported throughout the Isthmus Front. Russian wounded were left on the field,

Canada's Governor Is Critically Ill

Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, who underwent a second operation in the Neurological Institute of Montreal on Friday night, was reported today to have passed a better night and is more active but still remains unconscious.

Gains Slightly After 2nd Operation

Family Follows Move To Montreal King Keeps Check

MONTREAL, Feb. 10 (CP)—Lord Tweedsmuir passed a better night and is more active, but he remains unconscious, it was stated in a bulletin issued by his doctors at 10.10 a.m. today.

The bulletin read:

"The Governor-General passed a better night and is more active although he remains unconscious. His temperature this morning is 101. Pulse 80. Respiration 30. Blood preseure 90."

The bulletin was signed by Dr. Wilder Penfield and Dr. William Cone, neuro-surgeons who operated twice on his excellency yesterday to relieve the concussion he suffered in a fall Tuesday, and Dr. Jonathan Meakins, Lt.-Col. Colin Russel and Dr. Gordon Gunn. The same five signed the bulletins which followed yesterday morning's operation at Government House, Ottawa, and last night's operation at the Neurological Institute here after he had been brought to Montreal by special train.

The bulletin was the first since the operations to give any detail of Lord Tweedsmuir's condition.

Signs of Awakening.

No official interpretation was made of the factors noted in the bulletin. However, it was understood that the increased activity mentioned referred to signs of awakening consciousness. This might be shown, for instance, in movement of the limbs.

Exact meaning of the figures given for temperature, pulse, respiration and blood pressure might vary with the individual. Temperature of 101 compared with a normal of 98 to 99. Pulse of 80 compared with a normal of 70 to 80. Respiration at 30 was up. Blood pressure at 90 was on the low side.

While the stricken Governor-General maintained his progress, all was quiet about the nine-storey Neurological Institute whose fifth floor held the anxious interest of all Canadians. Downstairs there was the ordinary coming and going of doctors and nurses and hospital staff.

Only messenger boys bringing cablegrams, telegrams and letters of inquiry and sympathy from all over the world indicated the presence of the distinguished patient.

Lady Tweedsmuir spent the night on the same floor as her husband but this morning she left the Institute accompanied by her son, Hon. Alastair.

In London the King and Queen are keeping in the closest touch with the condition of Lord Tweedsmuir.

In Operating Room 3 Hours

For three hours Lord Tweedsmuir was in the operating room of the Institute recognized as one of the finest on the continent.

The three-car special train that brought His Excellency here pulled up outside Bonaventure station shortly after 5:30 o'clock last night and less than 30 minutes later, wrap-

Biggest Calendar

BY LONG ODDS Peterborough's biggest calendar has just made its appearance.

It is a bill board reproduction of a calendar that was issued by Campbell's Dairy and appears on a panel board on George street north of the Grand Opera House.

The replica is nine by six feet and the months will be changed each month.

The calendar is the brain child of George Chandler and the work was done by the sign department of J. J. Turner and Sons.

Lady Customer Slugged In $2,000 Holdup

HAMILTON, Feb. 10—(CP).—Two bandits, armed with nickle-plated revolvers, entered the Royal Bank branch at Locke and Main Streets shortly after it opened this morning, and took $2,000 in cash. The thugs struck down an elderly woman when ordering the three customers in the lobby to the floor. The licence number of their car was obtained by G. A. Stephenson, accountant, as they sped south on Locke Street.

Glancing up from his desk in his office adjoining the outer office, I. D. Eastman, manager of the bank, saw the side of a man's face as the two armed men covered the other three bank employees: Mr. Stephenson, W. D. Saunders, teller, and Miss Eileen Cooper, stenographer.

He rose from his seat to give the alarm but was immediately noticed

Admiralty Reveals Job Done By Single Destroyer

LONDON, Feb. 10—(CP). — Torpedoing of the Canadian Pacific freighter Beaverburn apparently cost Germany two submarines.

The Admiralty announced late last night a single British destroyer had sunk two U-boats as they attempted to attack a convoy.

The announcement followed statements attributed to an officer of the destroyer, which escorted a rescue ship to a west English port with survivors of the 9,874-ton Beaverburn, sunk off southern Ireland, apparently Monday.

The Admiralty did not say when or where the fight occurred or identify the destroyer. It was disclosed, however, the 5,406-ton Scottish steamship Chagres, another member of the convoy, later was sunk by a mine.

The report brought total German submarine losses to an unofficial total of at least 40, half or more of the number believed in operation at the start of the war.

British fighter planes shot down one German bomber yesterday and reported two others had been damaged severely. British sources said six ships were attacked, only one hit directly, and none sunk.

McLarty Claims King Sought Aerial Training

PARIS, Ont., Feb. 10 — (CP). — Labor Minister Norman McLarty was quick to spring to the defence of Prime Minister Mackenzie King after Conservative Leader Manion's criticism of the delay in starting an Empire air training plan.

Speaking to a Brant riding Liberal nomination meeting here last night, Mr. McLarty referred to the Brockville speech by Dr. Manion Thursday, in which Mr. Mackenzie King was accused of the "great betrayal" of Labor in not adopting two years ago Great Britain's suggestions for training student pilots in Canada.

The Commonwealth air training plan now in effect in the Dominion is of the type Mr. Mackenzie King sought two years ago, Mr. McLarty said.

"This is Mr. King, the man who established the Department of Labor, the man who has done more than any other Canadian on behalf of Labor," he submitted. "This is the man he charged with betrayal. When Mr. King betrays Labor, it will be when the breath has passed from his body.

British Bomber Order Runs To 30 Millions

OTTAWA, Feb. 10 — (CP). — The British Government has placed a new order for military planes, valued at about $30,000,000, with the Canadian Associated Aircraft, it was announced to-day from the British High Commissioner's office here.

The announcement confirmed unofficial reports earlier this week that additional orders would be given the six-company organization formed to manufacture planes for Britain.

"Following the visit of the British Air Mission to Canada in the autumn of 1938, Canadian Associated Aircraft Limited came into being for the execution of a group manufacturing scheme for the production of large type aircraft," the statement said.

"Since the war, apart from other aircraft orders, it has been arranged to extend very considerably the scheme under the control of Canadian Associated Aircraft Limited by placing with that company further contracts of a value of roughly $30,000,000 which will enable them to build up a widespread organization of sub-contractors in the development of Canadian production for

New Order Bars Any Dealing In Enemy Goods

OTTAWA, Feb. 10 — (CP). — To strengthen the hand of the government in preventing goods of enemy origin entering Canada an Order-in-Council made public last night prohibits imports from 23 designated countries except when accompanied by a certificate of "origin and interest" as prescribed in the order.

A certificate may not be issued if more than 25 per cent. of the cost of the goods to the manufacturer or producer is due to material and labor of enemy origin.

The Revenue Minister has power to exempt any goods or categories of goods from operation of the order. The following countries were named:

Albania, Belgium and Luxemburg, Bulgaria, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Russia, Yugoslavia.

This order brings Canada's regulations into line with those of the United Kingdom.

500 On Taboo List.

OTTAWA, Feb. 10—(CP).—A list of more than 500 business firms and persons in neutral countries deemed to have enemy character or who are to be treated as enemies under the regulations respecting trading with the enemy was published in an Order-in-Council appearing in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette today.

Under the order, Canadians cannot deal with these concerns or persons. A heavy penalty is provided for violation of the regulation.

The long list of foreign firms and persons living in foreign countries contains only a few names familiar to the average Canadian. They are located in practically every country of the world.

Publication of the Canadian Government list of enemy firms and persons followed action of the British Government in this respect.

Six Strikes

OTTAWA, Feb. 10 (CP) — The number of strikes and lockouts during January was six, involving 919 workers with time loss of 6,861 man working days, compared with 11 disputes in December involving 1,570 workers and causing 20,679 days time loss, the labor department reported today.

In January last year there were 10 disputes, involving 1,238 workers and causing time loss of 8,047 days.

Russia Pushing Barriers On Turk Border

ISTANBUL, Feb. 10—(AP). — Soviet Russia was reported today pushing construction of fortifications on her Caucasian frontier with Turkey to defend the rich oil fields which supply fuel for her war machine.

Informed military sources said such information had reached the Turkish Government. It was believed to have been gathered by Turkey's military intelligence service.

According to these reports, several hundred thousand workers have been drafted by the Red army to build military roads near the Russian-Turkish frontier and strengthen border defences.

They said Dr. Fritz Todt, credited with a part in the building of German's Westwall, had visited the Russian side of the line in an advisory capacity.

(Rumanian sources reported a few weeks ago Dr. Todt had inspected Russian works across the frontier from Cernauti Rumania, which many military experts regards as the most likely point through which Allied forces might attempt to enter Poland.

Flare In House Halts Debate On Grand Juries

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP)—When and if the Ontario legislature passes a bill abolishing grand juries, the Federal government will be asked to amend the criminal code to provide for an indictment hearing for a person accused of crime when the charge is laid by the attorney-general or a person acting for him.

Attorney-general Gordon Conant laid two resolutions to this end on the table of the legislature yesterday, saying the house would be asked to deal with them when the bill passed. The resolutions were tabled before conservative leader George Drew resumed debate on the grand jury bill.

Col. Drew contended that the resolutions did not meet his objection in that the intent of them was not clear and that it was not known what the Federal parliament would do with them.

Chief argument by Col. Drew against the abolition of the grand jury has been that with special

Turkey's Slap At Hitler Spotlights Eastern Front For Spring Action

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Cable Editor.)

Activity in the Near East in the 23rd week of the war brought speculation on the possibility of a new front being opened up by spring. Turkey, ally of Great Britain and France, dismissed German technicians from the government service and put Turkish marines in charge of the Krupp shipyards near Istanbul. In Egypt the French and British Near Eastern commanders conferred and inspected some of the large forces at theid disposal. A Greek Cabinet Minister flew to Egypt on an important mission.

Turkey attributed her actions to the discovery of a widespread Nazi sabotage plot under which trains would be wrecked and strategic buildings blown up on a signal from Berlin. Another Turkish source put it more subtly, remarking simply, "Spring is coming." In Greece, whose defence also is guaranteed by the Allies, Premier John Metaxas spoke of "the storm that is coming."

A council of war was held in Paris. Prime Minister Chamberlain, Premier Daladier, Winston Churchill and General Gamelin, together with other Cabinet ministers and the chiefs of staffs of the services, reviewed the Allied strategy. Later in the week French Parliament met in secret to discuss the prosecution of the war.

Who's Doing It?

Toender, Denmark, Feb. 10 (AP)

A BRITISH bomber raided the German naval base on the Island of Sylt today, Danish observers said, dropping four bombs.

Observers at the Danish frontier said they saw the plane pass over the southern part of the island then wheel westward toward the sea after unloading the bombs.

Six German fighters unsuccessfully pursued the British plane.

(The British air ministry issued this denial: "A report coming from a foreign source states a British bomber raided the island of Sylt and dropped four bombs this morning. The report is without foundation.")

Last Minute News Flashes

PARIS.—(AP). — Military dispatches reported to-day that a German infantry attack on a French advance post northwest of Sarreiouis in which 200 or more German troops participated had been repulsed with undetermined losses. The attack in the Nied River sector on the northern flank of the western front carried to the French barbed wire entanglements before the Germans were repulsed by machine gun fire, the dispatches said. The retreating Germans left some of their dead hanging on the wire.

OTTAWA.—(CP).— Definite announcement that Prime Minister Mackenzie King would deliver campaign speeches in Winnipeg and Prince Albert, Feb. 27 and 29, was made to-day by the National Liberal Federation. German Exports Are Reduced To A Trickle

LONDON, Feb. 10—(CP Cable).—Germany's export trade to non-European countries has dwindled to a small trickle, officials of the Ministry of Economic Warfare declared today.

The Allied blockade of Germany's outward bound trade has cost the Reich hundreds of thousands of dollars in foreign currency since it went into full operation January 1. In the long run it may prove to be a decisive factor in winning the war.

A reply will be sent to Washington early next week to the United States note protesting the general policy of export blockade.

Letters In Hundreds And Score Of Parcels Bound For Loneliest Man In Aldershot

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—(CP)—Hundreds of letters and more than a score of parcels soon will be on their way to "The Loneliest Man in Aldershot," a Canadian soldier whose parents are pacifists and who has not had a letter from his family since he joined the army.

A Canadian Press story from Aldershot on Feb. 7 telling of the young man's disappointment as he walked from the barracks post office empty-handed touched the hearts of newspaper readers across Canada.

They sent hundreds of letters and numerous parcels to the newspapers. One Toronto paper, which printed an invitation to write to the soldier with the Aldershot story, had received more than 400 letters and a score of parcels yesterday. Other newspapers found letters to "The Loneliest Soldier" in their mail.

Lacking the soldier's name because he had concealed it to protect his parents, the newspapers appealed to The Canadian Press and the news organization's London Bureau was cabled.

Back came a reply that any letters or parcels sent to the loneliest soldier in care of The Canadian Press, 20 Tudor street, London, E.C. 4, would be forwarded to him. He had asked that his name not be cabled, even in confidence, to Canadian newspapers.

French Loudspeakers Peeve Nazis Into Futile Barrage On Pillboxes

PARIS, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A "war of words" from French loudspeakers was believed today to have provoked German batteries into opening "markedly more active" artillery fire mentioned in last night's high command communique.

Today's communique said merely, "nothing to report."

Dispatches said the Germans failed to damage the loudspeakers, entrenched behind pillboxes to uphold the French end of the word-battle.

After the thundering of shell fire died down, the propaganda volley was resumed, advices said.

A sharp encounter in which a French patrol lost 10 men but inflicted more than 15 losses on the Germans was reported in French military dispatches.

This engagement was described as part of increased activity on the Western Front, where both sides were said to have intensified scouting.

The French patrol penetrated the outskirts of Forbach, where the Germans have strengthened their line on French territory south of Saarbruecken, these sources said, and withdrew with information on enemy concentrations after fighting off a stronger German force.

A German patrol was said also to have attempted to raid French lines in the Nied River sector, but to have been repulsed, leaving several bodies hanging on barbed wire.

Dispatches reported heavy artillery barrages between the Moselle and Saar Rivers, as well as rifle and machine-gun fire between French and German pillboxes on opposite sides of the Rhine.

Those Red Coats

Montreal, Feb. 10 (CP)

ROYAL Canadian Mounted Police came by their red tunics because Indians with whom the original Mounties, the Northwest Mounted Police had to deal in the '70s, though any but scarlet coats were beneath the dignity of the Queen's representatives.

Superintendent Henri Royaligagnon told the story of the force's famed red coats to a service club today.

The officer who has made a study of the history of the Mounties said Indians of Canada's northwest in the '70s had come to respect red coats through their dealings with the Sixth Imperial Regiment.

The police donned their red serge tunics in 1873 after Indians had suggested red was the color that should have been worn by all representatives of the forces of the "Great White Mother."

Barred By Nurse From Hospital Man Dies In Taxi

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Joseph Siegel, 58, died yesterday in front of a police station while he sought in vain to enter the hospital which for five years he had served as an orderly.

His death bed was the rear seat of a taxicab.

In the investigation that followed, Dr. S. S. Goldwater, City Commissioner of Hospitals, concluded that the trigc blunder was made by a harassed night nurse—name withheld—at the admitting desk in the psychopathic division of Bellevue.

It was in that division that Siegel worked.

As Taxicab Driver John Forney told the story, he was hailed at 96th Street early this morning by Siegel, who groaned:

"I'm desperately ill. Drive me to Bellevue as fast as you can."

Reaching the hospital, at 27th Street, Forney ran to the admitting desk, but was told by an attendant, he said, that Siegel must be accompanied by a policeman. The fare, meanwhile, lay moaning in the cab, and the anxious Forney appealed for help to the first patrolman he

Finland denied vigorously the claim of the Red army that its troops had captured eight forts in the Mannerheim Line of fortifications on the Karelian Isthmus and five elsewhere. The invaders used in increasing numbers troops dropped behind the Finnish lines by parachute and the Finns admitted that some of these had caused considerable damage. Most of the parachutists, however, were quickly rounded up and shot.

The interest of the United States in the settlement that will follow the war was indicated in two developments. First, it wa sannounced that "conversations of an informal character" were in progress with neutral governments relating to "a sound economic system" and a "world-wide reduction of armaments." Secondly, President Roosevelt announced that Sumner Welles under-secretary of state, was leaving Washington to make a survey of conditions in Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain.

In the war at sea, German raiders succeeded in sinking half a dozen large British freighters, including the 9,874-ton Beaverburn of Canadian Pacific steamships. Altogether the Germans sank about 35,000 tons of British shipping, which an official in London described as neither a bad nor a good week as far as Britain was concerned.

Educational Plan Of Legion War Services Has Approval Of Federal Government

The educational plan of the Canadian Legion War Services has the approval of the Federal Government

In orders issued for the Canadina Active Service Force the following appears.

For the information of all ranks the Minister of National Defence has authorized the provision of such facilities for education training as the exigencies of the service permit. These facilities will be provided by the Canadian Legion War Services Inc. in conjunction with the Canadian Association for Adult Education. Officers and soldiers will be permitted to make as much use of the facilities provided as they can during their spare time but this training will not be allowed to interfere with military training.

Two main classes of education will be available:

(a) Courses which will enable personnel to continue or complete their normal education according to the recognized standards of education up to matriculation standard and this will permit attendance at a university after discharge.

(b) Courses which will enable personnel to take up or continue learning a trade or similar vocational training for civil life.

The orders terminate with the following:

"It is the duty of every officer to explain to the troops under his command the details of his training where possible, to advise which courses a soldier should take and to arrange that those who wish to take advantage of the facilities can do so when the military situation permits.

Defence Attacks "Half Truths" Says Mackenzie

VANCOUVER, Feb. 10.—(CP). — With an accounting of his stewardship of the National Defense Ministry and a story of the government's efforts to build up Canada's defences in the last five years, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions, last night launched his campaign for re-election in the forthcoming Dominion election.

The British Columbia minister, shifted from the Defence to the Pensions Ministry in the cabinet shuffle shortly after the outbreak of war, was chosen at a Liberal convention to seek re-election in Vancouver Centre.

Mr. Mackenzie replied in his home-town for the first time to a series of criticisms made in Eastern Canada of his activities as Defence Minister. The criticisms, he said, were based upon "half truths."

He defended the government's Bren gun contract with the John Inglis Company, Toronto, which was drawn up in 1938, the company agreeing to manufacture 7,000 guns for the Canadian army and 5,000 for the British.

Guns Ready in April.

Although the company had been criticized as "inefficient" in charges before public investigations into the contract, he said, it has "been producing parts for several weeks past and will begin delivery of the completed guns in April, 1940—at least six months ahead of the time specified in the contract."

Declaring the magazines have already been tested and found satisfactory, Mr. Mackenzie said the company "has speeded up the rate of production so that not 1,000 guns as required by the contract, but 2,000 guns, will be produced in the first 12-month period."

Furthermore, the company had received "within the past few weeks" orders from the British War Office for 2,500 spare barrels. These would be produced without interfering with the production schedule of completed guns.

Those Two Inquiries

Two inquiries had been made into the Bren gun contract, the first by a Royal commission which found there was no evidence of corruption on the part of the defence minister or any member of his department, and the second by the public accounts committee of the House of Commons which failed to make a report.

Opposition members in the committee objected to reporting, he said, on the grounds the committee did not have sufficient evidence. The Royal commission reported in its findings, however, "that all documents had been produced and that all the facts had been brought out before the Commission."

Mr. Mackenzie said "only one conclusion is possible" in regard to the failure of the committee to report, "That the opposition members did not want to make a report, unless they could make a report condemning the government. After nine months of inquiry, they had not succeeded in finding any evidence to justify such a report."

Replying to Conservative charges of "lack of preparedness" at the outbreak of war, Mr. Mackenzie compared the state of defence last September with conditions prevailing in 1935 at conclusion of the Bennett administration, which had faced several crisis, including the Manchurian and Ethiopian wars, which brought the world "to the very brink of war."

In 1935 the Air Force had "No modern service planes, no bombs and no service ammunition. The navy had only two modern vessels. The magazines and shore equipment of the navy were in a very dilapidated state. The Militia was completely lacking in modern weapons and mechanical equipment. Our fortification works were not only inadequate, but the guns that we had were almost unserviceable."

Some Liberal Action

The newly-formed Liberal government turned its first attention in regard to defence to the Air Force. Previously, all planes required had been purchased in Great Britain, but the entire capacity of the British aircraft industry at that time was required for the Royal Air Force.

Purchase of planes in the United States was undesirable because the neutrality policy of that countrw might "cut off this source of supply when most needed, in time of war."

The Government, despite the lack of plants, trained engineers and skilled workmen, decided to sponsor an aircraft industry in Canada, dismissing allegations of political favoritism in connection with the building up of the industry as "sheer nonsense."

Extensive delays were encountered when it was found the first plans and specfications sent out by the British government proved unsuitable and, later, when modifications were made in the design of the accepted plane.

"The cost of this development program has undoubtedly been great. If we were simply to divide that cost by the number of aircraft produced, the cost per plane would indeed be excessive. But we have much more to show for our expenditure than a relatively small number of aircraft. We have created an industry. We have 5,000 skilled aircraft workers in Canada.

Empire Flying Centre.

"We brought the British Air Ministry to Canada with an educational order of $10,000,000. To-day, Canada is the Empire's aviation centre."

When war broke out, the former defence minister said, Canada had "approximately 300 aircraft and another 100 under construction and well on the way toward completion. A majority of these had since been completed.

"With the knowledge we have of the presence in the Atlantic of raiding enemy vessels, who can doubt that if Canada had been defenceless the enemy would have attacked?' he asked. "The highest acme of defence efficiency is that the enemy shall be deterred from attacking at all."

Canada had the benefit of that efficiency.

Referring to charges the army was improperly clad during the early months of the war, Mr. Mackenzie said the defence department had found it impossible to provide for clothing and boots before 1939 because of expenditures on aircraft, naval vessels, guns, ammunition and fortification works which had received priority. In addition, Canada had the manufacturig capacity to turn out boot sand clothing on short notice.

Cannot Contact Tommies Berlin Laments

BERLIN, Feb. 10—(AP). — Six members of a French patrol and one German were killed, the German News Agency claimed to-day, in a clash of scouts on the western front near Forbach.

The Agency said the clash came unexpectedly as each patrol apparently decided to scout the same area between the lines. After several minutes of brisk rifle and machine-gun fire, artillery joined the fight, it said.

The Agency stated that "it still is impossible to come in contact with English soldiers who are supposed to be in the front lines."

At one part of the line, the Agency claimed, the French and Germans conversed by means of placards, the Germans asking, "Where is Tommy?" and getting the reply, "In England."

(General Viscount Gort, Commander-in-Chief of the British army in France, only last night completed a tour of the British section of the Maginot Line, during which he discussed with post commanders the action being taken to maintain close contact with the enemy.

Pancake Social Held At Warsaw

WARSAW, Feb. 10—(ENS).—Considering the bad weather a large number attended the pancake social given by the W.A. of the United Church on Tuesday evening. The supper of pancakes and maple syrup was thoroughly enjoyed as was the program which followed. The first was to ask for volunteers to eat a soda biscuit and then try to whistle. Miss Beavis, Miss Lobb and Mr. Hampton did and created lots of fun. Then followed a Treasure Trail program of 55 questions. Small prizes were given for all correct answers.

Nights, Days Fair Or Foul All Same to Crews Who Man Maginot Line Every Minute

PARIS, Feb. 10—(AP)—Wartime life for the garrisons of France's Maginot line is a strange mixture of the monkish and the military with monotony as a concomitant and daylight a rarity worthy of exclamation.

Secluded in the subterranean depths of the great fortresses all they know of the war is what they read in the papers, usually two days old.

In their artificially - lighted chambers, the soldiers know no distinction between day and night, fair weather and foul. When they go into the line they go to stay, cut off from the world above except for 10-day leaves every four months.

Because the line's big guns must be manned 24 hours a day, the self-styled "shellfish" troops may eat breakfast at nightfall and dine heartily on soup, meat, potatoes and wine in the early morning.

Each man sleeps eight hours a day, but in the chill of winter he kicks off the covers, and in warm weather he needs blankets— for underground it is so cold in summer that a central heating system is used, and in winter the warmth of the earth is sufficient.

There are movies, radios, books and games to amuse the men. They may attend a movie after breakfast or tune in on setting-up exercises at dinnertime, depending on their shift.

Thanks to an elaborate air-conditioning system, designed to keep out gas, they can smoke cigarettes bought in the fortress canteens. These little underground stores also sell chocolate, stationery and similar items.

Amateur Concert Is Held In Ennismore

ENNISMORE, Feb. 9.—(ENS.) — An enthusiastic audience filled the parish hall on Monday evening for an amateur concert sponsored by the Young People's Club of St. Martin's parish. The program, which featured unusually interesting and varied numbers, was opened with community singing, with Miss Geraldine Kennedy as pianist.

An old time 'fiddlers' contest was won by Patrick Cadigan, with Tom Morrissey capturing the prize in the modern violinists' number.

Winners of prizes in their respective vocal classes were: Mrs. John F. Young and the O'Rielly sisters (Margaret and Gloria), also Ella Crough, Regina Killen and Mark Crough. Honors for yoddling numbers went to Tom Murray and Harold Flood.

In the step-dancing contest prizes were awarded to Leo and Pat Morrissey.

Step Dancing Contest.

Varied novelty numbers were presented with Lo Scollard claiming the honors with his dancing nigger dummy. Tom Morrissey very ably accompanied the coloured dancer. Judged as a novelty number, Eileen Carroll won a prize for her mouth organ selection.

Much appreciated contributed numbers wer a recitation by Mrs. Frank J. Young in which she very ably portrayed her art as an elocutionist, and a piano selection by Norma, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Crough, a music pupil of St. Mary's Convent, Peterborough.

In a musical quizz contest the following contestants won prizes by their aptness in recognizing old-time and modern songs played by Miss Geraldine Kennedy, as pianist. Leo Morrissey, Leo Scollard, Haldamand Doran, Jim Guiry and Regina Killen.

Accompanists during the evening were Geraldine Kennedy, Mrs. John E. O'Donoghue, Mrs. Dan K. Crough, Mrs. Geo. Hynes, Irvine Twomey, Carl Twomey and Tom Morrissey.

McNaughton Given 2 Portraits By King

ALDERSHOT, Feb. 10. — (CP Cable.)—As a memento of his v[illegible] to Aldershot camp Jan. 24, the Ki[illegible] has presented two autographed portraits of himself to Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton and to the First Division of the Canadian Active Service Force.

The portraits, a head and shoulder exposure, are the latest taken of the King. He is wearing the uniform, including cap, of a field marshal. At the bottom right hand corner of the mounting appears the royal signature. "George R. I. 24/1/40." Accompanying the gift was a personal note from His Majesty to the Canadian commander.

If it is found impracticable to take the division's picture with the troops when they leave for a more active theatre of war, it will be sent to Canada for safe keeping. In such an event it is suggested a place of honor would be given it on the walls of the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

It is also proposed to send to Ottawa the original of the King's message on Dec. 17 to the first flight of Canadian troops. At Ottawa it would be placed with appropriate ceremony in the archives along with other historic documents.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

THE GOD OF HOPE

THE GOD OF HOPE fill you with all joy and peace in believing that ye may abound in hope through the power of the Holy Ghost.—Romans 15:13.

The God of love is familiar to you, but the God of hope startles you. It is remarkable that the word "hope" is not found in the Gospels. Our Lord taught the necessity of faith. "Have faith in God" is His repeated command. Why did He not mention hope? Our Lord, above all teachers, concentrated attention upon Himself. This is the remarkable distinction of His teaching. "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give rest unto your souls." "I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me."

The great New Testament scholar, Bishop Westcott, writes: The fact of Our Lord never mentioning his own faith or hope is a proof of His Divinity." So you can clearly see that it was not till after His death and resurrection that the Apostle St. Paul could teach: "Christ is our hope." The foundation lay in the tremendous claim: "I am the way, the truth and the life."

Hope is a natural instinct of mankind. When a man gives up hope he dies intellectually and spiritually. A young man toils and denies himself in his work, trade or profession in the hope of success in the days to come. It nerves his arm, strengthens his character.

The Christian also should have hope. In these dark days with the horrors that are not afar off, and multitudes who are in suffering and anxiety, it is not easy to have hope. One thing is necessary for hope. It must be based upon a great and sure foundation.

Do you believe in God and in the New Testament revelation of Himself through Jesus Christ His Only Begotten Son? This is the rock of all true hope. God exists and above all God has taken a real interest in mankind by sending His only Son Jesus Christ to take upon Him our flesh and to be made man. As this thought is quietly pondered upon and grips your mind and soul a spiritual strength comes into your whole being to face undauntedly the darkest days.

Jesus Christ came into this world to reveal God, to tell us what God is like. He is the perfect image of the Father. "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" is His own claim. As one has said: "Jesus Christ is the great Revealer of God." Do you believe in that revelation?

God sent His son, not to reveal any secrets of science, which man can discover for himself; but that which man cannot discover by his own ability God has condescended to reveal.

Jesus Christ has revealed the truth that God not only exists but that He is good and take san interest in mankind, whom He has made in His own image. God wants man to help Him in the founding of His Kingdom on earth. As your faith deepens in God you are helping Him to build that Kingdom and your hope increases that His Kingdom will be completed in God's own good time.

One thing you must realize as you read these Gospels. There is a note intimacy when Our Lord speaks of God as His Father. "I and the Father are one" is His quiet assurance to His Apostles, who had been with Him for three years and they felt its truth. He is sure of His knowledge about God. There is a note of authority in that revelation of the Father.

But the awful horror is that His life ends on the Cross; He dies as a malefactor—an apparent failure. He trusted in God and God did not deliver Him from the shameful death. Yet His hope is strong. With His dying breath He cries: "Father, into thy Hands I commend My Spirit." And the Father did not disappoint Him. On the third day God raised Him from the dead and He ever liveth to make intercession for us before the Father's throne.

This is our hope in the darkest days. We believe that through all the apparent failure and darkness God will triumph. "The Lord God omnipotent reigneth."

This is our better hope. What is your part in this hope? Can you personally face the darkness with a quiet mind which is stayed upon God by the power of the Holy Spirit?

"THOUGH HE SLAY ME, YET WILL I PUT MY TRUST IN HIM."

Plainville Church Has Fine Year

PLAINVILLE, Feb. 10—(ENS)—There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Plainville United Church considering the condition of the roads for motoring. The Young People's Union led the worship service with Earl Joice in charge.

Reports on the whole were encouraging. All the officers were re-elected except the auditors who are Thomas McKinley and one to be appointed by the Board of Stewards.

The local finances showed a better balance than last year. The budget revealed the sum of $1,040.66 raised during the year. The Missionary and Maintenance Fund was $178.00, a slight decrease from last year. Contributions were also made to the Sick Children's Hospital, the Refugee Fund and the Temperance Federation. The Women's Missionary Society raised $176.

The Sunday School reports a 60 per cent increase in average attendance for 1939 over 1938. The Young People's Union contributed to Alderville Mission financially and by leading in two worship services at the Alderville Church.

The session reports 1 baptism, 3 burials and 1 marriage.

Votes of appreciation were tenddered to the choir under the leadership of Mr. Wilbur Cole; to the Sunday School under Mr. Gerald Lander's leadership; to various officers in the different organizations for their splendid work, and to Mr. and Mrs. Mellow with a cordial invitation to remain another year.

The meeting closed with prayer and the ladies served lunch.

Mr. Herb Lander was in charge of the services on the Gore's Landing, Bethesda and Plainville circuit Sunday owing to illness of the pastor, Rev. H. Mellow.

Miss Ada Lander has returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tinney, near Port Hope.

Loyalty Is Theme Of W.M.S. Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10 (ENS)—Loyalty was the theme of the monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. which met on Tuesday, with the president, Mrs. Robert McCulloch, presiding. Mrs. A. G. Thompson who gave the principal address of the afternoon urged all secretaries to have their reports in promptly. The work taken from the study book was divided into two parts both of which were taken by Mrs. A. C. Connor. The first part was in the form of questions and answers and the second dealt with the influence of Christian missions on the women of India.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. P. B. Nelson, minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Storie, who read members the invitation from the Young Ladies' Mission Circle to attend their 30th anniversary banquet to be held on February 20. Mrs. Fred Adamson gave the treasurer's report and Mrs James Storie's group was placed in charge of the March meeting. Reports of calls made during the month of January were given by Mrs. Connor and Miss Neill, and Mrs. Thomson gave an outline of the Presbyterial meeting recently held in Peterborough.

Watching From The Sidelines

David Lloyd George, who steered the destinies of England during the last war, is not playing an active role in this one. The Welsh "wizard" is sticking close to his farming and is shown here with his favorite chow as he set out on a tour of inspection of his estate at Churt. Lloyd George was 77 last month.

Parable of the vineyard

Highlights Of S.S. Lesson

THE PERILS OF REJECTING CHRIST

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 11 is Matt. 21:17-22:14, the Golden Text being John 14:6, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by Me.")

THE OCCURRENCES in today's lesson take place just a week before Jesus' crucifixion. Jesus left the temple, you remember, after turning out the money-changers and answering the chief priests who were angered because the children in the temple had cried "Hosannah to the Son of David!" He spent the night at Bethany with His friends, Lazarus, Mary and Martha.

One morning He started to go to Jerusalem, and, being hungry, He would have plucked figs from a fig tree nearby, but found it was barren, no figs on it. Appearing to give way to human anger, Jesus pronounced a curse upon the tree: "Let no fruit grow on thee henceforward for ever," he said. And presently the fig tree withered away.

The apostles coming upon it next day, marvelled that it had withered so soon. Commentators agree that the fig tree represented Israel, which was often recognized as a symbol for the race. It was cursed not because it was barren, but because it was false. Jesus was showing what would happen to the nation if they refused to receive Him as their Saviour. To His disciples He said that the quick withering of the tree showed what could be done by faith. They could remove mountains if they had enough faith. "All things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive." He told them.

Chief Priests Question Him

When He arrived at the temple the chief priests came to Him asking by what authority did He teach there and cast out the money-changers? Jesus countered with a question which they dared not answer: "The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven or of men?" "We cannot tell," they answered. Then Jesus told them a parable about a man who called one of his sons and asked him to go to work in the vineyard. The son said he would not, but later repented of his answer and went to work. Then he called the other son who said he would work, but did not. Which was the better son? Jesus asked. Of course they said the one who refused but worked. Then Jesus reminded them they had rejected John, and sinners had believed and followed, and that sinners would go to heaven before them.

He also told them the parable of the man who owned a vineyard and let it out to husbandmen while he went to a far country. When the harvest time came he sent servants to receive the fruits of the vineyard, but the husbandmen beat one, stoned another and killed a third. Again he sent more servants, but they were treated the same. Lastly, he sent his son, thinking the husbandmen would respect him, but they killed him. Then the lord of the vineyard went to punish these wicked men, and destroyed them.

"Jesus said unto them, Did ye never read in the scriptures, the stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner; this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

"Therefore I say unto you, The Kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to the nation bringing forth the fruits thereof. And whatsoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder."

He Spoke of Them

And Matthew tells that when the chief priests and Pharisees heard these words they knew that He spoke of them. And it has so come to pass, has it not? Jesus is the chief stone of the Kingdom, and when they rejected Him they were indeed destroyed and scattered.

One more parable Jesus spake that day. It was concerning a certain king who made a marriage for his son. He sent forth his servants to invite certain ones to the ceremony and feast, but none came, and when he sent them again the invited guests made light of the invitation and even killed the servants. So the king called out his army and destroyed those who treated him so disrespectfully. Then he told his servants to go into the highways and call all those they met to come to the feast. A multitude came, and when they were all assembled he saw one who had not troubled to dress in a suitable garment. And him the king ordered thrown out, "into outer darkness." This man probably represents those who hear the call of the Master but come to Him clothed not in righteousness.

Those who were called to the marriage feast were those who first heard the gospel and refused to listen. The second lot were those who not only refused to listen, but who killed the bearers of the good tidings—Jesus, then Paul and the apostles. And those who came partook of the feast were those who accepted the Christ and followed Him.

Conquest of Fear Is WM.S. Topic

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10 (ENS)—"The Conquest of Fear" was the well planned subject taken by Mrs. E. C. Roberts as a part of the program at the monthly meeting of St John's W.M.S. on Tuesday afternoon. She was capably assisted in presenting her subject by the presentation of Biblical texts outlining the promises against fear presented by Mrs. Jack Clarke, Mrs. Hutcheon, Mrs. Free, and Mrs. Steele. Mrs. Roberts also told the story of St. Valentine and of the good he did and why the day is honored and messages of love sent. Other items on the program included a paper on the "Untouchables of India," which told how Christianity had raised their status among the other peoples. This was given by Mrs. W. Johnston.

During the business portion of the meeting the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, with the latter's statement indicating a balance of $50.33 on hand for the end of the first month of the year. Twenty-seven visits, particularly to newcomers, had been made during the month, according to Mrs. C. W. Turner. Mrs. A. L. Malcolm and Mrs. C. K. Stephen were appointed visitors for February. Thank you letters from Mrs. Wragg, Mrs. S. Twigg, Mrs. Irwin, and W. I. Stillman were read by the corresponding secretary.

Members dwelt at some length on planning the bale, which is to be sent in March. It was pointed out the items required were mainly for use in hospitals and some for an Indian School. Several donations for the bale were received, and on March 5, the date of the next meeting, a shower for the other items needed will be held.

Perils of Rejecting Christ — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 21:17-22:14

Jesus being hungry one morning was going to pick some figs from a tree, but the tree was barren. "Let no fruit grow on thee henceforth forever,' He said; and the tree withered.

When the disciples saw the tree next day they marveled that it had withered so soon. "If ye have faith," Jesus told them, "all things ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive."

In the temple Jesus told the chief priests a parable about a man who asked one son to work in the vineyard. He refused, but repented and worked. The other son promised to work, but did not.

Which did the will of his father? asked Jesus? The first, they replied. Then Jesus upbraided them because they had rejected John the Baptist.

No Letter From Home

There is one Canadian soldier at Aldershot camp, and a despatch indicates he is lonely, particularly on days when mail arrives from home and there are no letters for him. No news from home.

It is explained that his parents are pacifists; that is, they do not believe in war. We are willing enough to grant them the right to hold such views as they please because that is one of the many privileges people enjoy in this country.

We learn too that when their son enlisted for service in the Canadian army he did so against their wishes and advice. He was of age and he possessed the right to make his own decision, because that is also one of the privileges of citizenship.

But when the mail comes and all the others receive letters from home he gets none. Not a word from mother or father, and possibly each time he draws a blank on mail day he lives again the scenes through which he passed prior to his enlistment and afterward.

The parents are punishing this Canadian soldier by silence, and we know of nothing which cuts deeper into a sensitive nature. No letter from home; nothing to indicate that the last tie with the parents has not been completely severed. No evidence of the love and kindness and toleration and sympathy which go to make a home the dearest place in the world.

So the young fellow at Aldershot has received nothing to indicate that the latch key's in the door and on the outside; not a word to cause him to believe that there will be a light burning in the window. Just dull, hard and unlovable silence.

If that soldier's name were known there would be plenty of folk in the country who would gladly write to him and letters would be tangible tokens that people considered the soldier made a proper decision. And yet if such letters did come in great volume there would remain that strong desire so much akin to yearning for a message that had the ink, the envelope and the handwriting of home.

Not The Best System

The "$1-a-year-men" who go to Ottawa or elsewhere during a war period have been receiving attention. They get that name because they are paid the nominal sum of $1 so they may be regarded as being in the employ of the government. But they are entitled to draw living allowance and expenses, and there have been times when these allowances seem to be liberal, ranging as they do from $10 to $15 per day, and at times up to $20 per day.

A Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa says that living allowances and other expenses drawn by 33 of these $1-a-year men in the service of the Federal Government have totalled about $11,000 for the first five months of the war. It is added that if they were drawing the salaries from the Government which they are paid by industry the amount would have been $75,000. Several of them are said to be paying their own expenses and accepting nothing at all from the Government. That is a fine attitude for a man to take when he can afford to do so.

It is quite possible that there might be other men highly qualified for certain work, but they might not be able to pay their own way and would find it necessary to draw their living allowances and expenses. The Government is reported as preparing an analysis of living allowances and expenses drawn by the entire list of men who are under the covering heading of $1 a year.

At best it is rather a loose system. It would be better to place a fair salary for any particular piece of work which needs doing, and if the occupant of the post does not desire to accept it then he could turn the money back to the war chest. It would not be beneath the dignity of any man to accept a lower salary from the Government in war years than he earns in times of peace. There are countless people who go into the army for $1.30 per day but who earn more than that in their regular occupation.

Poultry Is Big Business

The operator of a poultry farm near Brantford, which is said to be the largest in the Dominion, appeared before the Agricultural Committee of the Ontario Legislature and asked that poultry be given the same sort of protection as sheep. In this way: When sheep are killed by dogs then provision is made whereby the owner can reclaim part of the loss. But were the same dogs to start out and kill chickens it's just too bad but nothing more. There is no way to secure redress. It was stated that the poultry business in Ontario is a $19,000,000 affair, whereas sheep stack up around the figure of $6,000,000.

It is not likely the chicken protective proposal will get far; not possible that it will find itself inscribed in legislation. The suggestion has been offered before but it never got any farther than leaving china eggs or door knobs in the legislative nest.

But it does indicate how far the poultry business has advanced. A $19,000,000 industry is enough to make a farm resident of forty or fifty years ago blink. At that time no person paid much attention to poultry. Most places if there were enough eggs to sell now and then it was taken for granted that the proceeds belonged to the ladies in the house. They fed the chickens and nursed the frozen combs in winter time No person at that time could possibly have looked ahead to the day when chickens would be seriously mentioned as being fit or worthy to be numbered among the things regarding which laws would be passed. But poultry is big business today, big to the extent of $19,000,000 in Ontario.

Let The Buyer Beware

Will there be any added protection to people who have money to invest by making more changes and amendments in the Securities Act? Col. Drew who had charge of that department for some time states the best protection is with the people themselves if they are so minded to work under the principle "let the buyer beware."

Attorney-General Conant cited one case, that of an aged couple who were persuaded to trade $8,000 in Government bonds for worthless mining stock. Cases of that kind could be multiplied, and often enough if people have not taken on mining stock of which they knew nothing they have gone in for something else of equal worthlessness.

The illustration used by Mr. Conant shows that the mere licensing of securities salesmen does not do much for the protection of the individual buyer. The only check there is that if the salesman were caught in the act of something which looked like a swindle his license might be taken from him.

But the fact that a salesman does possess a license does not necessarily increase the worth of the offerings which he makes to the public. There are so many offerings being brought to the attention of the public that it stands to reason they cannot all be good. The average individual is not a shrewd investor, and the same average individual would save himself a good deal of money and numerous headaches if he would admit that and act accordingly.

Truth is that very few people in this part of the province have ever seen a mine; they know nothing at all about such things. They could not interpret intelligently a report even if it were a reliable one, and therefore they are at a disadvantage when such properties are brought to their attention as a place for investing their money.

If you do not know anything or much about such matters, then it would be sound good judgment to ask some person who would and could secure the information for you. For instance go and ask the banker. That is the reason there are managers and accountants and staffs in banks. If they cannot answer your question they will secure the answer elsewhere, and you can well afford to sit back and wait until the answer does come. Then if your banker has advice, caution or a word of warning to offer pay attention to it. The policy advocated by Col. Drew, "let the buyer beware" is just about as sound as anything which could be offered.

A Real Telephone Service

Recently old-fashioned days have been recalled. Peterborough merchants were advertising old-fashioned bargains, and some of the type and lettering would be familiar enough to the old-fashioned printer. The Bell Telephone Co. in marking 60 years of existence, has been doing the same thing. By sketch and word they are contrasting in their advertising things as they used to be with things as they are today. They show the old-fashioned parlor, the old-fashioned street with its rows of poles and collection of wires, and they contrast it with the modern street on which never a pole rears itself. And admittedly your modern street does look better.

There is something which the discerning publicity men of the telephone company seem to have missed; perhaps they never knew of its existence. That was the old-fashioned service which used to be given in the old-fashioned village which we knew remarkably well. So well that it could be called affectionate intimacy.

The telephone office was in one of the village drug stores—there were two such places—and the operator was a youngish sort of lady who had been born and brought up in the place. So she knew every person and every person's habits. Possibly there were telephone books in existence then, but they were little thumbed and less used. You just cranked up the machine and Miss Lucy at central did the rest. She's probably begin by asking how you were feeling, and you'd wind up by telling her you wanted to speak to Hank Green. She never said "Number please," and she never said "Party does not answer." Hank bought cattle and grain and spent his working hours between the village scales and the grain elevator down by the freight shed. Lucy knew Hank and knew his habits and his routine. She could look out the window on Main street and she knew Hank wasn't at the scales. Then she became aware he would have gone down past the Union Hotel on the way to the elevator, and she could place a bet on the fact that he'd slip into the bar at the Union and have a drink. So she would reply that she'd call you back in about ten minutes and have Hank on the line. She had him timed like a stop watch, and in ten minutes she'd have Hank on the line.

There was no telephone in the village printing office, so we used the one in the grocery store next door often enough. Lucy knew all about that and she never complained. Of course the Bell Co. has grown a lot since then. A whole lot we should judge, and they have it now so that we jiggle and twist and turn a little spinning wheel and call our own numbers, but never have they produced a personal service, a detective service and an information bureau combined equal to the one which Miss Lucy used to operate back home. We only wish the publicity department had given us a chance to tell them about Lucy before they started on their 60-year celebration. She was worthy of recognition to a far greater extent than chopping down poles on the main street.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The tax collector in Nelson, B.C., wanted a raise, but instead they got him a new set of books, and the work is so much easier now that he says the salary is O.K.

Ottawa reports that the deficit for the year was $5,000,000 less than had been anticipated. That is something which used to be referred to as taking a little sunshine out of a cucumber.

One Peterborough lady told the enumerators when asked for her occupation: "Minding babies and cooking meals." And when it comes to March 26 who is going to carry on while she goes out to vote?

A switchman on an Iowa railroad completed 30 years of service without an accident. When he was changing his shoes at the locker someone stepped on his foot and he was laid up for six weeks.

Man in Woodstock goes down for a 5-year term for theft and a short time ago he was released after serving a similar term. He must be an admirer of the 5-year plan as they used to talk of it in Russia.

If one is to judge the esteem in which a man is held by the number of inquiries regarding his condition, then it is a plain fact that Lord Tweedsmuir stands high in the minds of Canadians. The nation is united that way, and if fond hopes and fervent good wishes can do it Lord Tweedsmuir will soon be on the way to recovery.

COMFORT

¶ My Uucle Jed was in today, was in no haste to get away, he stopped to air his views; he had some shopping to be done, among the items there was one, himself a pair of shoes.

¶ I knew when he got through with that, he wouldn't just reach for his hat, and start off heading home; he'd start to do some fixing then, and like a lot of other men, he'd do his job alone.

¶ For Jed has trouble with his feet, on days of cold or lots of heat, and they keep rather sore; the shoes he gets fit well enough, but after that he does his stuff, and makes them fit some more.

¶ For he has corns both left and right, so he can't stand his shoes being tight, he likes them loose when new; he's got a callous spot on there, and I have heard when he'd declare, he had some bunions too.

¶ So when Jed starts upon his feet, his new shoes don't stay very neat, he alters them a lot; he slits them where the bunions hit, and slits them so pet corns will fit, a diagram he's got.

¶ And when he puts them on his feet, the new shoes don't look extra neat, he walks around the floor; and if he finds a place they'll squeeze, then Jed drops down upon his knees—and starts to slit some more.

QUIT COMPLAINING

This letter appears in the correspondence columns of the New York Herald Tribune:

Sir,—Why must we continually badger England on the inconvenience of holding up our mail? Aren't they fighting to save our civilization as a whole? A large amount of contraband has been sent through the neutral countries to Germany.

Let's stop, look and listen and thank God for the British Navy.

PRIME MINISTER

NO, a national government means in plain terms a Manion government and nothing else. Under our system the person of the Prime Minister is of almost paramount importance. He is not merely the chief of the ministers. He is a man apart with unequalled power in a crisis, as Mr. King demonstrated last week when he, alone possessing the right of dissolution, determined the course of our current history. The question is whether Canada wants Dr. Manion in that position, whether it thinks he can fill it better than Mr. King.—Vancouver Sun.

• Living In Conquered Warsaw

From the Manchester Guardian

IN SPITE of drastic Nazi attempts to establish order in Poland life in Warsaw is still far from normal. This can be clearly learned from the press and the statement of Poles who managed to leave the country after the war. Almost a third of the capital is still in ruins and the prices of food are excessively high. Clothing is scarce. A pound of potatoes now costs over fourpence and bread is six times the pre-war price. Theoretically the Nazi rulers are supposed to issue twice weekly half a pound of bread a head, but in practice this is done only once a week. Meat is scarce and dear. Lard costs five times as much as before.

A great shortage of petrol, coal, and glass is felt. Petrol costs seven zlotys a litre, which is seven times more than before, and coal comes to 100 zlotys (over £4) a ton. The price paid for window panes comes often to £1, and even at that price glass is not obtainable.

Owing to the shortage of petrol the buses have not been allowed to run. Only a few tram lines are working, chiefly those linking the centre of the city with Zolibor, one of the finest suburbs of Warsaw.

As the Nazis do not allow any Poles to walk the city after certain hours at night the former night life so characteristic of Warsaw has completely disappeared. Cafes and restaurants are, however, open and even crowded. But it is enough for a German officer to enter any cafe to cause many Poles to walk out immediately in protest. The Germans are shunned. Most of them prefer to keep to their own company, knowing that they will find no one wishing to associate with them.

There is little talk, as everyone is afraid of the Gestapo, which is everywhere. The familiar reading of newspapers in the cafes has ceased.

Trade and commerce still exist, but on a limited scale. Most of the larger shops have been destroyed; those which remained were emptied by the Nazis soon after their arrival and the goods taken away or sent to Germany.

The water reservoirs have already been partially mended, and there is now sufficient water in the centre of Warsaw, but the suburbs are still not properly supplied. Gas and electricity are still limited. Only three districts in Warsaw have gas, and less than half Warsaw has electricity.

Although many houses are in ruins there is no special shortage of flats and rooms. This is because many inhabitants have been evacuated or have fled, while thousands of Polish families are still leaving Warsaw for the country, where life is less unbearable and where the Germans are not seen in such large numbers as in Warsaw.

Culturally Warsaw is almost a dead city. Very few schools have been allowed to reopen, and most of the school buildings are still occupied by the invaders. In addition, the Nazis have now started a revision of all Polish school books and are not allowing the use of the old ones. The tendency is now for several families to join together and arrange makeshift schools for their children where Polish history is taught by heart and national songs sung quietly and sadly.

Cheerfulness, merriment, and music have completely disappeared from a city which was the gayest and most lively in Eastern Europe. Not even the wireless can be heard, as all wireless sets have been taken away by the Nazis.

• Leave Door Open To The Courts

ALL fair-minded people will concede the right of the Ontario government to impose death duties on the estates of deceased persons in a reasonable measure, but they will regard with serious suspicion any attempt by the government to deprive any dissenting heir from appealing to the courts of the land for a final interpretation of his or her rights.

The people of Canada have confidence in the courts and they ought not to be prevented from going to such tribunals when they feel that they are being unjustly dealt with through legislation enacted by a necessarily fallible body.

The Ontario Succession Duties Act has been the subject of considerable public criticism. It has notorious retroactive powers. Man of those who have been subjected to the disabilities of that feature of the legislation have submitted only because they felt that they had no chance to defend themselves against an autocratic and arbitrary law quite out of place in a land which is supposed to cherish the principles of democracy.

How many people are in a position to refute charges based on actions of forty years ago? Yet the Ontario Succession Duties Act, fortified by assent of the Legislature, makes it possible to bring accusations of dishonesty against citizens who are not in a position to provide the evidence which would illuminate the intentions and the actions of those who disposed of estates several decades ago.

The only defensible course for the Ontario government to adopt is to leave the entire scope of the Succesion Duties Act open to interpretation by the courts, when there is a dispute as to any of its provisions. It will not cost the province anything to do that. — Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

NOT QUITE UNKNOWN

PRESIDENT WILSON used to find pleasure in relating how he once had his special car sidetracked at Hannibal, Mo., so he could make a quiet pilgrimage to the monument, erected on the bluff, to Mark Twain. Unknown to the natives, he asked one of them if he remembered Tom Sawyer.

"Never heard of him," the Missourian made answer.

"Do you recollect Huckleberry Finn?" asked the President.

"Finn? Finn?" mused the native. "There was a family of Finns down the road apiece, but I don't think there was a Huckleberry among 'em."

"Do you happen to recall Puddin'-head Wilson?"

"Oh, yes, sure; I voted for him twice, sir."—Wall Street Journal.

SEPARATE ROOMS

AUTHORIZED to meet German shipowners to discuss problems of cargoes detained in neutral ports, four representatives of British shipping interests flew to Rotterdam, where the meeting was to take place. The Nazi Government, however, would not let their nationals meet the Englishmen face to face. The parties were to occupy separate rooms and conduct their business through a Dutch intermediary; and, to see that the order was scrupulously observed, an official of the Nazi Foreign Office was attached to the German delegation.—London Times.

PLIGHT OF THE M.P.'S

Miss Agnes Macphail says that "most of" the members went to Ottawa for the expected session of Parliament on borrowed money, expecting to pay it back from their sessional indemnity. Not much wonder the country goes deeper in the red, if the legislators can't balance their own budgets.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

SERVICE ON HOME FRONT

Not so much glamor may attach to service on the home front as to service overseas, but the men employed on Canada's coastal defences, on her aerial and naval patrols, at her internment camps and on guard duty at strategic public works are performing equally essential national service and, in addition, finding it very cold and otherwise disagreeable work. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

OUR MONEY IN U. S.

(Letter to New York Herald Tribune)

I READ with much interest an article by your Ottawa staff correspondent who drew an unpleasant picture of Canadian visitors to the United States, who are being maltreated by unethical Americans.

Such profiteering is ill-timed and deplorable. It certainly is not conducive to maintaining the pleasant and mutually beneficial trade relations which have existed for so many years between the two countries. Through the action of the hotel industry, however, Canadians are being encouraged to continue their buying and business trips to the United States.

Many New York hotels are accepting Canadian money at par with United States money. This is a tangible, although relatively small, contribution to domestic prosperity and international good will.

MECCA IRKS MOSCOW

Moscow finds that its plans for extirpating religious superstition in Soviet Russia have not been 100 per cent realized. Pravda has a story from the ancient city of Osh in the heart of Central Asia, where a hill sacred to the Moslems has developed into a "second Mecca" for pilgrims seeking health through the efficacy of miraculous stones and springs. The practice has grown in the face of opposition from local Communists until the Atheist League now sees itself compelled to stage a big anti-religious drive in Central Asia.

It only shows how deep run the roots of popular superstition. They thrive in Turkestan, where pious Moslems make pilgrimages to the sacred hill of Osh, and in New York City, where a group of the American Youth Congress meets and adopts a resolution scorning the idea that any "moral issue" is involved in Russia's attack on Finland. Osh or bosh, it is the same fierce will to believe against the evidence. — New York Times.

To The Editor

THE ANGUS BREED

Editor Examiner

Sir,—As a former exhibitor and director at Peterborough Exhibition, I have taken an interest in reports of the meetings of the board of directors.

It was a matter of surprise to me when a member or members (as the case may be) of the board expressed disapproval of Edwards Bros. winnings.

Twenty years or so ago your directors were doing their utmost to have that class of exhibitor. In those days Peterborough was a class B exhibition and the directors would have been delighted to hav had a herd of the standard of Edwards as an exhibit.

Apparently a minority of the directors do not want class A shows to take in more territory than the surrounding counties.

You have, very appropriately, headed the paragraph dealing with the discontinuing of the Angus class—Why Angus Cattle?

It may be a surprise to Mr. Mann to know there are several herds, big and little, of Angus cattle within an hour's drive of Peterborough.

As a mater of fact I have quite recently purchased from Windsweep Farms Ltd. of Dunsford the good Pride Heifer, Prem Pride of Northlane, bred by Harry Leader, M.P., of Northlane, Man., as well as the J. D. Patterson bull Junior Ernest of Don Head, from an Imp. dam of the old Juana Erica family.

So while we have not been doing anything spectacular the Angus breed has been making progress.

With our nation fighting for its life this is a very inopportune time to suggest the discontinuing of a class of one of the best beef breeds or for that matter the beef industry in any form.

Counterfeit Plot Aimed At Balkans

TORONTO, Feb. 10 (CP).—Police claimed today to have thwarted a plot to distribute $200,000 worth of Canadian counterfeit money among banks in the Balkan countries. Under arrest are Mike Sawchuk in Toronto and Nancy Hill, alias Nancy Shapitka at Kirkland Lake and in possession of police is counterfeit money with a 'face value" of nearly $200,000.

Sawchuk was arrested here Monday on a vagrancy charge and today police said they seized a suitcase which belonged to Sawchuk which contained $53,200 in counterfeit bills. The suitcase with a false side was located in a Queen Street East restaurant where they said Sawchuk checked it. The vagrancy charge was changed to one of being in possession of counterfeit money.

When the woman was arrested at Kirkland Lake last Sunday police confiscated $140,000 in counterfeit notes, engraving plates, ink and rollers. She is held on a counterfeiting charge.

Police claim Sawchuk and the woman collaborated in manufacturing the notes and the man planned to pass them at banks in the Balkans, returning to Canada with real money. When apprehended Sawchuk had partially completed booking and passport arrangements for a trip to Bulgaria. The two operated a boarding house together at Noranda, Que., at one time, police said.

Fairmount Church Shows Progress

FAIRMOUNT, Feb. 10.—(ENS)—The congregational meeting was held in the hall on Monday evening with Rev. J. F. Everson in the chair. Reports from Sunday School superintendent, Mr. C. Seymour, the W.P.S. by F. R. McIndoo; Missionary Society by Miss H. Earle and the M. and M. fund by Mr. R. K Earle, showed a very successful year's work. The treasurer, Mr. J. O. Ball also gave a splendid report of the church work showing a substantial balance on hand. As the auditors who were appointed last year were unable to be present, R. K. Earle and F. R. McIndoo reported the books in splendid shape.

Rev. Everson then gave his report for member which showed an increase of two, removal of two with a membership of 66.

The following stewards were elected: R. K. Earle, G. H. Hooton, P. B. Seymour, J. O. Ball, R. Earle, C. W. Seymour, W. B. Johnston, H. McArthur The secretary and treasurer were re-appointed, namely R. Earle and J. O. Ball; Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, organist; ushers, Roy Hooton, W. Edgerton and Roy Ballantyne; auditors, R. K. Earle and F. R. McIndoo; caretaker, H. McArthur.

Rev. J. F. Everson and T. W. McIndoo were appointed to secure speaker for thank-offering service.

Discussions on old records of Fairmount were held but as nothing had been done in the filing of them, the committee in charge is planning on starting it this term.

Mr. T. W. McIndoo and J. O. Ball were appointed to take charge of the dishes and tables. Election of two elders will take place on Feb. 18 as their time has expired.

Bernard Smith Heads Joint Havelock Board

HAVELOCK, Feb. 10—(ENS).—In accordance with resolutions passed by both bodies just previous to the new year, Havelock's High School Board and Public School Board assembled for their first joint meeting on Wednesday evening. Strong criticism has been directed against regulations making it necessary for the two boards to hold separate monthly meetings, since the time the local high school body came into being. Three years ago an attempt to form a union board of education was abruptly halted by information from the Deputy-Minister of Education "that a high school board and a public school board may form a union board only when the two boards have been formed for the same municipality." Havelock public school, however, is in a union section, serving pupils from a portion of Belmont township in addition to Havelock, while the high school serves only the village.

An effort to solve the local problem has finally been devised, whereby the two boards will assemble together for their meetings, yet remain as two distinct bodies in other respects, the one being formed by appointme[illegible] and the other by public ballot. A motion at Wednesday night's meeting outlined the plan as follows: "That the Havelock Public School Board and the Havelock High School Board meet jointly on the 3rd Monday of each month for the purpose of conducting the future business of both boards and that a chairman for the joint board be elected, and also a vice-chairman who is a member of the board of which the chairman is not a member, all trustees voting in both cases. Copies of this resolution are to be forwarded to the village council, the county council and the Minister of Education.

Accordingly the meeting proceeded with both boards participating, and Bernard Smith, a representative of the public school body was elected chairman of the joint board. Mrs. George Rigby was elected as vice-chairman. Committees appointed were as follows: Finance—Trustees D. F. Miller, D. Plunkett, H. W. Roche, and D. Anderson; Property—Trustees H. Bannon, Wm. Copp, P. T. Greenley, G. Whitney, J. Covert.

A motion to guide the treasurer, Edward Fennell, in handling the school accounts read as follows: "That the secretary-treasurer be authorized to open an account in the Bank of Toronto, Havelock, to be known as the 'common account' for the Havelock school boards, which account shall have to do only with the payment of such items of expenditure which are common to both bodies. Also that the secretary-treasurer be authorized each month, or from time to time as required, to transfer from the public school account and from the high school account to the above-mentioned common account, such sums, that are the total of the items as they appear in the list of monthly accounts, as due from and payable by the the two boards in common. It is understood also that the passing of the pay-sheet as presented by the treasurer authorizes the payment of all amounts appearing therein, unless a departure from the procedure supported by a motion of the Board is made.

Continuing with the routine business, the high school representatives on the property committee were instructed to supervise the changes in the science room as recommended by the inspector, and discussed at the last regular meeting.

On motion of Trustees Roche and Whitney, Trustee D. F. Miller was reappointed to the High School Board, as the public school's appointee to that group.

Principal W. D. Duncan, public school principal, reported the average attendance last month as 164.85, and also that Dr. D. J. Holdcroft, M.O.H., had made an inspection of the school.

Principal R. W. Goheen spoke regarding the High School commencement to be held here on Friday, February 16, and suggested that since the Literary Society looked after the expenses of auxiliary agencies such as this and field day, that that Board might assume the costs of the awards to be presented to the field day winners. The Board authorized the treasurer to pay above account.

J. T. BRAUND'S RINK CAPTURES PACKERS TROPHY IN 'SPIEL HERE

Curling Upset A Feature Of Competition

(By Herb. Martin.)

In one of the most startling upsets in the history of any Peterborough open bonspiel, J. T. Braund, with a "pick me up get together rink" came through with flying colors and grabbed off for himself and his rink first honors and the beautiful sterling silver Canada Packers Trophy yesterday. And just in passing, two weeks ago he did the same thing in the Morrow Trophy, only instead of gaining first place he was well up in the money. In presenting the cup to J. T., Gordon Matthews, manager of Canada Packers Company, said while he held nothing against anyone, he sure was pulling for J. T. to win, inasmuch as he had with him boys who were playing in bonspiels for the first time. He congratulated him on his sportsmanship and incidentally gave the "four skip rink" a wee little dig.

President D. Carlisle presided at the presentation of prizes and thanked all who had come out to help make the contest a success.

Behind the Glass.

Notwithstanding the mild weather during the middle of the week the ice was in first-class condition.

Albert Bottum, Bobcaygeon, who has been coming to Peterborough 'spiels for many years, was an interested spectator. The boys gave him quite a hand at the presentation of prizes.

Having had to postpone the bonspiel from Wednesday, on account of the weather, may have had something to do with the falling off of the entries.

The slogan going around now is "Wait for Braund, and you are sure to land in the money."

It matters not to J.T. who's who or why. He just takes the run of the mill and usually comes well within the charmed circle.

The draw was in the hands of Secretary H. Foote, and he did a real job of it.

Now about Monday night. The postponed games of January 12 will be played and there will be two draws—7 and 9 p.m.

The Winners.

Peterborough — K. Currie, B. Austin, W. Hamilton, J. T. Braund, skip. Canada Packers Trophy and each a Tendersweet ham— 3 wins 36 plus 1.

Peterborough — A. Buck, E. Sackville, J. Welsh, T. McArthur, skip. Each a turkey—3 wins 35 plus 5.

Peterborough— C. Williamson, J. Harkness, H. R. Morton, C. Giroux, skip. Each a Tendersweet ham—2 wins 33 plus 4.

Peterborough — W. A. Graham, M. Wells, J. Richmond, R. Best, skip . Each a Tendersweet ham—2 wins 32 plus 10.

Bobcaygeon— R. Kennedy, R. Devitt, R. Bottum, Dr. Scott, skip. Each a side of bacon—2 wins 31—.

Peterborough — W. A. Davern, J. Hall, J. Cullen, B. Scott, skip. Each a case of canned goods — special prize.

City Carpetball

Five double headers reported this week. Curtis Brick Yard gang subdued the Past Presidents squad in a very decisive battle by the score of 43 to 10. Rumary's Antiques recovered some what from the drubbing they received from the Army Transport squad to set back the Fire Hall Orphans to stop those lads from keeping up with their work mates.

In taking four points from the Antiques the Transport squad pulled themselves out of the cellar, two points above the Fighting Parsons. The Jones Boys from the Fire Hall held the FRighting Macs in two good games whilst their mates the Fire Hall Scabs took three points from the South End Wanders.

The other double header was the League Babies stopping the Fighting Parsons and holding them down in the basement.

We expect to get the President's Cup entries all settled by the end of this week. Apparently No. 7 will be the only team not entering, unless they change their minds within the next few days. Let's hope so and make it 100 per cent this year.

Canadian Elected

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP). — John Gray of the Essex County Golf and Country Club, Windsor, Ont., Friday was elected president of the Greenskeeping Superintendents' Association to succeed Frank Emer of Cleveland. Gray is the first president to be elected from outside the United States. Although he is 57, his club signed him to a new 25-year-contract last month.

Orfuns In Lead With Win In Girls' Loop

Orfuns surged in front of the field of the Ladies' City Basketball last night by scoring a 23-15 win over their nearest pursuers, "Y" Gym while St. John's stayed well up in the running by taking Quaker Aces 19-9 and Westclox handed Quaker Debs another set back by a 9-7 count.

Westclox held a 7-3 margin at the half and although they were outscored in the final period they had enough left to pull out a narrow win. Debs led at the quarter mark 2-0 but the Alarm lasses had a big edge to lead 7-3 at the half. They led by the same score at the three quarter mark as both teams failed to score with the losers having a 4-2 scoring edge in the final chapter. Both teams passed and checked well but poor ball handling cut down scoring and slowed the game. Westclox made but one free throw in 14 tries and the Debs scored three in 11 shots. J. Crowe lead the winners with 6 points and R. Farr and J. Metcalfe were prominent for the Debs. The teams:

Westclox, 9—A. Flynn, B. Saunders, J. Hair, D. Dawson 3, C. Metcalfe, M. Goldie, J. Crowe 6, M. McFadden, P. Wolstenholme, I. Vivash, V. Britnell.

Quaker Debs 7—H. White 1, B. Femer, R. Farr 1, B. Frizzelle, D. Smith, A. Laign, H. Tighe, I. Metcalfe 2, D. Gibbs, H. Grant, G. Allen 3.

Referee—B. Dyer; umpire, J. Cooper.

A Neat Win

St. John's ran up a 12-3 lead at the middle mark and then held their own in the final period. The winners were held to a 2-all tie in the first quarter, but led 12-3 at the half and 14-6 at the three quarter stripe. They had better passing and more accurate shooting in a fast, well played middle game. The losers had a good share of the play but poor sniping and a listless defence cost them the issue. The winners made only one free throw in 10 tries and the Aces caged three for 14 tosses. A. Bowler, E. Clark and H. Harte Maxwell were best for the winners and H. Rutter and D. Lawless for the losing Aces. The teams:

Quaker Aces 9—S. Alexander, D. Weese 1, P. Lawless 4, E. Kirn, J. Fowler, H. Rutter 4, V. Wood, M. Hooten, M. Duncan, A. Grady, M. Sullivan.

Saint Johns 19 — T. Laws, H. Harte Maxwell 2, A. Bowler 8, H. Douglas, E. Foster, D. Groombridge, E. Harte Maxwell, F. Gynane, E. Gynane 6.

Referee, A. Smith. Umpire K. Gillespie.

Orfuns had a steady though not over-whelming edge over 'Y' Gym all the way to score a clear cut victory. They were in front 5-1 at the quarter mark, 11-3 at the half, slippled a little in the third period to lead 17-11 and then had a 6-4 margin in the last stanza to complete the scoring. The winners have now won eight straight and have lost but one decision all year. Orfuns made one free toss in seven efforts last night with the losers scoring three in five times for a good average. B. Blade, A. Craig and R. Thompson topped the winners, these three scoring all their points with R. Dalliday and B. Flynn leading the losers. The teams:

'Y' Gym 15—R. Dalliday 6, T. Wesley 2, B. Flynn 6, B. DeMalo, S. Florence, I. Young, S. Zackas, B. Pomeroy, F. Craig, R. Sullivan 1.

Orfuns—A. Livingstone, B. Blade 10, A. Craig 6, R. Thompson 7, M. Clark, M. Ferguson, D. Ackford.

Referee—R. Gilespie. Umpire, J. Cooper.

Bata Outfit Beaten 11-4 By Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10. — (ENS)—Campbellford trounced Bata 11-4 in their scheduled T.V.L. bout here Friday to mark one of the most lop-sided scores seen in the league this season. The victory gave the locals their second win in the last half of the schedule and was the third time they have trimmed the Cobblers.

It was a fast clean match filled with action, both teams playing at a terrific pace. Sunocos snatched the lead early in the first outplaying the visiting puck chasers with their lightning raids on the net. In the second Bata covered up better in front of their own goal and registered three times while in the final stanza the winners stretched out their lead by five as the visitors went in on the attack four at a time.

Rose gave the homesters an extra counter in the third frame when he threw his stick in front of Robinson who had carried the puck in to shoot one from close range. He also figured in a collision with Couch at centre ice where the two met with sufficient force to burst the planking around the side of the rink.

Set Fast Pace

From the opening the home crew set blazing pace, Hendy, McIlrath and Robinson tearing in through the Bata defense and peppering the net from close range and Lawrence did showy work as he found himself without protection on many of the winners' thrusts. Hendy scored a soft one after two minutes of play in the period while Sunocos second stringers notched the second when Free and Wilkes raced in with Blake who slapped home Free's rebound. Stojan got the nod for high sticking and following a face off in Bata teritory Free slapped the biscuit into the twine for the homesters' third counter.

In the second stanza Bata stormed in trying hard to break into the score sheet. They were rewarded when one of Pollard's shots went home from close range. The losers fought desperately testing Donald from all angles in their effort to cut down Sunoco's lead and Hendy and Robinson worked well together on the attackin unit keeping Lawrence busy with hard shots and finally tallying when Hendy carried the disc from his own blue line and shot one that found the open corner. Guay who gave a starry performance for the vistling crew bagged their second on a solo effort and Meyette and Reid teamed up to make the score 5-3 at the end of the period.

During the final frame both sides missed chances but it was the locals who again opened the scoring potting two within fifteen seconds at the four minute mark. Couch bagged the first on a smart combination play in which Robinson and Hendy also figured and the hard working second line led by Wib Blake notched the second when Godden drove one into the hemp. Hendy followed Godden into the cooler for tripping and the Cobblers turned on the pressure but were unable to get into scoring position and with the team at full strength Free tapped Godden's pass into the rigging. MacDonald gave the losers their final counter cruising in alone on Sunocos' defence and Free and Blake twice combined to stretch the home crews lead.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Table tennis comes into its own tonight at 8.15 in the "Y", such ace Toronto exponents as Charles Burnside, Ray Norris, Doug Edwards and Lou Beedle performing. The game— first scoffed at but now accepted as a clever indoor sport—used to be termed ping pong. 'Twas a trade mark monicker, the "ping" being the sound of the celluloid ball hitting the table and the "pong" as bat and ball smacked. But now the general term throughout Europe and the Americas is table tennis. Some doubt as to where the game originated, some claiming the States and others England, but authorities agree it got its real start in the 1880s. There are a number of clever players in Peterborough, but naturally none compare with the champions who perform here this eve.

* * * * * *

Figuring out the scoring averages of the junior Colts—who completed their schedule night before last—we find Julian Wade atop the bunch with 23 points. The speedy, rangy centre of the second line has been playing fine hockey consistently to notch 13 goals and 10 assists. Right on his heels is Joe Rochetta, tricky centre on the first line, with 16 goals and six assists for 22 points. And Dutch Pammett is right up there, too, with 17 and four for 21 points. Craig and Foster have 17 each, with Nichols notching 12. Beggs and Parnell have five apiece, followed by Mason and Vitarelli, then MacDonald and DeCarlo. The Colts led the group in scoring by a good margin. An excellent sniping record for 10 tilts, an average of 7½ goals a game.

* * * * * *

The Fighting Fools

And as the scrappy young Petes prepare for their three-in-five junior "B" group playoff serial with Oshawa Bees—first fray in Oshawa on Monday—we'd like to mention one matter. The Colts may (probably do) fight too much, but you've got to give 'em credit for not picking their spots. They've started—and finished—more battles on foreign ice than at home, which is the reverse of most other clubs in their grouping. We like a game gang, so long as the players use their heads, too. It can be overdone, and don't forget that the ring is the place for fisticuffing.

* * * * * *

If there is any doubt in the minds of local puck fans—or the Belleville sports writer—as to the Petes' superiority over the Fliers (as they are now), we must admit we're amazed. That 8-1 win here last e'en should prove something. Of course we say "as they are now" advisedly, because the rumor has grown into a roar that the Airmen intend to import heavily for the playoffs—which open here next Wednesday. Yeah, they can do it legally, as the C.A.H.A. and the O.H.A. ruled at the outbreak of war that there would be no residence rule for army hockey players. As there are air camps at Ottawa and Camp Borden (and plenty of good pucksists in the air force there, too) it stands to reason that the Fliers can bring in several fine players. However, such importations would hurt the chances of the Borden and Ottawa teams, too. So, we dunno.

* * * * * *

They Were Too Fast

No need of saying a great deal about last night's game here. Over a thousand fans saw a lively tussle, with the Petes proving too fast for the visitors on good ice and pressing most of the way. Of course the absence of Goalie Gibson meant several goals, as Driscoll partially fanned on about three. It was rather rough at times, with Referee Bennett letting a little too much go, and missing some tripping, and one fight broke out but no damage was done. Some crazy kids came out on the ice for a look-see but four cops promptly chased 'em back. Starr, Coughlin, F. Jopling and Crowe proved most effective for the locals. Legris was lucky he didn't get a misconduct penalty when he pushed the referee around once. Yeah, a fair fray all the way.

* * * * * *

And we were lucky that Goalie Gibson didn't pounce on us for some of the cracks we've made at him recently. He stood right behind us in the press box—in the Airport uniform—and argued with any and every one all the way. Dunno why they didn't use him, as he's twice the goalie Driscoll is—though we're not taking back anything, either. He is still a rough baby and a hard loser. He crabbed bitterly at the referee, and a coupla times we caught ourself agreeing with him. Gibson will undoubtedly be back in the nets for the R.C.A.F.-ers through the three-in-five playoffs, but we don't think he'll have to worry about the fifth game. Not unless they bring back the McNeeleys and Lalonde from Ottawa!

Eagles Are Winged

Lock Co Eagles suffered a serious setback in Lindsay last gloaming in their district group semi-final fray. The Battery boys shot down the Eagles with a 9-3 charge of buckshot, and will tote a 6-goal lead into the return tussle at Omemee on Monday eve. Winner then meets the Hawks in loop finals. About 400 fans saw a speedy, rugged and rather open game with the soldiers showing definite superiority to cop the duke. Cook, Wright and Bolderstone led the way for the Scugog snipers, with English also effective. For the locals, Giardino, Mortimer and Burke were probably the pick.

Down at the Y.W. last night, three ladies' hoop jousts were staged. Orfuns took a firm grip on the top rung with a 23-15 decision o'er the "Y" Gym lasses, St. John's looked neat in setting the Quaker Aces back 19-9, and Westclox just managed to wiggle out a 9-7 nod over the Debs. Lots of action in three nifty numbers. And in a school cage triple-header in Cobourg last p.m., the P.C.I. teams didn't fare so well. Our junior boys won 32-22 to remain undefeated, but the local senior gals suffered a 45-17 reverse, and the senior boys from this bailiwick were upset and slapped around 21-16. They couldn't see Cobourg for watching the coming Bowmanville game — and are now practically out of the race; ditto with the girls. A men's senior City Basketball League double-header is on this eve at the "Y", C.G.E. playing Zephyrs at 7.15, and Quakers meeting Bees at 8.15.

No Official Knockdowns In Title Fight But Godoy Clowned Well In 14th Round

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—There were no official knockdowns in the Joe Louis-Arturo Godoy heavyweight title bout last night — or were there?

Boxing rules state that when a man's gloves touch the canvas, he is technically "down."

Godoy's gloves touched the canvas three times in the 14th round as he waddled and crouched around the ring like a monkey in a zoo. But, since these occasions came during a loud outburst of laughter at the burlesque, no one paid much attention to it. The knock-down counting referee at ringside did not stand up to start a count and the whole thing passed by with virtually no notice.

Still, the New York boxing rules state that when a man is "down" three times in one round, the referee can stop the fight.

It certainly would have started something if Referee Arthur Donovan, who on one occasion even brushed off Godoy's gloves because they were in touch with the canvas, had halted the fight then.

Godoy Is Just Another Clown In Brown Bomber's Opinion

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Arturo Godoy, the non-collapsible Chilean, will have to read the papers to find out exactly what happened, but the Sombre Sphinx, champion Joe Louis, still doesn't give a whoop.

That was the impression gained after a bitterly contested dash to the dressing rooms after the two had mauled and mugged, danced and dithered their way through 15 rounds for the heavyweight championship of the world in Madison Square Garden last night, with Louis "still the champeen" at the end.

In Louis' dressing room, the comparative peace and quiet that always rules was still there, despite the fact the non-explosive Brown Bomber just had had the amazing experience of fighting a man that wasn't afraid of him. But in Godoy's steamy stable, pandemonium not only reigned—it dictated.

The none-too-voluble Chilean challenger and the wordy Al Weill, his manager, howled and raved, ranted and panted in histrionics that surpassed anything that went on in the ring.

Godoy, who had faced the Guillotine—and come out not only alive, but to some few minds victorious—finally got the floor.

"Oh, he hit like hell," he smiled through puffed lips.

"Only once he hurt — a hard right on de top of de head.

"Fight him again? Yes, yes, I wish it was tomorrow."

The rest was lost in a maze of Spanish by Godoy and a blistering wave of oratory by Weill, who imperiously announced, "if Arturo had had one more fight under his belt he'd be the new champion."

That was open to some debate, but no one could offer any sane comment in that welter of words that richocheted off the walls.

The old Louis answers to the questions came out of the champ's unmarred lips. It was his "first fight (of the Pier 6 variety) and his worst;" he wasn't hurt at all, and Godoy is another "clown," a term of criticism always heaped on a Louis foe, no matter what the result.

At the suggestion of one caustic critic, Louis murmured an emphatic "No" to suggestions that he might retire, considered pertinent in view of his showing against the grotesque Godoy before a house that had the exquisite pleasure of booing the champ.

Cobourg Cagers Win Pair From The P.C.I.

P.C.I.'s junior boys' team saved the Garnet and Gray from a dismal evening in Cobourg last night, as they downed the opposition 32-22. The Senior Girls and Senior Boys were virtually eliminated, as Miss Brisbin's P.C.I. girls fell before Cobourg's powerful squad for the second straight week 45-17 and the Senior Boys fell victims of a definite upset as C.C.I. edged the visitors by a 21-16 count.

The Juniors, unbeaten to date, made a strong last half bid, after trailing 17-16 at that point to practically cinch group honours, but the Senior Boys, waiting for the all important Bowmanville game, were caught unawares and all but mathematically eliminated by the Orange and Blue.

Slow Start.

The Junior winners exhibited their customary slowness in getting started and were behind 17-16 after a bitterly fought first half, but from that point on had a clean-cut edge to win fairly convincingly. The winners potted 6 in 12 free throw chances and Cobourg made 2 in 7 tries. Gillespie, Moorhead, Rogow and Hall were the pick of the winners, with Himman and Healy leading the C.C.I. lads. The teams:

P.C.I. (32)— Centre, Hall; forwards, Gillespie 13, Moorhead 8; guards, Rogow 7, Saunders 1; subs, Smith 1, Gardner 1, Richardson 1.

C.C.I. (22). — Centre, Maize 2; forwards, Corbett 5, Jones; guards, Himman 4, Benson; subs, Healy 5, Parkinson 4, Bolster, Barge, Bennett.

Cobourg's classy Senior Girls team ran up an unusually high score for interscholastic girls competition in trouncing P.C.I. It was 23-11 at the mid-way mark and the winners had a big edge offensively all the way. H. Gibson and F. Spooner led the victors in a fine showing of shooting, with E. Saunders and B. Cooper best for P.C.I. The teams:

P.C.I. (17)—B. Cooper 6, E. Saunders 7, H. Beatty 4, F. Merrett, E. Craig, J. Castle, D. Glover, A. Richardsson, D. Bateson.

C.C.I. (45)— H. Gibson 21, F. Spooner 22, C. Allen 4, E. Nicholl, B. Dufton, J. Dufton, M. Oulahen, J. Richardson.

Referee—A. Winter.

The Senior Boys got away to a poor start, trailing 9-4 at the middle mark, and although they held the opposition to a 12-all draw in the last frame, went down to defeat. C.C.I. got the jump on the visitors early and outplayed the Garnet and Gray long enough to run up a small margin that they maintained. The winners passed and shot fairly well, but their fierce checking held P.C.I.'s vaunted scoring threat well in check all the way to prove full value for their victory. Cobourg made 4 of their 10 tries from the free throw line and P.C.I. made only 2 in their 14 chances, which ultimately cost them the verdict. Guy and Wilson led the winners with Moorhead and Foster prominent for P.C.I. The teams:

C.C.I. (21)—Centre, Guy 10; forwards, Hogan 1, Phillips; guards, Wilson 4, Platt 3; subs, Bennett 3, Thompson, Balster, Parkinson, Benson.

P.C.I. (16)— Centre, Foster 5; forwards, Moorhead 5, Taylor 2; guards, Scott, Johnston 4; subs, Clarke, McPherson, Marshall.

Referee— Dr. Worton, Peterborough.

PETES PUT CLAMP ON FIRST PLACE WITH WIN OVER THE FLIERS

Local Puckists Prove Too Fast For The R.C.A.F. Squad In Lively Intermediate Tussle

Smearing the Trenton Fliers by an 8-1 score here last night, the Petes put the clamp on first place in their O.H.A. intermediate "A" group and earned the right for the first playoff game at home—which will be next Wednesday. Over a thousand fans saw the locals earn the nod handily in a nice showing.

The Petes proved definite superiority over the Airmen this tussle, showing too much speed and all-around hockey ability to cop the win by a good margin. The game might have been closer if Gibson (the regular goalie) had been in the R.C.A.F. net, but the homesters still looked better. Several soft markers were notched on Driscoll, sub goalie, who had the cage assignment this contest.

It was a fast tilt most of the way, slowing up a few times, and marked by some rousing bodychecks and a few slashes here and there, but a lenient referee let a lot go, and nothing serious happened except one fist fight between Ellis and Lemieux in the third period. A bunch of kids came out on the ice to watch hostilities and the police chased them off. The score was 2-0 to end the first frame and 5-0 going into the third chukker. Of the eight penalties, the locals drew four.

All Go Good

Starr and Coughlin were in on three goals apiece for the Petes and Crowe two, all three turning in a fine performance, as did Drake Jopling on defence. There were little to choose among the rest of them, but all the Petes played fast, smart hockey and showed up to fine advantage before the home crowd. Goalie Driscoll in the visitors' net muffed several and his defence was wobbly in spots, while the forwards played spotty hockey, McNabb, Baldwin and Cameron probably going best for the Airmen.

The first frame was fast and fairly even, but the Buckland bunch had a bit more of the play. It was mostly clean but got rough near the end with both sides bumping each other hard. Kingdon scored from Tompkins but it was called back, the referee saying the puck went in off the body. Ellis banged one from the blue line and it fooled the net-guardian for the first score. The locals' second line pressed for a space and then a Kingdon-Tompkins try came close. Heal and Lemieux were gated for roughing it but nothing happened in their absence. F. Jopling and Starr pulled a dangerous rush as Driscoll was kept hopping in the cage, the Petes missing several good chances with play in the Fliers' area. Just before the bell, Heal notched a nice one in close on Tompkins' pass.

Get Three More

Early in the middle go, McLeod was waved away for charging and the Petes pressed, Kingdon almost tallying, but he returned without a score. It was really fast and exciting for a time, with a Coughlin-Starr thrust nearly paying dividends. Then Burton took Starr's pass going through defence to make it 3-0, as Heal and Irwin tangled without a penalty. Play roughened up and was quite speedy with the locals having an edge on shots on goal. J. Jopling took Crowe's pass in close and picked a corner for another counter, and then Crowe was gated for charging. The Fliers pressed but, on a partial breakaway, the locals made it 5-0 when Coughlin countered a nice one aided by Gardner. With all back, the homesters kept pressing with the visiting goalie looking shaky on several, Cameron pulled a fine try a harding near the close.

McNab nearly notched one to open the third but, when Higgins went off for tripping, the Petes ganged up hotly, the Airmen scored on a semi-break with McNab taking a pass from Lemieux and picking a corner with a swell shot. Tompkins came close and then harding thefted Legris inside defence. Coughlin came back and pulled the goalie out to backhand one home on a lovely effort. A minute later, the locals got another when Starr scored with a bullet shot on Crowe's pass at defence. Ellis and Lemieux began swinging fists in a corner and were chased. Legris pushed the referee around in an argument but escaped a penalty and the police chased off some youngsters who came out on the ice. Baldwin made Harding jump with a nice try but play slowed up the last several minutes. McNab came close as the Fliers began sending four up and when J. Jopling was checked out for tripping they pressed for a minute. Just before the final bell, Starr scored on a hot shot from Coughlin at defence to make it 8-1.

Chicago Club Forging Way Into Prominence

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

The hockey hit of the week, so far as the National League is concerned, is the Freshman Hop as demonstrated by Chicago Black Hawks.

Fused with a sprinkling of veterans, the rookies learning their steps under Professor Paul Thompson, are doing a better than passing job in their attempts to have other teams in the N.H.L. dance to their tune.

From a team that started the season looking as if it was going nowhere in particular, the Chicago club gradually has forced its way into prominence with such rookies as Phil Hergesheimer, Doug Bentley, Paul Goodman, Johnny Chad and Bob Carse having much to do with the success.

Hawks Beat Detroit

Goodman, brought up just before the turn of the year to replace Goalie Mike Karakas, continued his recent great play last night as the Hawks turned in a 3-0 victory over Detroit Red Wings in the only scheduled game of the night. It made shutout No. 3 this season for the Hawks, all of them turned in by the first-year netminder.

Chad got the first one, and the winner, near the middle mark of the second period on a play in which Bob Carse and Les Cunningham figured. Bill Carse made certain of the Hawk victory, scoring in the first minute of the last period and adding another in the 15th minute.

Play in the last period was enlivened by a fist fight which produced major penalties for Jack Stewart, Mush March, George Allen and Eddie Wares.

The victory consolidate Chicago's hold on fourth place, sending the club four points ahead of the Wings and only four points off the total of Toronto Maple Leafs. It was also the fourth game in sucession that the Hawks have gone unbeaten.

Rangers, Bruins Victors In Tweed Tilts

TWEED, Feb. 10—(ENS).—In the Midget Hockey League on Friday night at the local arena, the Rangers edged out the Red Wings 3-2 in a closely contested game.

In the first period the Red Wings notched the first counter with Baldwin being the marksman. However P. Fobert of the Rangers tied the count to leave the first period to a 1-all draw. The second period was scoreless, but in the last frame Donahue took a pass from Meraw to count, but the Red Wings tied the count again when T. Rashotte took a pass from Baldwin to tie it. Meraw tallied the winning counter on a pass from Donahue. Lineups:

Rangers.—Goal, Robinson; defence, Price, Rashotte; centre, D. Meraw; wings, Donahue, Connor; subs., Cornell, D. Rashotte; P. Fobert, Lajoie.

Red Wings. — Goal, Palmateer; defence, Baldwin, Genereaux; centre, Morrison; wings, Gehan, T. Rashotte; subs., LeVallee, Barnett, Genereau, Smith, Barry, Ruttan, Tufts.

Referees—McCaw Doyle.

Bruins Victors

The second game of the double-header in the Midget League saw the Leafs and Bruins hook up in a wide open and high scoring game, with the Bruins winning 13-10 in overtime.

The Leafs in the first two periods were superior, and rapped in a lead of 8-6; however, the Bruins finished strong. Sills and Leveck for the Leafs tallied five goals apiece ,and they were the standouts for the Leafs. However, the superior work of Baker on the Bruin defence, proved the main factor in turning the tide. Baker was the high scorer of the evening with seven counters for the Bruins, with Courtney notching two, Thompson two, M. Rivers and Gehan one each. This was the fastest game of the series, and both teams turned in a whale of a game. Lineups:

Leafs.—Goal, Stewart; defence, C. Cassidy, Leveck; centre, Sills; wings, D. Rashotte, J. Price; subs., T. Cassidy, O'Coin.

Bruins.—Goal, Fisher; defence, Baker, L. Rivers; centre, Gehan; wings, Thompson, T. Rivers; subs., Courtney, Beatty, M. Rivers.

Referees—Doyle Wagar.

Remember When—

Canada retained the world amateur hockey championship 10 years ago to-night when Toronto "Canadas" defeated a German team at Berlin 6-1. It was the final match of the Canadians' 30-game European tour. They were defeated 1-0 by Austria four days earlier in an exhibition match played in pouring rain.

Hornets Larrup Terriers By 7-3 Score

NORWOOD, Feb. 10 (ENS). — A thrilling battle for top honors in the T.V.L. group saw the hustling Norwood Hornets hand the speedy Tweed Terriers the short end of a 7-3 count, last evening at the Norwood Arena.

The largest crowd of the season was on hand to witness this extra classy duel between the two top-ranking squads. By virtue of last night's win the Hornets now hold a three-point margin over the second place Terriers, practically the same squad that ousted the homesters in the Trent Valley League finals last spring. Setting a torrid pace this season, the Hornets have only dropped one decision in their last twelve games. On Monday eve Norwood travels to Frankford for an encounter with the Batas, and then home again on Friday to meet the Stirling Shells.

Barely had the initial stanza started before Rogers combined with Puffer for Norwood's opening goal. Rogers notched his second counter for the Hornets at the three-quarter way mark. Leal and Woodcock for the vilstors and W. Rogers and Brady were the offenders in this session.

A neat double-passing play by J. Tummon and Elsbury resulted in a Tweed goal, the latter scoring after a minute of play in the middle stanza. The visitors deadlocked the count later, when Wagar notched one from a pile-up in front of the Norwood net, with Brady of the Hornets parked in the cooler. Penalties were then handed out successively to Tip Tummon, Hill and Jack Tummon. With Tip back and both sides playing four-handed hockey, Norwood leaped once more into the lead, Puffer getting this marker on a solo try. Brady drew a big hand from the crowd for his role of penalty-killer, as the homesters played shorthanded with W. Rogers on the bench. Rod Webb of Norwood also drew a penalty for kneeing Tip Tummon just as the period ended, and was still in the hoosegow at the beginning of the third.

With Webb back, Hill combined with Brady for Norwood's fourth counter. Rod Webb made the play for the Hornet's next marker, Puffer backhanding it in from close range Wagar retaliated for Tweed, Long assisting on this, their final goal of the game Brady, stemming a Terrier drive, pushed the puck ahead to Bill Rogers for another Norwood score. With just a minute to go, Richardson nabbed O'Leary's passout from behind the Tweed cage to notch the final counter. This period was entirely free of penalties.

If an individual star was to be chosen from the Norwood line-up, Goalie McMaster would probably get the call for his great effort. Every member however came through with a nice chore, the Hill-Rogers-Puffer line showing up in particular. For the visitors, S. Long, Wagar, Cournyea, Elsbury, and the Tummon brothers were most effective.

The teams:

Tweed — Goal, Reeves; defence, J. Tummon, T. Tummon; centre, Cournyea; wings, Elsbury, Marsh; alternates, S. Long, Wagar, Leal. H. Long, Arber, Woodcock.

Norwood — Goal, McMaster; defence, R. Webb, Rothwell; centre, G. Puffer; wings, Hill, N. Rogers; alternates, O'Leary, Richardson, W. Webb, Brady, Aboud, W. Rogers.

Referees—F. Geraldi, Tweed; R. Ennis, Norwood.

Phelan To Meet Jack Storey

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—(CP)—Rod Phelan, who thought he had retired from singles play until he placed his last-minute entry in the Ontario badminton championships, stood ready today to defend his title against Jack Storey, from whom he won it last year.

Phelan, playing with the best in Canada for the past several years, decided to stay out of singles because of the strain it involved. At the last moment he changed his mind and allowed his name to be entered.

Yesterday he ousted Jim Snyder of Toronto in the semi-finals with an easy 15-9, 15-4 victory. Snyder, former Waterloo boy, was unable to match the experienced play of Phelan, who was in command of both sets after the first few points. In the second, Phelan won 11 straight points after Synder tied the score three times.

Storey stroked his way into the final when he defeated the Western Ontario champion, Jack Nash of London, 15-10, 15-11. Nash, nationally known amateur golfer, matched Storey's play in both sets until he tired near the end.

Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Toronto, all-England and Ontario women's single titleholder, turned back Ottawa's Betty Snell with a 11-3, 11-5 semi-final victory. She meets Evelyn Effnert of Toronto, who whipped Dorothy Sheppard of Toronto 11-8, 11-5, in the final.

Godoy Stands Up To Joe Louis For 15-Round Bout But Brown Bomber Retains Title

By WHITNEY MARTIN
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 (AP)—The fight world today held a morning-after head, and through it buzzed the name of Arturo Godoy, the strange interlude in the life of Joe Louis.

For 15 mauling, bruising rounds last night the hot tamale from Chile stood up to the Brown Bomber, and when the announcer intoned "the winner, and still world champion...," a thunder of booes swept from the Madison Square Garden rafters.

It was that close in the eyes of many of the 15,675 fans who came expecting another efficient painting job and left with vague misgivings.

They couldn't figure out whether the Bomber was no longer the same bomber who wrecked the John Henry Lesises and the Max Schmelings and the Tony Galentoes, or whether the clowning, grimacing, bobbing and clutching Godoy was more than a little better than they had figured.

Return Meeting Certain

This they did know, that a return meeting in the open air next summer is as certain as death. Arturo can't punch a lick, but he punched his way right out of the Garden into the open air.

Not only the gallery thought the rock-ribbed, iron-jawed Chilean was victor. Tommy Shortell, one of the judges, gave Godoy the fight with 10 rounds to five for Louis. Referee Arthur Donovan gave Louis 10 and Godoy five, the same as the associated press score sheet, and the other judge, George Lecrou, gave Louis 10, Godoy four and called one even.

Style Baffled Louis

Sharper, more punishing blows provided the margin by which the bomber retained his title. He was up against a style that baffled him, and left him puzzled and frustrated as he tried to find a spot for his famed dynamite fists on a crouching, bobbing foe who came out for the first round squatting like a Russian dancer, dove for his opponent's thighs, then crept upward like ivy until he could bury his square chin in the hollow of Louis' neck and whale away.

Louis, little relishing the inside work, did his best to stay clear, but his straight left wasn't enough to keep the courageous Chilean away. Even Joe's uppercuts, landing suddenly on Godoy's battle-scarred face, failed to slow Godoy more than momentarily.

In fact, Joe's week-end punches bounced off him like rain off a tin roof, and he was forever swarming, swarming. In several rounds, he carried Louis against the ropes and silently challenged him to a head-to-head slugging bee from which he seldom came off second best.

Time after time, the Garden was a bedlam as the unorthodox Chilean bulled the sloe-eyed champion about, often making him blink with looping lefts or rights which, had they the potency of a Galento punch, would have spelled disaster. They could not ruffle Louis' calm, however, and he left the ring unmarked. Godoy's eyes and lips were puffed, and one eye peered over a slight out.

Godoy appeared to tire midway in the fight, but he got his second wind quickly, and in the closing rounds he appeared strong. In fact, he provided a clownish interlude in the 14th, coming out of his corner Gorilla fashion, stooped over, arms drooped to floor.

Godoy's Night to Howl

All in all, Louis won, and in our opinion, won by a clear margin, but it was Godoy's night to howl, which he did literally when he realized he had stayed 15 rounds with the dark destiny and had carried the fight to his opponent over the route.

It was Louis' ninth title defense and the second time he was carried the limit. Tommy Farr was the other survivor.

The show drew a gate of only $86,523.89, another disappointment for the bomber. His previous Garden appearances each topped the $100,000 mark.

Pot Luck Suppers Planned By Millbrook WA

MILLBROOK, Feb. 10.—(ENS)—Mrs. J. McKnight was hostess for the February meeting of the Woman's Association of St. Andrew's church, at her home, Tupper street, on Wednesday at 3 p.m., over 30 being in attendance, and the chair taken by the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley.

"Be Still, My Soul", was the devotional theme, Mrs. A. L. Sisco reading Psalm 40, and Mrs. tSinson offering prayer. The secretary reported $5.20 in fees at the January meeting, and the treasurer's report showed $12.70 received since the last meeting and over $35.00 in the bank though the year was started with but $9.00 on hand. Fees on Wednesday were $2.40; 'mile of coppers' 80 cents; $5.00 donation from Mrs. Morden; and $4.50 from the only pot luck supper held so far this winter; for this Mrs. Thomas Douglas had extended the hospitality of her home, the extremely cold night on which it was held, and the drifted state of roads, accounting for the small receipts.

The church silver and linen, it was agreed, would be lent to the Men's Bible Class for its banquet on Friday evening, and outstanding accounts were ordered paid. To increase funds during February and March, the 'Sunshine Bags' were distributed, and the pot luck suppers will continue to be held.

The need of new linen for the church communion service led to a committee, Mrs. Stinson, Mrs. McKnight, and Mrs. F. L. Edworthy, being appointed to see about cost of suitable damask or linen cloths, and report at the March meeting; for the latter, the invitation of Mrs. P. Stinson to meet at her home was gratefully accepted.

The church congregational meeting having been fixed for Wednesday, February 14, when lunch is to be served, led to the appointment of a refreshment committee, consisting of Mrs. J. A. Brown, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. W. C. Fallis and Mrs. W. E. Ball.

Following the closing prayer, afternoon tea was served, a number coming in for this feature. In the tea room, Mrs. G. Locke poured tea at a table lovely with tatted lace cloth, the work of Mrs. Locke's clever fingers; a silver basket of dark crimson roses centred the table, and tall candles were burning in silver holders.

Assisting the hostess with the service was Mrs. F. J. Smith, and the tea proved enjoyable from the social standpoint, and financially as well.

Trent Institute Abandons Plans To Purchase War Workers Building

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 10 (ENS).—"Make Canada a land to love" was the motto for the February meeting held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Brooks. Notwithstanding the inclement weather there was an attendance of 16, with Mrs. George Brooks in charge. The motto was read by Mrs. A. Buchanan, after which the secretary, Mrs. M. Wight read the roll call, which was responded to by a Valentine greeting. The treasurer, Mrs. Earl Greenly, reported cash on hand $34.66.

The secretary read the following communication from Mary E. Grannan concerning CBC programs for children presented on the national network each week. The letter asked for comments on these programs. The Government grant of $3 had been received by the secretary. A letter from the Department asked regarding the Central War Charities Fund of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario, the purpose of the fund, contributions to the fund, and how the money can be raised. The small sum of 5 cents per member was asked, the members deciding to pay this out of the funds.

Mrs. Brooks gave the report on the particulars concerning the purchase price of the building (now used by the War Service Workers). The members entered into a discussion as to the possibility of the branch buying the building. A vote was taken and the matter was dropped for the present. The members made a resolution—not to purchase flowers at the time of death of any one in the vicinity, but to send cards of sympathy instead. Cards were ordered to be sent to the sick. The members discussed plans for making money and it was decided to hold a dance at Polmont Orange Hall in the near future, a committee of the following: Mrs. Ward Glenn, Mrs. T. J. Brown, and Mrs. H. Mann were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

Mrs. Harry Mann gave a paper on "Canadianization," in which the words of the motto were dealt with, thus spreading greater familiarity with the traditions of national life, and study of the flag of the Dominion.

"It is only a small piece of bunting,
You may call it an old colored rag,
Yet thousands have died for its honor,
And shed their best blood for the Flag."

Mrs. John Scott gave an Irish reading, "Grandad's Winters."

One dollar was donated for a bank book for a new baby. Mrs. Earl Greenly announced the carnival sponsored by the Amicus Club for Saturday night at the rink, the proceeds of which will go towards the young girls of the club making a trip of Summary Day held at Peterborough under the direction of the Women's Institute.

The door prize for the meeting was won by Mrs. Ann Greenly. Mrs. H. Mann had charge of a stone contest in which Mrs. Earl Greenly won the prize.

After singing the National Anthem, lunch was served.

For 25 Cents

Prestonburg, Ky., Feb. 10 (AP)

SALE of an unmarried woman's baby son for 25 cents has been disclosed by Dr. Marvin Ransdell, head of the Floyd County Health Department.

Dr. Ransdell said yesterday that Mrs. Martha Burchett, department nurse, reported the six-weeks-old baby was "bought" by the wife of a coal miner at Garrett, coal mining community.

The nurse said the miner's wife, who already has two children, heard the baby was not wanted and went to the mother's home. There, the nurse continued, the woman was asked what she would pay for the baby and replied:—

"All I have is 25 cents."

The offer was accepted, the nurse said.

The baby was born Christmas Day and is to be adopted by his foster parents the nurse said.

Farmer Beaten, Bound 17 Hours

MILTON, Ont., Feb. 10—(CP).—Seventy-year-old Thomas Storey, recovering from a beating, told police today how he lay for 17 hours on the floor of his farmhouse, bound hand and foot, before rescue came. He said he had been overpowered and robbed by a youthful thug on Wednesday night.

Storey, who lives alone in the lonely Nassagaweya township bush country 12 miles north of this Halton county town, was discovered yesterday by Edward Watts, 27, a neighbor. Watts said Storey was weak from hunger and exposure and that he had a cut over his eye and his wrists were swollen. Ropes bound his wrists and legs.

Police said the Storey home had been ransacked and that Storey told them he entered his home Wednesday after chores and found a man inside. A fight ensued and Storey collapsed following a blow from a stick, he said. After binding the farmer, the thug took $17 from his clothes.

"He couldn't find any more money and he threatened to heat a poker in the stove and burn me if I didn't come across with the rest," police quoted Storey as saying. "When I told him there was no more money in the house, he waved the poker back and forth in front of my eyes."

The intruder disconnected the telephone and switched off the lights before leaving. Watts told police he passed the Storey home and "sensed something was amiss." After finding the farmer, he assisted him to the home of a neighbor for attention.

CAPE TOWN—(CP).— Recruiting in South Africa has attracted some wealthy business men into the ranks. One framed his first month's pay, saying he "never worked so hard in his life," and was "proud of it."

Have Lonely Jobs On The Western Front

Perhaps the most lonely job on the Western front, is that of the Royal Artillery Battery telephonist, RIGHT, who sits alone with his improvised instrument stand and advises the battery, in technical parlance, on how near or far it is coming to its target. The French poilu, LEFT, is another of the front's lonely men. He is stationed high in a tree and cautiously scans the countryside for signs of enemy activity.

C. O'TOOLE — J. LEONARD

A. CHARTREN — E. MIDDLETON

DORRINGTON — J. McDONNELL

One of the most hazardous jobs in all the war is that of the sailor whose ships carry soldiers and supplies to England and France. They brave the dangers of death by torpedo or mine, or attack by air. From Peterborough have gone ten young men, nine ratings and a petty officer, and they're on the sea now. Many of them joined before the war broke out, a few afterwards. The start came when Bun Dorrington saw a picture of Petty Officer O'Rourke in a downtown studio window, quite a few years ago. It gave him the urge to go to sea and go he did. From then until a month ago the others kept signing up one by one, until now this inland, land-lubbing city is well represented at sea.

Petty Officer O'Rourke is the son of Mrs. Nellie O'Rourke, 495 Elm street; Ratings Lloyd and James Lawson are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawson, 19 Ware street; Rating Cyril O'Toole, the latest recruit to join the navy from Peterborough, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Toole, 132 Sophia street; Rating Johnnie Leonard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Leonard, 111 Sophia street; Rating Joe McDonnell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McDonnell of Fairburn avenue; Rating Bun Dorrington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dorrington, 52 Victoria avenue; Rating Andy Chartren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Chartren, 472 Rogers street, and Rating Earl Middleton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Middleton, 107 Parkhill Road. Rating Jack Killoran is the son of Mrs. Margaret Killoran, Wolfe street.

Finnish People Hardy Race Kiwanis Told

The reality of the Finnish people came closer to Kiwanians Friday, when Gordon K Fraser, a member of the club, spoke at the luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel and revealed details of the national life of the struggling race

Some of the things he told about Finns that brought them nearer to Peterborough folk were:

They are a highly intelligent class, of whose number scarcely one per cent are illiterate

The population of all Finland is about the same as that of the city of Chicago.

While sunlight in December is limited to only a few hours each day, by the first of April there will be about 12 hours sunlight, and from the 23rd of June on through the summer, the sun will seldom set at any time, leaving them with 24 hours of daylight in which to fight Russians.

Sixty-five per cent of all residents are directly interested for a livelihood in agriculture and no man may own more than 50 acres of land.

There are 50 million acres of land in forest, 75 per cent of all Finland's surface, and 50 per cent of it is owned by the government. Timber felled each year is limited to the amount that will grow up again in that year.

Manufacturing companies are all dependent on the forests. Wood products of many kinds are shipped to all countries in Europe, and last year great quantities were sent to the United States.

Tombstones in this country are made from Finnish and Swedish granite. Now that war is on, there is a strong possibility that some of the stone for such a purpose will be mined north of Stoney Lake in Peterborough county.

Women are doing all the civil work in England now that war is on, even much of the non-combatant army work. They are factory workers, street car conductors, bus drivers, clerks.

Women Dentists.

Every dentist in Finland, with the exception of a few Americans, is a woman.

Two hours after a heavy snowfall in cities, householders must have cleaned off not only their own sidewalks, but half the roadway in front of their homes. Snow is carted off to street corners and dumped into a container under which is a fire. Snow melts and is carried away down the sewers.

Common metal currency is the mark, worth about two and a ninth cents, and its purchasing power is equivalent, roughly, to a five cent piece in this country.

Finns are easy on liquor, heavy on milk. In hotels in Finland a jug of milk is placed before each guest at meal time, and Finns drink large quantities each day of the year. They milk cows three times daily.

Lapps, residents of northern Finland, have been there for 1,500 years at least, are a white race, and an educated one.

Lapp wedding feasts last for a day and a half.

Finns don't chew gum because they get enough mouth exercise trying to speak their own unpronouncable language.

Mr. Fraser was introduced by Dick Raine, and T L. Ashton moved a vote of thanks

New Bacon Board Farmers' Sons

Frank C. Paterson and Robt. McKercher, who is in charge of the short course at Westwood, left this morning for Barrie to attend a meeting of the recently organized Chamber of Agriculture in Simcoe county. Nearly five hundred farmers attended the first meeting of the Simcoe Chamber a short time ago. At that meeting K. N. Morrison, manager of the First Co-operative Packers, Barrie, said that every member of the new Bacon Board is a graduate of an Agricultural College, and was born and raised on a farm. The duty of the Board was to administer the contract to supply bacon to the British government.

Mr. Morrison said he thought very highly of the members of the Board. He is a member of its advisory committee. "I think they are doing a good job of a hard task. I believe they are looking after your interests; if not, I'm there to tell you."

Milk Shed Burned On Deyell Farm

Fire destroyed a milk shed on the farm of Ernie Deyell, a mile south of the Locks bridge in Otonabee township, last night and only fast work by a bucket brigade saved his house and barn, both of which were scorched.

The Peterborough Fire Department responded to a call to the blaze but found that a supply of water was too far distant to be of any use to them. The fast-moving bucket brigade, however, managed to keep the flames from spreading to the other buildings, although both house and barn were blazing at the corners at different times. The shed was a total loss, together with most equipment.

Campaign Chairman

who is chairman of the drive which starts in Peterborough on Monday for $5,000 as this city's share in the Canadian Legion War Services campaign.

Col. J. A. Dewart Heads Drive Legion Services

The Peterborough drive on behalf of the Canadian Legion War Services will start on Wednesday, when the corps of canvassers will go into action, determined to mop up the $5,000 objective set as Peterborough's goal in the campaign.

Col. J. A. Dewart is the campaign chairman and his lieutenants include the following:

Group chairmen—Lieut.-Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, James Wharry and John A. McKone.

Chairman of industrial committee —Lieut.-Col. Charles H. Ackerman.

Chairman special names committee—Gordon S. Matthews.

Chairman publicity committee — H. L. Garner.

Chairman of lists committee — Charles Lacheur.

The campaign secretary-treasurer will be H. C. Sootheran, and contributions will be received at the Royal Bank.

The organization dinner to start off the campaign is being held on Tuesday at 6.15 in the Y.M.C.A., and the speaker is to be the Rev. Capt. J. M. Allan, Sr., personnel officer of the Canadian War Services Incorporated. In civil life Capt. Allan is pastor of the Pembroke United Church, and he is a veteran of the Great War.

The first report meeting is scheduled to be held on Friday night in the Legion Hall, with the final wind-up on Tuesday, February 20.

The public undoubtedly feels that there is a place in war activities for the Legion War Services and there is not the least doubt of generous support from Peterborough's citizens. The far-reaching scope of the effort being carried on by the veterans of the Great War in behalf of their comrades in the new army is impressive.

One of its primary functions is the provision of facilities to enable young soldiers of all classes to continue their educational studies even though on active service. This, a laudable enterprise in itself, is only one phase of the Legion's undertakings for, in addition, it is providing wholesome entertainment for the forces, has established personal service bureaux where the new fighting men may receive advice and guidance from their old comrades, and is carrying out other necessary and important auxiliary work wherever there are concentrations of troops. While this work is of great importance in Canada one can but visualize the magnitude it is assuming in England and France now that the 1st Division of the C.A.S.F. has arrived overseas. And as the war progresses it can be understood how naturally it will expand into other forms of service.

The importance of such work cannot be over-estimated. Guns and bullets alone do not win wars. Morale at its highest provides courage, stamina, and the will to do under the most trying circumstances. Without morale, defeat would be inevitable. Fortunately, the morale, singleness of purpose and determination of the British Empire and its Allies to eliminate once and for all the power of those tyrants who threaten to destroy the things in life that we hold dear, remain unshaken, but they nevertheless must be safeguarded with all the means we have at our disposal.

That the Canadian Legion War Services will make great contributions to this end may be confidently expected. And it will bring to bear upon its efforts the tested ability of its parent body which, for nearly two decades, has served Canada's veterans so faithfully and well.

Firemen Challenge Police To Hockey Game; Proceeds Of Gate Goes To The Red Cross

Police and firemen are feudin'.

They're throwing names at one another, names that bite like a clip on the ear with a baseball bat. It's heavy artillery humor, and even bystanders feel the shock when one releases a 14-pounder intended for the other.

No one is sure how it all started, but the feud is too far advanced to call a halt now. It didn't seem fair to have them fight it out with the weapons of their trade because, even if a length of fire hose is a deadly weapon, it's no match against a revolver or billy.

And firemen didn't think it fair, either, to charge down on coppers on point duty with their huge fire trucks. Not quite sporting, they agreed magnanimously.

So, upshot of the feudin' has been that the firemen have thrown out a challenge to policemen for a game of hockey, no holds barred, only the rule of self-preservation allowed. Date of the battle has not been set as yet, but policemen were eager to take up the challenge.

It was confidence based on previous victory that made the firemen throw out the challenge. They recalled that they have beaten bus drivers—or who did win that duel last winter?—and are highly confident they can wrup policemen still easier.

"It'll be a battle of brains against brawn," said Tiny Joe Astles, veteran of many an ice scrap. "We'll supply the brains."

"Just watch us blitzkreig them," countered Constable Clare McGillen. "They'll think they've been at the worst smoke fire in history. We'll supply the smoke—that's how fast we are."

"The Force has gone into hockey training for the big event," said Sergeant Gordon Puffer of the Police Force. "These chair-lolling firemen have a surprise in store for them when they try to hit our defence line. They'll know what the term, a stone wall, really means when they knock themselves out against our stalwarts."

The game must be fought at Brock Street Arena, it has been agreed by the city's two uniformed forces. And proceeds from the gate are to go to the Red Cross Society.

Showgoers Keep Ears Cocked For Raid Alarms

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD
(Canadian Press Correspondent.)

PARIS, Feb. 10 → (CP). — After the movie houses and music halls, the dramatic theatres, cabarets and concerts, making prodigious efforts to assemble casts and orchestras, have opened one after another until 1940 finds Paris wide open and full of entertainment.

Shelters were the first question. A theatre or cinema was not allowed to open unless shelters enough were to be found in the district to give every protection to the audience should an air raid occur during the show. The whole of the city had to be thus organized and the theatres were allowed to accept as many spectators as there were to be found places in nearby shelters. This produced some comic results. A large cinema capable of holding 2,000 persons discovered it had the right to accept 31 spectators; while another small cinema "de quartier" with a capacity of 350 was allowed a total of 1,500 because of the number of "abirs" in the neighborhood.

New shelter arrangements had to be made so that spectators might be divided more equitably. At the same time neatly printed maps of the neighborhood and its shelters are distributed when tickets are bought.

Six weeks ago one had a choice of less than a dozen cinemas and three or four skit-theatres for an evening's entertainment. To-day there are 85 large cinemas open in addition to innumerable small ones in each of the suburbs. Some 45 cabarets and music halls are open. The internationally known Folies Bergere, Casino de Paris, Tabarin, and Red Mill have re-opened with rejuvenated and patriotically tinted programs in which no opportunity is missed to celebrate the marriage of John Bull and Marianne.

But there are a number of new revues, with war-born names such as "Alert Among the Nudists," "Eve, Born in an Abris," and the new spectacle offered by the "Mayol," in which the chief attraction is a "bouquet of the prettiest girls of Paris, London, and New York.

Hear New War Songs.

The public is particularly sensitive to music and its success is greater than any other form of entertainment. It is not simply a futile pastime, but these days it seems to offer a support, a comfort and a refuge. Thus a new generation of war songs mingle with the familiar strains of half-forgotten "Tipperary" and "Roses of Picardy," while the seats for the symphony concerts must be reserved a week in advance.

The war appears to create also a desire for music that is familiar. "One can forget everything in music which is well-known and popular, it is one of the reasons that the concert halls are filled with soldiers," said the director of the Sunday concerts at the Chatelet Theatre.

This tendency has been the guiding principle in the choice of repertoires at the Opera and Comic Opera. Such familiar and beloved operas as Rigoletto, Aida, La Boheme, Faust, La Traviata, Marriage of Figaro, and Pelleas and Melisande are posted while Samson and Delilah, Alceste, Carmen, Manon, and the Tales of Hoffman are in preparation.

Though beginning many weeks later than usual, the Sunday symphony concerts Colonne, Lamcureux and Pasdeloup, among the finest to be heard on the Continent, are now in full swing. The personnel is somewhat reduced in numbers, because many young musicians are mobilized, there are also some replacements, but the music under such sensitive direction as that of Paul Paray and Albert Wolff retains all of its magic.

Charles Munch and Monsieur Cloes have begun the conservatory concerts once more. Two brilliant memorial performances have been given, one in honor of the genius of Beethoven and the other in memory of Ravel. A number of Ravel's works inspired during the First Great War were played for the latter.

The War Is Over For Them

Bound for a Finnish camp for captured Russian soldiers, these prisoners have time to rejoice in the thought that the war is over as far as they're concerned.

Goodyears Wins 13th Straight

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton furnished one of the chief features of play in last night's Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" puckstering by shellacking Port Colborne Sailors 11-1. Toronto Goodyears skated in with another by downing St. Catharines 7-1 for the league leaders 13th consecutive triumph.

Success of the Hamiltonians left Port Colborne in a second-place tie with St. Catharines each having 34 points compared to 48 for Toronto and 26 for Hamilton, holders of fourth place.

Goals by McLeod, Tonn and Miocinovich after McKelvie had scored the Ports lone marker gave Hamilton a 3-1 edge ending the first period. Miocinovich and Tonn added one apiece in the second session and Brunell two. Tonn and Miocinovich, Barlow and McLeod completed the Port Colborne route by scoring in the last frame.

O'Flaherty, Bowman and King gave Toronto a 3-0 margin in the first period at St. Catharines. Mocha got one back for the home club in the second before Sutcliffe and Drummond made the score 5-1. O'Flaherty completed the hat-trick with a brace of counters in the last session.

Another Bad Night Could Get No Rest

To the thousands who toss, night after night, on sleepless beds and to whose eyes slumber will not come.

To those who sleep in a kind of way, but whose rest is broken by bad dreams and nightmares.

To those who wake up in the morning as tired as on going to bed, we offer in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy to help soothe and calm the nerves and bring them back to a perfect condition, and when this is done there should be no more sleepless nights due to shattered nerves.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

By Central Press Canadian)

Last in alphabetical listings of National league players, but hardly that by any other rating is Doug Young, reliable defenceman with Montreal's staggering Canadiens. Doug had spent eight seasons in the uniform of Detroit Red Wings until just before the start of the present season when Jack Adams sold him to his minor league farm team as part of the Wings' "rejuvenation" plan. The burly blueliner thought he deserved better treatment than that, refused to play in the Int.-American league, was declared a free agent and signed with Canadiens. During his career Young has been one of the best all-round defensemen, steady on the defensive, a good rusher, and a willing team worker. During his stay with the Wings, he captained the two great Stanley Cup teams of 1935-36 and '36-'37. Before entering the N.H.L. he served four years of minor league apprenticeship, first with Kitchener Millionaires, then with Marquette, and the last two seasons at Cleveland. Draws comparatively few penalties for a defence player—59 minutes in his second Detroit season—being the most he has served in a season. Complete mathematical totals until the beginning of this winter's battling stood at 32 goals, 36 assists for 68 points, and 278 minutes served in penalties. Born at Gleichen, Alberta, 31 years ago.

All Saints Win 4-1

All Saints eliminated Mark Street 4-1 at All Saints' Rink last night in a Church League juvenile semi-final. It was a torrid tilt, and the Anglicans now meet Trinity in a two-in-three series. Mark Street, champs the last two years, had but two of the 1939 squad on deck, Ralph and Shearer. Blackwell and McAdams scored in the first, with Blackwell and Carpenter tallying in the second. Ralph got the Mark Street marker in the middle go. All Saints' starting line starred, while none of Jack Ferguson's well-coached crew stood out in particular. The teams;

Ex-Mayor Jailed For Thirty Days

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.— Arthur Ellis, ex-mayor of Ottawa, and former M.L.A. for Ottawa West, last night began a thirty-day term in Carleton County Jail following conviction Friday afternoon of a drunk-driving charge, pending since last summer.

With obvious reluctance and the comment, "None of us likes this job," Judge E. J. Daly passed sentence, following a three-hour hearing in County Criminal Court. Request by counsel for release of Ellis, pending an appeal, was refused by the judge, who explained only a Supreme Court order could effect such a release after sentence on an indictable offense.

The 49-year-old defendant stood with almost stoical calm to hear sentence passed. He was charged following arrest by an Ottawa traffic constable on June 1, last year. Besides the jail term, his right to drive in Canada was cancelled for two years. Ellis indicated he would appeal the conviction. The sentence was the minimum under Ontario law, with no option of a fine.

Escaped From Devil's Island – Destination Unknown

Thirteen of the fourteen Devil Island convicts who made a successful break for freedom from French Guiana are shown in front of the open and leaky sloop in which they arrived in Frederiksted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands. This is the way they looked after they were fed and taken care of by the hospitable inhabitants. Until federal immigration authorities decided what to do with the convicts they were placed in a hospital under police surveillance. A few days after they landed the convicts put to sea again, destination unknown.

At the conclusion of the business Miss D. White and her committee led the members in a very humorous debate on the subject, "Moonlight is more essential to romance than electricity." The good-natured rivalry of the debaters and their facetious efforts to prove their points provided the audience with many hearty laughs and several hours' amusement.

BELTED IN STYLE

By ALICE ALDEN

THE FOCAL points of many mid-season gowns is the girdle or belt, either separate or stitched onto the material. Wearing it requires reasonably trim hips but not the ultra-slim waist so essential for high-busted silhouettes. Unlike the wide suede or gold kid belt, this soft type in the same fabric as the dress divides the torso without exaggerating its lack of perfection. One of our American designers tops the lime green crepe pictured with a salmon jacket of peau d'ange, embroidering it like the girdle, with gilt and sequins. The jacket is sufficiently long to cover the belt when fastened—in fact, a good length for other dresses in the wardrobe. Let's not forget that we pay for a jacket and should consider its usefulness in general as well as its tie-up with a particular style.

Tragic Position Of Youth Deplored

Dr. Lorna Cotton Thomas was a guest speaker at the February meeting of Knox church Women's Association on Thursday afternoon. The speaker, who was introduced by Mrs. J. Londerville and welcomed by the president, Mrs. J. Allen, based her talk on the tragic position of the youth of today who find themselves at such loss to find a place in the world when their education is finished, and on the greater difficulty of those who are unable to obtain an education to fit themselves for life's work, stressing the fact that all women should work to the end that youth might have a chance to develop the ability and the good that lies in each one.

Mrs. George Jackson sang two beautiful sacred numbers, "Holding Thy Hand" and "Softly and Tenderly."

During the business meeting plans were made for a Leap Year party, to be held in the Lecture Hall on February 15, for which invitations have been sent out.

The visiting committee reported forty-two calls made and a number of cards sent out.

A rather moderate degree of activity, with things possibly moving into new or unaccustomed grooves, is read from the predominant astral influences. These may not prove entirely satisfactory, being attended by some subtle or deep incitements that are difficult to interpret. But new matters or contacts with strangers may benefit. Correspondence seems to be a pleasing factor.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a fairly successful and progressive year, with certain aspects of the profound or subtle seeming to be an actuating and challenging factor. Strangers figure profitably and prudent change may benefit. Correspondence brings pleasure in private relations.

A child born on this day may have a keen and deep mentality, with much ingenuity and creative ability in original lines. It also may have a gentle, affectionate and attractive personality, being loved and popular.

When you give the children toys, it's also a good idea to provide them a place to store them tidily. Toy chests, built-in shelves or cabinets where each plaything can be kept neatly are encouragement for young ones to be orderly.

Originality Must Survive In Home Decorating

"Unless originality is fostered, art will die a natural death," declared Mr. W. H. Howard of Toronto when he addressed the Women's Art Association in the Y.W.C.A. Friday afternoon on the subject of Interior Decorating. "Our grandparents were not bothered with innumerable articles on the subject of interior decoration, although it is exceedingly valuable up to a certain point," Mr. Howard stated as he drew attention to the fact that too much of this type of advice is apt to destroy the originality of the home decorator.

Interior decoration nowadays is usually considered from the purely economic point of view, and then from the aesthetic standpoint, explained the speaker. It is obvious that the style of house will largely dictate the style of furniture that will be used. Houses as applied to people in modern circumstances have undergone a tremendous change. We do not see the huge houses that our grandparents seemed to find necessary—on the other hand, the slum-like houses so prevalent in the last century are gradually being done away with.

With the present day wide choice of materials, Mr. Howard does not believe the decorator can go very wrong in his selection—it is in the association of these various materials that the mistake is apt to be made. He explained the various periods of furniture and their relation to fabrics. The modern tendency is towards simplification in furniture and colour arrangement.

In order to give his audience a general idea of various types of interiors, Mr. Howard showed some interesting slides of Toronto and Hamilton homes, commenting as he did so on the furniture and colour arrangements.

Mrs. Fred E. Hooper, Association president, introduced the speaker. At the next studio meeting, Mr. Harvard Reddick, tenor, will be guest artist.

FASHIONS

Here is a cute little basque frock for your young daughter. The back is perky and can have a bustle bow if you wish. She will wear it for Sunday best now, and later on for school if you make it of gay, spring-like colors. Printed cotton, linen, or rayon for the short-sleeved jacket-blouse, and a darker solid color for the skirt that flares youthfully. Use this same pattern to make an entirely different looking frock, of one color. Pastels are smart for mid-season wear, for adults and children alike. She will be proud every time she wears this dress, for school or best.

Stlye No. 3171 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1¼ yards of 39-inch material for short sleeved blouse; 1¼ yards for skirt; ⅛ yard of 35-inch lining for bodice top of skirt.

Women United For World's Day Of Prayer

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 10.—(ENS). — There was a splendid turnout of ladies for the World Day of Prayer service held in St. Andrew's church on Friday afternoon.

Present on the platform were Mrs. S. E. White of St. John's Anglican church, Mrs. Orville Redpath of the Gospel Hall, Mrs. J. M. Simpson of St. Andrew's, Mrs. P. H. Darling of the Lakefield United church, and Mrs. M. Harvey of the Baptist church.

Miss Jean Clark presided at the piano.

The theme for the program being 'In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength,' was carried throughout the service.

Mrs. J. M. Simpson led in the call to worship and presided for the first part of the devotional exercises. She was assisted by the other representatives present on the platform.

The Bible readings wre taken by Mrs. C. Stenner, Mrs. O. Redpath and Miss Winnifred Rosborough.

Following a short period of intercession prayers were offered by Mesdames J. Twist, W. B. Walker, Hayward, A. Davis, W. W. Yale and C. S. Tanner.

Mrs. J. R. Hull rendered a pleasing solo, "Jesus Took My Burden."

"Through prayer to service" was the paper read by Mrs. G. Kelly.

The belief in united prayer has appealed to Christian women everywhere and the day has become in real truth a world day of prayer. "Think," said Mrs. Kelly, "of prayer as beginning from the rising of the sun over the isles of the Pacific where the day begins, until the close of day again on the Pacific in Hawaii, forty hours of continuing prayer, that in quietness and in confidence brings strength."

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the hymn, "We thank Thee that Thy church unsleeping" and the Benediction repeated in unison

AT ROSENEATH

Reading scripture lessons were Mrs. James Timlin, Mrs. James Webb and Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite of the Anglican Church.

Leading in prayer were Mrs. H. J. McCracken, Mrs. L. Tucker, Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. S. Leach, and Miss Emma Sherwin.

The devotional address was given by Mrs. A. Nill; her subject was Prayer.

Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, W.M.S. organist, presided at the organ, opening the service with quiet music and playing a special offertory number.

AT HASTINGS.

The World Day of Prayer with its theme, "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength," was observed on Friday at Trinity United Church, when over 30 representatives from the three missionary societies, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, St. George's Anglican and Trinity United, gathered. The service opened with quiet music played by the organist, Miss Carrie Doxsee.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, president of Trinity W.M.S., opened the program with the call to worship and responsive reading.

Bible readings were given by Miss D. Plant, Mrs. E. Hahn and Mrs. Small.

The second leader, Mrs. T. Curel, of St. George's Church, took charge of the period of intercession, which was taken by Miss Plant, Mrs. S. Hatherly, Mrs. C. Dodd, Mrs. W. Tate and Mrs. Small.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe gave a short devotional address on "Prayer and Missions."

Mrs. Charles Dodd, president of St. Andrew's W.M.S., was the leader for the concluding period.

Mrs. H. B. Wilson had charge of the offertory, which will be sent to Miss Bessie MacMurchy, treasurer of the Inter-Board Committee, to be used for Christian literature.

Christian Women Hold World Together Through Day of Prayer

Christian women of every denomination have once more held the world together by prayer, in which Peterborough had a place in the day of intercession and meditation.

Friday, the day of prayer, was divided among the women who met at three o'clock, and were led by the representatives of the different city churches. In the early evening the C.G.I.T groups met for prayer under the direction of Mrs. A. P. Huffman, and at eight o'clock the young women gathered at the Salvation Army Temple where all three groups met.

With Mrs. Alan Pilling as key woman and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief, secretary-treasurer in charge for the afternoon, the world-wide program was carried out with a deep feeling of reverence and benediction.

The theme was the same at all church services "In quietnes sand in confidence shall be your strength." Acting as leader, Mrs. (Adj.) N. Buckley, of the Salvation Army, gave the call to worship in the words of God "Be thou still and know that I am God," and led in the opening prayer.

In responsive reading the large congregation was led by Mrs. A. Pilling of St. Andrew's United church, while the Bible reading, selected from the 15th chapter of St. John's gospel, was read in three parts by Mrs. E. Howson of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Mrs. J. W. Pierce, Trinity United and Mrs. E. Beavis of St. James United.

In the second responsive service Mrs. Batley of Park Street Baptist, took the leading part.

After the hymn "O God our help" a further period of intercession was continued, opening with the prayer for the King, Queen and Royal family, led by Mrs. Edgar, of All Saints' Anglican church. Mrs. T. E. Floyd, of St. George's Anglican, led in petitions for all those who serve in our defence, while Mrs. Leach of St. John's offered prayer for all sick and suffering.

Mrs. Laing of Knox United church prayed for the strengthening of our national life, while the prayer for Missions was given by Mrs. Seeley of Bethany Tabernacle.

For the church, that it may continue Christ's saving work in the world, Mrs. Kidd of Murray Street Baptist, made intercession.

In the closing prayer, in time of war, Mrs. H. Alton, Mark Street United, made the plea to God for special guidance.

The splendid and inspirational address by Mrs. Ballard of George Street church, brought a new light and a deeper meaning to the prayer life of every woman. She defined prayer as the power of God and pointed out certain obstacles which might prevent contact with this power.

A beautiful message in song "Open the Gates of the Temple" sung by Mrs. Mendell Braund, added greatly to the spirit of this service of prayer, Mrs. S. J. Richardson was the sympathetic accompanist.

Members of the city C.G.I.T. groups gathered at seven o'clock in a service of worship for youth led by Mrs. Huffman, who was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Walker, deaconess of St. Paul's and Mrs. J. A. McKone, the latter speaking on "The Better Way of Living."

Following the same form of service, the young women's group was led by Miss Marjorie McDonald of the Salvation Army.

Representatives from the various churches who led in service included Mrs. Hanscom of Knox United, Misses Peggy Baxter, Doris Raybould and Gwen Dobbin of All Saints Anglican, Olive Armstrong and Ida Giles Trinity United, Fern Rahmel Park St. Baptist, and Belle King St. Andrew's United.

The evening address was given by Miss Walker who spoke on the theme "In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength," referring to these as the two working principles of life. She emphasized the thought that we must not only "see" but "show" God, especially in these days of chaos and conflict. "Take Time to be Holy" was the appropriate solo contributed by Mrs. Gibson of Murray Street Baptist, accompanied by Mrs. Shadgett.

Misses Constance Wagar, St. James, and Margaret Weir, St. Andrews, were in charge of arrangements for the evening. George Street circle and Salvation Army girls ushered and received the offering.

Another day of prayer has passed into history, with all its influence that transcends the boundaries of nation and race, of time and temperature, and all were one as they joined the great fellowship of intercession around the world.

Splendid Cough Remedy Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes.

Put the Pinex into a 16-ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient remedy, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

IN MEMORIAM

TULLY.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Emma Tully, who passed away February 11, 1935.

Five years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love for her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Ever remembered by her Daughter

POTTS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Estelle Potts, who passed away February 10, 1936.

We, who loved you, sadly miss you
As it dawns another year.
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Sadly missed by daughters, Muriel and Leone (Mrs. N. Edgar).

"TELL BILL GOODBYE"

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION — By Marie Blizard

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

THERE was to be an exhibition of old world crafts at Willoughby house, a showing of the weaving, pottery, embroidery and wood carving executed by the older foreign classes. Ellen was occupied by the details in her office when Fabienne came in the next night about nine and dropped wearily into a chair.

"Hello, stranger," Fabienne said, yawning.

"Hello, Fab. How's the rehearsal going?"

"Wonderfully. If the kids don't get stage fright tomorrow night, it ought to be a sensation.

"It ought to be anyway. The work you've put into it! I'm beginning to get worried about you again. I thought you were only going to work a couple of hours a day at the hospital and now you're there so much I never see you.

"It's not hard work. And it'll go much easier now that the play is going on tomorrow night. They can go on without any help from me for the week. We'll start rehearsing another in two weeks. Well, I guess I'd better get back. Have you seen the costumes? They're quite sweet," she said, getting up.

At the door she said, "Have a good time last night?"

Ellen's expression was immediately guilty. "Come back a minute, Fabienne, please," she said.

Fabienne looked at her wrist watch, frowning. "Is it important, Ellen? I ought to be upstairs now."

"Yes, it is important."

Fabienne came back and sat down, wishing she had said nothing to indicate she knew Ellen was out with Nicky the night before. Ellen was so plainly embarrassed.

"I was out with Nicky," she said. "Camilla Morse mentioned she'd seen you. She thought you were very attractive.

"Thank you, Fab, I wanted to explain how I happened to be out with him."

"It doesn't matter in the least, Ellen. Didn't you once tell me that there was no need of explanations between us? Why shouldn't you be out with Nicky? I have no strings on him. He doesn't belong to me.

Ellen bit her lip nervously. She didn't know whether Fabienne was piqued or not. Her voice was so level.

"Nevertheless, I want to tell you about it. He rang up about nine and I said you—you wouldn't be home until later. Nicky was—was in a dancing mood and happened to—"

"Oh, for heaven's sake, Ellen what difference does it make? she asked irritably. And, aware of the irritation, she added hastily, "Did you enjoy yourself?"

Ellen nodded.

"Then that's all that's necessary."

The exchange did not make Ellen feel any better about it but, obviously, there was nothing more to say. To cover her embarrassment, she said, "Have you heard Bill's news?"

Fabienne had got up a second time to go back to her rehearsal. She paused at the door to turn quickly when Ellen asked that question.

She shook her head, asking for news with her eyes.

"Remember him telling us about Dr. Forrester?"

Again Fabienne shook her head negatively.

"Oh, I thought he had. Well, Dr. Forrester was his research prof. at college and Bill has always wanted to go out and work with him." Fabienne was beginning to remember, with her heart diving into her slippers. It was somewhat in Colorado. It might as well have been in Tibet as far as her seeing him went, should he go away.

"He did say something about it."

"Dr. Forrester has a laboratory in Colorado and Bill has always been hoping to go out there, but he couldn't afford it up to now."

"And now he can?" Fabienne asked, feeling her lips stiffen on the question.

"Yes," Ellen answered. Ellen looked so proud! "Dr. Forrester wrote to tell him that a physician in a nearby town wants a young man to take over his practice. Bill thinks that he could run a practice and still have time for research. Isn't that wonderful?"

"Very," Fabienne said curtly. At least it sounded curt because she couldn't talk about it.

She couldn't bear to think of the long days, months, years ahead of her before she could get him out of her memory, months and years that Ellen would be sharing with him. No wonder Ellen looked proud and happy.

Fabienne said, "How soon is he going?"

"Not until May or June. By the way, don't tell him I told you. He'll undoubtedly want to tell you himself."

"Not a word," Fabienne said, turning away finally to return to the theater above.

All that night the new knowledge lay heavily on her heart, but when she saw Bill at the hospital the next afternoon, she gave him no sign of the tears that still filled it.

She was in Sonny Parsons' room, reading rhymes to the four-year-old when Bill came in.

Bill nodded to her and sat down beside the small white bed. "How you doing, Big Feller?" he said to the curly-headed child.

"My rabbit has a green hat," Sonny answered, holding up a ragged toy with a St. Patrick's Day favor on its head.

"Sure it has. And his name is Mike," Bill told him.

"Next week we're going to move into the ward where we can play with other children," Fabienne told Bill.

He shook his head. "Sonny is a big, strong boy now. He's going to be discharged Wednesday or Thursday whenever his granddaddy comes for him."

"So soon?" Fabienne asked surprised. Sonny had had pneumonia when she came to the hospital 15 days before.

"Sure. He's a tough youngster. Also, he'll have the best of care. In fact, his granddaddy is taking him to the south of France. They're sailing Friday, I believe."

"Doesn't he have a mother?" she asked Bill when they left the child's room.

"Divorced."

"Poor little thing," she said. She's completely forgotten the bell that had rung in her memory the first time she had heard Sonny Parsons' name. Most of the private cases who came to Park-Plaza were known as Sonny or Junior.

Bill said, "You better quit here for the day. With the big show going on at Willoughby house tonight, you'll need all your energy."

"I'm going right away," she said, slipping a long coat on over her white dress that was like a uniform. "My car's at the door. I'm going to catch a cat-nap this afternoon."

Bill didn't say anything about his news. She thought he was going to tell her for a moment in which he looked at her silently; but he said nothing and she left him.

Her car was parked almost immediately before the entrance. She came out of the door looking for it, and was about to open the door when a woman came up silently behind her and caught her arm.

She turned to face a blond girl, expensively dressed, but with a face so haggard it was shocking. There was something in the swollen features and tear-streaked cheeks that was vaguely familiar to Fabienne, but she couldn't remember who this strange woman was, clinging to her desperately.

"Fabienne!" she said hoarsely, "I've got to talk to you. Don't you remember me? I'm Chris."

Christine Parsons! Suddenly Fabienne remembered that little beast in her memory. This was Sonny Parsons' mother! This sick, desperate woman had been the beautiful Christine Mayhew, at whose wedding Fabienne had been a bridesmaid five years before. This woman who was saying, "Fabienne, you're a nurse here. You'll have to help me! If you don't, I'm going to kill myself!"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN TO COVER IT

THE GREAT pioneer bridge authority, Wilbur C. Whitehead, used to give his pupils a simple rule for their guidance regarding covering an honor, something which whist players used to do almost blindly as a matter of policy. His rule was this: "Cover an honor with an honor when doing so seems likely to promote a trick in your own or partner's hand." That usually meant when you had a lower honor, too, or reckoned your partner as likely to have one.

	♠ K 10 7 ♥ Q J 10 9 4 ♦ J 6 2 ♣ A Q

After South's 1-Heart on this duplicate deal, West made a pretty risky overcall of 1-Spade, something he would not have tried in a rubber game, in which the punishment might be too costly. North jumped to 3-Hearts, South bid 4-Hearts and then East sacrificed at 4-Spades.

The defenders took the diamond K, club Q, diamond Q, club A, and led a third diamond, which dummy ruffed with the 2. The spade J was led and, when South played the 7, West let the J win. The spade finesse was taken, the K dropped and K, the heart A was used as an entry, and the clubs were run. Thus the side was down only one trick.

South definitely should have covered the spade J with the K, because by so doing he might set up a trick for himself, his 10. That is exactly what he would have done, and the contract would have been set two tricks instead of one.

Loan To Chinese Seen By Japs Pressure Stunt

TOKYO, Feb. 10 — (AP).—Possibility of a new United States credit for China was widely interpreted to-day as evidence of American pressure on Japan.

Although official sources declined comment, some Japanese considered the proposal a sign that efforts to better relations with Washington thus far were unsuccessful and fear of an American embargo increased.

(Jesse H. Jones, United States Federal Loan Administrator, has disclosed that China, which already has been given commercial credits of $25,000,000, probably would get additional credits of $20,000,000 for purchases in America.)

If the United States Congress should adopt an embargo against Japan "it would be a very serious matter," Yackichiro Suma, the Foreign Office spokesman, said at a press conference.

Suma said Premier Mitsumasa Yonai had assured the Japanese Diet that Japan was preparing to meet any decline in American-Japanese relations. The spokesman would not say whether this included military preparations.

The six firms that make up Canadian Associated Aircraft, with headquarters in Montreal, are Ottawa Car and Aircraft Limited, Canadian Car and Foundry Company of Fort William, Fleet Aircraft of Fort Erie, Ont., National Stel Car Company of Toronto, De Havilland Company of Toronto, and Fairchild Company of Montreal.

The type of aircraft to be manufactured in this new order is believed to be the powerful Hampden bomber and possibly later the companies will produce the four-motored Sterling bomber, said to be the most modern in the world.

Manufacturing plants are being established at St. Hubert Airport, near Montreal, and at Malton Airport, near Toronto, to handle the order the British Government places with the company. The six companies in the aircraft manufacturing pool will manufacture various parts and the planes will be assembled in the Montreal and Toronto plants.

Mr. McLarty had particular criticism for Dr. Manion's declaration that he will form a National Government of the "best brains" in the Dominion if the Conservatives are given office March 26.

"We in the administration have selected the ablest brains we could find, and let me say that in any appointments made the question was never raised as to what a man's politics were. There was not one single political appointment on the various war boards."

He defended the Prime Minister's action in calling for an immediate dissolution and an election at the recent brief session of parliament.

power vested in the attorney-general of his officials to take a man to an assize court without preliminary hearing by a magistrate, there would be no intervening action between accusation and trial.

Mr. Conant said the resolutions would result in providing for indictment hearings before a county or district Judge before an accused person could be placed on trial.

Fight Gets Too Hot.

Second reading debate on the bill was adjourned suddenly yesterday as House tempers became too nettled to permit much progress to be made. Arthur Roebuck (Ind. Lib. Toronto-Bellwoods) said he couldn't see why debate should be adjourned because of the bad temper of the members.

His chief argument was not against abolition of Grand Juries, but against hasty decision on the bill, said Col. Drew. He opposed doing away "with the minimum protection an accused person should have in criminal cases."

There was danger in giving to the Attorney-General discretion as to whom might be accused and brought to trial, placing the onus on Mr. Conant for the recent arrest of W. B. Coatts, Toronto insurance man, who was honorably discharged when the charges of conspiracy were withdrawn.

"We must have no political trials," he said. "We cannot place men's freedom in the hands of the elected executive."

Mr. Conant also tabled a letter from the Upper Canada Law Society denying that it had concurred in recommendations in the Barlow report on justice administration, for the abolition of grand juries.

His argument was not for the retention of grand juries, but against a hasty decision on the bill, said Col. Drew. He was opposed to doing away with "the minimum protection an accused person should have in criminal cases." He asked why the Law Society letter had not been tabled with the Barlow report. All the facts had not been given.

Can Not Be Discussed

John Glass (Lib.-Toronto-St. Andrews) protested the charges referred to by Col. Drew were still before the courts and could not be discussed in the Legislature. Attorney-General Conant agreed and the Speaker upheld the objection.

The Conservative leader then attempted to outline what he called "strange procedure" before the charges were laid.

"That is all part of the same matter," said Mr. Conant.

"I don't know what the Attorney-General has to hide," snapped back Col. Drew. "He has raised objections which are specious excuses because of his obvious failure to do his duty."

Liberal members objected to this charge and a minor uproar started.

"The facts which have been shown have demonstrated quite clearly that this House should not extend to him (Mr. Conant) any discretion in the exercise of his duty," persisted Col. Drew. "He has done nothing to justify such discretion being given him."

The legislature was showing "a tendency towards laws as severe in their application as those of Nazi Germany, said Col. Drew. The Attorney-General asked for powers to be exercised in his own discretion and that was all Nazi leaders sought.

Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said that Col. Drew was reflecting on the laws in other provinces, after which the proposed statute was modelled, though it didn't go as far.

Turcott Livery, Tweed Landmark Goes

TWEED, Feb. 10—Turcott's livery barn, a prominent landmark with its windmill, for several decades is no more. During the past week wreckers have been busy and the building which served well the needs of the travelling public in the horse and buggy days has disappeared from the ken of man. The building, while not old in years, having been erected only a few years before the outbreak of the first World War in 1914, was built by Alex Turcott, who prior to that time had conducted an expanding livery business on the east side of the Moira River.

As a result of the expansion of his business, Mr. Turcott selected a more central and convenient location and for a number of years hired out his horses to commercial travellers and others. At the height of the business there were as many as twenty horses in the stalls ready for service.

As the years passed, the automobile became more common and soon travel behind a horse was too slow. To accommodate those desiring a more rapid method of locomotion, Mr. Turcott added two or three motor cars. With this dual horse and auto livery, he enjoyed one very successful year. The following years however, his former clients drove up to the door of his office in cars supplied for them by their employers. In the course of time they drove up in their own cars. With this rapidly decreasing demand for horses, "old Dobbin's" popularity waned and the era of the motor car was definitely in.

During the early years of the first World War, Mr. Turcott was engaged in the purchase of mounts for the British cavalry and used his livery barn to house them until they could be shipped to Toronto where they were sold to the British buyers.

Cottage Burns

Fire completely destroyed a summer cottage owned by Thomas Rupert of Madoc, and situated on the north shore of Moira Lake. The fire was discovered by three lads who were skiing near Moira Lake three miles south of Madoc on Wednesday afternoon. Before help could be summoned the cottage was levelled, with all contents being a complete loss.

Marmora

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davis visited Mrs. Davis' parents in Peterborough over the week-end.

Mr. Art Lummiss had the misfortune to cut his foot while cutting wood recently. It required several stitches.

Mrs. G. Kennedy visited her sister, Mrs. J. Reid in Toronto, last week-end. Mrs. Reid was the victim of a serious accident last week, when she was struck by a car and dragged several feet, sustaining a fractured arm, broken cheek bone, cuts and head injuries.

The Marmora Community War Workers sent parcels this week to each of the local soldiers who are serving overseas. Each parcel contains a sweater and two pairs of socks from the M.C.W.W. and a flashlight with extra batteries, the gift of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. Every week a large number of women meet on Wednesday afternoon and knit for this work, and afternoon tea is served.

Two big bus loads of students taking the mining engineer's course at Queen's University, Kingston, visited Cordova Mines on Thursday morning, and were given an opportunity to visit the mine and see the new mill in operation. They had dinner at the Royal Hotel and visited the plant of Deloro Smelting and Refining Company in the afternoon.

CAMPBELLFORD

Grant Of $300 Made To Fair

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10 — (ENS.)—The Seymour Agricultural Society will get its customary grant of $300 from the township council it was announced at the monthly meeting held here Monday, but the council added the proviso that $100 of this year's grant was to be used to pay off a portion of the mortgage against the society's buildings here. Bill Hume and R. McCulloch headed the delegation to the council, which was presided over by Reeve Will Ross.

Township Road Superintendent D. T. Petherick reported that the 1,000 yards of snow fence which had been purchased at the initial meeting of the year, had all been put up, with the farmers co-operating in the matter. None charged for their time, he revealed. One of the major roads to be blocked this winter by snow is the road south from Healey Falls over Clark's Hill, according to Mr. Petherick. Among the places where snow fence has been installed are Petherick's Corners; Menie; north from Bradley's corners on the north-south road, and at Louck's hill.

T. H. Rowe presented the auditors report for the year 1939 and on motion of Councillors Duncan and Lee the report was received and the usual number of copies were ordered prepared. G. W. Anderson presented the report of the school attendance officer for January and W. Fisher gave the tax collector's report.

E. Skitch addressed the council in regard to a certain piece of property assessed to Gus Bertrand and on which the taxes had already been paid by himself. He asked that a rebate be made and the request was granted.

Council decided to take no action at present in regard to the Board of Health's report in which the matter of toxoiding and immunizing of certain diseases was set out.

Wheat Price Is To Be Topped By 5 To 8 Cents

MELVILLE, Sask., Feb. 10 (CP).—Probability that farmers delivering wheat to the Canadian wheat board under present price conditions will received from five to eight cents a bushel in additional to the federally-guaranteed initial price is seen by the Dominion Agriculture Minister, Hon. J. C. Gardiner.

(The Dominion Government guaranteed payment of 70 cents a bushel for wheat, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William, on 1939 crop delivered to the board and issued participation certificates under which farmers would receive the benefit of wheat board sales above that price. No. 1 Northern closed yesterday on the Winnipeg Exchange at 82⅛.)

If wheat now held by the board were sold at between 82 and 85 cents a bushel and there was no further expense through storage and other costs, farmers delivering wheat to the board could be paid between five and eight cents a bushel on their participation certificates, Mr. Gardiner said last night.

The minister addressed nearly 700 electors of Melville constituency in which he is Liberal candidate in the March 26 general election.

Every dollar the board obtains for wheat above handling costs will go to the farmers, Mr. Gardiner said. There were chances of still better prices.

The agriculture minister charged that criticism of the Liberal government's war effort by the Conservative Leader, Hon. R. J. Manion, ill became a man who was a member of the last Conservative government which had slashed expenditures for national defence and development of air transport and had abandoned the trans-Canada air service.

Defence appropriations voted by the Liberal administration before Conservatives gained power in 1930 had been $20,000,000 but had been cut in half by the Conservatives and a $7,00,000 appropriation for air development had been cut to $2,225,000.

J. J. Duffus Is Named By Liberals

Former Member Is Only Nominee At Party Convention

J. J. Duffus was unanimously chosen candidate of the Liberals of the federal riding of Peterborough at their convention Saturday afternoon in the Canadian Legion Hall.

Local political history repeated itself not only in the party's enthusiastic action of entrusting the Liberal standard again to Mr. Duffus, but also in the fact that he was proposed by the same two men who placed his name before the convention of 1935: F. D. Kerr, K.C., and E. B. Fowler.

With the nomination of Mr. Duffus on Saturday, E. L. Sackville moved that the nominations be closed, and R. M. Glover seconded the motion, concluding in a comparatively short time the main business of the meeting.

The Legion auditorium was crowded to overflowing, with delegates from all sections of the riding of Peterborough, including a strikingly large number of women, and many of the younger voters. On rising to accept the nomination, Mr. Duffus was acclaimed with long applause, and then proceeded with an account of the government's stewardship during the last four years with a detailed exposition of the steps taken Etobicoke, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP) A COCKER SPANIEL puppy, which three weeks ago aroused the family of Mrs. J. M. Rooney when fire broke out in their home, was credited again today with saving the lives of the family.

Frantic barking of the dog aroused Mrs. Rooney early Sunday. In a dazed condition she discovered coal gas had been seeping from a defective furnace pipe and she aroused her two daughters, Elaine, 17, and Joanne, four, and Louis Scopis, 20, Owen Sound, fiancee of Elaine.

Finn Wags Leave Leaflets With Sleepy Red

ON THE MANERHEIM LINE IN FINLAND, Feb. 12 (AP)—Nailing propaganda leaflets to trees is one job of Finnish Ski patrols operating against the Russians.

Youthful skiers told some of their experiences today as newspapermen visited Finland's defence lines on the Karelian Isthmus.

Once we dropped phamphlets into the lap of a Russian who had fallen asleep against a tree," one patrol leader related. "He had gone some distance into Russia when we came upon him.

"One of my men shook him, but the Russian only muttered and did not open his eyes. We filled his lap with leaflets and stuck one on his rifle bayonet."

Governor-General Dies Sunday Night After 3rd Operation Fails To Relieve Effects Of Tuesday's Fall; Dominion Capital Prepares For Great State Funeral

Wise, Understanding Generally Loved Say World Tributes

(By the Canadian Press.)

Canadians from the Atlantic to the Pacific joined with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and representatives of other countries today in paying tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir.

Soon after the Governor-General's death at Montreal Sunday night, Mr. Mackenzie King spoke over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, recalling that Lord Tweedsmuir "knew the Canadian people as few, if any, governors-general knew them before," and that the Canadian people "learned to know him and to hold him in unsurpassed affection."

A Geuerous Heart.

"To his great task Lord Tweedsmuir brought wisdom, experience, the grace of words and a generosity of heart which found expression in a wide human sympathy and understanding," the Prime Minister said.

Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner to Canada, said Great Britian "joins with Canada in mourning the loss of a most distinguished citizen of Empire and a very human man who, in good health or bad, disdained to spare his strength in the exercise of his official duties, and who, in his personal relationships, endeared himself to all who had the privilege to know him."

With Every Good Cause

Chief Justice Sir Lyman P. Duff of the Supreme Court of Canada, before he took over temporarily the duties of Governor-General, said that "we shall remember the self-forgetfulness with which he lavished his talents and energies in helping forward every good cause."

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader, speaking first in English and then in French from Fort William, told the C.B.C. audience that Lord Tweedsmuir "had endeared himself to Canadians of all classes, creeds and political beliefs."

"Apart from his official life in Canada," Dr. Manion said, "his excellency will live in history as John

Whole Nation Enters On 7-Day Period Of Public Mourning

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—(CP).—The body of Lord Tweedsmuir lay in a funeral parlor today while Canadians prepared to pay tributes of honor and affection to the man who had lived with them.

The Governor-General died at 7.13 Sunday night from the effects of a blocking of an artery in the brain and a fall in which he suffered concussion. He had been unconscious since he was stricken at Government House on Tuesday, and three operations, one at Ottawa and two here, failed to save him.

Watch Kept Over Body.

Officers of the Canadian Grenadier Guards kept watch over the body from the time it was moved from the Neurological Institute and will continue the vigil until 8.45 a.m. Tuesday, when it will be taken to a train to be carried to Ottawa. It will pass through Montreal streets lined with member of local militia, naval and air force units.

In the capital, the sorrow which fell upon the Dominion will find expression in a State funeral service.

First the body will lie in state in the Senate Chamber on Parliament Hill from Tuesday noon until it is taken to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Wednesday for the State ceremony. Then it will start its journey home to Great Britain for burial.

While the body of Lord Tweedsmuir lay in the quiet chapel here, Canada entered upon a seven days' period of public mourning.

Flags were at half-mast, social events were cancelled, political warfare was quieted and people thought of the writer, soldier and statesman who had visited them on their farms, in their cities, and on their furthermost frontiers of the Arctic Ocean.

Tributes From Around World.

Sympathy poured in from all quarters of the world to add to the tributes from leaders in Canadian life who spoke of the integrity,

Bags Two Wolves

STAN WINDSOR, ace bushman of the Apsley district, has come through to prove Charlie Kingan's claim that there are wolves in that area. For today he exhibited two wolves in proof, and one of them was the largest ever seen in this entire district. It weighed almost exactly 100 pounds.

Windsor caught the two of them in snares in the game preserve south east of Apsley. They were mates, and were caught only a few feet apart. The female weighed 75 pounds. Both were dead when he found them Saturday morning, only eight and a half miles southeast of Apsley.

Col. Stevenson Passes Away Very Suddenly

One of Peterborough's most distinguished citizens, Lieut.-Col. Arthur Stevenson, unexpectedly and suddenly passed away at his residence at 208 McDonnel street, on Sunday morning in his seventy-sixth year. As he had been apparently in good health until the day before his death, news of his passing came with a great shock to the citizens of Peterborough.

Col. Stevenson was born and lived his entire life in this city and has long been one of its outstanding and honored citizens. During the past 40 years, and until his death, he was secretary of the City Trust Commission.

Anzac Army Reaches Suez Zone

Armada Of Transports Warships Stretch 'Far As Eye Can See'

SUEZ, Egypt, Feb. 12—(CP).—One of the greatest armies ever transported by sea landed here today from New Zealand and Australia to joint the Allies' forces in the Near East.

A tent city at the edge of the desert was partly prepared for the husky troops, welcomed at the end of their 10,000-mile voyage by Dominions Secretary Anthony Eden with a message from the King.

The New Zealanders and Australians were all volunteers, many of them sons of troops that crossed the seas to fight in the past war.

A Reuter's dispatch passed for transmission from Suez said the great armada of transports and British warships were anchored "as far as the eye could see."

How many additional troops arrived was not disclosed.

In High Spirits

Health of the troops was reported excellent. They were said to be in high spirits.

The Australians are under command of Lieut.-General Sir Thomas Blamey, chief of staff of the Australian Imperial Force in 1919. Commanding the New Zealand force is Major General B. C. Frey-

Lt. John Buchan Takes Title And Carries On

ALDERSHOT, England, Feb. 12 (CP Cable) — Despite consuming grief over the loss of his beloved father who had been his closest companion, counsellor and friend, the new Lord Tweedsmuir carried on bravely today, with its military duties at the headquarters of the First Canadian Division here. He received messages of sympathy from all parts of the world.

The tall, distinguished-looking heir to the title so proudly born by Canada's late Governor General remained on duty at his own request. He reported earlier than his colleagues, hiding his feelings and the strain of long wakeful nights behind a calm soldierly exterior.

On his left arm he wore a black crepe mourning band.

In the red brick billet where we have bunked together as roommates, and known as Chilblain Castle, John Buchan, as he is still called by his more intimate colleagues, told me he would remain with the Canadian forces on the headquarters staff. It is his own desire and he is satisfied it also would be his father's wish.

Tonight the lieutenant leaves on an indefinite furlough to attend to immediate family affairs.

Political Truce Called Till After Funeral

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—All political parties in Canada have agreed to suspension of broadcasting of election speeches over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Gladstone Murray, general manager of C.B.C. said today.

This suspension until after the funeral of Governor General Lord Tweedsmuir is in respect to His Excellency who died in Montreal last night.

Mr. Murray said he was unable to say at this time whether the suspension would be extended to take in the full week of mourning.

Under the suspension the Prime Minister will forego a broadcast which was tentatively scheduled for Wednesday night. Agriculture Minister Gardiner will not make a brief broadcast he had scheduled for Regina today and Conservative Leader Manion will postpone a national broadcast scheduled for tonight.

Lindsay Plant Is Burned; Loss Is $30,000

LINDSAY, Feb. 12.—(ENS)—The plant of the Woods Milling Company, Lindsay, was completely destroyed in an early morning blaze today. Damage from the fire which thoroughly razed the building, was estimated by Herbert Woods, owner of the mill, at $30,000. Firemen battled the blaze from 6:30 a.m. until after ten o'clock.

The 50-year-old building, of a frame construction and covered by tin, hindered the firemen somewhat in getting the blaze under control but this same tin is believed responsible in a large measure in the failure of the fire to spread to nearby buildings.

The fire was discovered by Robert Parker shortly before 6:30 o'clock and he called the fire department.

Mr. Wods said he was able to save the office records and that the building was partly covered by insurance.

Cause of the fire was not determined although firemen believe spontaneous combustion is the most plausible explanation.

Britain Allows Turks Break In Trade Treaty

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(CP)— Great Britain today announced a new Anglo-Turkish trade treaty would go into effect February 19 to remain in force for one year and successive annual periods unless abrogated.

A white paper said the agreement was reached in London, February 3.

The trade pact further cemented relations between the two powers which already have a mutual assistance pact and agreements enabling Turkey to purchase extensive armaments in Britain.

Either nation must give not less than three months notice to terminate the new treaty.

The pact, modifying and consolidating one concluded in 1936, was signed by Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax and the Turkish Ambassador, Tevfik Rustu Aras.

It provides that British exports to Turkey shall not exceed 80 per cent of Turkish exports to Britain, giving the Turks a favorable balance in their commerce with Britain.

Turkey's trade has been a prize of keen competition between Berlin and London. As a stimulant Britain has diverted her huge tobacco buying from the United States to Turkey.

Scores Injured: 20 Jailed In I.R.A. Battle

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 12.—(AP).—Resentment of the Irish Republican Army over the hanging of two convicted terrorists for a fatal bombing in England, resulted over the week-end in rioting and a raid on an armory.

About 2,000 I.R.A. sympathizers clashed with police and hurled bottles, stones and bricks in an hour of street fighting yesterday. Scores were hurt and 20 arrested.

Despite a ban on demonstrations the I.R.A. sympathizers attempted to hold a meeting in the Falls Road area of Belfast, and police charged them.

Police also broke up a meeting in the Nationalist area of the city of Armagh. Copies of a government proclamation forbidding meetings to discuss the execution of two Irishmen in Birmingham last week for a bomb murder were torn down in several parts of Armagh county.

Between 30 and 100 rifles were reported taken by a group of men identified as Irish Republican Army members in a raid on the Ballykinlar military camp in County Down, Northern Ireland, Saturday night.

Dutch Ship Ignoring U.K. Contraband Law Stopped Then Torpedoed By German Sub

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Holland-Amerika Line announced today the captain of the Netherlands steamship Burgerdijk, 6,853 tons, had wired that his ship had been torpedoed by a German submarine.

The captain reported his ship was stopped by a German submarine Saturday 15 miles south of Bishop's Rock off the southwest coast of England and the vessel torpedoed.

The crew as rescued by the Hollander - Amerika steamship Edam.

The torpedoing was confirmed by an announcement by the vessel's owners.

The ship was sent to the bottom 15 miles south of Bishop's Rock, off the southwestern tip of England, the line announced. The crew of about 45 and the passengers, their number undisclosed immediately, were rescued by the Holland - Amerika steamship Edam, it was stated.

Line officials said the Burgerdijk sailed from New York, Jan. 30, and had not submitted to British contraband control. Under the circumstances and in view of the nature of the cargo, they said, they were at a loss to

State Funeral Is Set Wednesday

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP). — Canada today prepared to pay the highest tribute in the nation's gift to an honored Governor General and a beloved, adopted son, Lord Tweedsmuir, whose death in Montreal last night is mourned throughout the Dominion.

Officials took up the sad task of arranging the details for a state funeral service which will be held here Wednesday afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Lord Tweedsmuir, who has travelled Canada more extensively than any of his predecessors, will have his last Canadian home-coming Tuesday, when a special train brings his body from Montreal, arriving here at noon E.S.T.

No Successor Likely for Tweedsmuir Until After Canadian Election

LONDON, Feb. 12—(CP Cable).—The age and the Empire have suffered a heavy loss.

These editorial words in the Daily Telegraph in commenting on the passing of Lord Tweedsmuir summed up a sorrow that was international. Tributes were paid him as a man with a fine sense of duty to the Empire and the public, as a man of letters and, perhaps most important, as a man.

News of his death was given to the King and Queen when Their Majesties arose. A palace official said the King and Queen had followed the course of Lord Tweedsmuir's illness "with the keenest anxiety."

It was considered probable that many weeks would pass before a successor to the important post in the senior Dominion will be named. It likely will be after the Canadian election.

While it was known that Lord Tweedsmuir's health would not permit him to consider serving a second term at Rideau Hall, no serious consideration had been given to the selection of his successor.

However, some general consideration had been given the matter in London as well as in Ottawa and among the names more prominently heard here were those of the Duke of Devonshire, the Earl of Elgin, the Earl of Athlone and the Marquess of Aberdeen. The Duke of Devonshire and Lord Aberdeen are sons of Lord Elgin, a grandson of former Governors-General.

Sense Of Personal Loss.

The words chosen by men and newspapers in paying tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir showed they felt a real sense of personal loss.

In far-away Australia Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said this "great writer and great administrator was an almost unique combination in history and vice-regality."

"There was no doubt he brought the most unusual talents to the service of the people of Canada," Mr. Menzies added.

The chief councillor of the little Oxfordshire village of Elsfield said, "We have all lost a real friend." Elsfield Manor has been the Tweedsmuir family home since just after the last war. Most of the villagers knew the Governor-General personally, for he loved the country and roamed the moors studying birds. The news quickly spread through Elsfield as plain folk passed the word that "Mr. Buchan is gone."

The Daily Sketch said "the sorrow which will be manifest today throughout the Dominion of Canada

Open Harbor Nets Tempt 9 U-Boats To Doom In British Naval Traps

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 — (CP).—The Daily News, in a copyright story, says to-day that "at least nine" German U-boats have been destroyed in a trap set by the Royal Navy.

The story, attributed to unidentified Canadian sources, says some of Germany's ablest submarine commanders had been lost in the vessels caught in the deliberately-set trap.

The trap was made after Lieut.-Commander Gunther Prien became a Nazi hero for penetrating the Scapa Flow naval base and torpedoing the battle ship Royal Oak.

The news says that Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, remarked after Prien's feat that "now they (the Nazi U-boat commanders) will all want to try it," and added; "Let them come."

The plan, according to the News report, worked this way:

The Fleet was withdrawn from Scapa Flow to the Firth of Clyde, on Scotland's west coast, and the Firth of Forth, on the east. "And there, Nazi U-boat commanders discovered one by one that the British weren't bothering about keeping the boombs closed at the harbor mouths.

"One by one, overlooking the incredibility of such evident stupidity, Nazi commanders succumbed to the temptation to out-Prien Prien. One by one—although on Christmas Day two tried it — they worked their ships through the open booms into the jaws of death.

"What the Germans should have realized was that both harbors were 'wired for sound.' Electrical ears picked up their approach and progress. The raiders' positions were always exactly known. Once inside the trap, the booms closed and death-leaden destroyers rushed the submarines' final rendezvous. No word went back to warn other Nazi commanders."

16 Finnish Forts Taken By Reds Moscow Reports

MOSCOW, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Capture of "16 defensive fortifications" on Finland's Karelian Isthmus line was claimed today in the Red army communique.

Apparently this claim was in addition to that of last Thursday reporting seizure of 13 forts in the Mannerheim line, since it was included in the report of military operations for yesterday. (The earlier report had drawn a Finnish denial.)

The communique, issued from Leningrad, major base of the Finnish campaign, told of artillery duelling on the Isthmus, or Mannerheim, line and combat between infantry units "which resulted in the enemy being repulsed and Soviet advance units capturing 16 defensive fortifications, including eight iron and concrete artillery forts."

The Leningrad headquarters reported minor infantry clashes north of Lake Ladoga, scouting activity and artillery action in other unidentified sectors and "reconnoitring and bombing flights" by Red airmen.

In 1938 Turkey's imports from Britain totalled about $80,000,000 ($356,000,000), approximately one-tenth of all Turkish imports. During the same year she sold Britain goods valued at about $12,000,000.

ROME, Feb. 12.—(AP).—A trade pact between Italy and Turkey is nearing completion, and authoritative Fascists regard it as a logical step in the Italian drive for commercial eminence in the Balkans.

Whatever its effect may be in further excluding Germany from southeastern Europe and placing Italy in friendly relationship with Turkey, allied with Great Britain and France in the Mediterranean, they say Italy's only interest is improvement of her own trade.

(Official quarters in Istanbul, reporting conclusion of an Italian-Turkish trade agreement yesterday, said the pact was politically significant and indicated an early political rapprochement. It came while a steady deterioration of German-Turkish relations gave the uneasy Balkan's concern over the possibility of war in their still-peaceful region.

Fascist sources here say the chief significance is that Italy's energetic Balkan leadership has been shown thus far to have kept South-eastern Europe out of hostilities and, therefore, has made her trade progress with Turkey possible.

"I think now my father will pull through all right."

Lieut. Buchan has been sleeping very little lately and had been in constant touch with Ottawa by telephone and cable. He acted as a source of information for his brothers, sister and other relatives in Britain. Early today, despite his great grief, he stayed at the end of a phone for a long period, relaying the news to his relatives.

Troops Kneel In Prayer.

Yesterday, Canada's soldiers of the past and present, attending church service here, knelt in special prayer for Canada's Governor-General.

Lieut. Buchan's sorrow was too great for him to discuss this morning his plans, but the suggestion he might use the trans-Atlantic air service to get to Canada was ruled out because of its uncertainty at this time of the year.

When he accepted several calls from English newspapers, he attempted to answer their questions but found that he couldn't and broke down. Lieut. Buchan, an intelligence officer on the staff of the First Canadian Division, accompanied Major-General A. G. L. FarmHandHangs On April 25 In Milroy Case

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 12—(CP)—Unless a successful appeal is filed by his counsel, Reginald White, 34-year-old farm worker, will be hanged April 25 for the axe slayings of John and Annie Milroy, aged Waterloo farm couple.

After deliberating three hours here Saturday, a jury convicted White of the murders and handed their verdict to the judge without any recommendation of mercy. White stood with bowed head and showed no emotion as Mr. Justice J. C. Makins passed sentence. Defence Counsel J. K. Sims said he would enter an appeal against the conviction.

White was arrested August 21, two days after the bodies of the brother and sister were found in their farm home, the heads badly crushed from axe blows.

Strongest evidence against the prisoner was a statement read to the jury in which White confessed killing the couple following an argument with them, his former employer. Defence counsel protested against admitting the statement as evidence, claiming police had obtained it by using improper methods. He was overruled by the judge who ruled police had used no coercion in getting the statement.

Istanbul, Feb. 12 (AP)

ADVICES reaching Istanbul placed the number of Australian and New Zealand soldiers who arrived today at Egypt at 30,000 men.

Their addition to already heavy concentrations of Allied troops in the Near East increased the belief in many quarters here that a new war front would develop in the spring in the Balkans and military observers said that carefully checked figures estimated the British-French forces in the Near East totalled at least 570,000 men.

Sources close to the Allied military missions here said that General Maxime Weygand planned to have 1,000,000 in French-ruled Syria soon.

Such masses of manpower led Turks, both in and out of official life, to express belief that war was coming to the Near East.

Practised Law.

Educated in the schools of Peterborough, he was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1880, subsequently studying law with the late D. W. Dumble, K.C., in Peterborough, and with Blake, Lash and Cassels, Toronto. On graduation from Osgoode Hall, he entered into partnership with R. M. Dennistoun, now Justice of the Court of Appeal of Manitoba, practising in Peterborough for more than ten years, when he became manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company. He continued his connection with that company for twenty years until it was purchased by the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company. For many years Col. Stevenson was the representative of the Ontario Crown Lands Department here, a position which brought him in intimate touch with the people of the counties of Peterborough and Haliburton.

He was keenly interested in the development of the city of Peterborough and the part he played in City Trust Commission went a long way to put this city on the firm financial foundation that it finds itself to-day.

When sixteen years of age, Col. Stevenson joined the 57th Regiment at Peterborough. Later he became an officer and at the time of his retirement he held the rank of commanding officer of the regiment.

Col. Stevenson married Maud Beck, daughter of the late Rev. Canon Beck of St. John's church. She survives him, together with two daughters, Mrs. D. L. McLaren of Toronto, and Miss Margaret Stevenson at home, and a son, Dr. Romeyn Stevenson of Sault Ste. Marie. Col. Stevenson was predeceased by two of his sons, Allan Stevenson, accountant, of Gananoque, and Major J. W. Stevenson, a prominent barrister of Peterborough. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Clementi, of Peterborough, and Miss Florence Stevenson of Toronto; and a brother, Rufus Stevenson of Peterborough.

Father a Federal Member.

Son of the late James Stevenson, for many years a member of the Dominion Parliament for the riding of West Peterborough, Col. Stevenson was widely known as a very effective speaker for the Conservative party. His culture, his gift of humour, and his great fund of information made his addresses exceedingly welcome not only to those of his own party but to his political opponents as well.

He was a Past Master of Corinthian Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 101, Peterborough, and a former warden of St. John's Anglican church.

This morning from Winnipeg came a tribute to Col. Stevenson from Mr. Justice R. M. Dennistoun, of the Court of Appeal of Manitoba. Mr. Justice Dennistoun wired:

"Arthur Stevenson and I were boys of an age who played together. We lived in the same chambers in Toronto as law students. We were called to the bar in 1888 and in that year formed a legal partnership.

"In 1892 we married two daughters of Rev. Canon Beck. We each had five children and we worked together as officers of the 57th Regiment, as members of the Corinthian Lodge, and as wardens of St. John's Church. For more than 60 years we have been close friends. The recent sorrows of himself and his wife have been deeply felt and shared by my wife and myself.

"He was of sterling character. Honesty, fairness and sweet temper were innate in his being. In his whole life I have never known a word or action of his which met with disapproval.

"He will be greatly missed."

The funeral will be from St. John's Anglican Church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Tribute From Chairman

"This city has lost one of its great citizens," declared V. M. Eastwood, senior, chairman of the City Trust commisison. "Col. Stevenson was a man whom everyone could revere. He was the type of man by whose efforts communities like ours make progress in right paths. His legal training was a distinct asset to this city, used as it was to the advantage of Peterborough. He was invariably most courteous in his personal and business life, and was a careful, uniformly sound man in his decisions.

"It was always a great pleasure to be associated with him in his work or in any other undertaking. I was associated with him in the old 57th regiment for many years, and I shall feel his loss very, very deeply. He was always a fine example of Christianity as we know it."

Tribute From Mayor Hamilton

Mayor James Hamilton said: "Peterborough has suffered a great loss in the death of Lieut.-Colonel Arthur Stevenson. He and his family were long connected with the administration of the city's affairs, and during his many years of service as secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough City Trust Commission Colonel Stevenson contributed much to the successful financing of the city's debentures.

"Colonel Stevenson had qualities that set him apart as a valuable citizen. He was a friendly man, but in a quiet, reserved way. He was most dependable and considerate, and his judgment was sound. I know that the members of the City Trust held for him a deep affection and respect."

Hepburn Expects Prorogation By February 23

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn held out hopes today for prorogation of the Ontario legislature by Feb. 23, despite a day's delay in business out of respect to Lord Tweedsmuir.

The house was to sit only long enough today to pass a resolution of condolence in the death of the Governor-General. Tomorrow, the premier said, he expects to bring down the budget in his capacity as provincial treasurer.

The premier said, however, that he could not be certain of the house's procedure during time of mourning for the Governor-General until advice is received from Ottawa.

The premier plans to cut his budget address shorter than usual, since no new taxes are planned. It probably will take between 45 minutes and an hour.

A Feb. 23 prorogation would give those members who are desirous a chance to take active part in the Federal election campaign. The premier, despite his resolution in the house criticizing the Dominion government's war effort, will not stand in the way of any liberal member who wishes to support Federal liberal candidates.

Russian Attacks On Wane Finns Believe

ON THE MANNERHEIM LINE, SUMMA SECTOR, Feb. 12 (AP)—Confident Finnish officers declared today the power of the Red army's infantry attacks was waning and predicted an early end to the battle on this front.

Although Soviet Russia for 11 days has thrown her greatest offensive might into her effort to crack the Mannerheim line here, it still is intact as far as this writer could observe.

Within 1½ miles of Summa, pivotal point of the Soviet offensive, where I visited Finnish positions in a tour of the front afoot and by sled, I found no indication that the Finns' steel-and-concrete line had been pierced.

The Russian onslaughts continued with infantry attacking under the protection of artillery barrages, which rained shells at a rate of almost two a second.

But, said a Finnish commander, tiredness on the Russian side is apparent." Despite such a novel equipment as steel shields and tanks which spit flaming naphetha, he said Soviet troops were protected inadequately from Finnish fire and easier to stop than earlier in the battle.

Sure of Results

"The Soviet high command," he said, describing the fighting, "seems definitely to have counted on a surprise attack in the Summa sector.

"The enemy is using the best of all the means at its disposal, not only heavy artillery, but also a great amount of bombing planes in conjunction with many tanks, armored sledges and armor-shelter infantry.

"Infantrymen even atop tanks are dropping off at intervals to fight.

"There has been no chance to county enemy losses, but last Friday on a 300-foot stretch 150 Russians were killed by our first line. The total killed has been many thousands of Russians.

"The Russians have been given huge amounts of vodka to drink before fighting. We have found kegs of it on the battlefields. My men saw for sure one day Soviets shot from behind, we believe by political troops forcing the fight."

(A contrary picture has been given by communiques of the Russian command's Leningrad headquarters. Throughout the fighting they have acknowledge no massed Russian attack on the Karelian Isthmus or any major battle telling only of occasional local clashes between scouts and advanced patrols).

Lord Tweedsmuir Visited Peterborough In Early Summer Of 1938

Peterborough citizens will feel intimately the loss of Lord Tweedsmuir, for virtually every one in this city saw, and many met, the Governor-General when he was here in 1938, and knew him for what he was—a man of great mind but a man of charming simplicity too. These pictures will recall some of the highlights of his visit to Peterborough. At TOP LEFT he is driving through downtown streets with Mayor James Hamilton. Mayor Hamilton has often stated since the deep admiration and high regard he formed for Lord Tweedsmuir at that time. At TOP RIGHT, he is inspecting the guard of honor of the Prince of Wales Rangers. At LOWER LEFT he is shaking hands with Col. J. A. Dewart, commanding officer of the 9th Infantry Brigade, beside whom is Lt.-Col. R. T. E Hicks-Lyne, commanding officer of the Prince of Wales Rangers At LOWER RIGHT the Governor-General pays homage to Peterborough's war dead. (Examiner Staff Photos.)

Garner Forcing F.D.R. To Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(AP)—Associates of vice-president John Garner said today that he entered the Illinois democratic party's primary election in an effort to force President Roosevelt's hand on the question whether he will run for a third term as head of the United States government.

Petitions to put Garner's name in the April 9 State primary were filed at Springfield, Ill., late yesterday, accompanied by Garner's sworn statement that he was a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt's name had been entered previously in petitions circulated by a democratic organization in Chicago. However Mr. Roosevelt has given no indication of whether he approved or disapproved the filing.

Those in touch with Garner said that if the President neither withdrew his name nor stated that he was a candidate, but remained silent, then the Garner forces would consider him actively in the race.

"While the war continues I shall judge of matters by one criterion alone, and that is whether they will or will not contribute toward an early and successful conclusion of the war.—Neville Chamberlain.

Apply that test to the present election and there is only one answer. The most effective way you can contribute toward an early and successful conclusion of the war is to put the prosecution of Canada's war effort in the hands of R. J. Manion's national government—a government of action.

Canada Mourns His Passing

Author and statesman, selected as His Majesty's representative in Canada, Baron Tweedsmuir was not spared to live the full course of his tenure of office in our land. When it was announced he had suffered serious injury by a fall in his home, and when it was stated the fall was the result of a fainting spell, there was a feeling of deep concern in the mind of the nation that he was not possessed of the reserves of strength necessary to complete the perilous passage to recovery. And so it proved to be.

There were many who knew Lord Tweedsmuir in various ways. They had felt his genius from reading his books; he had travelling widely and well and always to good purpose. His public utterances were those of a matured gentleman, and his dealings with Parliament were in the full measure of a man thoroughly fitted to represent His Majesty in this Dominion. In season and out of season his desire was to know the Canadian people and to so conduct himself that he might still further if possible bind them in ties of lasting friendship, loyalty and sentiment to the British throne.

Canadians on their part admired the man, and as far as the phrase can be rightly used in any situation, they loved him for the man he was. He played well the part assigned to him and his mission in our midst was not in vain.

Not Exactly Consistent

The Examiner previously made reference to the meeting of the Liberal Association in Brant County where a resolution was passed endorsing Prime Minister King. The situation was interesting because Hon. H. C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary, is the sitting member for that riding, and he had voted for a resolution of censure against the King Government.

The situation in Brant county is extended now to include another meeting of Liberals in Brantford in connection with Federal matters, and the naming of a candidate. Mr. Nixon could not attend the convention but he sent a wire which said:

"Please convey to delegates my best wishes for a successful convention. My congratulations to the candidate selected and assurance of my support for his election."

Whether the Liberal candidate is elected in that riding is no particular concern of the Examiner, but the situation is a piece of a most unusual political puzzle. One of those where it it is hard enough to make what is taking place today line up with what was taking place a few weeks ago. Mr. Nixon was then voting to censure Mr. King and his Government, and now he is promising to support the candidate who will, if elected, vote with Mr. King. You can look at it from the front, or from the side, or from any other angle, and it is equally difficult at any point to find the straight line of consistency in Mr. Nixon's attitude. He is actually having it both ways—voting to censure Mr. King and promising to support Mr. King's candidate.

If there is any political explanation it must be that the vote of censure passed in the Ontario Legislature, and unsupported or opposed by 60 per cent. of the Liberals, was not taken very seriously by Mr. Nixon, and it cannot have been taken any more seriously by the Brant Liberal Association or they would not have cheered the reception of his telegram at their gathering. We shall probably see in a few days how seriously Mr. Hepburn took his own resolution of censure.

In West Peterborough

With the member of the recently dissolved Parliament, J. J. Duffus, again in the field, and with Gordon K. Fraser representing the Conservatives, West Peterborough has nothing to fear in the way of an uncomfortable election campaign. Whether there will be other candidates is not at the moment certain.

There will be a stiff and vigorous attack in the contest; there will be no tendency to smooth matters over. There will be equally vigorous defence, and with none of this will there be any objection. But we are certain in advance there will be a discussion of facts and principles rather than a taking apart of individuals.

Campaigning in the rural districts may not be the most convenient thing at this season of the year, but there will be equality in whatever discomfort may be encountered, as the roads and the weather have a habit of using all parties alike. There are six weeks between now and voting day, and they will be busy ones, and as far as West Peterborough is concerned they will be given over to fair fighting.

We Have No System Now

The Ontario Agricultural convention in session in Toronto heard something of the Christmas tree business, and the suggestion was offered that vendors should be licensed, and also that people termed "Christmas tree farmers" should pay a nominal fee to the Government for the cost price of new trees for replanting purposes.

If there is going to be any regulation of the Christmas tree business we suppose it will have to start some place, because at the moment it is an open season. Every Christmas season which makes its appearance sees the same loose system in operation. Cutters come into this district as they do into others, and they go away with trucks loaded with trees, and they are not taking scrubs either.

The trees taken away represent on an average the growth of ten years, and farmers from whose land these trees are taken get from five to eight cents each for them. Other truckers and cutters who ignore the formality of making any bargain in advance invade private and Crown lands at a time when no person is on the premises and secure their supply for nothing. If the case should be more plainly stated—they steal the trees.

If we are going to have trees growing in our country in years to come, and we mean good big healthy trees, then the business of selling a ten-year-old tree for five or eight cents does not seem to fit in at all, and out of the proceeds of such selling what encouragement or financial backing would there be for a farmer or land owner to purchase new trees for replace? Without laboring that question at length, the answer would be simply "none at all."

Our belief is that there are certain varieties of trees which should not be cut at all because they will become commercially valuable and in time will act as parent trees for new forests. The whole question should be reviewed by the Department of Lands and Forests and some definite system adopted. People with axes, saws and trucks have been running wild too long.

Our Strange Habits

Toronto has a Community Gardens Association, and in looking over the prospects for the year officials have come to the conclusion there will not be sufficient ground. They have an additional 20 acres in East York, but that does not settle the balance. There are old age pensioners who need to run a garden if they are going to keep off relief, and possibly some of the plots available for these older folk would be some distance removed from their place of residence.

The Montreal Star made the claim recently that one-tenth of the entire population of Canada was living on the compact Island of Montreal, and we are satisfied that what ambitious people refer to as "Greater Toronto" would probably account for another million. So in and around those two cities, Toronto and Montreal, there would be one-fifth of the entire population of the Dominion.

In the Dominion we have in all 3,694,863 square miles of space, and from that total we take 228,307 square miles of fresh water, leaving land to the extent of 3,466,556 square miles. Admittedly that is a large amount, so large that it should be possible not only for old-age pensioners to have all the land they require, but every person in the Dominion should be able to garden to his heart's content.

But we do not do things that way. We are increasingly showing that we want to huddle together in cities; we desire to live in apartment houses, one home on top of another. Montreal is essentially a place of apartments and tenements, and Toronto is moving rapidly in that same direction.

Industry and the concentration of business has done it. People want to live near the place where they work, and so they build houses and duplexes on lots 30 feet wide and with little depth, and after doing that they begin to wonder how they can arrange so people can get back to the land and grow themselves something to eat. In our unnatural system of living we have cut ourselves off from the sustaining power of the land, and after having done that we begin to wonder why it is that people in cities cannot grow more of the things which they desire to eat. At best it is confused and not far removed from being silly.

Sixty years ago 80 per cent. of our Canadian population was on the land; at the beginning of the present century 3 per cent. of our population was still there. Since then we have changed some more and today 46.3 per cent. of our people are on the land and 53.7 are urban dwellers. Those figures are from the 1931 census and it is likely that today our urban dwellers are well over the 60 per cent. line.

The fact that we have millions of square miles, and each square mile contains 640 acres does not mean much in the existence of the majority of our people. We are becoming a nation of huddlers and of crowders. That is why the Community Gardens Association in Toronto counts its available plots and announces it has too few for those who want to make use of some land in order that they may live. And there's mighty little which can be said in defence of the system, and also little that can be done to remedy it.

The Method Is Lacking

The exact nature of the machinery or the technique by which it would be possible to secure a National Government is not being made clear. The claim that it will have in it the best brains in the country regardless of political lines is quite easy to expound, but extremely difficult to carry into effect. Our system is more restricted than that of United States. There the President has wide scope in forming a cabinet; if he knows of a man who is peculiarly well fitted for some office he can call him to that office, and he does not have to face the electors. We cannot do that in Canada. A man going into the cabinet here has first of all to be elected.

Although Dr. Manion suggested that nomination meetings be open and all classes be invited, it is not working out that way. There was an announcement in Sault Ste. Marie Star for the West Algoma National Conservative Association. The business advertised will be the registration of delegates at 7 p.m., and after that the meeting for the naming of a candidate. At the end of the notice it is stated: "All young Conservatives, whether men or women, specially invited."

We take it that the delegates in attendance have all been named at previous ward meetings of the Conservatives. It would be pretty hard to get a Liberal to go to that meeting, and he would understand in advance and from long custom that he would hardly be expected. He might go and listen but he would not expect to take part or have a voice in naming a candidate.

It would be much the same if the Liberals were to have a gathering. They had one right here in Peterborough to nominate a candidate, and the delegates are the ones who have a vote. Our belief is that when March 26 is past we will have either a Conservative or a Liberal Government in Canada, and the reason for that belief is that we have not the method for securing anything else.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Russians dropped bombs on buildings where their own prisoners were kept in Finland, and the Finns rushed them to bomb-proof shelters. A mixed exhibition of stupidity and kindness.

Political speeches on the radio are not going to be censored, and the reason may be there is so much poor stuff getting by now that a little more won't matter.

The largest shareholder in General Motors has brought into existence a trust fund for his wife, son and daughter of $5,200,000. A nice way to treat the family provided you have the five million.

Donald Meinster of Media, Pa., secured a divorce from his young wife, because she put soap flakes in eggs he was cooking and threw money he gave her out the window. Possibly she was trying to make it clear to Donald that she didn't like him.

ON THE WAY

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Can't help admire old Nature's laws, how now and then it up and thaws, it makes me look ahead; it makes me think of days of spring, when trees will grow like everything, then posies blue and red

¶ The days are managed pretty well, when we've had zero for a spell, and I have stoked the range; and when the sun comes out aloft, and we have days a little soft, you sort of feel a change.

¶ And days are longer than they were, no longer dark when first I stir, it's lighter too indoors; and moon and stars don't start to shine, till it's gone past my supper time, and I have done my chores.

¶ The change comes on so easy too, a finer thing than I could do, it's neither fast nor slow: but I can look at piles of snow, I've helped to pile them so I know that they've begun to go.

¶ My speckled hen comes out these days, and wanders some before she lays, she cackles quite a lot; I guess she likes to feel the sun, then goes and gets her laying done, and acts like what she ought.

¶ And so a little verse I sing, because we're headed down toward spring, I strike the note in glee; for it will come on bit by bit, until the days when I will sit—beneath my basswood tree.

Before Hitler Came To Power In Germany

A READER asks this question: "Is there much or anything known of Hitler before he became Chancellor in the time of Hindenburg? There has been plenty written of him since, too much I think. But where did he start?"

Hitler was born in Braunau, Upper Austria, on April 20, 1889. There was nothing unusual about his early years, although he did try painting and sketching as he desired to be either a painter or architect. When he left home he tried Vienna, but he failed there, and his next venture was in Munich. From a sketch written some time before the war we take this:

Munich, the Bavarian capital, became the city of his dreams. Although he arrived with an empty satchel, yet he was full of hope that he might be able to better himself there. Certainly, for the ambitious young man, this fascinating German city offered better chances of success than the more artiatocratic and conservative capital of Austria-Hungary.

But, before he had much opportunity of showing his talents, the Great War broke out. Hitler enlisted in the German Army. He first went through a period of training, and was then sent in an infantry regiment to the Western Front, where he found himself facing the British at Ypres.

The pictures of him in uniform as a private in the 16th Bavarian Reserve Infantry do not indicate that he was in any way different from millions of other "Fritzes."

Life in the neighborhood of Ypres was never pleasant, but Hitler served through the first two years of war without being wounded. His services were awarded by the award of the Iron Cross.

In course of time Hitler became a lance-corporal, and in 1917 he was wounded and sent to hospital in Berlin. When better he rejoined his former regiment again.

It seemed that he would pass through the rest of the war unscathed, but 28 days before the end—on October 14, 1918, he was the victim of a gas attack and was blinded temporarily. He spent Armistice Day in hospital.

When his eyesight was restored and he was released from hospital, he found the new Germany in a very disturbed state. Various political groups were struggling to express their views and there was frequently bloodshed and disorder which the new Republican Government found difficulty in controlling.

Among the chief groups expounding their theories of government were Socialists and Communists, and for these Hitler formed the greatest aversion — a feeling which he has never lost.

For some time after the Armistice he remained without work, but finally was employed by the military authorities in Munich to observe the work of the various political groups which had formed with mushroom rapidity.

It was in 1919, when he attended a meeting of the German Labour party that he first gained those ideas of state capitalism which have since been embodied in his own program.

AFTER HITLER joined the party he soon became a prominent and active member. He termed himself a "trommler"—drummer — and he had ample scope for developing his vocal muscles, which since then have stood him in such good stead.

Nightly he used to address meetings, and his speeches harped continuously on the same topics. He denounced the Treaty of Versailles, the Left Wing parties, the Pacifists, the Communists, the Liberals, and the Jews.

At that time the French still occupied the Ruhr, and there also occurred the period of inflation, a time which is still remembered with horror amongst Germans. All values became worthless, and the currency was so inflated that it soared to astronomical figures. A loaf of bread, for instance, would cost 40 million marks.

It was at this time that the famous old German Field-Marshal, Von Hindenburg, became President in an endeavour to save his country and his countrymen from apparently appalling disaster.

It is difficult to exaggerate the position of German at this time. The situation was literally terrifying. The middle class were completely obliterated, and the Communists tried to seize power.

It was at this time that Hitler first came prominently before the public eye. He was living in Munich, and with others of his party he resolved to depose the Berlin Government on the fifth anniversary of the proclamation of the Republic.

He secured the support of the old German war lord, General Erich Von Ludendorff who was disgusted at the sad condition into which his country had fallen.

At the age of 34 on the night of November 8 Adolf Hitler made his first bow to world history.

On that night in a small beer hall in Munich, Hitler, along with some friends, produced his scheme for a Government of his own design. The Nazi party was born on that historic night.

The following day, November 9, 1923, Hitler started his "putsch" against the Government in Berlin. With 2000 of his followers he made a demonstration in the main square of Munich with the object of seizing power.

He failed—for the time being. A volley of shots from the local police, who were aided by small military units, put the Nazis to rout. They fled.

Hitler, himself, after seeing some of his party killed, escaped and found seclusion in the Bavarian Alps. His first attempt to rule Germany had ended in a pitiable fiasco, although the 14 of his followers who had been killed provided the Nazi party with their martyrs.

• How Business Grew Better

JIM WAS HONEST. The grocer knew that. But he noticed on this day that Jim looked at him with a steadier eye as he approached the counter. There was an air of increased self-respect about this old and frequently "trusted" customer. "Mr. Bonney," said Jim, "I don't need anything tonight. But I came in to tell you—that bill of mine—I'll be taking care of it soon. You know me. I'll do my best; maybe two or three dollars extra every week until it's paid."

Mr. Bonney was "comfortably off," relates Christian Science Monitor. His children had warm clothes; and good food, of course, he being a grocer. But his wife noticed he had a jauntier air than usual when he came home that evening. "You know those music lessons we've been talking about for Mary? She can have 'em. And we'll hardly know the difference so far as money's concerned. I always said Jim Stagg would pay up, and now he's going to; just enough each week to pay Miss Denton for the lessons."

Miss Denton managed to get along with her old piano. But, as she left her "studio" next day and marched to the music store, anyone could see that a new era was beginning in her artistic life. "I've another new pupil, Mr. Krinker," she confided to the music dealer, "and I can take that grand piano you've been trying to sell me; on the terms you mentioned, of course, with my old upright as a down payment." Mr. Krinker beamed. "And yes," he prophesied, "with a better piano you'll get more and more new pupils, and everyone will know how well you play."

Mr. Krinke produced an unprecedented blast from his automobile horn as he drove into the yard that evening. "Why didn't you come to the window, Mother, instead of staying here and growling about the noise I make?" he chaffed his wife. "Then you would see the new car I have brought you. I sold a piano today, and grand piano to Miss Denton and already Mr. Bonney is thinking of buying the old one that I am taking from her. We've needed a new car, Mother, for quite a while. Mr. Flanders at the motor-mart says some other people are beginning to buy new cars, too. But he seemed surprised I should."

Mr. Flanders next evening stood up to address the Board of Trade. "Gentlemen," he said, "business is getting better. Statistics say so. The newspapers say so. The government people say so. And now right here in this town we have evidence of improvement I can speak for the automobile business here. It is picking up." He shot a sly, friendly glance at Mr. Krinker.

But Mr. Krinker didn't notice. He was thinking of the little music teacher, Miss Denton And Miss Denton was at her studio late, thinking about her new piano, and her new pupil from the Bonney household, where Mr. Bonney at that moment was looking over his account books on the parlor table and thinking about Jim Stagg. Jim meanwhile was giving his little girl an extra glass of warm milk before bedtime, and thinking of what 10 per cent more can mean to a man and how good it was just to be getting out of debt.

To The Editor

BRIDGE PROMISED

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I notice that our good friends of Waterford street have come forward with their strenuous objections to the proposed footbridge. Because of the objections of a selective few, why should so many be subjected to such inconvenience. We assure you that the people of Ashburnham are quite law-abiding and do not wish to inflict their presence on Waterford street any longer than possible. All we ask is a footbridge across in the least expensive manner and as far as the approaches are concerned, cinder paths will be quite acceptable as long as we can get across.

As one of the many new home owners, I would like to inform the city that these new lots were sold to us with the understanding that the bridge would be built at once.

WEARY WALKER.

OUR CITY ALDERMAN

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Referring to a brief article in a recent issue of your interesting paper, regarding a suggestion that a photograph of our present council appear in your paper, and Alderman McCannan's suggestion was well taken stating that such a picture should be one as they are today and not one of years previous.

A twofold purpose could be attained too by such action. First—That the ratepayers may have a clearer knowledge of the appearance of the men they have been supporting; and second—that our elected aldermen would receive a greater inspiration to render to the city their very best services. Some may think that it is any man's job to be an alderman. But far from it. We need men of vision, we need men of courage, and we need men of determination. The possibilities of this city are great; and there is room for expansion in every direction.

Just waiting for the leadership of men capable of rendering such. We trust that every ratepayer and citizen will render their individual contribution to a greater Peterborough.

THOS. E. SARGENT.

POLITICAL WRANGLING

The great majority of political addresses broadcast are wearisome affairs. It is essential that full publicity both through the press and over the radio—since the latter may reach outlying parts that the press will not reach until latter—be given to the speeches by the leaders outlining their respective policies. Anyone who wants to use the radio to air his or her views can do so through private broadcasting stations, but they will not be able to mar the general public's afternoon or evening enjoyment of the C.B.C. programs. Whatever other time may be wasted in political wrangling, the nation has at least that satisfaction with which to console itself.—Montreal Star.

CANDID OPINION

ALF LANDON, one time Governor of Kansas, and also one of the worst defeated candidates in the history of America, talks altogether too much for a man who has so little to say that is worth hearing. His talk is almost invariably on matters of which he knows little or nothing, for he vainly believes himself to be a prophet. He does not emulate the bird of Minerva, of which a waggish pen once wrote:

"A wise old owl lived in an oak;
The more he heard, the less he spoke;
The less he spoke, the more he heard;
Why aren't we all like that wise old bird?"

—San Francisco Argonaut.

THE FEDERAL ELECTION

THE instruction of the electors on the supreme issue of the campaign, the efficient prosecution of the war, will be a big task for the newspapers, public speakers, and the radio. There never was an election in Canada, not even excepting that of 1917 in which the Union Government appealed to the Canadian people for support in carrying on the war, that more vitally concerned the welfare of Canada and the Empire than the one which is to be held on March 26. There was never greater need to consider the issue placed before the people in a calm, judicial, unprejudiced manner than in the forthcoming contest. The electors should endeavor to ascertain the facts for themselves, sifting the wheat from the chaff and appraising the arguments of the various parties at their true value. Only in this way can a strong government be returned.—Brantford Expositor.

PETERBOROUGH WEST'S UNANIMOUS CHOICE IS J. J. DUFFUS

Vote For Joe—The One You Know
Peterborough's Man Of Action!

You did a good job in 1935 when you selected J. J. Duffus as your Federal Member. Everyone knows how untiring his efforts have been in furthering the interests of ALL the citizens of this constituency. It is also known to everyone that his endeavours really brought results. Peterborough West wants a man who gets things done and it is fortunate indeed, that once more you have the opportunity to elect Joe Duffus as your representative at Ottawa.

Fortunate, too, that in electing Joe Duffus you also helped to elect the Mackenzie King Government, whose definite promise to you was to increase Canada's foreign trade. This promise has been abundantly fulfilled in little more than four years. Purposefully, efficiently, sensibly—agreements were made with sixteen countries whereby our annual external trade rose five hundred and ninety seven million dollars, or an increase of 46 per cent. In times of peace no government has served you so well.

THE RIGHT HONORABLE
WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING
Prime Minister of Canada

AND NOW IN TIMES OF WAR—the King Government has gone ahead just as purposefully, just as efficiently and just as sensibly in assuring that the tremendous effort of which this nation is capable, is made to the utmost in prosecuting the war. On the Atlantic and on the Pacific, fully adequate coastal defences are complete. And on these seas there can be no criticism of the vigilance of our navy. In Great Britain three contingents of our soldiers already have been safely landed. And at home the greatest air plan known in history is making certain of ultimate victory. After taking thought, who in Canada, who in Peterborough West, would change now to the unknown, to the untried ? Such a chance cannot be taken. Canada must and will return the Mackenzie King government. Peterborough West must and will return J. J. Duffus.

TOOL ROOM TAKES FIRM GRIP ON TOP RUNG IN C.G.E. PUCK LOOP

Three Contests Are Staged In Shop Circuit

Three C.G.E. Shop Hockey League games were played Saturday afternoon at the Brock St. rink. The usual gang of shop followers viewed some lively action on good ice. A fourth game gave way to a scrub match when Induction Motors defaulted to Wire Dept., the latter team—paced by A. Heal and P. Pryde—then copping a 4-1 win from a pickup crew. Tool Room blanked Dips and Buffs 4-0, Cabinets copped a 6-1 win from Industrial Control, and Drafting Room beat Porcelains 3-1.

In the first fray, the Toolmen took a strangehold on the top rung in the junior section with their whitewash of the Platers. Play was even throughtout with the Buffs' lack of finish around the net their downfall. Conroy and King counted in the second heat, Williams and Conroy getting assists; and Williams and Self scored in the third, King aiding on one. There were no outstanding players, while penalties were handed out to Ferguson and Self in the second and Campbell and Self in the the third. Teams:

Toolroom: Goal, Shaughnessy; defence, Ferguson, Self; centre, Williams; wings, King, Conroy; subs, Stinson, Smith, Crokam.

Dip and Buff: Goal, Spooner; defence, Campbell, J. Riel; centre, Bowen; wings, Reid, Weaver; subs, Tobin, Lloyd.

Referee—Tom Miller.

Starr Leads Way

Lacking reserves, the Industrial Control could not keep pace with the Cabinets, who had a 2-1 edge in the first and led 5-1 going into the third. It was a fast, open tilt with Starr figuring in all six goals for the winners. Clarke turned in a four-star goaltending showing. There were but two penalties, Brown and Coursey getting the gate. Starr scored three and aided in three, as McNulty had a goal and assist, Brown a goal and assist, and Brady a counter. Evans scored from Watson for the losers' lone marker. Starr, Brown and Brady shone for the victors; with Clarke, Coursey and Evans best for the other squad. The teams:

Cabinets: Goal, Clarke; defence, LaPlante, Brady; centre, Starr; wings, Brown, McNulty; subs, Flint, Murphy.

Industrial Control. Goal, Fleming; defence, Coursey, Creighton; centre, Carpenter; wings, Evans, Watson.

Referee—Tom Miller.

In the final game, Drafting Room retained a shot at group honors by dowing Porcelains. It was a hectic melee with territorial play even and both goalies good. Midway through the third, Grant Palmer received an accidental cut on the head requiring a few stitches. Only one penalty was passed out, Rooke drawing it. There was no counter in the first frame but Palmer and Dunfield counted for Drafting in the second, Palmer also getting an assist, and Giardino tallied for the other side. In the third, Condon counted the only goal. The teams:

Porcelains: Goal, Clarke; defence, Giardino, O'Neil; centre, Murphy; wings, Mason, Elliott; subs, Dundas, Gracie.

Drafting: Goal, Wood; defence, Palmer, Ellis; centre, Hough; wings, Rooke, Dunfield; subs, Leckie, Condon, Preston, Rutherford, Edmondson.

Referee—Shrimp McDougall.

New Record Ski Jump

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich., Feb. 12—(AP).—Ted Zoberski of Ironwood, Mich., leaped 273 feet off the giant Pine Mountain ski slide Sunday, longest exhibition jump in United States ski jumping annals.

The 273-foot jump, which set a new record for the hill—highest artificial ski-way in the world—came after officials restored an eight-foot section of the take-off which had been removed for a tournament as a safety precaution because of fast snow Saturday.

The longest previous exhibition jump on record in the United States was 262 feet by Halvor Halstead of Norway at Big Pine, Cal., in 1934.

Manager And Player Expelled For Life; Club Prexy And Executive Suspended

DURHAM, N.C., Feb. 12 (AP)—The situation which President William G. Bramham told the recent convention if the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues placed Baseball "in the darkest spot since the Black Sox scandal" has been cleared up.

Bramham announced this weekend two decisions which expelled manager Clarence P. Roper and player Mike Sume from the sport for life, suspended president W. G. Courtney and all five directors of the Lenoir (N.C.) club in the tar heel league, and fined the club a total of $400.

The lifetime ban on Roper and Sime was because Sime was used by Lenoir under an assumed name (Bob Wells) last season while still on the ineligible list of the Wausau, Wis., team in the northern league.

Bramham made the incident an occasion for warning "all parties now or hereafter connected with professional baseball that conduct consisting of knowingly employing ineligible players or otherwise practicing frauds, will meet similar action."

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb.12 (AP)—Far from being at the front—or near it—Max Schmeling is quietly training for his 'teenth joust with—you guessed it—Cousin Walter Neusel... Note to Merrill May: the Phillies are trying to locate you to give you a raise. (Your contract was returned undelivered)...You can write your own ticket on whether Tony Galento's eyesight is defective. All we know is he bumped kerplunk into the microphone when he climbed into the ring to be introduced the other night. . . Mike Jacobs only hopes the Joe Louis retirement can be staved off until June, 1941, when Mike figures Billy Conn will be fit and ready to carry on...Because of his tiny stature, Victory Morn, Col. Maxwell Howard's speedy colt, is known around Hialeah as "Pocket Battleship."

Odditorium: the International Baseball League which has long claimed to be the top double A circuit, now can prove it. It has moved to the 28th floor at Fifth Avenue. (The American Association offices are on the third floor and the Pacific Coast League's on the second)...Here's a believe-it-or-not: the Shubert (Kas.) junior high basketeers have scored consecutive shutouts, 23-0 and 39-0.

Louis says he had to go easy with Godoy to save his hands...True Arturo was a hard guy to fight... and maybe he was a bit of a clown ...but Joe has met other clowns—notably the Messrs. Levinsky and Galento—on whom he wasn't afraid to use his hands.

Pickering Won 2-1 Over Grove Team

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12.—(ENS). — The Grove and Pickering College played an exhibition game here in the rink Saturday afternoon, with Pickering winning 2-1 in overtime. The visitors were bigger than their rivals, but the Grove held them throughout. The play was fast and clean with only two penalties being handed out by Referee B. Blewett of Lakefield. The scoring was well divided with Pickering taking the lead in the first and holding it till 15 minutes had passed in the second. No scoring was done in the third and not until the last minutes of the overtime did Pickering take the lead again.

Taylor counted first for Pickering, then Frewer tied it up. Guberman tallied the overtime goal to win the game. Taylor, Guberman, McCome were the pick of the visitors, while Frewer, St. Remy, Carsons looked best for the losers.

The teams:

Grove— Goal, Herold; defence, Foster, Carson; centre, Frewer; wings, Roberts, Harris; subs, St. Remy, Potts, Langmuir, Vaughan, Morris.

Pickering College—Goal, Henry; defence, Taylor, Fransai; centre, Harris; wings, McCome, Creed; subs, Hall, Guberman, Perkin, Williamson, Bishop.

Referee—B. Blewett, Lakefield.

One player in the National League who is not enjoying the present season overly much is Lorne Carr of New York Americans, a high scoring right wing since he joined the team five years ago, but his year in a goal getting slump last year his 19 tallies were the most posted by any of Red Dutton's men. All told in his five seasons in the major league Carr has counted 78 goals and been credited with 65 assists, for a very healthy all-round total of 143 points. He has spent 68 minutes serving penalties. His minor league career embraced four teams in three leagues from 1930-31 until 1934-35, his first season with the Amerks. Vancouver Lions in the Pacific Coast League was his first pro team, followed by Syracuse in the International League the next winter. Buffalo in the same loop the next, and finally Philadelphia in the Canadian-American League, at which time he was owned by Rangers, but other than getting his picture taken as a member of the team he saw no action for Lester Patrick's team. In his season at Buffalo he had finished second among the league's goal scorers, a feat that interested Rangers in him, and from whom Americans secured him. Lorne will be 30 the day after Dominion Day, and first saw the light of day at Stoughton, Sask. Played junior at Calgary.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

Two local juvenile puck squads — members of the Ontario Juvenile Hockey Association—tangle tonight at 6.30 in the Brock in their first clash of the season. These teams, with Norwood, are in a short round-robin serial, winner to enter provincial playdowns. They're made up of some right promising young puckists 17 and 16 years old, boys who will be in junior O.H.A. company another year, and the early tussle tonight should be interesting and full of action. On Tuesday e'en at 8.30 in the Brock St. rink, St. Peter's play Norwood in an O.J.H.A. number.

Thump Valley League roars into action again this week on various fronts. Tonight, Madoc goes to Stirling, Norwood tackles the Bata bunch down Frankford way and Marmora is at Tweed. On Wednesday, Tweed is at Bata and Campbellford at Stirling. And Friday, it's Bata at Madoc, Tweed at Campbellford, and Stirling at Norwood. A guy from Norwood tells us the buzzing Hornets are as popular (outside of Norwood) as a skunk at a garden party! But, says he, the Hornets will hold their own anywhere and their advice to rivals is: Play clean with us or you'll get hurt—and don't come around to our dressing-room hunting trouble. Scrappy, eh? They have praise, though, for the Stirling cop—who gives visitors every break. The Kempt crew suggests that if Stirling wants to default next game, why not play it in Stirling and give Norwood the game. With or without a ref!

In Search Of A Title

If the Petes can again rub out Trenton Fliers to win group honors this winter—they open here Wednesday eve — the locals have three or four more group winners to meet in quest of an O.H.A. intermediate "A" title. Collingwood or Owen Sound will win the northern group, Kitchener has a bye into playdowns, Port Colborne has an intermediate "A" squad in a "B" group, and the T.A.H.A. has the right to send a team into intermediate "A" playdowns—though they don't always do it. However, the Buckland bunch will have to knock off the Airmen first, before worrying about the others.

It's playoff and payoff time for the local Colts tonight as they trek to Oshawa to tackle the Bees of that town in the first of their O.H.A. junior "B" series. Three games out of five, return fray being here on Friday. In two scheduled matches this winter, the Bees stung the Colts and they thus are slight favorites in the betting. However, the Weir-Wilgar battlers have shown much improvement in recent weeks—and, judging by a two-goal win over Lindsay in the Motor City, the Oshawa team may have slipped somewhat. If only temporarily. At anyrate, the Colts are confident it'll be a torrid tossup series, and they're ready to match goal for goal or fist for fist with the Bees.

Ye Feuds Flare Up

Discussing all the fights and hard feelings betwixt the Fliers and Petes to date, the Quinte columnist writes: "Just what will happen in group playoffs remains to be seen and to miss a game would be nothing short of folly for red-blooded Canadian hockey fans. Neither team will forget the past and there will remain those nursed grudges. The Petes have completed their schedule with seven wins and one defeat—that being here Jan. 16th when the Fliers won 2-1. On the season's play, the Petes have had 26 goals scored against them in comparison to 31 scored against the Fliers, which proves both squads have a strong defence. The group playoffs commence this week, so fans should come early and enjoy the fun."

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tonight we begin playing the postponed scheduled games. Doubleheaders will be played Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings and that will about finish the schedule.

Owing to so many curlers participating in bonspiels in this district on Wednesday next, it is more than likely we will hold an evening bonspiel for the local boys. Play will begin around 7 or 7:15. More announcements later.

The Saturday afternoon 'spiel fell to a new low attendance, only six rinks turning out. J. McWilliams' rink came first, and F. Green second, with E. R. Shirley in third position.

A number of mixed rinks from the club motored up to Bobcaygeon Saturday afternoon in quest of the J. G. Harkness trophy. The reports show the local rinks were points down, so Bobcaygeon keep the trophy for the season. Curlers were royally entertained by the members of the Bobcaygeon Curling Club.

We are telling this yarn at the expense of Dr. Clark.

Tears gathered in the little blue eyes. Then: "I can't. It's joined on to me at the back."

Bees Win, 31-25 As Zephyrs Beat Electrics

Zephyrs ran wild in both halves to shellack a faltering C.G.E. squad, 43-15 and Bees triumphed over the Cereal men 31-25 in a torridly contested second game that lined up in every way to its billing as a "natural" in "Y" cage game Saturday.

It was the fifth successive victory for the powerful Zephyrs, who remain unbeaten while in beating Quakers, the Bees recorded their third straight win to move into undisputed ownership of second place. The G-men dropped into third place ahead of Dominions and C.G.E. Thorburn notched six field goals to run his scoring total to an even 70, far ahead of the field. The first five scoring leaders follow:

	FG	FT	P
Thorburn, Bees	30	10	70
McArthur, Bees	21	1	43
Jakafby, Quakers	16	10	42
Stewart, Zephyrs	18	1	37
Dyer, Zephyrs	15	5	35

Zephyrs had a wide margin over C.G.E. all the way. The winners piled up a 20-7 lead in the first half and then ran it up the last stanza, while holding C.G.E.'s listless offensive powerless. Zephyrs made five of their 16 free throws and C.G.E. could count but three of their 10. Dyer, Sedgewick, Dougherty and Stewart paced the winner to their victory and Galley and Gemmel were prominent for C.G.E. The teams:

C.G.E. 15—Centre, Dundas, 2; forwards, Galley 8, Gemmel 3; guards, Holmes, Archibald 2; subs, Broadley.

Zephyrs 43—Centre, Stewart 10; forwards, Dyer 13, Dougherty 9; guards, West, Sedgewick 11; subs, McIntyre, Jeffries.

Referee, Curly Krug. Scorer, R. Rogow.

A Good Tilt

Bees ran up a 20-11 count on the first half to conquer Quakers, despite the Cereal men's last half rally in which they outscored the winners 14-11. Both teams played top speed basketball and play was inclined to be rough. Bees had a definite edge in the early minutes of the first half to run up a 10 point lead which they never relinquished, but Quakers pressed all the way. The Bees made three of their 8 free throws and the losers counted five for their 12 tries. McArthur, Thorburn and Ascott lead the winner in a fine showing, the first two starring offensively and Ascott starred at guard. Jakafby and Gillespie were outstanding for the losing Quaker men. The teams:

Quakers 25—Centre, Gillespie 6; forwards, Patterson 3, Murray; guards, McPherson 4, Thomas; subs, Jakafby 10, Galley 2.

Bees 31—Centre, Craig 2; forwards, Thorburn 12, McArthur 13; guards, Ascott 3, Whaley 1.

Referee, Curly Krug. Scorer, R. Rogow.

Godoy Must Wait Till September For Return Bout With Louis

By ORLO ROBERTSON)
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—Arturo Godoy basked today in the glory coming from giving Joe Louis a terrific battle, but he'll probably have to wait until September before getting another chance at the heavyweight boxing king and the riches that go with an outdoor fight.

The Chilean fisherman, just an ordinary fighter on his visit to the United States two years ago, earned another shot at the title Friday nigh in Madison Square Garden, but Promoter Mike Jacobs has other plans, for the present at least.

Jacobs Saturday offered Lee Savold of Des Moines a June fight with the champion provided Savold whips Bob Pastor in the Garden March 1, and Louis comes through against Johnny Paychek, April 3. In event Pastor whips Savold, then Jacobs will consider the winner of the March 15 bout between Buddy Baer and Vilentin Campolo of Argentina as a June opponent for Louis, with Pastor meeting light-heavy-weight champion, Billy Conn, earlier in the summer.

Al Weil, Godoy's manager, declared the South American was willing to fight anybody, but he believed his boy should get another title chance before Savold, Pastor, Tony Galento or even Tomm, Farr, the only other man to go fifteen rounds with Louis.

"That was Arturo's first fight since last August," said Weil, "with one fight under his belt Godoy will be even harder to whip the next time.

But there's not much likelihood of Weil changing Jacobs' plans.

While the 27-year-old Godoy was projecting himself into the heavyweight picture, boxing experts argued whether Louis is a great champion. Those who said "No" argued that a great champion must be good against any type of a fighter, and Louis definitely was not that against Godoy's crouching, bobbing, weaving style.

Even though he'll have to wait until September for another battle with the champion, Godoy apparently is going to lose no time profitting by his surprise showing. Weil said he had several radio offers for the South American and one from a band. Just what Godoy would do with a band was a mystery until Weil explained that Arturo and his wife are better than fair dancers.

Godoy received $13,540.10 as his share of Friday night's gate of $88,490.89, paid by 15,657. Louis' 40 per cent amounted to $32,848.81.

Charlie Gorman Skater Passes

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Feb. 12—(CP)—Charles I. Gorman, 42, former world champion speed skater, died in hospital last night after a long illness. He had been in failing health for years.

A war veteran, Gorman overcame severe shrapnel wounds and reached the peak of his skating career in 1927 when he won all five of the major North American championships.

Husky and broad-shouldered, Gorman represented Canada twice in the Olympic games but failed to gain an Oym ic championship—the only important title missing from his impressive list of triumphs. He retired from competitive skating after his second Olympic test in 1928. A few years later his health began to fail.

Four world records set by Gorman still remain unbroken. They are: 440 yards outdoor, 35.4 seconds, set at Lake Placid in 1927; 220 yards indoors, 16 seconds, set at Saint John in 1927 (held jointly with Fred Robson); 440 yards indoors, 36.8 seconds, set at St. John in 1925, and one-sixth mile indoors, 23.8 seconds, set at Saint John in 1927.

RANGERS DROP GAME TO BLACK HAWKS AND DRAW WITH LEAFS

Victory Puts Chicago Black Hawks Three Points Away From Leafs; Goodman Marks Up Fourth Shutout

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Paul Goodman and the Chicago Black Hawks have the sign of the double-O on the National Hockey League.

The Hawks and Goodman, who had to wait until he passed the 30-year mark before getting his big league chance, have gone now through their last 120 minutes of play without being scored upon. At their present pace it wouldn't surprise at all if the Hawks managed to nose out Toronto Maple Leafs for the third place in the standing.

Behind the superlative net play of the freshman from Western Canada, the Hawks trounced the league-leading New York Rangers 3-0 last night to run their string of undefeated games to five. In their previous start they trimmed Detroit Red Wings by the same score, cutting short an unbeaten streak of eight by that team.

Leafs Tie With Rangers.

The victory put the Hawks only three points away from Maple Leafs, who had been apparently certain until only recently of finishing in at least third place behind Rangers and Boston Bruins. The Leafs picked up a week-end point by playing a 4-4 draw with Rangers on Saturday, while the Bruins defeated New York Americans 4-2 and Montreal Canadiens won 3-2 in overtime over Wings in Sunday contests.

While Goodman marked up his fourth shutout since replacing Mike Karakas late in the old year, the veteran Mush March and two first-year men—Johnny Chad and Les Cunningham—took care of the Hawks offensive. March and Chad fired goals in the first period, while Cunningham picked up an unassisted tally midway through the middle frame.

Roy Conacher led Bruins to their sixth straight victory this season over the Americans by getting two goals, one late in the first period and the other in the last part of the third frame. The other Boston tallies went to defencemen — Dit Clapper and Des Smith — while Lorne Carr and Johnny Sorrell scored for Americans. The victory left the Bruins, who have two games in hand, only two points behind the Rangers.

Stiff Jolt to Amerks.

The win of Bruins was a stiff jolt to Americans' playoff hopes for they have played four games more than the last-place Canadiens and have only a three-point edge over the Habitants. The French forces won out over the Wings on the strength of a great net display by Willie Cude and a goal half-way through the extra session by George Mantha. Montreal's two other goals went to Polly Drouin and Charlie Sands in the first period while Ebbie Goodfellow and Eddie Wares scored for Wings.

Leafs looked like winners of their Saturday clash with Rangers for a moment when Hank Goldup scored just eight seconds after the start of overtime. But a little more than a minute later Kilby Macdonald whipped home a short shot to tie the score.

In the regulation time Phil Watson, noted more this season for his playmaking prowess, scored two goals for the Rangers, while Alex Shibicky tallied their other. Gordie Drillon, Lex Chisholm, and Pete Langelle got goals for the Leafs.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press

Paul Goodman, Chicago, turned in his second straight shutout as the Black Hawks walloped Rangers 3-0.

Willie Cude, Canadiens, gave a great performance as the Habitants turned back Detroit Red Wings 3-2.

Roy Conacher, Boston, picked up two goals as Bruins defeated Americans 4-2.

Phil Watson, Rangers, turned from his usual play-making to a goal-getting role, punching home two tallies in a 4-4 overtime draw Saturday with Toronto.

Syracuse Trio Peps Up Team

(By The Canadian Press)

Messrs. Toupin, Bennett and Locking can take a bow for keeping interest at high peak in the International - American Hockey League's western division race.

But for these three, Syracuse Stars might be considered also rans today instead of contenders for play-off positions that soon will be decided. For this trio, Stars in their own right, led their team to a double victory in weekend games.

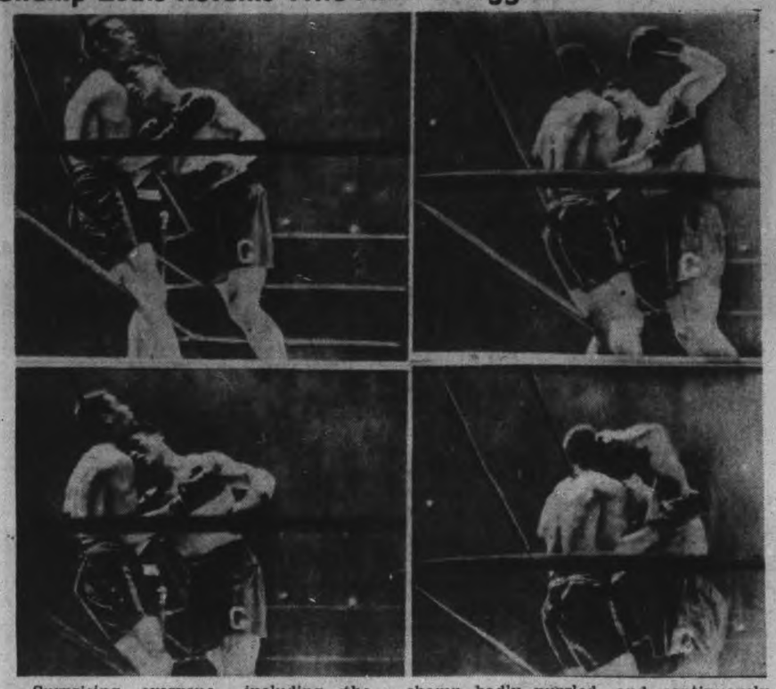
Syracuse, by beating Philadelphia Ramblers 3-1 Saturday and New Haven Eagles 2-1 last night, sliced the margin between second and last place in the western section to six points. The Stars themselves are last but are in a position where another pair of victories will put them in the thick of the race.

No other team was able to equal Syracuse records for the week-end. Pittsburg Hornets won their only start, an 8-2 victory over New Haven Saturday; Springfield Indians beat Cleveland 2-1 last night after losing 3-2 to Hershey the previous night; Indianapolis lost to Cleveland 3-1 Saturday and shutout Hershey 2-0 Sunday; Providence Reds matched Pittsburg's record, beating Philadelphia 2-1 last night in their only weekend game.

Norm Locking, Maxie Bennett and Jack Toupin accounted for four of the Stars' five goals in the two games, picking up 12 scoring points among them. Keating and Locking got the goals last night while Locking had two against the Ramblers.

For New Haven, the double loss made it five games in a row without victory for the former eastern section leaders and left them only a point ahead of the third place Indians and four behind Providence. Larry Aurie and Johnny Sherf caused Eagles the most damage Saturday, both scoring two goals and assisting in another.

Champ Louis Retains Title After Struggle



Surprising everyone, including the champion, Arturo Godoy gave Joe Louis the toughest battle of his championship run, but was not quite good enough to capture the crown. Godoy started the fight with a low crouch, that apparently had the champ badly puzzled, and continuously kept shoving Louis against the ropes. Godoy is pictured here using his head to pin Louis to the ropes and brings his left to Louis' face. Top and Bottom Left Godoy pins the champ and starts to uncork his left, Top and Bottom Right.

Phelan Defeats Jack Storey In Badminton

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—(CP)—The years have rolled by since Rod Phelan and Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Toronto won their first Ontario singles badminton titles but they still can wield racquets better than the crop of players coming up in the province.

They both won their fifth singles championships here Saturday, Phelan defeating his friendly rival of many years, Jack Storey of Toronto 15-10, 4-15, 15-10 and Mrs. Walton beating youthful Evelyn Effnert of Toronto 11-7, 11-5. Mrs. Walton's victory gave her the title for the fourth successive year.

Phelan first won the provincial crown in 1934 and defended it successfully the next two years before relinquishing it to Storey in 1937. Storey took the title again the following year but Phelan regained it in 1939. Mrs. Walton started winning provincial titles in 1935.

In the mixed doubles, however, Miss Effnert and Jim Snyder of Toronto defeated Mrs. Walton and Phelan 9-15, 15-8, 15-11 to score the biggest upset.

Snyder teamed with his brother Paul to win the men's doubles title with a 9-15, 15-9, 15-8 victory over Jack Nash of London and Doug Kennedy of Waterloo. Nash and Kennedy reeled off six straight points after the Snyders had tied the score at 9-9 to win the first set.

The brothers led throughout the second and took the deciding set with a sparkling seven-point rally after Nash and Kennedy came from behind to tie the score at 8-8.

The Ottawa team of Betty Snell and Mrs. Guy Perodeau, the former Isobel Bryson, regained the women's doubles title they held in 1936-37 by defeating Evelyn Effnert and Kay Lytle 15-5, 15-7. Miss Effnert and Miss Lytle had ousted the 1938-39 champions, Margaret and Ruth Robertson of Ottawa, in the semi-finals.

War Has Halted New Tennis Stars

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP).— H. W. (Bunny) Austin, nine times a member of British Davis Cup teams and the world's fourth ranking player two years ago, predicted to-day that it would be "many years" before amateur tennis produces players to compare with Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry.

Austin, touring America in the interests of an International moral re-armament program, said the war had halted the development of young players.

"It takes years to achieve the sort of tennis strokes which made Budge, Vines and Perry invincible," he declared. "Young players, forced to abandon their game for even a year or two because of war, may never be able to regain their efficiency."

Warsaw Oaks Win Over Douro 10-3

WARSAW, Feb. 12—(ENS)—The Oaks emerged from the local league cellar with a bang on Friday night when they piled up a 10-3 score on their rivals for last place honors, the Douro Irish.

Both teams played their best game of the season, Douro having much more of the play than the score would indicate. But their lack of combination left them wide open to the machine-like attack of the wily veterans, who never missed a chance to profit by their adversaries' mistakes.

For Douro, W. and J. Moher played their usual good game and Shear on the Irish defence gave the Oaks lots of trouble with his powerful rushes. For the oldsters, no one man stood out, practically all of the grand old men taking their turn in the spotlight.

Before the league game, the redoubtable Dandruff-removers held the School juniors to a 4-4 score in their annual brawl.

The players:

Douro: Goal, Doherty; defence, Walsh, J. Hayes; centre, W. Moher; wings, J. Moher, J. Leahy, subs, Holmes, Shear, John Hayes, Healy, Delaney.

Oaks—Goal, H. Parcels; defence, Drain, Sharpe; centre, Darling; wings, Munro, Bell; subs, Hamblin, Eliot, Davis, Selkirk.

Referee—M. Lonsberry.

Owing to a postponed game the balance of the leagues schedule is as follows:

Feb. 13—Oaks vs N. Dummer
Feb. 14—Douro vs School
Feb. 16—School vs N. Dummer

publication of a Rumanian magazine article declaring that Finland's fortifications facing Russia were built in the past four years by the German Army in cooperation with France and Great Britain.

The Russian papers refrained from comment as regards Germany, ostensibly in the light of the new-found friendship between Russia and the Reich. The article, however, included this Rumanian observation:

"Such inner 'fraternity' of the great powers was created because they all were anti-Soviet."

Filling in between the lines of sparesly worded army communiques of recent days, newspapers described the fighting in the Finnish campaign. One account, in part, touched up the rigors of warfare on the snow-bound front:

"Soviet troops sleep in open tents. The cold is frightful and Soviet troops must improvise stoves. They must organize communications with the rear and centre. This inevitably slows down the tempo of the advance."

Trud, official organ of Russian trade unions, assailed William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as "a fierce enemy of the U.S.S.R. and a faithful hireling of the reactionary bourgeoisie who are helping (former President Hoover organize aid for Finland, who is drawing the United States into a second imperialistic war."

ed for the condemnation resolution have since expressed intentions to support liberals in the federal fight. Among them are Highways Minister McQuesten, who seconded the Premier's resolution, and Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon. Mr. McQuesten spoke at a federal nominating convention at Hamilton Saturday and expressed his support of the three Liberal nominees in Wentworth county, while Mr. Nixon sent a message of support to Brant Liberals Friday.

Debate will be resumed this week on the government bill to abolish grand juries and to reduce to six men the juries in county court civil actions. The first feature of this bill has hit a snag in Conservative opposition and second reading debate has not been finished.

It is possible that in committee stage there will be discussion of Mr. Nixon's suggestion that women jurors be permitted in Ontario. A woman having been ruled a "person" by the Privy Council, all that would be necessary in the Ontario legislation would be the changing of the words "man" and "men" to "person" and "persons." Such a change would not apply to trials under the criminal code.

Streets Patrolled

Although the loot did not approach the amount taken in a similar raid on the Phoenix Park Arsenal in Dublin December 23, police searched for suspects and armored cars patrolled the streets.

The raiders also seized a soldier, but released him in the heart of Belfast during a blackout and escaped.

In addressing a protest meeting against the Birmingham executions at Dublin, Simon Donnelly, one time I.R.A. president, declared:

"The proper attitude of the Irish people is fearlessly to resolve that the state of affairs that has caused the youth of Ireland in every generation to sacrifice life and liberty shall be ended once and for all.

"This can only be done by re-establishing the republic."

The speaker referred to the same republic proclaimed during the ill-fated Easter uprising in 1916 during the last war.

Two sergeants of the Irish Army were wounded badly when revolver shots were fired into barracks at Cork.

No explanation was forthcoming.

An I.R.A. sympathizers' meeting at Tipperary took place without incident.

scholarship and ability of Lord Tweedsmuir.

It was the first time in her history that Canada had lost a Governor-General in office. And Lord Tweedsmuir had the distinction of representing in the Dominion three sovereigns.

As John Buchan he was appointed by King George V in 1935 and raised to the peerage as First Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield. He continued as Governor-General under Edward VIII and George VI.

Though Lord Tweedsmuir's critical condition was known for several days, his death came almost suddenly after considerable hope had been aroused that he would pull through. Canadians went to bed Saturday night with encouraging news of progress reported by his doctors and there was a definite air of increasing hopefulness in the circles close to him. Yesterday he relapsed and though he withstood another operation well, a clot in the veins of the leg brought a respiratory failure which caused death.

Lady Tweedsmuir, in the words of one of the vice-regal party, had been "simply wonderful" during the past five anxious days. She had waited near her husband as the long hours of the operations ticked away. After his death she walked from the hospital bedside beside her son, Hon. Alastair and Mrs. George Pape, lady-in-waiting. She embraced Miss Eileen Flanagan, supervisor of nurses at the institute, who accompanied her to her car. She returned to Ottawa to-day.

Simple Bulletin

Death of the 64-year-old Governor-General was made known to the press by Sir Shuldham Redfern, personal secretary to Lord Tweedsmuir, in a simple bulletin which said, "the governor-general died at 7:13 p.m."

His final illness was described in would retire from office at the expiration of his term this year because of the condition of his health.

His final illnessw as described in a statement issued by the five doctors who attended him, Dr. Wilder Penfield, Dr. William Cone, Dr. Jonathan Meakins, Lt.-Col. Colin Russel and Dr. Gordon Gunn.

On Tuesday morning the Governor-General had a blocking of a small artery in the brain and he fell, striking his head and thereby adding a concussion to the brain. His left arm and leg became paralyzed and he became unconscious.

In the next three days acute swelling of the brain developed and an emergency trepannation of the skull was done at Government House Friday. He was brought to Montreal where X-rays showed no evidence of skull fracture but did show an extraordinary swelling of the right side of the brain. An operation was performed to relieve the pressure in a more effective manner. He improved and the paralysis originally present was disappearing and he showed signs of returning consciousness. On Sunday morning there were further signs of increased pressure and a third operation was carried out.

"He stood the operation wonderfully," the statement said, "as he had shown great recuperative power from the beginning. The signs of pressure were receding in a reassuring manner when at 5:58 p.m. he had a sudden arrest of respiration which was due to pulmonary embolism resulting from a clot which had formed in the veins of the legs."

Lord Tweedsmuir was born a son of the manse in the border country of Scotland. In 60 years of life as John Buchan he was a prolific author of diverting tales of adventure and serious historical works. He attended Glasgow and Oxford universities and was called to the English Bar. He went to South Africa as secretary of Lord Milner.

Later he entered the publishing and newspaper business. During the first Great War he was liasion officer at British General Headquarters and later director of information for the British government. In 1917 he was elected a member of the British House of Commons for the Scottish universities. He was Lord High Commissioner for the Church of Scotland in 1933 and 1934. In 1937, while he was governor-general of Canada, he was elected chancellor of the University of Edinburgh.

What proved to be his final post was his appointment as governor-general and he came to Canada in November, 1935, with the title of Lord Tweedsmuir. Canadians in general believed his next work would be interpretation of Canada in the United Kingdom following his return home and looked forward to the result of his studies of life in this country.

In addition to Lady Tweedsmuir, three sons and one daughter survive. John Buchan, who succeeds to his father's title, is attached to the staff of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the First Division of the Canadian Active Service Force, now at Aldershot.

Another son William is married in England and Alastair, the youngest, is a lieutenant in an Ottawa unit of the C.A.S.F. The daughter, Mrs. Fairfax-Lucy, who visited him in Ottawa three years ago, died a year ago in Scotland.

was scheduled to return quietly to Rideau Hall this morning. Prime Minister Mackenzie King had prepared to go to Montreal to return with Lady Tweedsmuir and her son Alastair and personally extend the nation's sympathies, but remained to greet the bereaved family here.

With appropriate escort, details of which are being worked out, the body will be taken from the Union Station to the Senate Chamber of Parliament Buildings where it will lie in state for 24 hours.

Wednesday afternoon the body will be moved to the church where Lord Tweedsmuir worshipped during his residence in Ottawa. The state funeral service will start at 2:30 p.m.

Burial in Native Scotland.

Immediately after the service, the body will be taken to the railway train on which it will start the long journey to Great Britain for interment, probably in His Excellency's native Scotland.

A seven-day period of mourning was proclaimed by the government last night and all immediate political activities of the Prime Minister and his colleagues, associated with the general election campaign, were cancelled.

Members of the Dominion Cabinet who are absent from the capital, engaged in the political campaign, have been asked by the Prime Minister to return, if possible, to join with him in the last tributes to the late Governor General.

A glood of messages of sympathy for the bereaved family and for the government of which Lord Tweedsmuir was the head as personal representative of the King, poured into Ottawa throughout the night.

The 74-year-old Chief Justice of Canada, Rt. Hon. Sir Lyman P. Duff, late last night took the solemn oaths prescribed by His Majesty and shouldered the burdens of office as administrator of the government until a successor to the Governor-General has been appointed.

The swearing-in ceremony was carried out in the library of the Chief Justice and was witnessed by the Prime Minister and several permanent government officials.

Few details of the funeral plans were available early to-day but it is likely Ottawa will be draped in mourning during the ceremonies here. It is expected there will be a government escort for the journey back to Great Britain.

berg.

Mr. Eden conveyed this message from the King:—

"I know well the splendid tradition established by the armed forces of New Zealand and Australia will be worthily upheld by you who have left home in order to fight for the cause the whole empire has made its own.

"Now that you have entered the field of active service, I send you my warmest welcome together with best wishes for your welfare."

The New Zealanders, all volunteers who have had three months of training, looked fit. Most of them were young, with a sprinkling of veterans of the last war.

When Lord Tweedsmuir Visited Kawartha Lake Area

The unpretentious good humor, the simplicity of living, that marked the life of Lord Tweedsmuir, was nowhere more evident than when he journeyed through the Kawartha Lakes, over Champlain's old path, in 1938. Everywhere he was seen he made friends for no crowd was too small for him to appear from his cabin on the Bessie Butler and wave a friendly greeting to young and old, sometimes calling to them in the Gaelic. Even bad weather meant nothing to him—or rather, he let it mean nothing in his anxiety not to disappoint children and grown-ups who had travelled far to see him. Typical of that attitude is the picture (1) at one of the stopping off points. Rain was falling but Lord Tweedsmuir gave youngsters plenty of time to see him. He smiled warmly when the pipers in (2) greeted him at Beaverton. At (3) is a picture that tells more about Lord Tweedsmuir's easy friendliness than many another might reveal. For him there was no pomp about leaving the Bessie Butler; he just climbed up the rail and jumped off. Sometimes, as here, his secretary and aide, had their hearts in their mouths for fear he wouldn't make it. (4) shows the reception at Fenelon Falls as the Bessie Butler approached the lock, and (5) is the farewell given him at the same point. (Examiner Staff Photos.)

Buchan, the author, who through his historical works as well as his novels brought much joy and pleasure to people in all parts of the world."

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, declared in an address from Quebec on the same radio program that Canada has lost "a friend who devoted himself entirely to its service with remarkable intelligence and tact."

"One wishes that he might have been permitted to carry to its natural conclusion his work as Governor-General of Canada, which post he so ably and delightfully filled," said Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews of Ontario. Other Lieutenant-Governors sounded similar notes.

Career of Achievements

Lieutenant-Governor B. W. LePage of Prince Edward Island said Lord Tweedsmuir's career "has been marked by great industry and notable achievement" and Sir Eugene Fiset, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, declared: "I am the more deeply affected since our personal relations were the most cordial."

"His keen interest in folk made his influence effective wherever he went," said Lieutenant-Governor J. C. Bowen of Alberta, adding that "few Canadians have seen as much of their own land as Lord Tweedsmuir." Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Tupper of Manitoba cited His Excellency's "unquestioned integrity and his abiding sense of fairness and honesty of purpose in the discharge of his high duty."

"Having occupied the high office of Governor-General, no one could have to a greater extent and with such positive success entered into the life, the customs, the ideals and the ambitions of the Canadian people," said Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber of British Columbia, while Lieutenant-Governor A. P. McNab and Premier W. J. Patterson of Saskatchewan sent condolences to Lady Tweedsmuir.

Rt. Rev. Stuart C. Parker, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, of which Lord Tweedsmuir was a member, said the church was "proud of him as one of its most faithful sons and distinguished elders, a son of the manse, who showed all his life the marks of his godly upbringing."

Roman Catholics Touched.

Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, said the Roman Catholic church is "singularly touched by the passing of so noble a Viceroy."

"Those who were privileged to meet him and to hear him speak were impressed by his gracious personality and his brilliant mind," stated Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario.

Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, called Lord Tweedsmuir "a real democrat," and A. R. Mosher, president of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor, said the members of that organization "deeply regret his sudden passing."

Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader, said Lord Tweedsmuir was a "demonstration of all that is good and decent and worthwhile in the British way of life." He said "it is to be hoped that his notes are sufficiently complete to leave us a clear understanding of the conclusions of one of the greatest men who has ever occupied the high offices of Governor-General."

Defence Minister Norman Rogers said the word of Lord Tweedsmuir's death would be received with profound sorrow by all ranks of the Canadian Active Service Force, the Royal Canadian Navy, and the Royal Air Force. Alexander Walker, acting Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, said that "the sense of loss to war veterans is particularly poignant, for Lord Tweedsmuir was himself an ex-service man."

Chief Justice Sir Joseph Chisholm, administrator for the Province of Nova Scotia in the illness of Lieutenant-Governor Robert Irwin, called the Governor-General's death "an incalculable loss." Premier A. A. Dysart of New Brunswick said Lord Tweedsmuir wa s"richly en- Lord Tweedsmuir was "richly endowed with those qualities that rendered easy his great and trying responsibilities."

Rotary's Tribute Is Paid Late Governor

"We are meeting today under the shadow of a great loss," Alderman Dutton said in expressing at today's luncheon the emotion of regret of the members of the Rotary Club at their noon luncheon.

In sentiment with the nation's mourning, the music selected by John Smith were the choruses "All Through the Night" and "Loch Lomond." Two lines from the old Scottish song caught the spirit of the hour:

"But the broken heart it kens nae
second spring again,
Tho' the waeful may cease frae
their greeting."

Alderman Dutton spoke of Lord Tweedsmuir as a great statesman, scholar and friend. "Some of us had the privilege of meeting Lord Tweedsmuir. It would be difficult to stress the outstanding qualities of his many-sided character, but one thing that profoundly impressed all those who knew him, and that was his gentleness that approached close to the point of meekness, true signs of greatness. We shall honor his memory because of all the men who have filled the honorable office of Governor General there was none who tried more than he did to understand the people of Canada and their peculiar problems and difficulties. I could say a great deal about this wonderful man, but there are times like this when words fail and we must be content to pay tribute in our hearts to the great scholar and statesman and man who has passed from us. I would move that the regrets of this club be sent to Lady Tweedsmuir in her great bereavement."

Another couplet from Loch Lomond seem to pervade the rest of the meeting in their depth of sadness:

"But me and my true love we'll never meet again
On the bonnie, bonnie banks of Loch Lomond."

Grand Jury System

The speaker at today's luncheon was Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson, K.C., Lindsay, who gave an informative address on the construction of the jury system avoiding the controversial points of this subject.

The jurors for the courts of this country are confined to men of 21 years and over, British subjects by birth or naturalization, "in possession of their natural faculties" and being the owners or tenants of property in cities worth at least $600 and outside cities at least $400.

Mr. Anderson reviewed the list of exemptions from jury service, lawyers, doctors, dentists, editors and all those engaged in the printing trades, veterinary surgeons, officers of law courts, and government service, an extensive list from which Mr. Anderson drew the considered conclusion that juries cannot be described as a cross-section of the people of the country from which they are selected.

Mr. Anderson explained the procedure by which the members of juries are obtained from the city and county, and their final reduction to thirteen grand jurors for each of the Supreme Court's two local assizes during the year, with forty-eight petit jurors for the same sittings; also thirteen grand jurors and thirty-six petit jurors for each sittings of the county court in June and December. The final phase of jury selections in actual court work was also reviewed, with details of the rights of accused persons to challenge limited number of persons before each juror was sworn to duty.

Play Presented At Mark Street

If the first amateur play of the season is to be taken as an indication of the merit of those to follow, then Peterborough audiences are in for a good deal of pleasure this year. For the first one, "Don't Darken My Door," was presented by the choir of Mark Street United Church on Thursday and Friday evenings and set a high mark for other amateur actors to reach.

Played before splendid crowds on both evenings, the play—a three-act comedy—set a new high for entertainment. Its action was fast, its continuity was excellent, and its cast was admirably trained in each part by Leonard Agnew. The crowded auditorium resounded with hearty laughter almost without stop as complication followed complication in the romance of three couples.

It was the story of two girls for whom fiction of the "love story" type held place of first affection, and who wanted to experience just such a "true romance" in their own lives. When Jane Perkins, author of many a story of the nature, came to their home by accident, and decided to put over two such romances patterned on her own style, she forgot that men, as a rule, are not so fond of them. Her efforts to bring two couples together, aided by two frustrated spinsters, have many a comical situation, even an elopement. The story adds an extra climax when the author, herself, falls for her own type of story, becomes engaged to the third man.

Cast of the play included Leonard Agnew, Norman Hewitt, Bernice Stevens, Lloyd Rowland, Gladys Brown, Robert Healey, Mina Hepburn, Elva Throop, and Caroline Brown.

C. H. Ackerman, chairman of the Industrial Committee, said today.

"The Red Cross campaign in Peterborough was successful, not because of the large contributions made by a few but by the smaller contributions made by a large number.

Table Tennis Aces Give Display Here

The table tennis fans who attended the exhibition at the 'Y' on Saturday night were given a rare treat as the Toronto stars displayed a variety of drives, chops and bullet stops. The game of table tennis as these boys played it was a revelation to most of the spectators. Ray Norris and Doug Edwards, the present Toronto doubles champions, started the exhibition with a two out of three singles match. Edwards managed to get the final points in the third game. This was followed by a single exhibition by Charles Burnside and Lou Beedle. This also went to three games with Burnside driving through to win the final point. Edwards and Norris doubled up to take the measure of Burnside and Beedle in a hot contest.

Following the regular exhibition the players put on a floor show at the intermission of the Saturday night dance, and were given a great hand by the two hundred spectators.

The exhibition was delayed for almost an hour because of the icy condition or the roads. Lou Beedle had the misfortune of leaving the road on highway 28 just a hundred yards this side of the entrance to the Kawartha club. After a lot of shovelling the car was pulled out by a highway sanding truck.

Partly as a result of this exhibition a Peterborough city championship is being planned. A cup for the men's singles has been promised by H. L. Garner.

White Is Expected To Enter An Appeal

KITCHENER, Ont., Feb. 12.—Although Defence Counsel J. K. Sims would not verify the report it was learned today from reliable sources, that Reginald White, convicted of the murder of John Milroy, will enter an appeal. White was sentenced Saturday to be hanged April 25.

The appeal will be based solely on questions of law. While defence lawyers would not reveal the nature of the legal points to be debated, it is understood that the fact that the jail governor had taken samples of hair from the head of the accused while incarcerated in a cell in the Waterloo county jail, is one of the points of appeal. White, it is said, had not been warned that these hair samples might be used in evidence against him.

Many new cities are being constructed in Ethiopia.

Week Of Mourning Is Proclaimed For Diocese By Bishop O'Connor

A week of mourning throughout the parishes of the diocese of Peterborough in connection with the death of Canada's Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, was directed to-day by Bishop O'Connor in a letter to the parish priests under his charge.

Bishop O'Connor's letter to the clergy was as follows:

February 12, 1940.

Dear Reverend Father,—His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir died last evening. He was the personal representative in Canada of His Majesty the King. We honored him in life. Now we honor him in death. To honor our rulers is fundamental with Catholics for we believe that all authority is from God. From our catechism days we have been taught to "respect the public officers not only for wrath but also for conscience sake for such is the will of God." Every day throughout the year prayers are offered in our Cathedral for our temporal as well as our spiritual superiors. We associate ourselves with the general grief that surrounds the passing of our Governor General. Our people wil lassist at Mass during the week which has been designated as a week of mourning. They will also deem it a duty to pray for the spiritual strength and consolation of Lady Tweedsmuir and the bereaved family. I remain.

Faithfully yours,
DENIS O'CONNOR,
Bishop of Peterborough.

Tributes Paid Memory Of Lord Tweedsmuir

An impressive tribute to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir was paid at the opening of police court today when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., T. J. Carley, K.C., president of the Peterborough Law Association and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., joined in expressions of regret at the passing of Canada's Governor-General, whose many fine qualities they eulogized.

Reference was also made by the speakers to the loss the Peterborough Bar had sustained in the death of one of its oldest members in the person of Lieut.-Col. Arthur Stevenson.

"It is fitting" said Magistrate Langley, as court opened, "that some tribute should be paid to the memory of the personal representative of His Majesty the King, Baron Tweedsmuir, in the courts where the power represented by the Crown exists." His worship then called upon all persons in the court room to bow their heads for a period of silence.

Came Close To Us

"The first great thought we must have in regard to Baron Tweedsmuir" said Magistrate Langley "is the fact that without sacrificing in the slightest degree the dignity of his position he seemed to be able to come closer to us than any other governor-general. He was more a part of us, more like us all than any of the others."

Referring to the fact that Lord Tweedsmuir was the first governor-general, since Confederation, to die during his term of office, Magistrate Langley said that Canadians had learned to appreciate him for all his many good qualities.

"We here in Peterborough have reason to remember him" he continued "because only a year ago last summer we had the privilege of seeing and hearing him, some of us meeting him personally, and he seems to us in Peterborough a little closer on that account."

During Baron Tweedsmuir's term of office, Magistrate Langley pointed out, the King and Queen paid their memorable visit to Canada. "I have no knowledge of the matter" he said, "but I cannot help thinking that Baron Tweedsmuir played a leading part in bringing Their Majesties to Canada, an event that had a tremendous part in the development of the Empire."

Member of Bar

The bar was particularly interested in the death of Governor-General because he was a member of the English bar and since coming to Canada had been called to the bar in Ontario and had been a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada. The address he had given on that occasion, Magistrate Langley said, was one of the finest bits of literature he had read. A copy had been presented to every member of the Law Society.

The speaker, after referring to the career of John Buchan as a novelist and as a member of the British House of Commons and in his war service, stressed the anxiety he had shown as governor-general in becoming acquainted with all phases of life in Canada, and the pleasure he had taken to travelling to different parts of the country.

"He was an outstanding great and good man in every sense of the words" concluded Magistrate Langley "and the sympathy of all Canadians goes out to Lady Tweedsmuir and the members of the family."

Magistrate Langley, referring to the death of Col. Arthur Steverson, said that the Law Association had suffered a great loss in his passing. He was one of its oldest members although he had not been practising for some time, and he had been a good citizen of Peterborough.

Law Society's President

T. J. Carley, K.C., said that he concurred fully in His Worship's tribute. Magistrate Langley had said the things that all Canadians were feeling today. The loss of Baron Tweedsmuir would be particularly felt at this time. Undoubtedly he had given valuable counsel to the governing powers and in his term of office had shown himself a broad humanitarian and had diplayed a sincere desire to aid in the progress of this country.

Of Col. Stevenson Mr. Carley said that his passing would be generally regretted in Peterborough.

Crown Attorney McElderry said that in the relation between writer and reader Baron Tweedsmuir would perhaps be best remembered. He was a great and good man and during his residence in Canada had made himself loved by every one. He contributed a great service to Canada.

Col. Arthur Stevenson, the crown attorney said, had contributed valuable service to Peterborough in a number of ways and his death would be generally regretted throughout the city. He was a member of an old Peterborough family and had given a lifetime of service to the community. The speaker pointed out that Col. Stevenson's sudden passing followed on the sudden demise of his two sons and was doubly tragic on that account.

But, pending a finding at the meeting, the school will remain closed and pupils will have a holiday.

Rouse Block Is Destroyed In Bancroft Fire

BANCROFT, Feb. 12—(ENS). — Fire that broke out in the Rouse Block here at Saturday midnight, caused damage totalling close to $2,500 when flames swept through a dental office, a restaurant, a grocery store, a jewellery shop, and a notary public's office.

A volunteer fire brigade was on the scene quickly and brought the fire under control with great rapidity, saving the building from total loss and halting what might have a disastrous blaze.

The Rouse Block, with a frontage of 80 feet on Hastings street, is one of the village's most pretentious buildings. It houses the dental office of Dr. D. Rouse; a restaurant owned by Miss Mona Rouse; Fred Shannick's grocery and butcher shop; the jewellery shop of A. H. Reynolds, and the office of A. W. Gordon, notary public.

The fire apparently originated in the ceiling of the Shannick store and was caused by overheated pipes. Three lines of hose, including a chemical line, were laid by the fire department, and loss was kept at a minimum. Estimated damage to the building itself was only $1,000 while damage to contents brought the total to close to $2,500.

Woman Suffers Back Injuries

FRASERVILLE, Feb. 12 (ENS)—Mrs. Vivian Porter, Port Hope, received severe back injuries and five other persons were shaken up when a car driven by Arthur Smith, Port Hope, turned over in the ditch near Fraserville, Sunday afternoon.

The accident happened when the automobile, owned by Jex and Smith Port Hope undertakers, struck a patch of loose snow on Arthur Wood's hill, got out of control and finally shot off the west side of the road into the ditch where it rolled over.

Arthur Smith, the driver, had with him as passengers his parents, his wife and small son and Mrs. Vivian Porter. The boy suffered a wrist injury but the others, with the exception of Mrs. Porter luckily escaped injury.

The injured woman whose back was badly hurt, was in the rear seat and considerable difficulty was experienced in extricating her from the overturned car. Traffic officer L. A. McClure was patrolling that section of Highway 28 at the time and arrived a few minutes after the accident, helping to release Mrs. Porter. It was necessary to remove the back seat before Dr. Russell of Bailieboro could administer a hypodermic to the injured woman who was taken to hospital in Port Hope in an ambulance.

Dignified Voting

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Feb. 12 (AP)—Suggestion that polling booths be established in churches to provide "a more appropriate setting of dignity and sacredness for balloting" was made yesterday by Rev. Dr. J. W. Bartlett in a sermon at Portland United church. If ballots were cast in church voters would be free from "temptation to which they might otherwise be subjected," he said.

Tepsic—Blewett

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12.—(ENS). — St. Andrew's church, Lakefield, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 when Rev. J. M. Young united in the holy bonds of matrimony Winnifred Christina Blewett, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blewett, Lakefield, and Brownie Charles Tepsic, son of Mrs. Caroline Venoic of Salem, Ohio.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and daffodils banked around the pulpit, with palms in the background.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Wagner's bridal chorus, played by her great aunt, Miss Nettie Nelson, the charming young bride looked becoming in long white sheer gown, made with sweetheart neckline and princess bodice, the skirt falling fully to the floor. Her veil was of Italian silk embroidered net, cap shape, with a crown of orange blossoms. She wore an heirloom string of pearls and carried American Beauty roses.

Miss Pauline Blewett was her sister's bridesmaid and was dressed in a floor length gown of rose orchid sheer, with sweetheart neckline, princess bodice and short full sleeves. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses.

Mr. Harry Blewett, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Preceding the marriage ceremony Mrs. T. W. Chaplin sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

The bridal party left the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Returning to the home of the bride's parents, where a buffet lunch was served to the immediate friends.

The gift of the groom to the bridesmaid was a heart shaped locket, to the groomsman a leather billfold, and the soloist and organist cameo lockets.

Mr. and Mrs. Tepsic left for their home in Salem, Ohio, the bride donning a smart fuchsia wool suit with navy accessories.

PIN SEAL is neat but here's something even neater—baby sharkskin. Don't be surprised because shoe designers are never at a loss when it comes to introducing new mediums, this season also bringing frogskin to our feet! Sharkskin leathers hail from Scandinavia, are soft and wear-resistant, and not to be recognized at a glance in their new colorings of wine, smoky blue, gunmetal grey, leafy green and brown. Blue calf is combined with the smoky blue sharkskin in the comfortable, seamless pump, top, with its chic bow and squared heel. The bottom shoe is entirely of sharkskin. Both are worthy accessories for spring's tailored and afternoon suits.

We Noticed

...A friend of ours who is always sending flowers to sick friends tells us that a pot of flowering forget-me-nots with a pink rose stuck in the centre is sure to please a woman, and that a bunch of red and white carnations seldom fails to cheer up a man.

...A nurse advises unconventional flowers for the sick, just as a change—such flowers as cosmos, marigolds, wallflowers. Even a single rose will bring much pleasure to a sick friend if your purse won't stretch to a whole bouquet.

...In caring for flowers never crowd them into a vase so they can't breathe, a lover of flowers warns us—place them in tenderly, one flower at a time, and when the bowl is filled, stop. Never hack off the stems of long-stemmed roses to make them fit into your vases, that is an unforgivable sin. Remember that leaves carded gloves, bags, etc., which might be used for men on patrol duty, etc., the too-badly worn articles to be cut up and used as lining for waistcoats and windbreakers for minesweepers and other men engaged in war service.

The Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., members are endeavoring to make a worthwhile collection which can be forwarded in answer to this urgent appeal for all kinds of ready-to-be discarded leather goods, particularly men's shabby gloves for use of soldiers on patrol duty; ladies' and children's gloves or handbags—anything, in fact, of kid or leather which could be converted into coat linings for those on duty in the cold stormy weather along the coast, on sea and in the air.

A letter has also been received by the Peter Robinson Chapter from an I.O.D.E. worker at Halifax, telling of the need for magazines. Soldiers are often held up while awaiting the convoys, she writes, and sailors who have leisure hours while freighters are being loaded are begging for reading material, a supply which is now exhausted in Halifax, due to the large and unusual demand.

Those who have goods of this kind, magazines or books, may leave them at Belleghem's furniture store, Hunter street, or dial 4577 if they wish them to be called for.

Lakefield Choir Is Entertained

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12—(ENS). — A most enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the Lakefield United church choir and their friends, about thirty-five in number, when they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Crawford in their home on Thursday evening.

Following about one hour of choir practice, progressive Chinese checkers was played, also other contests and games.

Mrs. Dora MacMillan and Dr. G. E. Renwick held the high score for checkers while Mrs. Mae Hamlin and W. W. Yale won the consolation prizes.

About midnight refreshments were served by the committee in charge and the party broke up with a hearty vote of thanks to the host and hostess.

Truths That Soothe And Make For Happiness Are Far Better Than Those That Hurt, So If You Cannot Make People Happy, At Least Don't Wound Them.

Why is it that people who pride themselves upon always speaking the truth never mention anything but unpleasant truths? Taking the world and people in general, there is just as much beauty and goodness in them as there is ugliness and evil. There is just as much sunshine as rain, just as many flowers as weeds, and every sinner has a streak of saintliness in him.

But if the Truthful Jameses and Jennys ever find anything good and admirable in anything or anybody, they never feel called upon to mention it. It is the flaws and not the virtues over which they grow eloquent.

You show them your new house that you have been slaving and scrimping for twenty years to buy and that to you looks like a masterpiece of architecture, and they pass by the big, comfortable rooms, the graceful stairway, the lovely windows, and say: "Your kitchen is a regular cubby-hole, so little and dark." They view your children with a cold and appraising eye, and remark that it is too bad that little Sally is so like your Aunt Geraldine, who was always considered the homeliest woman in the community, and they ask if your frail little Johnny who always makes your own heart turn sick with fear when you look at him, isn't tubercular.

They never fail to tell you that your are putting on flesh, or that your hair is beginning to turn gray, or that your new hat is ten years too young for you, or that your Paris frock makes you look sallow. Wild horses couldn't make them say that your new house is well built and beautifully located. Or that if little Sally has Aunt Geraldine's nose, she also has Aunt Geraldine's sweetness and charm. Or that your delicate little Johnny is by way of being a mechanical genius. Or that a little flesh is becoming to you and that you are better looking as a plump, middle-aged woman than you were as a skinny girl. Or that you new clothes just simply scream Paris at the beholder.

Yet the praise would have been as true as the knock, and one would have sent us on our way with a little thrill of pleased vanity brightening our day, while the other leaves us as flat as a punctured balloon, with all of our ambitions and hopes deflated and the taste of life bitter in our mouths. Maybe that is why we prefer the society of cheerful liars to those who justify their rudeness by saying that they always speak the truth.

If, however, veracity is no aid to popularity abroad, it is in the family circle that it gets in its most deadly work and does more to alienate husbands and wives, promote divorce and scatter children over the face of the earth than all other causes combined.

There is nothing so devastating as the crude candor of a near relation, and the thing that oftenest sets husbands roaming and sends wives to Reno and that makes children get away as soon as they can from their fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers is having to listen, day after day, to the litany of their faults and shortcomings recited by those who feel it their duty to speak the truth, and nothing but the truth. So common and so disastrous is this domestic custom that it has given rise to a phrase, and when we want to describe one person telling another something that he would rather die than hear we say he told him "home truths." Now I hold no brief for liars. I hate and despise those whose word cannot be trusted. I love truth and honor it, but I think it should be used with discretion and with kindliness. It should not be made the alibi, as it so often is, for mean and envious people to vent their spite upon some one whom they wish to humiliate.

My protest is not against truth

Make Appeal For Discarded Leather Goods

The Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., during its meeting at headquarters in Toronto on Friday, February 9, had a letter read from Mrs. B. M. Russell-Brown, O.B.E. (late of the Victoria League, London), in which an appeal has been made for discarded gloves, bags, etc., which might be used for men on patrol duty, etc., the too-badly worn articles to be cut up and used as lining for waistcoats and windbreakers for minesweepers and other men engaged in war service.

The Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., members are endeavoring to make a worthwhile collection which can be forwarded in answer to this urgent appeal for all kinds of ready-to-be discarded leather goods, particularly men's shabby gloves for use of soldiers on patrol duty; ladies' and children's gloves or handbags—anything, in fact, of kid or leather which could be converted into coat linings for those on duty in the cold stormy weather along the coast, on sea and in the air.

Greatly Grieved Wires F.D.R. Of Tweedsmuir

(By the Canadian Press.)

President Roosevelt telegraphed Lady Tweedsmuir from Washington Sunday that he "shocked and greatly grieved" at her husband's death.

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I recall with pleasure and affection meetings with Lord Tweedsmuir and you," the president said, "and send you our sincere sympathy in your great loss."

Secretary of States Cordell Hull also sent condolences to Lady Tweedsmuir on behalf of himself and Mrs. Hull and an official message of "deepest sympathy" to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University in New York paid tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir Sunday as "a very warm friend" who would be greatly missed not only as a statesman, but also in the academic world and in the world of letters.

President Butler recalled that it was plain John Buchan, member of the House of Commons for the Scottish universities, that the late Governor-General crossed the Atlantic in the autumn of 1934 to dedicate Columbia University's new $4,000,000 Edward S. Harkness library.

Tribute From Times

The New York Times, paying editorial tribute to the late Lord Tweedsmuir, said today that if Canada's Governor General "had been a Canadian born, and elected instead of appointed, he couldn't have been better liked."

"He took an interest in every interest of the Dominion," said The Times. "He was a traveller and a sportsman. With the dignity which his place required he combined an inborn friendliness, kindness, bonhomie. He was a good listener as well as a good speaker. In the matters of treaty and trade, whether with the United States or Great Britain, he was an intelligent and a tactful negotiator.

"The Canadians hoped that he might have another term. On this side of the border he was an old friend, admired and honored. Mere officials and dignitaries have their little hour and pass. Lord Tweedsmuir had that distinction of intellect, achievement and character that made him an attractive international figure."

Rev. Alexander Ferguson, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church where Lord Tweedsmuir worshipped when in residence in the capital, last night paid tribute to the late governor general.

"It is very difficult to realize that His Excellency has gone from us," he said. "A week ago Sunday he was in church as usual and read the old and New Testament lessons. More than four weeks ago he served at the communion as an active elder of St. Andrew's congregation.

"There is no question that Canada's Governor General was one of the most brilliant and versatile figures of our time. His great qualities of mind and imagination, his very remarkable gift of friendship, above all his deep devotion to the Christian church and all for which it stands, will remain for many of us a fragrant memory and an abiding inspiration."

Rt. Rev. Dr. John Woodside, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, paid tribute to Lord Tweedsmuir from the pulpit of Chalmers Church and said: "It will be only true to say that he was a real and genuine interpreter of Canada. He was also an interpreter of the Empire to the United States of America.

"Possessed of rare and singular gifts of mind and heart which were trained and disciplined through the years, he has made an enduring contribution to the life of this nation and empire, and to the world."

telling, but against telling unnecessary truths that wound. Let us have more truths that soothe and help and make for happiness. So shall we make the truth teller one whom we admire and like instead of one whom we dread and fear.

DEAR MISS DIX — Three years ago I met a young man with whom I fell madly, wildly in love, but somehow we drifted apart. I am now engaged to be married, but can't set the date because I keep thinking of my first love. I love my fiance, but not as I should. I feel safe and secure with him, but not delirious as I did with the other. Please help me not to make a mess of my life.—LEE.

ANSWER:

If you don't want to make a mess of your life, don't marry one man while you love another. It isn't fair to either one of you, and it is especially unfair to the man, because no man in his senses would marry a girl who was always dreaming and thinking of a former sweetheart. Nor would you be happy, because nothing but love can make marriage worth while to a woman, and turn even its hardships into a picnic to her because she is sharing them with the man who glorifies life for her.

But aren't you idealizing and romanticizing this first love too much? Every young girl goes off of her head a bit about her first sweetheart and sees in him a Prince Charming. She is wildly excited over him, just as she is wildly excited over her first party press, and it is quite true that she never experiences those same emotions again. No other dress and no other man ever thrill her in just the same way. But after a while she has sense enough to realize that her emotions belong to her time of life, not the dress or the man. Isn't that the way with you?

(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(CP Cable.)—The death of Lord Tweedsmuir shocked Fleet street's old timers who knew him as a working colleague and recalled to this contemporary a happy nine-weeks' tour with the GovernorGeneral through Western Canada and beyond the Arctic Circle in the Northwest Territories.

Many London newspapermen remember the days when Lord Tweedsmuir commuted daily to his office, working on the train both ways, taking a cigarette for lunch, and driving himself so hard as to ruin his digestion at a comparatively early age. They marvelled at how one man could do so much work in such a short time.

In the summer of 1937 I was privileged to accompany Lord Tweedmuir's party on a north-western tour down the mighty Mackenzie river waterway system to Aklavik and north by air to Tuktoyaktuk on the Beaufort sea.

Lord Tweedmuir worked assiduously all the time finishing the index to his biography of the Emperor Augutus—a work which earned praise from literary and historical men but roused some adverse criticism on the grounds the time was not right for praising a dictator.

While we travelled on trains and ships, Lord Tweedsmuir's health remained good but when we started to fly he suffered intensely from indigestion owing to irregular meals.

His condition sometimes alarmed me but he told me once: "You need not be afraid I am going to die. I have been going on like this for years."

We flew from Aklavik to Edmonton and when we reached the Alberta capital the Governor-General was so weak he had to take to his bed for several days.

With rare courage he pulled himself together and continued his westward trip through Tweedsmuir Park and the Pacific Coast.

I remember a picnic when we flew into the high mountainous country of Tweedsmuir Park and lunched on the shore of a glacial Lake. I extended a hand to help the Governor-General across a gap between the beach and the pontoon of a seaplane on which he was standing. But he leapt it like a mountain goat.

He glanced with amazement at the towering, snow-capped mountains and said to me: "By jove, Guy, I have travelled a tremendous part of the world and I have never seen scenery to equal this."

Didn't Recall It

I recall that at Hagensborg, B.C., on his 62nd birthday Lord Tweedsmuir was so ill he could hardly stand, yet he made one of the finest speeches of his tour. He was in such pain he had no idea what he had said and asked his secretary, A. S. (later Sir Shuldham) Redfern, if it was "all right."

From a newspaperman's viewpoint Lord Tweedsmuir was extraordinarily easy to work with. Here's an illustration:

There is an unwritten law that one may not interview the King or his personal representative. I wanted the Governor-General's opinion of the country through which he had passed and told him so.

"We'll cook something up," he said.

The day before we reached Ottawa on the way home he gave me a long interview. I asked him how he would suggest that I get around the interview ban and he said: "Write it as if it was a discussion in which the whole group of us took part."

The Stars Say . . .

For Sunday, February 11

Sunday's horoscope hold excellent auguries for progress and prosperity, both inspiritual and material affairs. In the former there should be outstanding achievements, while in the latter industry, enterprise and proper precaution against entanglements and deception should attract promotion and other forms of preferment from superiors. Social and romantic affairs also thrive and give much pleasure.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of decided progress and prosperity, with rewards for industry, initiative and careful attention to obligations. Be alert to sinister attack or entanglements. In social, sentimental and cultural associations there should also be gratification.

A child born on this day may be versatile, literary, artistic, energetic and industrious, and at the same time gentle, amiable and so soft-hearted it may be duped by craft and duplicity.

For Monday, February 12

Monday's astrological forecast continues the benignant auguries of Sunday, where diligence, enterprise and fine constructive ability and determined efforts win the preferment and support of those in power and prestige. This promise may meet surprising fulfillments in the form of gifts, bequests or other substantial tokens of esteem and good will. High goals are indicated.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which they may reap rich rewards for past performances, where hard work, energy and enterprise are recognized by superiors and those in authority. There may be gifts, legacies or other substantial rewards of merit and endeavor. Social and emotional aspects of progress and pleasure also loom large. Seek high goals.

A child born on this day may be efficient, ambitious and dependable, with much integrity and nobility of heart and purpose. It may find happy rewards in its material and personal objectives.

For Tuesday, February 13

A Day in which new projects are paramount, with the mind and creative abilities high pitched for ambitious projects, is forecast. While these may be endorsed by superiors and employers, there is some danger of overdoing. There may be a change of plans or surroundings, but refrain from moves that are too radical.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for change in plans and place. There will be sudden urges to put over ambitious projects with employers aiding and abetting. But do not attempt to go too far with such initiative and enterprise.

A child born on this day may possess fine creative talents and originality. In its high enterprise early training to avoid overdoing is admonished.

Painful Boils Bad Blood the Cause

When boils start to break out on different parts of the body it is an evidence that the blood is loaded up with impurities.

Just when you think you are rid of one, another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the lancing and poulticing you may do will not stop more coming.

Why not give that old, reliable, blood purifying medicine Burdock Blood Bitters a chance to banish the boils? Thousands have used it for this purpose during the past 60 years.

Take B.B.B. and get rid of the bad blood and the boils too.

Rhodes Scholar Well Known In Hastings Area

HASTINGS, Feb. 12.—(ENS). — The story of an ambition that followed a boy through school, that could not be deflected from its course by illness or other obstacles, and that finally won through to success was revealed with the announcement that Neil Victor German, B.A., 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. German, 2424 Morrison street, Calgary, and student in third year at Law at the University of Alberta, had been awarded the Rhodes scholarship for the province for 1940.

Neil, two years ago visited his aunts, Florence and Kate German, in Hastings, Mrs. John Burgess of Norwood and his uncle, A. V. German, of Hastings.

Stricken when a youth, so well did he overcome the physical handicap that he was able to take a prominent part in a wide line of athletics, including hockey, rugby, basketball, cricket, baseball, volleyball and golf.

Though his illness required him to remain out of school for three years, his perseverance of his studies overcame this drawback and he went out to win a total of twelve of the top awards available to students in the city or province.

Sport and studies have by no means occupied all his time, for he has studied music, and played the first violin for two years in Calgary Junior Symphony Orchestra. He has taken part in six major dramatic productions at the University and has been prominent in executive work, both at the university and as a member of the Tuxis and the Boys' Parliament, of which he was deputy premier and provincial secretary for two years.

At present his ambition is to make a worthwhile contribution to the development of Canada's natural resources on the judicial exploitation of which the future economic and political well-being of Canada depends.

WHAT IS THIS LEGION DRIVE?

and why should I give?

Canadian Legion War Services sponsor a great, new cause—a service to the men of Canada who are fighting for us in our Army, Navy, and Air Force. To provide funds for this imperative work, a campaign to raise $500,000 is now under way. If you wonder, "Why should I give?" we suggest you read these questions and answers:

Q. What is the Legion raising this money for?
A. To provide funds for carrying on educational and personal service work with Canadians who have enlisted in the fighting forces.

Q. What do you mean by Educational Service?
A. Men who have enlisted are civilians in khaki who have a serious job to do. In doing that job, they should not develop the mental attitude "we are not coming back," but rather should continually think in terms of "when I go home," that they may be prepared to resume civilian life where they left off. In the hope of encouraging that outlook, it is felt that wherever possible, educational facilities and vocational training while they are on active service should be made available, to occupy their leisure and constantly remind them of the necessity of preparing for the future.

Q. And what are Personal Services to the Troops?
A. This means advice, guidance and actual personal services to men who are far from home and worried or bothered about some problem of a domestic or business nature. Legion War Services can perform an invaluable service to thousands of Canadians through their coast-to-coast organization with 1100 branches in cities, towns and villages throughout Canada. As the war develops, questions of pensions, medical treatment and re-establishment will arise. For years, the Legion has dealt with such problems and the accumulated experience of years will be available to the casualties of the present war.

Q. Why is Canadian Legion War Services entrusted with this work?
A. Because of the vast experience of the Legion in dealing with problems of the half-a-million Canadians who served in the Great War of 1914-1918, the Dominion Government places deep confidence in Legion activities and recognizes their particular fitness to cope with the problems that will arise during this war and to extend wise counsel to the thousands of men who now serve.

Q. Do Legion War Services overlap those of the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Y.M.C.A., etc.?
A. By no means. On the contrary, the Canadian Red Cross have strongly endorsed our activities. It is our definite purpose to avoid infringing upon the work being done by any other organization.

Q. Why shouldn't the Government undertake this job of education and vocational training?
A. Under dictator governments, practically all services are administered by the Government, and the rights and privileges of individuals are reduced to a minimum. In Canada we still retain the right to decide whether or not we wish to provide certain services for our fellowmen. In due course it will be the duty of the Government to develop schemes for the return to civil life of the men now employed in the armed forces. In the meantime, the work of educational training is to be carried on under Canadian Legion War Services on a voluntary basis.

Q. Do men on active service really want to bother about education?
A. Where our scheme has been put in operation, the men have shown great eagerness to take advantage of the courses offered. It is not uncommon for 60% of a unit personnel to attend educational courses.

Q. Are Legion officers qualified to undertake this job of education?
A. The Legion will organize and finance the plan. The actual educational work will be carried out under the direction of the Canadian Association for Adult Education. The best educationists in Canada and overseas will assist. For instance, as Director of our Educational Work in Canada we have secured the services of Lt.-Col. Wilfrid W. Bovey, of McGill University, who is also Head of the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Q. Do your services include helping a man find a job when he gets back?
A. Yes. To co-operate with him and employers of labor to obtain preference for the men who have qualified themselves for such jobs or positions, and to assist the government in developing plans for the rehabilitation of the men when they return.

Q. How much of this money will actually go to help the soldiers, and how much will be spent in salaries of armchair workers?
A. To date we have developed our programme with only two headquarters officers and a very limited number of men in the field, due to the fact that we have been able to utilize the services of our existing personnel free of charge, and also the assistance of so many voluntary workers. No matter how the work may develop, the paid personnel will, having regard to the amount of voluntary services rendered, be very moderate.

Q. Can my contribution be included as a deduction on my income tax?
A. Yes. This appeal is registered under the War Charities Act, and as such, the full exemption for War Charities contributions has been authorized by the Secretary of State.

Q. Will there be an official audit of Legion War Services funds?
A. Yes. A double audit. Canadian Legion War Services, Inc. is registered under the War Charities Act (Ottawa), and as such its accounts will be audited by the Auditor-General of Canada, in addition to a reputable firm of chartered accountants.

Q. Will any of the money subscribed be used for regular Canadian Legion purposes?
A. No, not one cent. All the money subscribed will be spent in the interests of Canadians who are serving in our Navy, Army and Air Force.

Q. Will any of the money be spent on work other than education and personal service?
A. Education and personal services will be a first charge on these moneys. Soldiers' concert parties will be provided and recreation huts established where required. It will also be the duty of our experienced personnel, under proper authority, to do such things as may seem reasonable and necessary to contribute to the welfare of the troops, having regard to conditions which may develop. The Legion desires to be ready to meet any emergency which may arise.

This work warrants your support. It is a practical effort which will bring rich dividends in future Canadian manhood. Send or take a generous donation to this great new cause to your nearest Canadian Legion branch.

Give freely . . . Give now!

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

THE DOORMAN was interestedly viewing the tableau beside Miss Seymour's car. Fortunately, neither he, nor the two taxi drivers lounging near the building heard Christine Parsons' passionate statement that she was going to kill herself.

Fabienne said, "Get in my car, Christine. We'll go somewhere and talk."

The distracted girl, who was near collapse, as Fabienne could see, got in.

Fabienne pressed her foot on the starter. The engine wouldn't turn over. She tried again and again. Finally, Lewis, the doorman, came over. "Anything wrong?" he asked, putting his head in the car, giving Christine a long look.

Fabienne was furious. She said, "No thanks, Lewis. It often does this I'm taking this lady home," she added, so that Lewis would have no suspicions, as Fabienne had, that Christine was not mentally balanced. "She's the mother of one of our little patients who is leaving shortly.

Fortunately, at that moment, the engine did turn over and she moved the car away quickly. Also, fortunately, though she did not realize it then, it was a good thing she had made that little speech. Lewis was on duty later that night.

She opened the window to let the refreshing air blow in for her passenger. "Don't try to talk now, Chris. I'm going to take you down to my apartment. We can talk there alone. There won't be anyone at home until much later.

Christine's teeth were chattering, but it was not with cold for all that the day was sharp and windy and the breeze from the river, as they sped south on the East River drive, cut like needles and whipped the refuse that littered the streets across the windshield.

A fine cat nap she'd get now, Fabienne thought ruefully. The girl beside her needed advice and a bromide and, more than that, Fabienne doubted she could do without aid. Chris had talked like a mad woman. She knew some of the girl's story, having heard it from one friend or another in the crowd in which she and Chris once moved. She wondered what had brought her to this state.

These things she was thinking as she piloted the car west on Fifty-seventh street and turned it's nose South on Park avenue.

Chris, herself, was the daughter of divorced parents. Sweet, pretty to the point of beauty the way that fragile blondes with baby faces sometimes are, there was always a look of being buffeted around during those girlhood days when Fabienne had known her. Small wonder, Fabienne thought, the way that Chris was put in one school after another, only to be yanked out by whichever parent had a rare impulse to be parental and enjoy the company of his or her bewildered child.

"Am I driving too fast?" she asked Chris.

Chris shook her head without breaking the fixed stare in her eyes.

Fabienne was remembering another automobile ride she had shared with Chris on an October night more than five years ago. The rolling hills of Maryland had been bathed in gold by the Harvest moon and Chris' young face—she was only a little more than eighteen then—lifted to the moon, had been touched with wistful beauty, as if only the heavens above her could know the treasure in her heart.

That was the night that Fabienne and Roger Montgomery drove Chris and Larry Parsons to Elkton and stood with them before the justice who married them.

It was the night of the Harvest ball at the Harford County Hunt club, and Larry'd cut in on Fabienne, saying, "Come out to the garden. Chris wants to talk to you. We've decided to get married tonight."

Fabienne had gone with him. The orchestra, she remembered, was playing "Lullabye of Broadway."

"Are you sure about this, Chris?" Fabienne had said to the excited girl.

"Sure, for the first time in my life," Chris answered. "Someday you'll fall in love and you'll KNOW it's forever. Larry and I have known it since the first day we met."

"Then why don't you wait and have a real wedding?'

"A wedding with tulle and an organ wouldn't make it any more real, Fab. Besides, Larry's parents will wait him to wait. He's only twenty. They—they don't approve of my parents. They think they're too gay and that I'll turn out that way. But if we get married, they can't annul it. We simply won't let them. We'll prove to them that they're wrong.

Fabienne turned west again at Thirty-eighth street. The girl beside her was lost in a frozen, numbed silence as Fabienne's stream of memory flowed on.

The senior Parsons had raised a terrific rumpus over the marriage. But Larry's twenty-first birthday was only a few months off and he had sworn he'd remarry Chris if they were separated. Fabienne remembered wondering if he would. He was very much in love with Chris, but he was a weak sort of boy. In any event, the threatened annulment had not come off and Larry and Chris had moved to the west coast. Fabienne had heard they had a baby.

Later she had heard other things—unhappy things—that Larry was drinking and Chris had turned out "pretty gay." She had read of the divorce.

She would soon know the rest of the story.

In her own apartment she gave Chris a bromide that stilled the trembling and made her coherent.

"Begin at the beginning," she invited.

"My baby is at the Park-Plaza," Chris began."

"I know.! We'll come to that later."

Oh, Fabienne, you've never had a baby and you don't know what I'm suffering. You've got to help me!"

"I'll try. Where's Larry?"

"In Europe. He'd help me if he were here, but he isn't and it's all his family's fault."

"Please," Fab urged. "The beginning, Chris."

"It started the day we were married. His family didn't want him to marry me, but we were mad. Larry adored Sonny. We didn't have much money. Then all of a sudden his parents gave him a big allowance, sent polo ponies out and all that sort of thing. We got into a pretty fast crowd and Larry started drinking. We didn't like it, but we were only kids and we got caught in it. Then I began cutting up because I wanted to play along with Larry, do the things he did, be a good sport. It was considered smart to have dates with other people's husbands and wives—and we did. We did most of the things kids did in the flaming youth manner. I take plenty of blame for that. But I didn't know that it was all a plant."

"A plant?" Fabienne asked.

"Larry's father deliberately led us on. They gave me long enough rope to hang myself with, and I did. Then, when Sonny was sick one time, he and Mrs. Parsons took him to Europe for his health. The next thing I knew they had sent for Larry. I told him to go! Three months later, Larry divorced me in Paris. I tried to fight the suit, but it was all too hideous. I've never seen Sonny from that day until I came to the hospital two weeks ago!"

Fabienne felt a chill run along her veins as she listened.

"After the divorce, Larry wrote me that he still loved me and was coming back. Then he was in an air crash. He—he didn't come back to America.

There were no sobs in her voice, only a dreadful hopelessness, and great tears rolled out of her eyes and splashed on her silken lap.

"I've cabled him, Fabienne, but he won't be here until after his father has got Sonny out of the hospital and away again where I can't get him. . . . I'M GOING TO KIDNAP HIM."

"No! No!" Fabienne said.

"I'm going to kidnap him and you're going to help me," the other girl said quietly, with her eyes fixed in an hypnotic gaze on Fabienne.

Eddie Shore, dynamic defenceman, was temporarily retired from the National Hockey League scene eight years ago today. He suffered a broken vertebra in a crash on the ice with Ace Bailey, and decided to "take a rest" for the remainder of the season. He's back in the game now, playing with New York Americans.

Telltale Tip

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 — (AP). — Detectives, hot on the trail of a thief who threw a rolling pin through a jewellery store window, felt the motors of all automobiles parked in the vicinity until they found one that was warm. Inside the car they found papers which carried the name and address of Edward Morgan. The detectives said Morgan admitted the window smashing.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

KEEP A LITTLE CARD

AN ENCOURAGING high card by your partner on the first trick of your four-card suit, opened against a hostile No Trump contract, always should make you consider that he may have a holding longer than yours. If he has, you want to be sure not to prevent him from having the lead to cash his smallest cards, after the declarer's stoppers have been hammered out. The only sure way to be ready to place him in the lead is to retain one very small card, which he is certainly able to overtake.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

Bad bidding got South into a No Trump game on this deal, and only bad play by West enabled him to make it. North properly bid 1-Diamond, then South called 1-Spade, North 2-Diamonds, then South 3-No Trumps, with no heart stoppers, hoping North's jump bid indicated some.

West led his heart K, East signaling with the 7. So West repeated the suit, sending the 3 to East's A. When the 5 came back, West took the Q and 10, but could not get East in for a fifth and setting trick. He switched then to a spade and the declarer ran game. Upon seeing East's heart 7, West should have led his Q, 10 and 3, to get the first five tricks.

Peculiarly, the bad bidders made a game not possible by better bidding, such as North 1-Diamond, South 2-Clubs, North 3-Clubs, South 3-Spades, North 4-Diamonds and South 5-Clubs. Since the diamonds wouldn't break, the declarer would have to lose two hearts and a spade at this correct rubber bridge contract.

Busses Scare Horse, 2 In Cutter Upset

CORDOVA MINES, Feb. 12 (ENS)—An accident occurred at 12.30 on Thursday as two huge buses were heading towards Marmora, after the passengers had stopped to inspect the Cordova mining property. The first bus had passed a horse and cutter driven by B. McFadden and Mrs. C. Babcock, who was being taken to her sick neighbor, when the horse suddenly shied at the second machine. Letting fly with its heels it jumped a deep ditch, threw the passenger out and dragged Mr. McFadden along by the [illegible].

The horse tore around and headed for Marmora after kicking the cutter apart. The bus picked the driver and passenger up. No one was hurt.

Potatoes Ease As Supply Is Much Heavier

Milder weather increased the market business Saturday, especially along the outdoor aisles where potatoes sold all the way from $1 a bag to $1.25 with a fairly large offering, and a satisfactory demand.

Delbert Olan of Cavan priced his Katahdins at $1.10; E. M. Beer of Campbellcroft had Dooley at $1.10 and R. Kinsman of Campbellcroft quoted both $1.15 and $1.25 for White Stars.

Norman Moncrief reported that, in spite of all the head-shaking last autumn about the plight of the apple producers, supplies seemed to be "getting cleaned up." Prices are firmed, especially for the best quality of Northern Spies. Mr. Moncrief said the people had responded by a decided increase in demand. He estimates that his Saturday sales have been double those of last year.

Mr. Moncrief's prices were: Spies, 45 cents a peck or $1.50 a bag; McIntosh Reds, 35 cents a peck or $1.25 a bag; Delicious, 40 cents or $1.25 a bushel; Greenings, Talmans and Starks were 30 cents a peck, or $1 a bushel; Russets, 25 cents a peck or 80 cents a bushel.

Supply of fresh meat was ample. Harry Gill and George Mullen both quoted 14 and 16 cents for pork, 12 and 14 cents for beef. Mr. Gill also had lamb at 18 and 20 cents.

Herb Doig's vegetables prices were carrots and parsnips, 30 cents a peck; onions 30 cents a peck; turnips, 5 cents each; cabbage, 2 for 15 cents.

On the indoor market butter was 29 and 30 cents a pound; eggs, 20 to 23 cents; chickens, 18 cents to 22 cents; several geese at 22 and 23 cents, and the odd turkey at 20 cents. Hams were down to 16 cents.

Harold Doig quoted Northern Spies apples at 25 cents for a six-ququart basket, and onions at 25 for six quarts.

MORE ABOUT—

J. J. Duffus

to restore the efficiency of Canada's defence system in its militia, naval and air branches, and also an account of the results of the government's plans to expand foreign trade.

Governor-General.

Mr. Duffus incidentally paid a warm tribute to the late Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, regretting his serious illness and expressing hope for his recovery. Other speakers also referred to the country's concern for the recovery of His Excellency, and the convention adopted a resolution of sympathy and good wishes, moved by Dr. Ralph C. Honey and seconded by Fred Pepe, but probably no one in the large audience realized that death was so close to the beloved Tweedsmuir.

Howard Quinn, president of the Federal Liberal Association, was chairman of the meeting, which declined to change its officers "crossing the political stream." A motion by Mr. Glover, seconded by Mr. Sackville, that all the officers be returned, was passed unanimously. The officers are: President, Howard Quinn; 1st Vice-President, Thomas P. Doughty; 2nd Vice-President, Dr. E. M. Crough; 3rd Vice-President, Dr. R. C. Honey; 4th Vice-President, Clarence Mann of Smith Township; Secretary, Jacob Low; Treasurer, E. Bruce Fowler.

A vote of confidence in the leadership of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was passed in a resolution by John Barnes, seconded by John J. Sullivan.

Mr. Quinn, in calling the convention to order, congratulated the Liberals on their large attendance, and referred to the organization of the younger Liberals of the riding with Ralph O. Standish as president and W. B. Gordon treasurer.

Jacob Low briefly reviewed the events leading up to the prorouging of Parliament, and said that the people of Canada had every reason to renew their trust in Mackenzie King and his associates during the time of stress through which Canada is passing in whole-hearted co-operation with the other countries of the British Commonwealth.

On the platform with Mr. Quinn, were Dr. Donald Munro of Warsaw; Alex. L. Elliott, M.P.P.; T. J. Carley; F. D. Kerr, Mr. Sackville, Mr. Low, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Duffus.

The nomination.

In moving his nomination, Mr. Kerr said that in success and defeat Mr. Duffus had always conducted himself with honor and quiet dignity, winning of the goodwill of all those with whom he had come in contact. He had performed everything he had undertaken to do, and as the representative of Peterborough his efforts were successful and highly creditable. Mr. Kerr referred to the illness of the Governor-General, and remarked that just a year ago Mr. Duffus was gravely stricken with a similar illness.

"As we hoped then for the recovery of Mr. Duffus, so we hope today that under Divine Providence the skill of the same physcian will result in the recovery of our Governor-General."

The leadership of the Prime Minister, Mr. King, had brought this country through the crisis of the beginning of war, Mr. Kerr said, with the enlargement of defences on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, the splendid success of the first Canadian loan, and the beginning of the greatest air force in the history of the world.

"The people have seen the government going forward step by step with preparations to enable Canada to take its proper place in this great struggle." Canadian unity has been strengthened under the leadership of Mr. King and Mr. Lapointe.

Mr. Fowler said he was pleased to be associated again with Mr. Kerr in proposing that Mr. Duffus be the Liberal candidate in this riding. "He had the good qualities that go to make up a good representative. He likes people, takes an interest in them, and we know he will again make a good representative. It has been said that no other member attended more faithfully to his duties at Ottawa than did Mr. Duffus. No one approached him during the last five years who didn't find a ready response. We know of the assistance he has given in obtaining work here to relieve unemployment, such works as the widening of bridges, the beautification of the Crescent at Little Lake, and the work on the canal road, and so on. We were very fortunate in having at Ottawa a man of his calibre, and Mr. Duffus is the kind of man we should back to represent us again."

Expresses Appreciation.

Mr. Duffus began his address of acceptance and review by declaring his appreciation of the kindly remarks about himself, and also of the compliment paid to him in his nomination again by Mr. Kerr and Mr. Fowler, who had placed his name before a similar convention four and a half years ago.

"I appreciate what has been said about my illness, and I take advantage of this opportunity to express my appreciation of the good wishes I received not only from many of the people of this riding, but from others all over Canada and in the United States."

Mr. Duffus referred to the appreciation of his public service, said he hoped it signified approval of the service he had tried to render to the community in the last thirty years, from the time when he was first elected to the city council, and in one organization and another since them. He especially acknowledged the confidence that was placed in him between four and five years ago, "the responsibility that was placed with me, because of the opportunity it gave me to serve the people of this riding."

Definite Promise

"In 1935 I made one promise which I have kept before me. I said that I would do my best in the interest of all classes, and coming before you again I shall change that promise with only one or two words. I shall continue to do my best in the interest of all classes in this riding."

Mr. Duffus said he had always received the co-operation of the Liberal executive, down to the poll organizations, the city and county councils, the Chamber of Commerce, various agricultural organizations and the citizens generally.

"It is my intention that this will be a clean campaign as far as I am concerned. It will be free from mud-slinging nad political sniping on the part of those who have attacked us from ground that is dangerous to themselves. It is no time for loose, ill-considered statements which will directly or indirectly interfere with the great task that is now on the hands of our people."

Co-ordination of effoft by all governing bodies, Federal, Provincial and municipal, was absolutely necessary for united action in Canada at this time. Mr. Duffus said that as the campaign advances, the people of Canada would become more aware of and appreciative of the fact that the Government had put forth every possible effort in behalf of this nation. He said he was in full accord with the Prime Minister in bringing on an election, especially because the session of Parliament was a pre-election session. It would have taken two months of political speeches in the House, followed by a repetition of the same kind of talk on the public platform, a waste of time and money, and hindrance to the progress of the country in a great emergency.

People's Mandate.

On the other hand, Mr. Duffus continued, a present election reduced to a minimum the interruption to war effort and the country's business; it enables the soldiers' vote to be taken while they were still in Canada and England. The election would be completed before spring work and business got under way, and agriculture and business could go forward without serious interruption.

"Of more importance is the fact that the people will be given an opportunity to declare whether they wish the affairs of this country to be carried on by the present administration. The Government will be fortified by an unquestioned mandate. I believe all these things are of the greatest importance to the people of this nation."

Three Questions.

Mr. Duffus said there were three outstanding questions before the people, the Government's war efforts and its whole-hearted co-operation with Great Britain and France; its economic accomplishments, and the success of its trade agreements, which, he said, were always conspicuous achievements of Liberal Governments.

"I believe that the Prime Minister, Mr. King, and the Government have done everything possible to carry out the expressed wishes of Great Britain in its progressive efforts to win the war. When the Government took office in 1935 it found grave deficiencies in everything connected with the defence of this country, in the Militia, the Navy and the Air Force. And these conditions were allowed to develop by the previous Government of which the Hon. Dr. Manion was a Cabinet minister.

The Air Force had no modern service planes, no bombs; the Navy had only two modern vessels; the magazine and shore equipment of the Navy was in a dilapidated condition. The Militia was completely lacking in modern weapons and modern equipment.

Repairing Defects.

In 1937, our second year in office, the Government asked Parliament for $35,000,000 above the regular amount usually voted for defence purposes, to make a beginning with the task of repairing the deficiencies it had inherited in our Army, Navy, and Air Force. And the Government was subjected to severe criticism for embarking on what was called gross extravagance at that time, and was actually faced with a vote of confidence. You can read that yourselves in Hansard. That was an indication of the state of public opinion in regard to spending money on public defence at that time.

In 1938 another $35,000,000 was voted, and in 1939 when war seemed more imminent, the Government asked Parliament for $60,000,000 for military expenditure. The Government can move only as fast as public opinion will permit. We passed the largest amounts we could at that time, and we also got authority to spend an additional $20,000,000, if it was found necessary, over and above the ordinary appropriations for the defence of this country.

Air Force Trebled.

In the first three years of Mr. King's administration our Air Force was trebled, the personnel of the Navy was doubled and likewise the pay allowance, and large sums were spent on repairs to property that had become unfit to carry on our military affairs."

Mr. Duffus next reviewed the expenditures of the Government on defence rehabilitation. During the three years 1937 to 1938, inclusive, $13,000,000 was spent on new construction for the Militia and also for equipment and buying stores.

Items for air purposes were: Aircraft and engines, $6,500,000; necessary stores, $2,500,000; construction, $4,500,000, amounting to $13,500,000; and for the Navy: $5,200,000 for ships and their equipment; $350,000 for short works and $500,000 for necessary naval stores. The total of these expenditures was $32,500,000, which, when deducted from the total appropriations, showed that $53,000,000 was spent on general maintenance demands.

Included in the expenditure was the purchase of four new destroyers, four mine sweepers, one training schooner, one new magazine at Esquimalt, harbor defence equipment, barracks and stores accommodation, anti-aircraft batteries, coast defence guns were relined and remounted, trench mortars, tank trucks, machine guns and many other details of equipment. The new searchlights which the Government required were now being manufactured in Peterborough, Mr. Duffus stated.

"I am not suggesting that these sums were sufficient to take care of everything that was required, but it was as much as Parliament would support. The Government followed a defence policy from year to year as set forth in Hansard. These were large sums, but as Mr. King said, it was not seemly for this nation to sponge on its neighbors. The Government decided its first concern was the air force, and second to the navy, because Canada had become more then ever before open to attack from the water.

Provision for these immediate needs left us short of equipment, uniforms, bedding, and so on. There was some delay in getting shoes for soldiers caused by the fact that the design of shoes had to be changed. But tenders were let before the war broke out, and there was no such delay as some two by four sniping politicians are trying to make the people of Canada believe.

Our military appropriations until the last session were for the defence of Canada. That was always made clear, and it was declared that Canada's participation in war would be decided by Parliament, and not by the Government alone; for Parliament represents all the people.

It should be remembered by the people that the war session of Parliament was held last September and it has been since mid-September that we have had time to proceed with war preparations. The Government had to wait until that session to get the additional money for war requirements."

Mr. Duffus said that to have made public everything the Government was planning and doing would have been giving information to the enemy. Everything the Government did, he said, was on the advice of Great Britain. "It is easy to criticize, and I believe that if the Government had done ten times more there would still have been the same kind of criticism "that has tended to retard the Government in so far as the war is affected."

Defence Conditions.

As a result of the expenditures since 1937, Mr. Duffus said, the coasts of Canada bristled with guns, with all necessary equipment, with protection on land and sea and in the air that was equal to any other country on a comparable basis.

"Perhaps we did not give as much publicity to what was going on as might have, but wiser minds than mine were directing affairs, and I feel they have done a good job." He mentioned interlocking fortifications on the coasts, armed with heavy guns, anti-aircraft guns and machine guns, mine sweepers, submerged steel nets to protect harbors, searchlights, and splendid spirit of confidence among the men of the three arms of Canada's defences.

Trade Agreements

"In 1935 the Liberal party promised effective steps to increase Canada's trade agreements, and to develop goodwill that was so lacking during the five years of the Bennett-Manion sniping and blasting. And we kept that promise. From 1935 until last September we negotiated sixteen trade agreements with other countries. Two of them were with the United States; renewal and revision of the trade agreement with Great Britain; continuance of the agreements with Australia and New Zealand; trade agreements with Germany, Poland, Uruguay, Brazil; adjustment of tariff relations with Japan, France and Belgium.

The result was an immediate increase in our trade with other countries. In the year 1934-35, the boom year of the Bennett-Manion government Canada's external trade was valued at $1,286,000,000. In 1937-38 under Mr. King the value of our external trade had risen to $1,883,000,000, an increase of $597,000,000 or 46 per cent."

Canada's trade with Great Britain increased under the Liberal government to $555,000,000 or 37 per cent; with the United States 47 per cent, and with other countries 52 per cent.

"These figures indicate a condition of trade that are life-savers to the Canadian people, and I venture to state that his remarkable development in Canada's external trade since 1935 is an achievement never before equalled in the history of this country. It has been the fulfillment of an election declaration to an extent this country has never seen before. It is a magnificent tribute to the wise leadership of Mackenzie King."

Economic Results

Referring to economic contrasts, Mr. Duffus said that the Bennett government had been mainly responsible for a debt increase of $900,000,000. "During the year before we took office the country went behind $262,000,000. In the first year we were in office we brought the deficit down to $83,000,000; in 1937 it was down to $34,000,000; and in 1938 it was again down to $17,000,000, and we were on the way out of that condition. If the war hadn't broken out we'd have had a tremendous surplus last year, and paid off a substantial sum of our debt. In spite of all our expenditures the deficit is placed at $50,000,000. Yet they say this government has been inefficient."

Mr. Duffus said that Hon. Dr. Manion was trying to get back into office to carry on the waste of public money as in 1914-18, when scores of millionaires were made. He declared that there would be no such crop of millionaires if the present government was given a new mandate in the elections. All contracts were being let on tender basis and to the lowest bidders, except in some cases in which the government felt that the lowest tenderer would be unable to carry out a contract. The government had applied a business profits tax, "and as far as possible we will carry on the war on a pay-as-you-go basis. It won't be like the last time, when the boys came home to face a tremendous debt."

In conclusion Mr. Duffus said the decision now rested with the people. The record of the government led by Mr. King should appeal to the electors and merit a renewal of their confidence. "Your duty and mine is to do all we can to elect a Liberal representative in this riding, thereby telling the Prime Minister to carry on as he has carried on so successfully. You need have no doubt that he will continue as he has done, and that there will be no squandering of our country's resources in the great responsibility with which we are all faced."

Concluding Speakers

The convention closed with short speeches by A. L. Elliott, T. J. Carley, E. L. Sackville and Dr. Munro.

Mr. Elliott said that Mr. Duffus was a native-son of Peterborough, born in Otonabee township, and having the advantage of his experience on the farm and in business in the city. He retained an active interest in agriculture, and kept in touch with its problems. "I feel that Mr. Duffus is well qualified to represent all the people of this riding," Mr. Elliott stated.

"We have heard some talk of late by Dr. Manion about a National government, but the only two men associated with the Conservative party who have had any national experience are Dr. Manion and Mr. Stevens. I don't think the people of Canada have any desires for another national government. The worst administration we ever had was that national government. As this campaign progresses and the eyes of the people become more focussed on Ottawa, the individual voter is going to realize that the government led by Mackenzie King is best prepared to carry on the affairs of this country in time of war. They are not going to gamble on putting at the head of the country a party leader who doesn't know who his associates will be. Dr. Manion has not yet told us who he has in view for cabinet posts."

Mr. Carley added to the criticism of the Manion idea of a national government, pointing out that more than half the Manion candidates have already been appointed. They belong to the Conservative party and are running as Conservative candidates.

Might Suggest Names

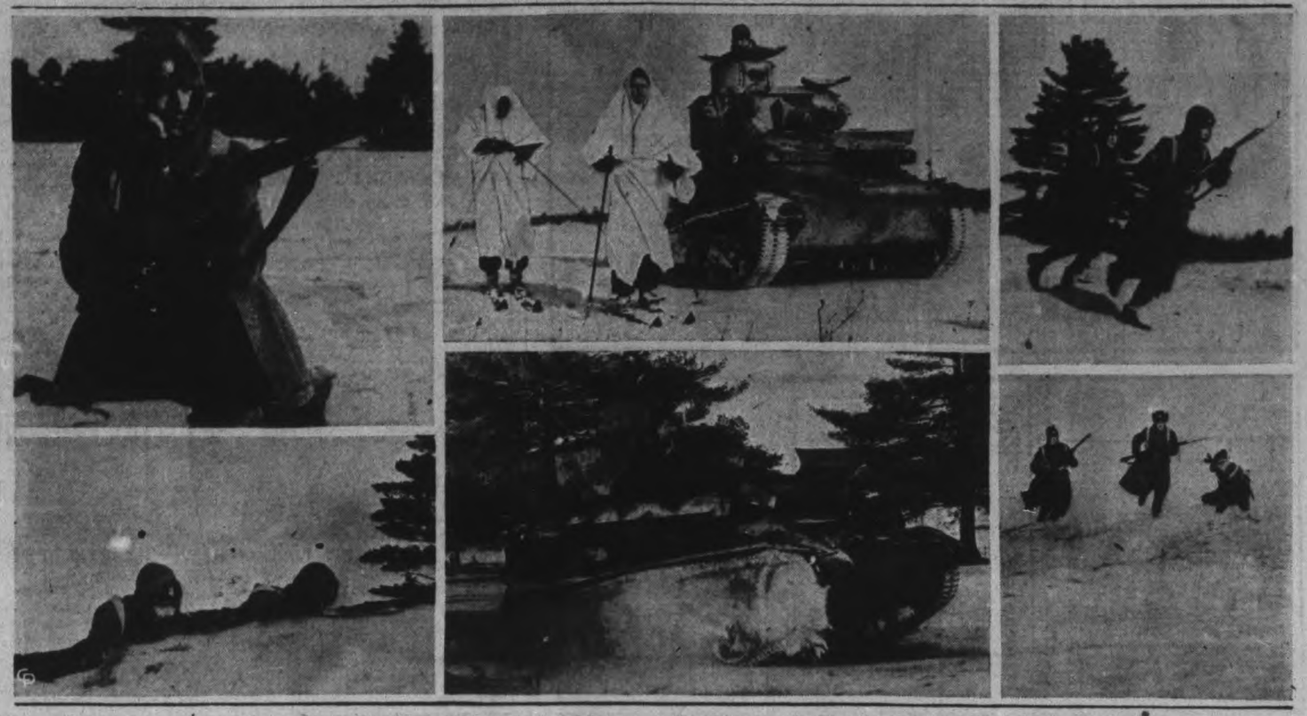
"Dr. Manion has stated that it is not usual to select the names of his Cabinet before an election, but he might at least submit to the people of Canada the names of fourteen or fifteen prominent men just as an indication of those he is going to chose his Cabinet from," Mr. Carley said.

"Two of the most important portfolios are those of the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Justice. The position of Finance Minister is almost as important as that of the Prime Minister. The Liberal party looks back upon such outstanding statesmen as Fielding, Robb, Dunning and now Colonel Ralston, as its Minister of Finance, a line of men in whom the confidence of the Canadian pebple was well placed. You will remember that in the Bennett administration. Mr. Bennett himself had to act as Minister of Finance for a time. Dr. Manion hasn't men of the experience of those Liberal Ministers. Everybody knows that men cannot learn the business of government in a day. Mr. King is before the people with men who have been long trained in Canadian affairs, and it is to his great credit that he showed the true realization of the responsibilities resting on him in the choice of his Cabinet ministers who are to help him."

Mr. Carley paid an equally high tribute to the Hon. Ernest Lapointe as a great Canadian whom the whole country trusted. The courage of Mr. Lapointe was demonstrated to the nation when he met the Duplessis challenge in the Quebec elections to Canada's united efforts in the prosecution of the war. Mr. Lapointe believed that the people of his own province trusted him, and they did not fail him. They elected the Liberal government led by Mr. Godbout. Mr. Carley said there was only one question before the people of Canada today, and that was winning of the war. The Mackenzie King government has whole-heartedly applied itself to the problems of putting Canada on a war basis, but they didn't do it with brass bands to drum up a lot of false sentiment.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Canadian Tanks And Infantry Undergo Winter Manoeuvres



Discarding their kilts in favor of heavy khaki pants and puttees and wearing fur-lined caps, men of the Toronto Irish Regiment, supported by tanks from the Canadian Armored Righting Vehicles training (centre) engaged in a mock battle under winter conditions at Camp Borden. Operating in below zero weather, the tanks led the attack across a stretch of open ground and when they reached the halfway mark toward their objectives, the Irish burst into the open and charged with fixed bayonets to advance a few yards and then drop to their knees to fire a volley at the opposing forces, then up again to advance through the deep snow to a new position. In the meantime a second wave of tanks moved up to prevent any flanking move by the enemy. The battle, carried out under the direction of Capt. G. C. Smith, chief instructor for the Canadian Armored Fighting Vehicles Training Centre, was made under instructions of Col. F. F. Worthington, O.C., of the C.A.F.V. corps.

Britain Hunting Women Spies

LONDON, Feb. 12 (CP)—Because valuable information has leaked out to Germany, Scotland Yard is cooperating with the secret service division of the War Office in a determined anti-gossip drive against women spies.

British authorities reported today that a few of the 36,000 German-born women in Britain have been arrested under war-time defense regulations, and others are being watched in belief some may be enemy agents.

Naval, military and air commanding oficers have been instructed to hold anti-gossip parades emphasizing the dangers of talking to unknown women, mostly in the London area.

Red Embassy In Paris Under Watch

Immunity Disregarded Because Of Tie To Communist Party

PARIS, Feb. 13—(AP).—The Foreign Ministry announced today that a special police watch had been installed over the Soviet Embassy in Paris in disregard of its diplomatic immunity because of its "relations" with the outlawed French Communist Party.

Authorities asserted surveillance of the Embassy in Paris went no further than regulations already imposed by Russia on the French Embassy in Moscow. They accused the Russians of questioning, searching and even photographing visitors to the French diplomatic headquarters.

Police raided the Soviet trade bureau here last week and ransacked its files. A Soviet protest against the incident was rejected by the French government.

Posting of a guard around the Embassy was declared to have "no political significance" in regard to Russian-French relations but feeling between the two powers has cooled sharply since the Nazi-Soviet accord was concluded last August.

After war broke out France outlawed the Communist Party, conducted widespread raids on Communist organization headquarters and jailed several Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies.

Teacher Resigns, Two Pupils Are Expelled

BANCROFT, Feb. 13—(ENS). — Trustees of Faraday School Monday night accepted the resignation of Howard Shelton, teacher of the little Tin Schoolhouse, just west of this town, and have advertised for another teacher to take his place. In the meantime, the trustees are looking for a supply teacher to take the school until a new teacher arrives.

The resignation was the sequel of an affray at the school, in which two pupils drove the teacher from the classroom with a barrage of rulers, pointers, chalk brushes, inkwells and water, on February 6.

Since that time Mr. Shelton has refused to return to the school and the pupils, twenty-seven in number, have enjoyed a week's holiday.

The uprising started when Mr. Shelton expelled a girl from the school because of misconduct. Refusing to allow his sister to be expelled, a 14-year-old boy attacked the teacher with a ruler and his sister joined in with a pointer. Both ruler and pointer were broken over

Struck By Car Woman Dragged Mile

Friend Seriously Hurt Crawls Home; Busy Toronto Corner

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—(CP)—Police today sought the driver of an automobile which did not stop after striking Mrs. Grace Aston, 49, Toronto, and her friend, Frank Lawrence, 45, Toronto, early this morning. Mrs. Aston was killed and her body carried a mile by the car before it fell to the roadway. Lawrence was injured seriously.

Police said that from reconstruction of the affair, Mrs. Ashton died as she lay over the fender. Lawrence was carried a quarter-mile on the other fender of the car before dropping to the pavement, police believe.

Authorities said the accident was one of the most unusual on record. They have been unable to locate witnesses although the couple was struck at the busy intersection of Bloor street and Lansdown avenue.

A special squad of detectives have been assigned to the case and is concentrating on an abandoned car found in the vicinity. The car was reported stolen and is marked about the bumper and fenders, police said.

Clothing Torn.

Body of Mrs. Aston, whose husband lives in Ottawa, was found by three youths who said the clothing was all but torn from the body.

"Her stockings were 'burned' off her legs," said Detective-Sergeant Frank Crowe. "She was terribly mutilated—the worst I have ever seen."

Lawrence, in a dazed condition, staggered and crawled from the scene of the accident to the home of Mrs. Aston. He was removed to hospital, where examination revealed several fractured ribs and internal injuries. In his pocket he carried a shoe, later established to belong to Mrs. Aston. It is believed he picked up the shoe from the roadway.

Police believe it possible that Mrs. Aston's coat caught on the door handle of the car and that she was dragged along the road. A woman's hat and purse were found along the route believed taken by the car.

Tweedsmuir Comes Home to Parliament Hill As Hush And Sorrowing Capital Pays A Last Tribute To Loved Governor

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 13—(CP).—Lord Tweedsmuir came for the last time to Parliament Hill to-day, to a hushed and sorrowing Capital where high and low alike will pay their final respects to a Governor-General beloved of all Canada.

Promptly at noon the funeral train arrived from Montreal where His Excellency died Sunday night after a concussion received in a fall at Rideau Hall just one week ago.

Fifteen minutes later the casket lay on a dais in the centre of the Senate chamber, to remain there until the state funeral tomorrow afternoon.

Under a cloudless sky with a brilliant sun shining warmly through the frosty air on a perfect winter setting, the black and purple draped train drew into Union Station where a waiting throng was held back to make way for the official party, assembled there for this last sad homecoming of the 64-year-old Governor-General.

Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, administrator of the Government since Lord Tweedsmuir's death; Prime Minister Mackenzie King; officers of the Diplomatic Corps in Ottawa, and many others high in Church and State were at the station.

Others in the official party at the station included all members of the Federal Cabinet who were able to be in Ottawa, representatives of the Supreme Court of Canada; all the Diplomatic Corps including the High Commissioner for the United Kingdom; the new United States Minister, and the Ministers of France, Belgium the Netherlands and Japan.

Senior officers of the Headquarters Staff of the armed forces also were in attendance. So were the High Commissioners from South Africa, Australia and Eire.

A purple and black draped platform had been erected on the station platform to the height of the railway car and on to this the casket was moved from the car

Forts Retaken, Mannerheim Line Intact

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 13—(AP)—After 13 days of bitter fighting Finnish military authorities announced tonight that all positions of strategical importance on the Karelian Isthmus had been won back by Finnish counter-attacks.

The Finns acknowledged for the first time that they had "withdrawn" late Sunday from some of these positions in the sector about Summa.

A military interpreter explained that this often occurs in "battles of such fury as are now going on."

The Mannerheim Line is still intact, this Finn said.

(The Russian army announced in Moscow that its forces on the Isthmus had captured 32 "defensive fortifications" Monday and a total of 61 such positions within the past week.)

"We have recaptured these positions now," said the Finnish spokesman, "and are leaving in Russian hands only a few outlying machine-gun posts of no importance in the battle along the Mannerheim Line,

10,000 More Fishermen Receive Call

U.K. Redoubles War On Mine Menace Widen R.A.F. Patrol

LONDON, Feb. 13. —(CP)— The Admiralty announced today that it was recruiting 10,000 additional fishermen for naval patrol duty to meet the menace of German minelaying aircraft and magnetic mines.

Since the war started 10,000 fishermen have entered the navy to aid in the fight Britain is waging against submarines and mines, surface raiders and planes which have bombed and machine-gunned fishing boats and lightships.

About 300 fishermen are being recruited weekly, a naval source said.

The age limits are 18 to 45 but experienced men up to 66 have been accepted. One man of 72 was reported found in the ranks.

Pay ranged from the equivalent of $5 weekly for seamen to about $10 weekly for enginemen. Additional allowance are made for dependants or when the seaman is employed in minesweeping or anti-submarine work.

At the start of the war the navy used many trawlers under charter contracts covering vessels and crews, but as the contracts expired the Admiralty took over the ships and enlisted the crews.

"Many new vessels are being built and others are being taken up," one source said.

More Coastal Patrols

LONDON, Feb. 13 (CP) — The Royal Air Force was disclosed today to be expanding its coastal fighter commands swiftly to end German bombing attacks on merchant shipping and to be prepared for any aerial offensive this spring.

The air force, already with a big airplane construction program in progress, is buying planes—mostly of the heavier type—in the United States and from a nation cautiously described as "at least one other air-skilled neutral," and is training fliers of the empire in Canada.

To balance this development of men and machines, the air force issued a call today for radio experts, said to be wanted especially for the elaborate air defence system, which is co-ordinated through complicated signalling methods.

British contentions that their planes already are superior to Germany's in quality, were given support by a highly authoritative source, which said the R.A.F. had shot down 59 German planes over the North Sea and coastal areas since the war began and damaged 20 others so that they were probable losses."

On the other side of the ledger, British losses in these encounters have been 18 bombers and one coastal reconnaissance plane, but

Suspected Killer Suicides When Cornered

WINNIPEG, Feb. 13—(CP).—Mike Antamanchuck, 26, said by Police Chief George Smith to have been the chief suspect in the slaying of a Winnipeg policeman here Saturday, committed suicide early today after he was cornered by a posse of detectives.

Constable John McDonald, 26, was fatally wounded and Constable Norman Stewart suffered a hand wound when they cornered a band of safe crackers Saturday in the Radio Building in downtown Winnipeg. Police are holding two suspects, but refused to divulge the names.

A posse of detectives trapped Antamanchuck in the Brant block shortly before 6 a.m. EST. Armed with shotguns and rifles, the police surrounded the building and waited. Antamanchuck was ordered to come out. A shot was heard inside instead and police rushed in; they found Antamanchuck slumped on the floor: dead from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Germans Fire Freighter Off Brazil

Trapped By 3 Cruisers Nazis Scuttle Ship, Take To Boats

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 13 (AP).—Rear-Admiral Sir Henry Harwood told the Associated Press to-day that the crew of the German freighter Wakama, after setting their ship afire yesterday off the Brazilian coasta, had been taken aboard a British cruiser.

Sir Henry, commander of British naval forces in the South Atlantic, said in an interview that 10 officers and 36 men of the Wakama's crew had been picked up in lifeboats by one of the British patrol vessels.

Sir Henry's flagship, the cruiser Hawkins, entered port here last night. The cruisers Shropshire and Dorsetshire yesterday were in the waters off Brazil where the Wakama was intercepted and fired by her own men.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 13—(AP)—Rather than surrender their ship as a war prize, the crew of the 3,771-ton German freighter Wakama was reported today to have set the vessel afire off the Brazilian coast.

A sailor on the British cruiser Hawkins, which arrived here last night, said the Wakama's crew fired the ship and took to lifeboats when trapped by the Hawkins and the British cruisers Shropshire and Dorsetshire.

The Wakama, with her rich load of lard, hides, cottonseed oil,, linseed oil, castor oil, mica, cacao, rock crystal and wool waste was presumed to have sunk.

The British Admiralty has reported 23 German vessels totalling 139,236 tons scuttled by their crews to avoid capture up to January 30.

Japs Get Uneasy At Army's Secretive Ways

TOKYO, Feb. 13.—(AP).—For the second time in 10 days, a member of the Japanese Diet (Parliament) criticized the army to-day by declaring that secrecy surrounding military expenses is making the people "uneasy."

War Minister Shunroku Hata refused a demand by Ryozo Makino, a member of the Seiyukai, for a detailed explanation of war expenses. The debate became so heated that the stenographic record was suspended.

Makino's party, the Seiyukai, has only slightly less parliamentary strength than the dominant Minseito.

"The people are uneasy," Makino said, "and to remove the uneasiness it is necessary that the armament plan must be explained concretely to some extent.

"The people are barred from making political criticism, but they are criticizing nevertheless in other ways."

Hata then reviewed the international situation and the war in China and said the army estimates were based on "common sense."

Gigantic Outlay.

Citing the need for the "replenishment and rehabilitation of arms," the army and navy on Feb. 1 presented for parliament's approval a 7-year program to cost $871,000,000 in addition to $1,862,017,680 already approved.

"We cannot discharge our duties if the army continues to make such vague replies regarding this enormous expense," Makino replied. "Nor do I consider the War Minister is discharging his."

"I cannot give a further explanation," Hata retorted. "We are in the midst of war and are doing all possible to prevent espionage."

Ryo Koyama, Rightist member of parliament, meanwhile charged Great Britain with responsibility for the sinking of the Japanese liner Terukuni Maru Nov. 23.

Land Of Czechs Like Prison Under Germans

MONTREAL, Feb. 13.—(CP). — Czecho-Slovakia became like "prison" when it fell under German rule after the Munich pact, according to Miss Julia Matouskova, former National General Secretary of the Czecho-Slovakian Young Women's Christian Association.

To the women of Czecho-Slovakia, German rule meant a loss of 50 years' progress, Miss Matouskova, now Associate Secretary of the Educataion and Program Department of the Y.W.C.A. National Coucil in Canada, said last night in an interview.

Before the German invasion women had acquired privileges equal to those of the country's men and the same opportunities were open to them, said Miss Matouskova. But in Czecoo-Slovakia to-day, women have to step back and leave their work.

Educational opportunities for women in all countries under German domination were distinctly limited, Miss Matouskova added. In Czecho-Slovakia, however, all universities had been closed and educational facilities exist no longer either for men or women.

Whale Is Slain

HALIFAX, Feb. 13— (CP).—The ichthyology books are being thumbed assiduously here as experts try to puzzle out the identity of the Atlantic's latest what-is-it.

The ponderous mass of live blubber was found under Richard Crooks' wharf at Peggy's Cove, a fishing village near here.

Fishermen fell to with axes and killed the thing. It measured 14 feet in length and weighed more than a ton. It took 23 men working with block and tackle to haul it from the water.

Veteran seamen eyed the object and believed it was some sort of a whale, but said they had never seen the like.

Lester Hubley of Seabright purchased the prize for an unannounced figure and brought it to Halifax for experts at the Dominion Fisheries Experimental Station to examine. Handicapped by the fact that the monster's snout, resumbling a wild boar's, was wedged in the corner of the truck in which it was brought to Halifax, the experts were unable to examine its mouth for a positive identification.

Finns Expect German Stab In Back By Nazi Expeditionary Force

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(CP)—Tancred Borenius, secretary of the commission which in 1919 notified the powers of Finland's independence, today declared there was "every reason to believe a German expeditionary force would land in southern Finland soon."

Speaking to the British and North American Luncheon Club, Borenius said skilled German officers were serving with the Soviet forces in Finland and that a German expeditionary force soon would "stab the country in the back as was done in the case of Poland."

Borenius, Finnish-born but long a resident of London, declared that, contrary to popular belief, the spring thaw would help Finnish defences. He quoted Field-Marshal Baron Gustaf Mannerheim, Finland's commander-in-chief, as saying that "in the spring I will mobilize Finland's 70,000 lakes in defence of the nation."

PARIS, Feb. 13 — (CP-Havas). — Cold weather again paralyzed operations along the Western front today.

Yesterday's activity was featured by British long-range reconnaissance flights over northwestern Germany, by way of the North Sea, it was reported here. Nazi pursuit ships were sent up to give battle, but the British planes returned to the bases in England unscathed.

The French Air Force attempted only one reconnaissance flight. A number of pursuit ships were aloft, but no air engagements were reported. A German reconnaissance ship was sent over northern France.

Routine land patrols went about their usual assignments yesterday but no fighting of any importance took place. This morning's communique again said there was "nothing to report."

Truck Load Of Beer Ditched On Highway

A truck driver came very close to rolling out the barrel shortly before noon today, when he got too close to the edge of Highway 28, in front of R. T. Lillico's farm, and his big truck containing 500 dozen cartons of beer slid into a snow bank in the ditch.

The truck was the property of the Hardy Cartage Company of Toronto and was en route to Peterborough in charge of Fred Hardy as driver. In passing a highway sander, Hardy told Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure who investigated the accident, he pulled over too far and found himself in the ditch.

The cargo of beer was not spilled and no damage was done to the machine.

Naval Chief Sees Menaces to States Greater Than In Days Of 1914-15

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The United States navy high command believes that the possibility of a general European war and uncertain conditions in the Far East threaten to produce a world conflagration.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, told a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today that the international situation is "fraught with more possibilities" affecting the United States than in 1914 and 1915.

"The ultimate aims and ambitions of Germany, Russia and Italy can not be definitely determined, nor can the public utterances of their governments be accepted at face value," Stark said.

"Such conditions render likely the possibilities of a general European war and, in conjunction with Far-Eastern conditions, they threaten a world conflagration."

Asked whether the navy's preparedness is greater than in 1914-16, Stark replied:

"I think it is far better, but I believe the international setup to be fraught with more possibilities against us than was the case in early stages of the World War. This in turn tends to offset our better preparedness."

Stark rejected as futile suggestions that Congress extend the traditional three-mile shore limit.

'Changes in long-established recognized international limits by one power might not, and probably would not, be accepted by some others, particularly if these others saw their own previously accepted rights injured thereby," Stark said.

"If we fail diplomatically to obtain international acceptance of our convention, we would either have to give in or fight to put it over.'

London Restaurants Ration Voluntarily

LONDON, Feb. 13.—(CP Cable)—It does not appear that the present scale of rationing in restaurants will cause hardship. Unknown to themselves, diners in one of London's largest hotels have undergone voluntary rationing for a week.

"We agreed to the request of the ministry of food to try out rationing," the manager of the Savoy revealed. "It has been a complete success. Tactful suggestions from waiters to the diner resulted in large scale substitution of poultry, fish and eggs for meats."

Catering establishments are being restricted to 60 per cent of their usual meat supply.

Town With A $500,000 Surplus on Its Hands Writes 10,000 Taxpayers For Solution

MONTCLAIR, N.J., Feb. 13. — (AP)—What to do with a $500,000 surplus in the town treasury was the question posed today for 10,000 tax-payers by the five-man board of commissioners.

Each of the taxpayers received a letter signed by Mayor William Speers telling of the town's strong financial position and asking if the surplus should be used to reduce the town's debt another $100,000, leaving $400,000 to cut down 1940 taxes—or cut 1940 taxes for the full amount.

Once before the commission used a letter canvas in helping frame the town budget.

In 1939 letters were sent to 10,000 residents asking guidance on proposed reductions in the library, garbage removal, health and street lighting appropriations. Returns from 2,500 persons favored reducing library and garbage removal items. The advice was followed.

Sinking Dutch Ship Without Cause Rouses Hague To Bitter Protest

THE HAGUE, Feb. 13 — (AP).—The newspaper De Telegraaf said to-day the Netherlands Government if first messages prove correct, will protest to the German government "in the most vigorous terms" against the torpedoing and sinking of the Netherlands liner Burgerdijk.

Authoritative circles expressed great indignation over the incident, which they termed a case of "senseless destruction."

The 6,853-ton vessel was torpedoed by a German submarine on Saturday off England's south-east coast, while on a direct run from New York to Rotterdam. The vessel's owners, the Holland-Amerika Line, said she had not submitted to British contraband control and that the submarine commander gave no reason for the attack.

BERLIN, Feb. 13 — (AP).—Nazi sources claimed to-day that the commander of a German submarine was within his legal rights if he torpedoed the Netherlands steamship Burgerdijk, because the ship was en route to the British contraband contral station at the Downs.

(The Holland-Amerika Line reported yesterday that the 6,853-ton freighter was torpedoed on Saturday on a voyage from New York to Rotterdam.)

Under German prize court law any neutral vessel headed for a belligerent port, whether voluntarily or not, is considered by German naval officers as carrying contraband.

Deficit Of $1,169,861 Reported In Alberta

EDMONTON, Feb. 13.—(CP)—E. L. Gray, leader of the Liberal opposition, is scheduled to continue the budget debate in the Alberta legislature today. Mr. Gray adjourned the debate after Provincial Treasurer Solon Low delivered his budget speech yesterday.

Speeding toward an early prorogation, the House made substantial progress at afternoon and evening sittings yesterday. Four bills were given first reading, seven second readings and 12 passed through committee and were reported for third reading.

Mr. Low, presenting his fourth budget, reported no taxation increases would be imposed and estimated an over-all deficit of $1,169,241 for the 1940-41 fiscal year, an increase of $18,733 over the estimated deficit of $1,151,107 for the present year.

Nazi Neighbors' Imports From U.S., Eyed

PARIS, Feb. 13.—(AP)—French military sources say Allied blockade officials will concentrate their investigations on United States exports to neutral countries bordering Germany on the grounds that much of these exports may be destined for Germany.

These sources cite figures indicating exports to neutrals around Germany have doubled and trebled pre-war figures.

Norway is said to have received $15,000,000 worth of American goods in September, October and November of 1939, compared with $5,500,000 worth in the same period during 1938.

Other neutrals' figures cited for the same comparative periods include, Switzerland $7,000,000 and $300,000; Sweden $35,000,000 and $18,000,000; Baltic states $31,000,000 and $21,000,000, and Italy $17,000,000 and $14,000,000.

Blockade officials are said to regard the increases as more than just coincidence, although part of them may be explained by the war's forcing neutrals to buy goods in the United States formerly obtained from belligerents.

Only 753 Troops Needed In N.Z. 2nd Contingent

WELLINGTON, Feb. 13.—(CP-Reuters)—M. F. Jones, New Zealand defence minister, announced today that only 753 more enlistments are needed to fill the quota of troops for the second contingent of the New Zealand Expeditionary Force to be sent overseas.

Mr. Jones said that to date 17,000 men have been passed as fit for service and that another 4,000 are awaiting medical examinations. More than 4,300 men applied for service in the air force and of these 849 have been passed as fit and as early as the end of October 643 had proceeded to Britain fully trained.

Others will be sent later to Canada under the air training scheme. In response to requests from London, men will also be trained for the Royal Navy.

Deputy Prime Minister Peter Fraser told a recruiting meeting that a national register of manpower will be instituted and stressed that, while the government still held to a policy of voluntary recruitment, a greater effort will have to be made to fulfil the needs of the day.

This same point was emphasized by Mr. Jones, who said that the response had been excellent but that the government wanted to get men together for reinforcements some months ahead of requirements.

National Committee

To aid in this drive a national recruiting campaign committee is to be set up. P. G. Webb, Minister of Labor and chairman of the central committee to coordinate war activity, said that consultative manpower committees will be set up throughout the dominion to select men for service and decide on exemptions for men engaged in essential work.

These committees, Mr. Webb explained, will interpret Government policy as indicated from time to time, having regard to the exigencies of the war.

After full inquiry, he said, it had been decided not to adopt a schedule completely or permanently reserving any particular occupation. All cases will be considered on their merit. The Government, he went on, will not seek preferential treatment for its own employees, whose response had been "wonderful."

Manion Plans Youth Ministry

Advisory Committee Would Be Named; Urges Post-War Jobs

FORT WILLIAM, Feb. 13—(CP)—Appointment of a minister of youth welfare responsible for administration of all policies and projects for the protection and development of Canadian youth was pledged here last night by Hon. R. J. Manion, Federal Conservative leader in an address before his home constituents.

Dr. Manion stressed the necessity of immediate planning to meet the problems of "the after-war" and emphasized the need of providing for the nation's youth, its "most valuable" resource, "if we are to preserve our present economic system."

Following the meeting the Conservative chief left for Ottawa to attend Lord Tweedsmuir's funeral Wednesday, after which he plans to continue his election campaign tour of Western Canada.

Dr. Manion will broadcast over a nation-wide network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from Brandon, Man., Friday from 10.30 to 11 p.m., EST. The broadcast is a substitute for the one scheduled from here last night.

Dr. Manion told his audience in the City Hall auditorium that a welfare minister would be assisted by a voluntary and unpaid advisory committee of the best qualified young people's workers who would formulate proposals for employment developments for youth.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY LOUISA LEBRUN.

Death came on Monday to a former resident of Peterborough, one who had a wide circle of friends in this city although she had been away from Peterborough for a number of years.

She was Mrs. Mary LeBrun, widow of Henry LeBrun, once a prominent merchant on George Street. She was of advanced age, and had been in failing health for some time. She died at her home in the Meriam Apartments, 83 Isabella Street, Toronto.

For approximately 40 years her husband operated a clothing store in Peterborough, next to the Bank of Toronto on George Street, and earlier on the location that is now Grafton's. The LeBruns lived on the corner of Park and Simcoe Streets here.

Before her marriage to Mr. LeBrun she was the widow of John Hackett, who kept a dry goods store on George Street for a number of years. Mrs. LeBrun left Peterborough a number of years ago. She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

Mrs. LeBrun is survived by her daughter, Miss Bernadette Hackett, and her sister, Mrs. R. P. Gough, both of Toronto.

The remains will rest at the residence of her sister, Mrs. R. P. Gough, 92 Crescent Road, until 3 o'clock on Wednesday, when they will be forwarded to Peterborough. The funeral will be on Thursday morning at 8.45 o'clock from Lane and Eano Funeral Parlors to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

tary service is postponed owing to their engagement on essential work will receive certificates. To fill the places of men enlisting from primary industries, others will be transferred from other walks of life. Although this will involve some sacrifice from those asked to make the change, the Government, he said, is satisfied they will do so.

Mr. Fraser stressed at a meeting opening a recruiting drive that the Government still believed that the need can be met on a voluntary basis, but said that greater effort would have to be put forth.

which bore His Excellency's body from Montreal.

The casket, draped with the Union Jack and bearing the Governor-General's head-dress, was passed through the window of the car to the platform.

From there it went to the shoulders of eight bearers from the firing party who carried it through the lines of the guard of honor, from the Governor-General's Foot Guards.

Hon. Alastair Buchan, the Governor-General's third son, and Sir Shuldham Redfern, personal secretary to the Governor-General, followed immediately behind the casket as the guard of honor, lining the route from the end of the train, through the station concourse and out the east door, presented arms.

From there a motor hearse quickly bore the casket to the centre block, under escort of the motorcycle police.

Beneath the Peace Tower the small cortege entered the Parliament Building's main doorway and down the heavily draped corridor to the Senate Chamber.

Tributes from Canada.

There a dais had been prepared, with tall candles at each of the four corners. In an anteroom floral tributes from all parts of Canada awaited placement about the bier.

From three o'clock this afternoon until six, and from eight to ten o'clock this evening, the body will lie in state so that all who wish may pass by the bier. It will be guarded by four officers in shifts, one of them Hon. Alastair Buchan.

The procession from Union Station to Parliament Hill was through streets crowded with people and, for several hundreds yards from the station, the way was lined by troops of the Foot Guards and the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa.

As the cortege wound about the slope leading to the Peace Tower its way was lined by men of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Solid blocks of troops guarded the main corridor of the centre block along which the body was carried by the same eight men of the firing party provided for the station arrival by the Guards Regiment.

Hon. Alastair Buchan and Sir Shuldham Redfern fell in immediately behind the casket as it was taken from the hearse and borne through the main entrance.

Sir Lyman Duff followed immediately after, with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and others of the official party.

While His Excellency's plumed helmet, dress sword and sword straps were carried upon the casket, the Governor-General's orders and medals were carried by an aide on a black cushion, and placed beside the bier

Hush Over City

Throughout the slow-march procession from Station to Parliament Buildings there was almost a complete hush over normal activities of the city, broken only by the intermittent playing of funeral marches by the Footguards Band, the muffled roll of drums, and shouted commands to section after section of the Guards who presented arms as the casket passed

Immediately the casket was placed in the senate chamber, the four tall candles, one at each corner of the bier, were lighted and Rev. Alexander Ferguson of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who will conduct the state funeral service tomorrow, said a short prayer.

Then the first group of four officers who will maintain constant guard over the body advanced, one to each corner of the stand, with swords raised high in solemn ceremonial.

Reaching their appointed posts the officers turned smartly, lowered their sword points to the floor and bowed with hands crossed over sword-hilts.

Officers From 4 Services

This guard will be changed at short intervals, the officers being drawn from the four services, Navy, Army, Air Force and Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Following the ceremonial the chief justice, prime minister, foreign representatives, justices of the Supreme Court, high officers of the four branches of the service and cabinet ministers, filed past the bier.

At three o'clock this afternoon the chamber will be thrown open for the general public. The lying in state will be interrupted from six o'clock until eight, and then be resumed until 10 o'clock tonight.

Crowds gathered at the larger stations through which the funeral train travelled on its way from Montreal to Ottawa and stood in silence with bared heads as the train moved swiftly past them. In some cases municipal officers turned out.

Conservative Leader Manion was among those designated as in the official party at the railway station but he was unable to reach Ottawa in time. He is expected to be here for the funeral to-morrow.

The body of Lord Tweedsmuir is the first to lie in state in this Parliament Building which was completed 20 years ago. Similar honors were paid Sir John A. Macdonald who died in 1891 and whose body was brought to the old Parliament Buildings to lie in state.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier died in 1919 the lying in state was in the national museum then being used temporarily since the fire which destroyed the first Parliament Buildings in 1916.

House Recesses; Budget Coming Thursday

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP)—Out of respect to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir, the Ontario legislature stood recessed today until Thursday. When the house reconvenes again it will be to hear the Budget address by Premier Mitchell Hepburn who as provincial treasurer will give his accounting of Ontario's finances.

The budget address was scheduled for today. Up until the time the house sat yesterday it was thought it would be. But Premier Hepburn announced it was thought fitting to adjourn until after the funeral of his excellency.

In formal resolution, the legislature placed its sorrow on record. Concluding paragraph of the resolution read:

"The manner in which Lord Tweedsmuir identified himself with the life and interests of this country during his tenure of office endeared him to the Canadian people in a marked degree and his personal qualities of heart and mind secured

Thyssen Loses His Citizenship

GENEVA, Feb. 13—(AP). — Fritz Thyssen, early supporter of Adolf Hitler and once one of the wealthiest men in Europe, said today he had not been notified officially of a Nazi decree depriving him of German citizenship.

"If it is true, it may be an effort to get rid of me as a member of the Reichstag," he told reporters.

The decree depriving Thyssen and his wife of German citizenship was published in the official German Gazette in Berlin yesterday.

The one-time owner of the greatest steel corporation in Europe and his wife entered Switzerland last November. His immense holdings were confiscated by the German Government shortly afterward.

Thyssen has refused to explain his break with Hitler. German authorities also have been silent.

Songs the Anzacs made famous during the last war echoed across the desert as the leading Australian transport crept through the darkness last night to anchor here. Then came the tramp of boots as the men, each carrying a small white duffel bag, were disembarked.

Although it was midnight when the transports arrived, Mantara, which lies astride communication lines between Northern Egypt and Palestine, was alive with excited Arabs.

Of the arrivals here, Staff-Sergeant Stan Smith of Sydney was the only original member of the Third Brigade of Anzacs who forced a landing at Gallipoli during the last war. A man of giant stature, he celebrates his 52nd birthday tomorrow and has a son in training at home.

Geary, Church Nominated In Toronto Lists

(By the Canadian Press.)

Two veterans of Conservative party activity in Toronto entered the lists today for the federal election March 26 as the number of candidates nominated in Ontario grew rapidly.

T. L. Church, K.C., former Mayor of Toronto and member of Parliament since 1921, was nominated unanimously last night to contest the riding of Toronto-Broadview again. The nominating convention lasted only long enough for that procedure, out of respect for Lord Tweedsmuir.

Conservatives of Toronto-Trinity chose Col. G. Reginald Geary, Minister of Justice in the short-lived administration of 1925-26, when he represented the old riding of Toronto-South. He will be opposed by A. W. Roebuck, now Independent Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto-Bellwoods, who won the Liberal nomination from the sitting member, Hugh Plaxton. Mr. Plaxton has announced he will run as an Independent Liberal.

Liberal candidates were named in three Southern Ontario ridings last night, and another member of the provincial cabinet, Agricultural Minister P. M. Dewan, swung behind the federal Liberal in his riding.

In repulsing the Russians on the Isthmus, where a big Soviet offensive was in its 13th day today, the Finns yesterday "made several successful counter attacks" the army communique said.

The Russian attacks "continued unabated" throughout yesterday, the Finns said.

(A Red army communique issued in Moscow covering this action said that 32 "defensive fortifications" had been wrested from the Finns on Monday and that much war material had been captured.)

Today's communique said there was fighting yesterday also at Muolajaervi and at Taipale on the Isthmus.

In the Pitkaranta Islands northeast of Lake Ladoga the Finns said they "destroyed" a Russian column of 100 sledges, and they reported capturing several Russian machine-gun nests in the Kuhmo region.

At Raate, the Finns said, they drove a Russian detachment "back beyond the frontier."

Canada Pauses In Heat Of Election Drive To Bow In Full-Hearted Tribute And Honor To Its Loved Governor-General

OTTAWA, Feb. 13, — (CP) — Canada paused today in the heat of an election campaign to pay full-hearted tribute to the late Lord Tweedsmuir and in solemn ceremonial here honor the Governor-General whom all the nation knew.

One week after his excellency fainted and fell in his room at Rideau Hall, suffering a concussion which led to his death in Montreal Sunday night, this snow-mantled capital prepared to receive the body of the King's representative that had been his home for five years.

The special funeral train was scheduled to arrive at the Union Station at noon E.S.T. today and the body taken immediately to the Senate Chamber on Parliament Hill where it will lie in state until the state funeral tomorrow afternoon.

The capital temporarily forgot war problems and political issues to pay respect to the late Governor General.

The body of Lord Tweedsmuir is the first to lie in state in the new parliament buildings. Only two other men were accorded the honor of such a parliamentary ceremony. In 1891 Sir John A. MacDonald lay in state in the old Parliament buildings which were burned down in 1916 and in 1919 Sir Wilfrid Laurier lay in state in the National Museum, being used at that time as a temporary Parliament building while the new structure was being erected.

The entire election campaign has been stalled as the nation mourns and won't resume until the end of the week. Conservative Leader Manion interrupted his coast-to-coast election tour to come back to Ottawa for the funeral but will return to Western Canada later in the week and speak over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Friday night from Brandon, Man.

Practically all political activity ceased on Parliament Hill until after the funeral.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King likely will begin his campaign

Soviets Boast 32 More Forts Taken

Claim 62 Fall In Week With 82 Guns 230 Machine-Guns

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 (AP)—Within a week, the high command for Soviet Russia's Finnish campaign has claimed capture of 61 "defensive fortifications" on the Karelian Isthmus where runs the Finns' Mannerheim Line.

Today's communique said that 32 of these positions were wrested from the Finns yesterday. Among them were listed "12 iron and concrete artillery forts."

Finnish equipment seized by Red troops in areas of defensive fortifications captured in the past few days, the communique said, includes 230 machine-guns and 82 guns—whether field pieces or hand weapons was not clear.

Capture of 13 "iron and concrete" forts was reported last Thursday and yesterday's communique announced that 16 more "defensive fortifications" had fallen to Red troops, including eight of the "iron and concrete" variety. (Finnish reports have denied any breach in the line.)

The latest communique said that yesterday's warfare of regular infantry units and artillery was "animated" in some sectors by the operations of scouts.

"Due to unfavorable weather, Soviet aviation made only reconnoitring flights," the communique said.

On the Russian diplomatic-economic front, the signing of a new trade pact with Germany was followed by an announcement through Tass, Soviet news agency, that commerce between the two nations in the first year under the treaty would top that of any similar period since the last war. No figures were given, however.

The pact, signed Sunday, according to Tass, put into detailed treaty form the agreement of economic co-operation initialed last August, marking Russian-German rapprochment.

officers of a cruiser car accosted the driver of a car believed to have been used in the get-away after the two policemen were shot. The driver fled in the car and police followed, engaging in a running gun fight. Police declined to give any details of the arrest but it was learned blood stains and a gun were found in the car.

A second running gun fight was staged by the officers who captured the second suspect and rushed him off to hospital. The second man was spotted in downtown Winnipeg and began a duel with pursuing officers.

The two men were in custody at the time officers set out to round up Atamanchuck.

The man-hunt was pressed for Atamanchuck, recently released from Stony Mountain Penitentiary. At 4.30 o'clock this morning word came that the man was in the Brant block in the north end of the city and police squads, armed with shot guns and rifles, rushed to the hide-out.

Before one suite in the block Detective-Sergeant Harry Alexander and a picked crew stopped. The demand to open the door was received with Atamanchuck's reply: "I can't. I have a gun in my back."

"Open up or we'll bomb you out," Alexander persisted. A voice of a second man in the room pleaded with police not to shoot and a rifle was then tossed from the suite followed by a man who gave himself up but who went unidentified by police.

A shot was heard in the room. Police found Atamanchuck slumped on the floor, a bullet hole through his body. The bullet had gone through and imbedded itself in the wall.

His Peterborough Visit

Peterborough has a special reason to mourn the passing of Lord Tweedsmuir. This district had an opportunity, not so long ago, of seeing more of him than it had seen of any governor-general in the country's history. Other representatives of the Crown had paid us visits, it is true, but they were brief and usually fully ceremonious.

Lord Tweedsmuir's coming was different. Before his visit he let it be known that he preferred not to have a formal dinner in his honor and intimated that he wanted to see as many of the people of the city and district as possible. His wishes were, of course, adhered to and the result was that the simple son of the manse, known to us long before he was ever thought of as governor-general, because of the charm of his writing, won every heart. He was in Peterborough and the lake district for the better part of three days, saw every point of interest, talked to thousands of school children, showed a keen interest in the city's industrial plants and endeared himself to the whole community by his wholesome personality, his genuine concern for the welfare of Canadians and his ability to come close to the people without losing any of the dignity of his high position. The crew of the steamer Bessie Butler, the traffic constables who escorted the vice-regal car along the highways and through the city streets, and scores of others who came closely into contact with Lord Tweedsmuir during those three days, are experiencing today a sense of personal loss. They know that Canadians have lost more than a governor-general; they have lost a warm friend and a stout champion.

Conscription Is Out

The opening speeches in the election campaign may not have been in the category that could be described as great utterances but at least they have served to clarify the situation to this extent. Conscription is not an issue in the campaign. Prime Minister King in his first broadcast made that clear so far as he was concerned and Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion in his first address of the campaign was equally as emphatic in his declaration that he was opposed to conscription and that he believed its use in the last war had been a mistake. J. S. Woodsworth, head of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, has repeatedly announced that his party is against the whole idea of conscripting men for military service.

That takes care of the two old parties and the chief independent organization. In fact about all that is left is Hon. W. D. Herridge's New Democracy party, and Mr. Herridge admits that its candidates will be limited. The New Democrats believe, he says, in national service, and so far are the only political group to make such a declaration.

With conscription repudiated by Liberals, Conservatives and C.C.F. and therefore out of the picture, the campaign issue resolves itself down to the question of the prosecution of the war, so far as Canada is concerned, on a purely voluntary basis. The question Canadians will have to answer with their ballots is whether the full measure of the country's willingness to serve can best be attained by the government of Premier King or by the party led by Dr. Manion.

Planning His Tomorrow

Many young Canadian soldiers came back from the last world war untrained for civilian life and ill equipped for absorption into industrial and business jobs. That was not to be wondered at because they had been taken into the army before their education was completed and for years had been engaged in the business of making war. Once that business terminated they were out in No Man's Land.

It is because of that experience that the veterans of the 1914-1918 conflict are determined that the young soldiers of the new army shall have a better chance. Thus we have the Canadian Legion War Services which has taken upon itself in co-operation with educational authorities to see to it that opportunities are given Canada's soldiers to equip themselves for the years after the war. Such opportunities are more than ever necessary for in the recruiting of Canada's Active Service Force the accent has been on youth. There are more young men, proportionately, in the army today than there were in the Maple Leaf forces in the last great war and unless something along the lines undertaken by the Legion is done thousands of them will be coming back to Canada when the guns cease to boom, with nothing but their war record to offer the employer of the post-war period.

The Legion has seen a great need and has moved promptly and effectively to meet it. There is no doubt of the value of the contribution they are making in this educational plan for Canada's soldiers which is an important part of the war effort of the veterans. It is a contribution in which Canadians generally should be eager to assist.

Peterborough's opportunity to do so comes this week and the response will show that this community believes that "planning his tomorrow today" is more than just another slogan.

The Old Guard Passes

There has been heavy mortality among the old guard of Peterborough's citizenship in recent months. Gone are many men who played a big part in the development of this community in various fields of activity: E. F. Mason, Dr. A. W. McPherson, Alex. Gibson, John I. Allen, A. H. Stratton, David H. Kerneghan, Col. T. J. Johnston and other well known figures. And now has been added another familiar name—that of Lieut.-Col. Arthur Stevenson.

A gentleman of the old school, a quiet, unassuming citizen who never sought publicity but buckled to the task at hand faithfully and successfully, Col. Stevenson made a valuable contribution to the welfare of this community. For over forty years he had been secretary of the City Trust Commission, holding office long before any of the present members—and some of them have a long record. His painstaking work in that capacity was a tower of strength to the commission. He was for years a faithful civil servant in the capacity of crown timber agent. As a soldier Col. Stevenson played a man's part in the development of the 57th Regiment in pre-war days when his zeal and interest in military affairs were eventually rewarded by his promotion to the command of the unit. It was due to the efforts of such men that when the testing time came in 1914, Peterborough's infantry battalion was ready to send quota after quota of officers and men to swell the ranks of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

In his business career as manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, in his public offices, in his lodge and church activities as well as in the militia, Col. Stevenson was a useful and good citizen. He will be mourned in many circles.

A Timely Bit Of Advice

The Citizens' Research Institute in its publication, Canadian Taxation, issues a warning to municipal governments as to their duty in war time that should receive serious consideration from municipal spending bodies. The first duty before all Canadians is to do everything possible toward winning the war and it is obvious that the most effective contribution that civic governments can contribute toward that end is to keep their local expenditures down to the lowest possible point. There will be a readjustment period after the war when every dollar of municipal money that is available will be needed to take care of the problems that our experience of the last conflict have taught us are inevitable. Councils and other civic bodies would do well to keep that in mind.

If provinces, municipalities and school boards exercise due control over capital and current expenditures, as the Institute points out, they will be able to reduce rather than increase taxation and net debenture debt. Surveys of administrative organizations would also be of assistance in assuring the maximum of service at the minimum of expense. If local governments would carry out such a program they would, by so doing,

1. Greatly assist Canada's war effort.
2. Accumulate reserves of credit and work to help meet after-the-war problems.
3. Bring into being more efficient governmental machinery.

The best contributions that local government can give to the national effort are (1) to set its house in order, (2) to conserve its credit resources, and (3) to be ready to step into the breach when the war is over with a planned program which, so far as possible, will moderate the effect of the forces of disorganization which will certainly be released at the close of the conflict.

In Search Of Peace

Acting on the orders of President Roosevelt, Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles is going to warring Europe on a strange mission. There were two announcements regarding it, one from the President and the other from Secretary Hull, and while they do not conflict it is necessary to search them both to find just what Mr. Welles is going to do.

In a general way he is bent on searching for peace and seeking some way in which it can be brought about. Not simply a sort of armistice, but a better thing for days to come which will stick. Reduction of armaments, an economic system which will be fair to all, and so on.

It is quite definitely stated that Mr. Welles has for the moment no definite plans, and he is going forth to ask questions and talk to people. He will visit first the neutral countries, and as he gets along he will seek to enter the nations presently at war.

The ambassador can hardly be going out to find what the war is about, because President Roosevelt's own speeches, guarded as they are, have shown that he understands thoroughly how it is there is war in Europe today.

There will be no disposition to resent the travelling and the questioning of Sumner Welles. That will be particularly so in the case of neutral countries and the lands of the Allies. We dare say Finland would welcome the opportunity to discuss the case. For Germany and Russia we cannot speak.

We know the Allies have nothing hidden which they fear to reveal. War was the last thing they desired; they had not planned for it, and Prime Minister Chamberlain was prepared to lose face at Munich in September of 1938 in order that some sort of peace might be maintained. So if Mr. Welles cares to visit old London he can secure considerable information, and he will also receive the assurance that when Germany is prepared to discuss peace on a basis which includes restoring to lesser nations their property and their right to live, then London will be interested to the point of immediate participation.

United States desires peace, and it is at the moment paying a staggering price for armaments to try and make sure of it. So when President Roosevelt sends a personal representative abroad on a peace mission or a fact-finding assignment no one is going to raise objections. Actually we wish him a safe trip and success.

NOTE AND COMMENT

W. D. Herridge says that his New Democracy party candidates will be limited. We have an idea that the electors will look after that all right.

The Canadian Legion's War Services schools are an indication that this is a different war. Last time the only thing taught the Canadians was how to kill Germans.

CHICKADEES

It was as if, through cold and snow,
The seeds we thought were lost below
Pushed softly upward, until these Small fluff balls are about to blow
Away beneath the wintry trees.
But coming closer, here one sees
Dark beads of eyes no floss can show—
And finds a flock of chickadees.
They fluff their feathers in the cold
And little coral toes now hold
To weed stems lifting through the snow
I think the seeds are glad below!

Intelligence Test For Folk Who Vote

(By Gwyn Kinsey in The Timmins Daily Press)

A SUGGESTION was made recently in the Ontario Legislature that people be forced to vote, because such an action would block a great deal of the skullduggery which generally takes place at elections as they are conducted now.

Our old friend Joe Podunk doesn't think this is such a good idea. "The trouble now," Joe pontificates, "is that too many people vote when they don't know what they're voting for. The feller with the slickest tongue gets in, but nobody's proved yet that oratory runs a country."

Joe warms up to his subject. "In fact," he says, "from past observation, it looks as if the country makes a pretty fair job of running itself, expect when these here politicians start talking. Then it gets just as muddled as the metaphors the talkers use.

"What should be done, is to bar politicians from making political speeches. People wouldn't get all stirred up about nothing then."

It is suggested that, with political speeches barred, the race of politicians might pass away from acute strangulation.

"I always had the idea," Joe ruminated, as he pondered that angle, "that these fellers they call elected representatives were supposed to do their arguing in the House of Commons. Now my idea is that only those people who follow the House of Commons arguments have any right to vote on who they want to argue in the House of Commons while the country runs itself."

How could these people be segregated from those who pay as much attention to Hansard as they do to the migratory habits of the Great Auk?

"Very easy, very easy," Joe explains. "In every locality there would be a post where people could register if the wanted to vote. When they registered, they would be asked a few simple questions like 'who is the speaker of the House of Commons?' and only those with better than a fifty per cent passing mark would be qualified to vote. This plan would also cut down on election costs, because only maybe a dozen in each place would be casting their ballots. In fact," Joe becomes enthusiastic, "the same questions could be put to the memoers of parliament themselves. This would be even a better economy measure. What a picture! Maybe two or three hundred people voting, with maybe twenty or thirty members of parliament to vote for.

"I would also," he continued, as his imagination took flight, "I would also have the party holding the least number of seats form the cabinet. In that way the country would never get into any bad messes, because whatever the government brought in, the opposition would over-rule it. None of the parties would want to win election, because then they would only be the opposition and not the government. Just imagine how they would prepare for an election.

"The prime minister would admit he had made a terrible mess of things and that the leader of the opposition was much better suited for such a would naturally make a far better leader of the opposition. It would be revolutionary. It would change the whole course of politics."

Joe has to be shaken to bring him out of his dream of Utopia. When the vision of sweet things has gone out of his eyes, he starts right back in orating.

"Something that's puzzling me now," he mused, "is this idea of national unity. Mr. Manion as prime minister, is the only hope for national unity. Mr. Mackenzie King claims that only the Liberals can maintain national unity, and that the bold, bad Conservatives will treat poor unity in a very horrific manner. Looks like national unity's in a very tough spot, though I never thought it was ailing much until the last couple of weeks."

A listener questions Joe: "Who IS the speaker of the House?"

"You got me," the worthy Podunk flings back over his departing shoulder.

TOTALITARIAN MIND

For months and years hitler and the nazi propagandists have been crying out that all Germany seeks from the world is "lebensraum" — room to live. This has been the recurring theme in every Nazi apology for aggression.

And yet the official weekly publication of heinrich Himmler's "elite guard" seriously proposes a fantastic method of increasing German population—the production of so-called "test tube babies" by the use of artificial insemination.—New York Post.

THE BRITISH NAVY

This letter appears in the correspondence columns of The New York Herald Tribune:

Sir: Why must we continually badger England on the inconvenience of holding up our mail? Aren't they fighting to save our civilization as a whole? A large amount of contraband has been sent through the neutral countries to Germany.

Let's stop, look and listen and thank God for the British navy.

R.F.C.

• Learn A Trade Is Sound Advice

MIDLAND'S relief administrator had a hurry-up call the other day for 50 carpenters to work at Camp Borden. He was only able to secure 17. And yet there are scores of men on relief in the town, men who have never learned a skilled trade, who might have been available had they the knowledge necessary. Very few who are on relief are skilled workmen. Nearly every man in Canada who knows how to do anything well is busy. It is only the casual workers who are idle, the men who have neither had or taken the opportunity to learn a trade.

The fault is not altogether with the unemployed. There has been little chance for any man to learn a trade in the last few years. The tradesmen have not been anxious to see their ranks increase, and little or no effort has been mad by our governments to train men as carpenters, plumbers, painters, plasterers, machinists, electricians, etc. The boys have been allowed to grow from youth into manhood in idleness, and now when skilled tradesmen are in demand everywhere they cannot be found.

Years ago it was the ambition of every lad upon achieving long trousers to take out his papers as an apprentice. He was not so much interested in wages as he was in learning how to use his hands and his head. His parents often paid the employers for the privilege of having him taught. With the growth in power of the labor unions the number of apprentices was cut down, not by employers but by the unions. Lads came to think that they were entitled to living wages from the beginning, with the result that employers became less interested in bringing young fellows along and absorbing the cost of their errors.

Parents today need to get back to the solid thinking of other days. Far better to send the boys and girls to work, even though they receive nothing but instruction in a trade, than to have them hanging around street corners learning mischief. Ambitious young men will be wise to offer to work for nothing if only they are given the chance to learn skill in an occupation which will later furnish them with a good living. A return to the apprenticeship system is in order.—Midland Free Press.

• Germany In Deep Debt To Italy

WHILE the northern end of the axis is engaged in a crucial struggle, the southern end, Italy, is enjoying peace. Italy profits because it has access to markets now closed to Germany by reason of the blockade. Italy welcomes the opportunity because the Abyssinian adventure and heavy military expenditures have placed the country very much in the red, the deficits of the last four years reaching the sum of 50,000,000,000 lire.

Italy's comparative prosperity places the country in a position to aid Germany if it so desires but there are many obstacles in the way. One obstacle is the huge debt already owing to Italy by Germany. Germany owes Italy some 400,000,000 lire and Germany at present cannot repay.

Moreover Mussolini might well feel that Poland's debt to Italy is Germany's, morally (if the word is in Il Duce's vocabulary). In 1924 the Italians were invited by their government to subscribe to a 400,000,000 lire loan to Poland, under the promise that "the Italian Government would guarantee interest and amortization in case the Polish Government should be unable to satisfy the Italian creditors in the event of a hostile invasion of Poland." Neither Hitler nor his accomplice, Stalin, appear to be interested in fulfilling Poland's obligation.

Ordinarily Polish and German coal would make substantial payments on German and Polish obligations. Last year Italy imported twelve million tons of coal, almost eight from Germany and more than three from Poland. Nearly all passed through Gibraltar. The Polish mines are closed, or worse. To ship the German coal by rail would take four per cent of German rolling stock, and German railways are not in a position to assume new burdens. Italy is buying coal in England, but while this may keep the Italians warm the German indebtedness is not decreased thereby.

In times of peace, millions of Germans flock to Italy, and even if they are not the most welcome tourists they are a source of revenue. If Italy had for sale either oil or foodstuffs, Germany's greatest needs, the Germans would arrange a barter somehow. As it is, the German financial fountain has gone dry. Consequently Mussolini desires to put German-Italian trade on a sort of cash-and-carry basis, although he was one of the foremost critics when the United States by its new Neutrality Law adopted that plan with Europe. — Moncton Transcript.

DOCTORING HITLER

HITLER didn't speak as long as usual the other day. Neither did he orate his customary long spell when the Munich bombing almost took his life some weeks ago.

Some persons believe the reason for the brevity is the Fuehrer's throat. Dr. Karl Brandt has been working on the throat, which is reported to be afflicted with cancer. The doctor is one of the younger medical men of Berlin and he is known as a cancer specialist.

For a few years there have been different reports about the condition of the Nazi leader. There have been times when he has been said to have suffered intense pain from the throat infliction. The best doctors in Germany have tried their skill and have failed to effect a cure. They have been able to relieve the pain and help Hitler to some extent, but they have not worked a cure. While the shorter speeches may be due to fear of repeated attempts on Hitler's life, there is also the thought that his throat will not stand the strain of long oratory.—W. L. Clark, in Windsor Star.

MACAULAY'S GIFT

A wager won by Mr. Leopold Macaulay from Attorney-General Conant, and apparently paid by Premier Hepburn, nets him a hat he will not wear, a cane that will not be carried, and a box of cigars that he will not smoke. Surely a mystery of this nature calls for a commission of inquiry.—Toronto Globe & Mail.

WHERE THEY PART

DARBY AND JOAN having lived together all these many years should never, through poverty or other misfortune, be separated in those tender, sunset hours of life. To do that is brutality and callousness, lack of all understanding of men and women. The Leamington Post & News has the proper attitude:

The other day a local man in conversation with the editor of this paper, brought up the question of old people in straitened circumstances being committed to the Essex County Home for the Aged. He said he thought some provision should be made by the County Council whereby these old married couples could be permitted to live together in the institution after being committed, instead of being separated for the remainder of their lives, and we certainly agreed with him. The matter is one that should be given consideration not only by the Essex County Council, but by every County Council in the Province of Ontario.

THE ENGLISHMAN

"Much, but not too much, has been said about the calm of the Englishman when all his world seems falling apart. It is an attitude America should emulate; probably will, as we grow older as a people. The British poise is very largely a matter of maturity as a race. But, whatever the reason, their utter refusal to get hysterical even in the face of war is a triumph of adult civilization. — Bingay, in Detroit Free Press.

O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain; O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid; say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God! Behold, the Lord God will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him and his work before him....

Who hath measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out heaven with a span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance? Who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him?—Isa. xl, 9, 10, 12, 13.

THAT "500 TO 1"

A MEASURE of reassurance to the Allied cause is offered by the recent French announcement that out of 7,300 ships convoyed during the present war up to January 24 only 15 have been sunk by submarines.

The earlier statement of Germany's U-boat commander, Rear Admiral Karl Doenitz, that the convoy system had been nullified and that it made no difference to U-boats whether an Allied ship was in convoy or alone, is not altogether borne out by facts. The French counter-claim not only is backed by figures, but documents. Winston Churchill's twice-uttered assertion that the chances against a vessel being sunk while in an Allied convoy are 500 to 1.

The convoy has been peculiarly successful in its long history. Note its use by the Romans to protect grain ships, the British convoys of the Napoleonic wars, and the World War convoy system which transported 88,000 Allied ships with a loss of less than one-half of 1 per cent. — Christian Science Monitor.

Simple Enough

"With all due deference, my boy, I really think our English custom at the telephone is better than saying 'Hello' as you do."

"What do you say in England?"

"We say 'Are you there?' Then, of course, if they're not there, there is no use in going on with the conversation."

Apologists for the King Government will have a hard time convincing Peterborough manufacturers and Peterborough's unemployed that Canadian industry is fully mobilized for war. There are too many executives who have been unable to break through the red tape at Ottawa and too many folk who have been waiting months for war jobs that have failed to materialize for stuff of that kind to register here.

If the full measure of voluntary effort in Canada is to be thrown into action the sleepers at Ottawa will have to be replaced by government that will give the necessary leadership—the National Government of R. J. Manion.

Moguls Allowing Pitchers A Second Step

BELLEAIR, Fla., Feb. 13 — (AP) —Relief has been a long time coming for the baseball pitcher, and he has taken some hard knocks in the past 20 years, but the elders of the game at last are in a mood to help him stand off the batters.

Meeting here yesterday, the rules committee voted to allow pitchers to rear back and take another complete step as they deliver the ball. That is the first really important move toward helping the hurler that has been made since the rule-makers began abolishing freak deliveries back in 1919.

Opinion was widely divided whether the new rule would effect any great and immediate change. All agreed it was a move toward harnessing the hitter, or at least toward giving the pitcher an even break.

Adoption of the rule was a victory for Clark Griffith, the veteran Washington Senators manager, who for several years has been carrying on a vigorous campaign for pitchers' rights.

The new rule will permit the pitcher almost complete freedom with one leg. There's only one thing he can't do now, and that is to step sidewise.

Whereas the hurler previously has had to stand with both brogans on the rubber, he now (in the case of a right-hander) can stretch his left leg far out behind him during his wind-up and take a long, complete stride as he swings through to deliver the ball.

CURLING

By HERB MARTIN

All curlers, at 9 o'clock last evening, gathered together on the centre ices, and stood with bowed heads in a minute's silence out of respect and in honor of our late Governor-General, His Excellency Lord Tweedsmuir of Elsfield.

The Holyman-Best game drew the attention of the crowd on the second draw last evening. Holyman, one down coming home, makes a nice wick shot to tie up the game. In the extra end it was nip and tuck and when Tommy came to play his last stone, Best was lying shot. If Tommy missed the game was all over. He played his stone and was somewhat narrow but had enough force behind it to hit a three-stone combination and take out Ray's shot. Ray was a little narrow with his last stone and Tommy finished one up in a game that might mean the group leadership.

We will hold a little bonspiel tomorrow evening. Draw at 7:15 sharp. Three 4-end games. Notices are out for the Neill Trophy competition. Play will begin on Monday, February 19. Two draws each night, 6:45 and 8:45. All rinks entered must be of schedule calibre. Entries must be in by 8:00 o'clock on Friday night. The draw will appear in The Examiner on Saturday, February 17.

The ladies commenced the vice-skips bonspiel yesterday morning with the following results:

Polish Fliers Service With R. A. F.

Sir Kingsley Wood, British Air Minister, is pictured inspecting the Polish air personnel now serving with the Royal Air Force in England. Although their country has been taken over by Germany and Russia hundreds of Poles are now serving in the armed forces of England and France. The Peterborough Ski Club is sponsoring a Junior Ski Excursion to the famous Bethany Alps on Saturday, February 17, via the C.P.R. The special ski train will leave at 10.10 a.m. Saturday morning and return to Peterborough at 5.30 p.m.

All that is required for any child to go is a pair of skis, low train fare, and a hearty lunch. Any child under 10 years of age must be accompanied by either parent or guardian.

This is the opportunity also, that parents have been waiting for, to see their youngsters ski.

The train stops at the foot of the hill, leaving only a short walk to the chalet. In case of cold weather, the chalet is well heated and will accommodate everyone. A large number of senior members of the Ski Club has been organized to supervise and care for all children.

It is hoped that the parents will co-operate in making this outing for the children a success. They can best support the undertaking by leaving Saturday open and arranging to make the trip themselves.

Two events in the Junior Club championships will be run off on Saturday afternoon, namely, the slalom and downhill races.

We again stress the fact that any child with a pair of skis may go and it is not necessary to be a member of the Ski Club.

A substantial lunch would be in order as the fresh air and exercise make for big appetites. The lunch should be packed in a pack-sack or some convenient package, so that both hands are left free for skis and poles. In addition to lunch, hot drinks and other good food is available at the chalet at reasonable cost.

It would also be advisable to wear lots of warm clothes and good mittens. Wear a full ski outfit and then bring along an extra sweater or coat.

5 Ex-Champions In 2nd Round

WINNIPEG, Feb. 13 (CP)—Five former Canadian curling champions advanced last night to the second round of the British Consols event which decides the rink to represent Manitoba in the Dominion title event opening here March 4, the Macdonald's Brier Bonspiel.

Surviving champions of other years were Ab Gowanlock of Glenboro, Man., 1938 Brier winner, and Winnipeg rinks skipped by Gordon Hudson, 1928-29, Howard Wood, 1930, Leo Johnson, 1934, and Ken Watson, 1936. Ross Kennedy of Winnipeg, who represented Manitoba in the Brier last year but lost to Herbert Hall's Kitchener, Ont., rink, also survived the Consols first round.

Major victims were Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg, Manitoba Brier representative in 1936, Cliff Wise of Winnipeg, one of the favorites, and Bob Dunbar of St. Paul, Minn., only qualifying rink from outside Manitoba.

Cricket Notes

At this time of year club secretaries are getting busy arranging schedules for the coming season.

This year it is hard to say what will happen. The various Toronto clubs' ranks have been depleted by enlistments and many of the young Toronto cricket club players, well known locally, will be engaged on more serious business.

It is practically certain that the Toronto District Council will not carry on as at present, and a meeting has been called for February 20 to discuss the situation. The game will go on, but not under present league conditions.

It has been suggested that a six-club regional league be formed, consisting of clubs playing at or near the following grounds: Toronto C.C. (Armour Heights), Eglinton Park, High Park, Rosedale, Riverdale, and Dentonia Park.

As far as is known the two local clubs will carry on as usual and will probably benefit by being able to arrange additional fixtures with Toronto clubs which are released from strict league schedules.

A very interesting old sporting print has recently been placed in the Public Library. It is a large-sized engraving representing a cricket match played in Toronto in September, 1872, between a team of English amateurs, including the one and only W. G. Grace, against Twenty-two of Toronto. Grace is depicted going in to bat, always to be identified by his stalwart bearded figure, and the costumes of those far-off days seem very quaint to the modern eye. Playing three times in Canada, Grace scored 81, 73, and 142 against Twenty-twos of Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto.

This old picture for many years had a fitting habitat in the well-known "back room" of the late Sam Ray's tobacco store in Hunter Street, for the latter was known back in the 80's as one of Canada's outstanding cricketers. In 1879, 1880, 1881, and 1883 he played for All-Canada in the annual cricket test match against the United States.

In view of modern conditions, it seems strange that between 1844 and 1894, a more or less regular and official schedule of international cricket matches was played between Canada and the United States—the very first of all test matches. Records show 26 matches played, of which the U.S.A. won 16, Canada 8, and 2 were drawn.

CAPT. "MERT" PLUNKETT organizer of "The Dumbells" during the last war. Now supervisor of Concert Party Work for Canada's Overseas Forces, under the auspices of Canadian Legion War Services.

1916! A ruined barn or hall in France ... packed with Canadian troops. On the crude stage the lights go on. Scene follows scene ... the audience rocks with laughter. Strange happiness comes to lonely hearts. 'Tis like a breath from home, this evening of gaiety amid war's tragedy.

Concert parties such as those which played to capacity houses behind the lines in France during the last war, are essential again to the morale of the Canadian troops. The task of organizing and training such concert parties has been undertaken by the Canadian Legion War Services. Capt. "Mert" Plunkett, organizer of "The Dumbells," who is in charge of this work, is now in England organizing and training the men who will entertain our troops in England and France.

The Legion needs your help to finance this great work, to purchase costumes and equipment for these parties. Other vital needs of the troops which the Legion has undertaken to supply are as follows:

Home-like Facilities for Our Men Overseas

The Legion is establishing leave centre hostels in England and France. Here the men will be provided with beds and meals at nominal cost. Recreation and reading rooms will be available free of charge. Travel bureaux will be operated to assist men on leave.

Personal Services

Through its representatives in the field and its 1100 branches all over Canada, the Legion will help the men on service in the solution of worrying problems of a personal or business nature.

Educational and Vocational Training

In collaboration with the Canadian Association for Adult Education, an organization with a distinguished record, the Legion has undertaken a plan whereby Canadians on service may continue their training to fit them to take their places successfully in civil life after the war.

LOCK CO. EAGLES ELIMINATE LINDSAY IN THE SEMI-FINAL SERIES

Overtime Win On Round Is A Surprise

The local Lock Co. Eagles defeated Lindsay Battery by an 11-4 score in Omemee last night in an upset victory to eliminate the Scugog squad by one goal on the District Hockey League semi-final round. The Battery carried a 6-goal lead into this game from the first playoff tussle in Lindsay last week.

Last night's game, a redhot thriller, went into overtime to break the deadlock on the round, West scoring from Mortimer halfway through the first overtime period. The Eagles now meet Omemee Hawks in a three-in-five final series, winner to go into O.H.A. Intermediate B playdowns. First game will be on February 19 in Omemee.

Earned the Edge.

The Eagles had a 4-3 edge in the first period last evening, they made it 7-4 to end the second and had a 3-0 margin in the third to tie up the round, finally winning the series in the extra period, 11-4.

Play was fast, exciting and hectic, with the Lock Co. crew showing much improvement over previous showings to earn the decision. McNabb was brilliant in goal for them, while Gilbert, Mortimer and Cournyea stood out especially, but the whole gang played swell hockey in a battling display. The Battery toiled hard trying to protect their lead, but were outclassed this contest, Bolderstone, Wright, Cook, and Eberts going best for them. The teams:

Battery — Goal, Davidson; defence, Elliott and Coleman; centre, Cook; wings, Wright and Eberts; alternates, Bolderstone, Sharpe and Robertson.

Eagles — Goal, McNabb; defence, Cournyea and Prete; centre, Gilbert; wings, Burke and White; alternates, Pryde, Wildman, Johnson, West and Mortimer.

Norwood High Beats Campbellford 7-2 In First C.O.S.S.A. Playdown

NORWOOD, Feb. 13 (ENS). — Norwood High School's undefeated interscholastic hockey squad chalked up another victory on Monday evening at Norwood Arena, when they downed the Campbellford students 7 to 2 in their first game of the current C.O.S.S.A. playdowns. The winners thus grabbed off a five-goal lead to carry into the second game of this home-and-home series, which will be played in Campbellford this Thursday night.

Victors of this division will then encounter the winners of the Tweed-Stirling series in the northern section of this group to decide which team will enter the Central Ontario Secondard School Association hockey finals against Albert College of Belleville.

Led by their high-scoring defence ace, "Mickey" Puffer, the homesters held a distinct advantage over the visitors for the greater part of last night's tussle. Puffer notched four goals for the winners, while Green accounted for a couple and Nelson the other. Buck maintaining his record as a playmaker was credited with three assists. The Norwood boys worked well as a unit, their teamwork having become their best asset. Goalie Bongard, who made neat saves on several occasions, was afforded good protection throughout, Gardner doing a good chore on the blue line with some effective body-checking.

Outstanding for the vicitors was defenceman Joe O'Sullivan, the most aggressive player on the losing side. O'Sullivan scored the second and assisted on Campbellford's first marker. Metcalfe's exhibition in the cage was also exceptionally good while Paris, Dunk, McGregor and Richardson were most effective among the remainder of the visiting squad.

Although Norwood outplayed the visitors in the initial stanza they were successful in securing but one goal, Puffer getting this one at the twelve-minute mark.

Campbellford's play improved in the second. After five minutes Puffer seized Buck's passout for Norwood's second counter. When Puffer was hurt directly after this by a flying puck which struck him on the head, Campbellford began to press the attack on the supposedly weakened homesters. Norwood not only held off the visitors, but also popped home another goal, Nelson combining with Buck. Puffer had barely returned again before he tallied on another solo try. At this point Dunk accepted a pass from O'Sullivan for Campbellford's opening goal. Green nullified this before the end of the session, with Jarvis of Campbellford parked in the cooler for tripping Puffer.

Play was more even in the final canto, but Norwood added another pair from Puffer and Green, Buck assisting the latter. After several valiant efforts, O'Sullivan scored the visitors' second and last marker. Campbellford missed several fine chances by rather poor shooting. Richardson was penalized for elbowing Puffer this frame, and the game ended with Johnson of the homesters resting in the hoosegow.

The teams:

Campbellford — Goal, Metcalfe; defence, Jarvis, O'Sullivan; centre, Dmuk; wings, Lytle, Metcalfe; alternates, Thompson, Maxwell, McGregor, Richardson, Curle.

Norwood — Goal, Bongard; defence, Puffer, Gardiner; centre, Johnson; wings, Buck, Green; alternates, Cole, Morris, Nelson, Fife, Lemon, Lobb.

Referees — A. Rowe, Campbellford; R. Ennis, Norwood.

St. Peter's Win By 4 to 2 Over The Grads

St. Peter's copped a 4-2 win over the local Grads in their O.J.H.A. contest at the Brock St. rink last night. It was a fine tussle throughout with some good hockey dished up by both sides in a tight fray. Tonight at 8.30 in the Brock, Norwood Bees and St. Peter's tangle in a juvenile round-robin series game.

The game started with a fair crowd on hand and both teams dishing up some good hockey. The game feature was the brilliant goal minding of Reg. Leether in the Grads' nets. The Grads opened the scoring with Hallihan scoring from a scrimmage. From the face-off Eason broke away but Leether outguessed him, but on the next visit Eason made no mistake to tie the score on a pass from Chimenti. Huard scored later to give St. Peter's the lead.

At the opening of the second period St. Peter's broke away but were stopped by Dundas who slipped the puck to Robinson. He went right in on Mattucci and missed the net. St. Peter's regained the puck to miss several chances. Roberts went off for tripping and St. Peter's scored twice on goals by Garvey. This made the score 4 to 1 in favor of St. Peter's. The Grads missed a lot of chances through break-aways of Anderson, Robinson and Hallihan.

The third period was fast with the Grads having most of the play, but the passing was too wide. The second line of Ainslie, Cournyea and Batton were working hard but just couldn't get the puck into the net. At the 14-minute mark Ainslie scored on a pass from Batton to make it four to two. The Grads pressed hard for the remainder of the period but there was no further scoring.

Grads—Goal, R. Leether; defence, Dundas and Gillespie; forwards, Robinson, Anderson Hallihan; alternates, Woodgate, Batton. Ainslie, Cournyea, Agnew, Roberts.

St. Peter's—Goal, Mattucci; defence, Scriver, Curtis; forwards, Eason, Huard, Garvey; alternates, Routley, Mortimer, Hatton, Horton, Griffin, Clementi.

Referee—Leo Deadey.

WiseGuys Go Shy On Laughs Out Of Art Ross

BOSTON, Feb. 13. — (CP) — All those hockey managers who said they would make Art Ross eat his words haven't shoved much past the teeth of the quick-tongued Boston pilot yet.

Ross has his Bruins in position to gain a first-place tie in the National League standing tonight when they play Detroit Red Wings here. If they win, the Bruins will climb level with Lester Patrick's brilliant New York Rangers and will have a game in hand to go ahead.

Ross called his 1938-39 world champions the greatest he had seen in all his hockey experience. So the critics smiled when Art cut adrift such component part of that team as Charlie Sands, Ray Getliffe and then Eddie Shore and Jack Portland.

But here are the Bruins within easy knocking distance of the top and Ross' hecklers haven't had a chance yet to laugh out loud. With Captain Dit Clapper back on their defence after an absence through injury, the Bears seme ready to make long strides towards their second straight league championship.

Ross told observers that Milt Schmidt was one of the greatest centres of all time. The solid young centre from Kitchene, Ont., is leading the scorers by four full points and no manager who claims anyone greater than Schmidt can laugh at that.

George St. Juniors Get Playoff Spot

George St. edged in on the junior playoffs with an 8-1 Church League win over St. James at All Saints' rink last evening to end the schedule. They are now tied with Park St. and St. Paul's for third place. George St. were too fast for the young St. James' crew with C. Cockerel getting three goals, and E. Cockerel and Hamilton tallying two each, and Willshaw one. Close got the losers' goal, with B. Lawson their main threat. The teams:

St. James': Goal, Langton; defence, B. Lawson, F. Lawson; centre, Dafoe; wings, Close, Williams.

George St.: Goal, Smith; defence, Henry, Marsden; centre, Hamilton; wings, Willshaw, E. Cockerel; sub, C. Cockerel.

Referee—R. Gordon.

Remember When—

The comeback of Max Schmeling, deshroned world heavyweight boxing champion, suffered a setback six years ago tonight when Steve Hamas blasted out a 12-round decision over the German. Schmeling's campaign, however, seemed crowned with success when he knocked out Joe Louis in June, 1936, but the Brown Bomber answered with a one-round knockout in 1938.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEL PERDUE

So once again it's the Fliers and the Petes here, tangling tomorrow eve at 8.30 in the puck orchard on the Brock Avenoo. But this time it's definitely for keeps—being the first of the three-in-five playoff series. Winner hits into O.H.A. intermediate "A" provincial playdowns. Second joust will be back in Belleville on Friday and, if it should go four or five frays, someone might get the idea of running a special train to the Quinte town. Yep, the R.C.A.F.-ers will do no more fooling; they'll bolster as much as possible and have Corporal Gibson back in the net. They'll do their durndest to cop the first of the big money series.

* * * * * *

We still like the Petes to win it within four games. Maybe three straight—though you can't sell the Fliers short when the chips are down. They didn't look so hot here last tilt, but had a sub goalie who let in several soft touches. The speedy Petes should beat 'em here tomorrow, even with Gibson back—and even if they do bring Toots Day and one or two others in from other air camps (and we're not a bit sure that they will)—but it ought to be hot. Another wide-open, rough session with a huge crowd roaring throughout at the fast, bouncy action. Yeah, it'll be a typical torrid Fliers-Petes' playoff tilt, with old grudges coming to the fore. A right promising puck playoff and the place should be packed.

Netting The Rubber

Elsewhere this eve are listed the scoring averages of the Buckland band for the eight scheduled games. Bun Kingdon—who also won the baseball trophy last summer—heads the parade with 11 goals and 14 assists for 25 points. A fine showing for the classy first-string centre; about three goals or assists a game. Right back of him is Don Coughlin with 14 and six for 20, and the husky wingman has been playing consistent and swell hockey all season. Honey Tompkins follows with 19, then comes Eddie Starr with 15 and Art Heal with 14. The gang got 75 goals or about nine a game.

* * * * * *

Of the defencemen—who usually don't score many markers as their job is to keep rival snipers out of range—Jack (Smoke) Gardner again this year shows the way. He had five markers and aided on four for nine points, nor did he neglect his bumping chore, either. Ellis and Burton were next with six each, and Les has been shunted back and forth at times from a defence spot to a front-line berth. Yep, the gang had a big time in the schedule, banging the bootheel by the Messrs. Gibson, Driscoll, Hinton and Watt. If they can just keep on pouring the rubber in remaining tussles, no one in this neck of the woods will complain!

And So It Goeth

Peterborough Colts were stalled 8 to 3 last eve in Oshawa by the fast-stepping Bees of that community. 'Twas the first of the three-in-five O.H.A. group finals, return tussle being here come next Friday night. Score doesn't indicate the play at all, and we figure a 5-3 nod for Oshawa would have been about right; however, that doesn't matter as it's games not goals that count in this serial. The Colts were wobbly in the first period and outplayed, but held their own in a torrid middle heat and had an edge through the third. Were gypped on one goal and handed the visitors a couple or three. No particular standouts for the Weir lads, while the Bees' first line shone.

* * * * * *

Jock Bennett—who mishandled the intermediate fray here last time—was referee again, and he gets no better fast. Lets too much go, though he's honest enough. The tilt last p.m. nearly got out of hand and they were slugging, slashing and boarding all the way, with but few penalties passed out—the Bees getting most of those. Strickland was carried off the ice once after getting a stick deliberately on the side of the head, and the referee skated up to the offender and waved his finger warningly at him—but did not give a penalty! Oh, well, 'twas a most exciting skirmish all the way, and the Colts claim two things, (a) that they'll win here on Friday, and (b) that they'll whittle big Fritz Fraser (No. 3) down and bounce him goofy to pay back a bunch of bumps.

Eagles Fly High

Lindsay Battery was silenced with shocking suddenness in Omemee last night as the Lock Co. Eagles soared through for an 11-4 game victory to take the district semi-final series by one goal. And that in overtime. The Eagles were down six goals from the previous playoff joust but ganged up in a desperate gamble and fought the Scugogers right into the ice in a wild and woolly fixture. Congrats to Coach Ed Prete and his gallant gladiators—and we never expected 'em to survive this series. They now meet the Black Hawks of Omemee in loop finals, three out of five. First fray is in Omemee on Feb. 19th, and they may have the next one at the Brock. Winnah enters O.H.A. intermediate "B" playdowns.

Two church hockey games were played last night, but the ice wasn't clear in time for the bantam playoff of the first-place tie. So it'll be held tonight at seven. Junior section resembles the N.H.L. when it comes to playoffs, only one of six clubs (St. James) being out of the playoff series. St. Paul's, Park St. and George St. are tied for third. All Saints, finishing second, consented to drop back and enter a four-team elimination series. St. Paul's and Park St. play at 8.30 Thursday e'en, while All Saints and George St. meet at 7.15 Monday. The 2 winners have a semi-final game, ultimate winner entering finals 'gainst the top-place Mark St. crew.

Hither and Yawn: St. Peter's Juveniles nosed out a 4-2 O.J.H.A. win over the Grads in a tidy tilt last e'en at the Brock....There will be another nifty O.J.H.A. scrap at 8.30 tonight in the Brock betwixt Norwood Bees and St. Peter's....Last week's Industrial Puck Loop games—which were postponed—will be staged in the Brock St. rink this Thursday after supper, Packers playing Rays, Watercraft meeting Brintons, and Quakers tackling Westclox....Brinton Co. had a fine skating party last p.m., including a broomball game and a win for the married gees o'er the single birds; Westclox gals' puck team blanked Brinton lasses 3-0....The Lakefield juniors are off tonight for Lindsay in the first of their two-game "C" group semi-finals; return game is Thursday....Cobourg's "C" crew has a 10-goal semi-final lead as a result of a 12-2 win over the Hopers right in Port Hope....Ski tow at Bethany will be running Wednesdays as well as week-ends in future, provided enough skiers are on deck....Lindsay Battery was minus Stew Williamson last gloaming, having three subs to the Eagles' five....With no a.m. word of the Fliers-Belleville final scheduled game last eve (which didn't mean a thing, anyway) we suppose the thing was cancelled....Which seems to be the works today and a three a.m. touch calls for a quick getaway, huh?....Curtain.

Norwood Wins, 5-2

FRANKFORD, Feb. 13. — Norwood retained its lead of the Trent Valley League by winning last night's game from Bata by 5-2. It was fast, clean hockey, with only one penalty, and although Norwood is at the head of the procession right now, there is every indication that the rest of the campaign is going to be a mighty close race.

Murray St. Wins

After a scoreless first frame, Murray St. pulled away to beat St. James' 5-1 in a senior Church League game at All Saints' rink last night. Hopcroft and Mowry scored and then Red Watkins ran in two, with W. Shea counting once to make it 4-1 to end the second. Padgett and Hawkes counted in the third. It was the best and cleanest senior tilt this year, with the play tighter than the score shows. Murray St. had better teamplay and cashed in on chances. The Shea brothers shone for St. James', with all Murray St. going good. The teams:

St. James': Goal, T. Shea; defence, Meredith, English; centre, W. Shea; wings, Saunders, Lawson; subs, Hogan, Leggitt, Wood, Lackey, Evans.

Murray St.: Goal, W. Watkins; defence, Mowry, Dundas; centre, Hawkes; wings, Hopcroft, R. Watkins; subs, Padgett, Miller, Barnes.

Referees—R. Gordon and D. Meredith.

Sable Pekingese Top Dog Of N. York Show

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 — (AP). — In a fantastic world of sharp-eyed judges, gawping humans, throat sprays, powder puffs, and eyebrow pencils, the best examples of dogdom went on parade yesterday—and to-day a two-year-old nine-pound ball of fluff is the doggiest of them all.

Just arrived from England, a magnificent sable Pekingese won the best of breed from another foreign champion believed almost unbeatable — and immediately became a prime choice to replace last year's ch. Ferry von Rauhfelson of Girlalda as best in the show this year.

The newest sensation is Remenham Derri purchased by Mrs. Richard S. Quigley of Lockhaven, Pa., for a sum that guessers said might be as high as $7,500. Winner of a gold medal for being England's most victorious dog, Remenham Derri defeated ch. Che Le of Matsons Catawba, often regarded as the best Peke ever to show in the United States.

It was only 24 hours before Westminster opened on Monday morning that the winner arrived—after a bad three weeks in a stormy Atlantic crossing.

The first important winner of 1939 to take a beating was the Cairn terrier, ch. Pimpernel of Mercia, from the Brockville, Ont., kennels of Mrs. G. W. Hyslop. The Wilton, Conn., Tapscot Kennels' Jefe o'Tapscot won.

Canada scored several successes. The most outstanding was that of Reg. Sparkes' recent English importation, Basford Golden Nymph, said to have cost the Toronto exhibitor $12,000, and which won 61 ribbons in England in little more than two months. Basford Golden Nymph won the best bulldog award.

South Africa is buying many high speed trucks to transport troops.

Kingdon On Top Of Scorers With 25 Points

Bun Kingdon, starry centre of the Petes' first line, led the local O.H.A. intermediate "A" club in scoring this season with 25 points for the eight-game schedule. Kingdon banged the puck into the enemy cages 11 times and assisted on 14 more goals for his 25-point total. Next to him was Don Coughlin, classy wingman on the second line, with 14 goals and six assists for 20 points. Honey Tompkins followed with 19, Eddie Starr got 15 and Art Heal 14. The Petes averaged a bit over nine goals a game. Following are the averages for the schedule:

Player	Goals	Assists	Pts.
Kingdon	11	14	25
Coughlin	14	6	20
Tompkins	9	10	19

Stop Joe In Five Says Tony Offering $10,000

ORANGE, N.J., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Tony Galento, who says his eyes "are 100 per cent," offered to bet anyone $10,000 today that he'll stop Joe Louis in five rounds this July when they meet for the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

Galento spiked a rumor he was going blind, saying he'd match his eyesight with that of anyone.

At first, Two-ton Toney wanted Louis, his manager or his friends to make the bet. He changed his mind and opened the offer "to anyone who'll give me the prevailing odds."

"Louis is through, finished," he said. "He couldnt hurt (Arturo) Godoy, last Friday night."

When Galento was introduced from the Madison Square Garden ring last Friday night he struck his head against a microphone and some sports experts said that indicate his eyesight might be bad.

"The crowd give me such an ovation, I was excited," Galento explained. "When I swung my head around I didn't know the microphone was so low. Anyone could hit their head like that."

Britain will appoint artists to record the war at home and abroad.

COLTS DROP FIRST OF JUNIOR "B" PLAYOFFS TO OSHAWA BEES

Mic Macs Beat Terriers By 4-2 Score

TWEED, Feb. 13—(ENS).—In the poorest exhibition of hockey at the local arena this season, the Tweed Terriers were trounced by the Marmora Mic-Macs, 4-2, on Monday night. It was only the brilliant work of the goalies, particularly of Collary in the Mic-Macs nets that stood out in the play. His brilliant saves in the last period were the feature of the game, while Reeves in the locals' nets, proved a stone wall.

In the first period, both teams tallied, with Elsbury taking a three-way pass from J. Courneyea and Marsh to notch the first counter, however the Mic-Macs came back strong with G. Leonard taking a pass from Reynolds to tie the count. C. O'Neill went to the bench for interference, and Smith for tripping in this period.

In the second period, the Mic-Macs went into a two goal lead with E. Leonard taking a pass from G. Leonard to secure the first counter and G. Leonard taking a pass from E. Leonard for the second goal of the canto. H. Leal went to the box for tripping, while J. Tummon knocked down a minor and also a 10-minute misconduct penalty. Buskard also received a penalty for tripping.

In the last period, G. Leonard rounded the Terrier defence to increase the count to four goals. J. Courneyea took a pass from H. Long to end the scoring. Smith, hefty defenceman of the Mic-Macs received the only penalty of the period.

It was a valuable game, counting four points for the winners, as Marmora are only playing a single schedule. If the Terriers had come out on top of the game, they would have been leading the Norwood Hornets. This game gives the Marmoro boys a fighting chance to make things look interesting for the rest of the teams. Lineups:

Marmora.—Goal, Callory; defence, Smith, C. O'Neill; centre, G. Leonard; wings, Reynolds, E. Leonard; subs., Buskard, Johnston, Shannon, Provost.

Tweed.—Goal, Reeves; defence, J. Tummon, J. Orr; centre, J. Courneyea; wings, J. Marsh, H. Elsbury; subs., H. Leal, H. Long, . Wagar, A. Courneyea, E. Tummon.

Referees.—Cousins, Marmora; G. Quinn, Tweed.

Local Junior Puckists Defeated By An 8 to 3 Decision In A Lively Contest In Oshawa

Starting off slowly, the local Colts suffered an 8-3 setback at the hands of Oshawa Bees last night in the first game of their three-in-five O.H.A. junior "B" playoff series in the Motor City. About 200 fans saw a fast, rough tussle, with plenty of excitement.

The Weir squad failed to get going the first period but then settled down and made it a battle. The Bees deserved the win by about two goals in a lively struggle. The score was 3-0 for the homesters to end the first frame, and 5-0 for them going into the third. Only in the final heat did the Colts really click, to hold an edge on play, but they about held their own through the second.

It was a slashing type of tussle with Referee Bennett letting far too much go, both sides slugging, tripping and boarding all the way with several fights threatening. Strickland was carried off the ice in the third after getting butt-ended on the side of the head, and the Oshawa player was only warned. Parnell played but a short time, just getting over an illness. Pammett and Goalie Phillips almost came to blows once and Fraser and Craig nearly tangled again, with Foster and Raike pried apart late in the tilt. Of the nine penalties, the Colts drew three.

Worked Hard

There were no individual standouts for the locals, all the boys working hard. They appeared lost on the big Oshawa rink in the first frame and it took them half the game to get organized. They easily held their own from then on and outplayed the Bees through the third. Craig, Rochetta and Foster were probably the pick of the forwards, with Beggs and Vitarelli going good on defence. Phillips, Fraser, Peters, Reid, Jackson and Hewson all showed up well for the winners.

Early in the first Peters got in close to count on Reid's pass. Wade came close and play was up and down for a space till Raike went off for tripping. The Colts pressed but without avail till his return. Courneyea robbed Reid and then Jackson spit the defence smartly to make it 2-0. A Craig-Rochetta rush threatened and, when Jackson was gated for tripping, the locals tore in hard but could not score. Later, Hewson took a passout from Reid as they sent five up on a power play to make it 3-0 just before the bell.

Fans Cheer Colts

Fans were cheering for the Colts early in the second as the young Petes tore in ravagely and made it a battle. Play was fast and even this period, but Oshawa got another when Raike banged home an in-close forward pass from Fraser. Half a minute later, Hewson took Reid's pass around defence for another goal. Foster went off for boarding and Oshawa tried hard but failed to tally and, when Fraser was waved over for boarding, the Petes peppered Phillips hard. With all back, it got rougher and fast. Rochetta got the air for tripping but Courneyea kicked them out till his return, and play was fast and furious and fairly even at the end.

The Colts pressed most of the third, with Craig nearly notching one in close early. The Wade-Pammett-Foster line almost got one, too, as play got rougher and rougher, both sides carrying sticks high and slashing on every meeting. Rochetta and Craig teamed up on a fine stab and then Strickland was hit on the head deliberately with a stick, and was carried off as the referee warned Raike. Rochetta went around the net fast to sink one for the Colts and Craig got another shortly on a pass from Beggs. Peters got that back soon after on Hewson's assist at close range. Reid was sent off for tripping and Wade scored on Foster's passout to make it 6-3. Fraser was chased later for slashing and a Rochetta-Vitarelli try was close. Hewson scored a nice one on a breakaway and then Pammett was chased for tripping, followed by Peters for high-sticking. Reid got the last one late on Jackson's pass in close.

The teams:

Colts: Goal, Cournyea; defence, Beggs and Vitarelli; centre, Wade; wings, Foster and Pammett; alternates, Rochetta, Craig, Nichols, Mason, Strickland and Parnell.

Oshawa: Goal, Phillips; defence, Morris and Fraser; centre, Hewson; wings, Reid and Peters; alternates, Barber, McBrien, Raike, Jackson and Hinton.

Referee—J. Bennett of Toronto.

Two brilliant veterans of the N.H.L. have apparently come to the end of their professional careers as Montreal Canadiens announced that Marty Barry and Cy Wentworth have been given their outright release. Barry is shown (LEFT) in the uniform of Boston Bruins, while Wentworth is pictured in the uniform of the now defunct Montreal Maroons.

Playoffs Open At Brock Tomorrow Night

Trenton Fliers and the Petes open their O.H.A. intermediate "A" group final playoff series here tomorrow (Wednesday) night at 8:30 o'clock in the Brock St. arena. It is best three out of five games, the second tilt being in Belleville on Friday. The Petes finished on top of the schedule and earned the right for the first home game. This will be the fourth straight season these teams have tangled in group playoffs for Central Ontario, the Fliers winning the first time, and the locals copping honors the last two years. The group winner advances into provincial playdowns.

A huge crowd of city and district fans is expected to view the opening playoff game. These oldtime rivals, with no love lost between them, play a wide-open and rugged game. The Petes have had an edge so far this season, but the Airmen will have Goalie Gibson back in the net and possibly one or two new puckists brought up from Camp Borden or Ottawa. Both clubs will be playing for keeps this game, and it should be packed with action.

Ace Finn Runner Killed In Action

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Gunar Hockert, who won the Olympic 5,000-metre run in record time at Berlin in 1936 and later established world records for 3,000 metres and two miles, was reported to have been killed Sunday in fighting on the Karelian Isthmus.

Hockert was the second famous Finnish athlete to lose his life in the war with Russia. Birger Wasenius, ace speed-skater, was killed in action in December while leading a ski patrol across frozen Lake Ladoga.

Hockert won the Olympic 5,000-metre race in record time of 14:22.2 Later in 1936, he set marks of 8:14.8 for 3,000 metres, which still stands as a world record.

P.E.I. Big Four Rink Wins Third Crown

CHARLOTTETOWN, Feb. 13.—(CP)—The "Big Four" rink from the Charlottetown Curling Club won the Prince Edward Island championship for the third straight year last night, defeating Montague in a playoff sequel to the Island bonspiel.

The Capital quartet under Rankine McLaine beat out W. K. Wightman's Montague crew 14-2. The rinks had tied with three wins apiece in the bonspiel staged last week to determine a contender for the Dominion championship in the Macdonald's Brier competition at Winnipeg.

opportunity of earning a living," he said. To this end, he pledged himself to an unremitting effort to provide opportunity for our youth, irrespective of their creed, politics, social or economic status, to train them to occupy their rightful places of service and responsibility in the community."

The welfare minister and assisting voluntary committee would seek the help of business, educational, union, social and religious bodies through local and sectional advisory committees.

Dr. Manion said he planned to set up work centres along the lines of the civilian conservation corps camps in the United States. In addition, he would propose a scheme of apprenticeship in industry, assisted by a government subsidy, which would give young people an opportunity to learn a trade.

Business reasons—as well as empire sentiments and love of democratic liberties—demand that Canada's war effort should be wholehearted, Dr. Manion said.

If Britain and France were beaten, what would become of Canada's export trade, on which much of this country's prosperity depends, he asked. It might well be, he added, that Canada itself would be in danger if Hitler were victor.

"That is one reason why, now that we are in the war, we must do our very best, short of conscription, to aid in winning it," Dr. Manion said.

The Conservative leader made brief reference to an exchange of letters he had last March with Tim Buck, Dominion secretary of the Communist party of Canada, in which he had cited an encyclopedia definition of communist, in part, as emphasizing the "initial necessity of civil war."

A Prize For Hitler

If Hitler should win in this war, he said, Canada might well be the prize Germany would aim at, with its rich resources, huge areas and sparse population.

On the material side he pointed out that Britain was the world's greatest market for foodstuffs and many raw products abounding in Canada.

"Our huge exports to that country are of the utmost importance to us," he said. "In wheat, Britain imports about 200,000,000 bushels a year, of which we supply a goodly portion. In lumber, fish, nickel and other minerals, fruits, bacon and cheese, Canada is the source of supply to such an extent that that market is of vital importance to us.

"Should Britain and France be defeated by Germany, Britain would then be in the subservient position that Czecho-Slovakia and Poland are now. She would be a second-rate power, if a power at all, and our markets probably would be gone.

"Where would we sell our surplus products, a large proportion of which we sell now in the British market? That is a question that puzzles thoughtful men in all parts of Canada, especially those who are interested in exporting our products.

"Not only through sentimental attachment to the British Empire, not only because of deep affection for the liberties to which we are accustomed, but from the standpoint, as well, of our export trade and all its effects upon our various lines of business and industry, it is vitally important that Britain and her Allies must win this war."

Russian Hand Clear

Dr. Manion said Russia had at last declared itself as an aggressor in its invasion of Finland, showing it shared the objectives and methods of Hitler. Here he noted a perpetual willingness of the German people to be "bossed." They were a great people in Science, Arts and Literature, but there was "something wrong with a people that permits itself to be bossed that way."

Because of his criticism in the House of Commons and elsewhere of the Communist Party, The Clarion, former Communist paper, had dubbed him Canada's No. 1 enemy of Communism, he said. He felt sure all good Canadians, whether Protestants or Catholic, objected to Communism. He defined Communism as establishment of Socialism by force, by revolt, whereas the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation aimed to bring about Socialism by constitutional means.

Mr. Dewan, who joined in Premier Mitchell Hepburn's resolution criticizing the Dominion Government's war effort as "so little" in the Legislature last month, told Oxford Liberals: "I shall be without reservation whole-heartedly behind the candidate chosen at this convention."

Rennie Is Chosen

The convention chose A. S. Rennie of Tillsonburg, member for Oxford when parliament was dissolved last month. He defeated R. A. McDougall Woodstock barrister, and will be opposed at the polls by Charles Milton, Blenheim township farmer and Conservative candidate.

R. C. Deachman of Wingham, frequently heard in the House of Commons on financial and agricultural subjects, won the Huron North Liberal nomination again, defeating Miss Josie Saunders of Goderich and W. H. Robertson, editor of the Goderich Signal-Star, on the first ballot. Elston Cardiff is Conservative nominee in the riding.

Sam Factor, liberal member for Toronto-Spadina in the recently dissolved parliament, was nominated again.

W. W. Kennedy was chosen at a Conservative nominating convention to contest in the Dominion election the Winnipeg South Centre constituency he represented during the last Conservative administration. Ralph Maybank, Liberal, held the seat in the last parliament. J. E. Matthews, Liberal member of parliament for Brandon constituency, was nominated to contest the riding again as a Liberal.

Germans Fire

"We were proceeding toward Rio, expecting to arrive early Monday, when I suddenly realized we were going rapidly in the opposite direction," the Hawkins sailor said.

"One of the officers told me, 'We must be chasing the Wakama.' Then we saw her. But soon we saw fire coming from her, and we turned around and came back. I found out that the Dorsetshire which has planes aboard sent one of them over the Wakama and told the German ship to surrender.

"She didn't surrender, but the crew got into lifeboats, and the boat was set afire. We saw both the Dorsetshire and Shropshire afterwards.

Left Adrift.

"As far as I know, the crew of the Wakama is still in small boats, because in wartime when a ship sets herself afire, or scuttles herself, a warship has no obligation to rescue the men. At least, definitely they are not aboard the Hawkins."

The Hawkins was the only one of three cruisers to put into Rio de Janeiro.

The Brazilian passenger ship Bage and the Spanish steamship Arraiaga Kendi, both of which answered an SOS from the Wakama yesterday, reported they found nothing when they reached the position she had given about 50 miles off Cabo Frio, east of Rio de Janeiro.

The Wakama was the eighth German merchantman to leave a Brazilian port in an attempt to run the British blockade this year. Nine other Nazi freighters remain anchored in Brazilian ports.

Shortly before the Wakama sailed from Rio de Janeiro on Sunday night, the 5,846-ton Nazi freighter Uruguay left Recife with a cargo of foodstuffs.

Only One of 6 Sighted.

The six other German ships which have attempted to return to Germany are the Koenigsberg, Sao Paulo, Wolfsburg, Bahia, La Coruna and Santos. Only the Koenisberg has been reported sighted at sea. She was seen off the mouth of the Amazon 500 miles from Belem on Sunday.

Rear-Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, who commanded the three British cruisers that fought the Nazi pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, was aboard the Hawkins.

British officials declined to give any information on the Wakama, or her crew, and German officials said they did not know anything of the case.

There was no immediate indication whether the Inter-American Neutrality Committee, which recessed on February 2 for a month, would consider the incident within its scope. Whether a voluntary sinking would be considered a violation of the 300-mile "Pan-American" neutrality zone even if it took place within the zone, was not known.

again early next week, probably with a national network radio speech but the campaign is not expected to hit its stride for a week.

Last night the Prime Minister acknowledged receipt of numerous message of sympathy at Lord Tweedsmuir's death from many governments. These included the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Italian.

Lady Tweedsmuir received cablegrams of condolences from the King, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Anthony Eden, Dominions Secretary, and many personal friends in the United Kingdom.

Downtown Ottawa took on a sombre appearance for the state funeral. The Union Station, entrances to the centre block of the Parliament buildings and many store windows were draped in black and purple mourning. A fresh fall of snow during the night left the streets gleaming white in startling contrast.

Officers of the Canadian army, navy and air force wore black arm bands and all Dominion government buildings throughout Canada were closed this afternoon. Flags will remain at half mast until the official mourning period ends next Sunday night.

From three to six p.m. the body will be in state in the black-draped senate chamber, where Lord Tweedsmuir officiated in his official capacity.

The body also will lie in state from eight p.m. to 10 p.m. and during both periods thousands of sorrowing persons will file past the closed casket, which will not be opened at any time.

Two officers of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and two of the Governor-General's Foot Guards will maintain a 26-hour vigil at the casket, from shortly after noon until it is taken to the church tomorrow.

Among the officers is Lieut. Alastair Buchan of the Dragoon Guards, youngest son of Lord Tweedsmuir who will share in keeping the guard over his father's body.

Tomorrow at 2.10 p.m. the cortege will leave the Parliament Buildings for the state funeral in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. Alexander Ferguson, minister of St. Andrew's where His Excellency was an elder.

The church in downtown Ottawa a few blocks down Wellington street west of Parliament Hill, will be crowded with representatives of foreign governments and leaders of Canadian life, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative Leader Manion, for the service.

A motor hearse is to convey the body from the station to the senate and then to the church but the remains will be carried on a gun carriage to the Union Station following the church service. It will be taken to Montreal for cremation prior to the trip to Great Britain for interment. Possibly the ashes will be carried on a British warship.

for him a respect and affection which will never be effaced from Canadian hearts."

Those who knew Lord Tweedsmuir appreciated a kindly nature and a brilliant mind, said Mr. Hepburn, moving the resolution. His record as a public servant and of his contribution to England's literature would live forever.

"The commander-in-chief of Canada's defence forces has died on active service," said Col. Drew. "He gave his life for this country just as much as if he had fallen on the field of battle. Only the highest type of spiritual courage and physical endurance sustained him in his great task when failing health must have made the heavy responsibilities of his high office an almost intolerable burden."

Lovable And Friendly.

"He remained at all times the lovable and friendly Scotchman who conducted himself with the modest simplicity of the son of a Presbyterian minister," said Col. Drew.

Perhaps the greatest tragedy, continued Col. Drew, was that Canada would not have the benefit of the conclusions Lord Tweedsmuir would have been able to draw from his comprehensive study of every part of Canada.

"He was working on a history of our country which it is to be hoped can be completed by his literary executors. But my great personal hope is that his notes contain sufficient information for us to understand his thoughts as to the best way of dealing with the constitutional problems which have been disturbing us so greatly in recent years."

Lord Tweedsmuir stood for all that was best in democracy. No other system could have produced a man of such great attributes combined with such simple humility, said Col. Drew.

"His public life was founded on the strong rock of domestic happiness under the guidance of deep religious convictions which he had acquired in his own home. He stood before us as a living example of all that was good and decent, and worthwhile in the way of life that we are fighting today to preserve."

When the history of today is written, Col. Drew predicted that Lord Tweedsmuir would be said to have contributed more to national unity in Canada than any other man. To him Canada was indebted for the Royal Visit last year.

The Great Commoner.

Canada had looked forward to the day when Lord Tweedsmuir in his writings would immortalize Canada, said Premier Hepburn, rising to say he concurred in every thought expressed by Col. Drew.

"He became one of us and always remained the great commoner," said the Premier. "Britain has lost a great citizen and Canada a great Canadian."

Arthur Roebuck, Ind., Lib., Toronto-Bellwoods), said Lord Tweedsmuir was the very ideal personally for filling the exalted office which he took. In intellectual power, in grace of character and in ability as a thinker, he shone.

Hon. Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines, said the French-Canadians of Canada shared every sentiment of loss expressed by their fellow English-Canadians.

$4,000,000 In Planes Lost

The Germans' losses were placed at about $4,000,000 worth of planes and 200 fliers.

The figures were supplied to show Britain's efforts against the aerial bombardments by which Germany is attacking British sea supply lines. These attacks have averaged one a day since January 1.

Preparations for enlarging the coastal air defences were understood also to provide for intensified counter-attacks.

Britain would be at a disadvantage on this score, however, for she has 900 miles of threatened coastline, while Germany's exposed coast is only a little more than 100 miles long, much of it guarded by seaplane bases on islands.

Giving point to the coastal air patrol was the rescue last night of the 10-man crew of the British trawler Theresa Boyle, sunk by a German bomber Saturday.

A British plane sighted a lifeboat and directed a minesweeper to it off the northeast coast.

A mine or torpedo was blamed for the sinking of the 1,213-ton Estonian steamship Linda, reported last night. She was en route from England to Gothenburg, Sweden. The Linda's assistant engineer was reported injured fatally.

Cuba has banned the raising of food prices.

Reds Hammer On Despite Losses

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 12 — (AP). —Russian onslaughts against the Mannerheim Line in the furiously-contested Summa sector were continuing, the Finnish high command announced to-day, despite heavy losses by the invaders, which included 1,080 men and 72 tanks.

The 72 tanks, which the army said were destroyed yesterday, represented the greatest bag of these mechanical monsters since the war began on November 30. In addition, another tank was reported destroyed in the Kuhmo sector.

Infantry, tanks, artillery, and warplanes combined to continue the steady pounding of the line in the Summa sector, army advices said, at the same time as vigorous attacks were carried out against other Isthmus positions and north-east of Lake Ladoga.

The high command's communique said the Russians lost 380 men killed in a two-day battle in the Aittajoki (River) sector and 700 in the Kuhmo sector.

In the Summa region infantry fighting had diminished on Saturday. The comparative lack of activity continued into the early morning hours of Sunday.

At dawn on Sunday, however, artillery fire incerased sharply and again this morning, marking a new upsurge in the fighting there, advices from the front said.

New Britain, Conn., Feb. 13. A FIRE here sent in its own alarm. A telephone operator noticed a light flickering on her switchboard and notified police headquarters. Since the Day the Quins were born, Gentle Olive Oil has guarded each tiny body

GENTLE OLIVE OIL HELPED THE QUINS TO LIVE

The skin of each of the little Quins was blue... and almost transparent. That's because their birth was premature. And that's why Dr. Dafoe had to give them almost super-human care to keep them alive. Only warm, gentle Olive Oil would do to protect the skin of these five tiny mites.

SINCE THEN, PALMOLIVE, MADE WITH THAT SAME GENTLE OIL, KEEPS THEIR SKIN LOVELY...

The Quins love their Palmolive baths

When the time arrived for soap and water baths, Dr. Dafoe chose for the Quins' own soap, Palmolive, made with that same, soothing, gentle Olive Oil. Dr. Dafoe knew Palmolive would help protect the little Quins by keeping their complexions always refreshed, smooth... perfectly normal and healthy.

Surely if Palmolive keeps the Quins' skin in perfect condition, it can keep your complexion lovely too. Get several cakes of the new improved Palmolive today. You'll like its new mildness and perfume. It's harder too, lasts longer, saves money.

Tweed Youth Is Named Rhodes Scholar

Announcement that Herbert Leal of Tweed, fourth year student in the honor history course at McMaster University, had been awarded one of the two Rhodes scholarships for 1940, has thrilled all Hastings county.

"Buck" Leal possesses many friends in the village of Tweed, and has one of the most brilliant scholastic and athletic records ever recorded in the county, the News reports.

Selection of Canadian Rhodes scholars was temporarily suspended in September because of the war, but later the Rhodes trustees decided to make the usual annual awards in Canada and to issue special regulations limiting the use of the scholarships during the conflict. In general, the regulations provide that the student will not take up his studies at Oxford without special application, and unless he wishes to engage in special scientific research, medical studies, or other urgent work. Value of a Rhodes scholarship is about two thousand dollars a year, is tenable at Oxford University, and may be held for three years.

Brilliant Career At School.

Herbert Leal has had a brilliant scholastic career at McMaster, where he entered studies in 1936 after winning the Ontario Hockey Association scholarship, awarded on the basis of athletic record and matriculation standing. In 1939 he won the McGregor-Smith-Burr prize for the highest standing in honor English; the Governor-General's medal on the basis of studies, character and leadership, and for history and French he was awarded the A. G. Alexander scholarship of $780 for study abroad in the summer of 1939.

He is chairman of the Student Assembly committee and president of the Men's International Relations Club of McMaster. He has played on both rugby and hockey teams there and this year is captain of the hockey team. He has been intermediate intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion, and at present is one of the student officers in the McMaster Officers' Training Corps.

Born in Tweed 22 years ago, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leal, and received his early education there. During his high school career he won honors in every subject each year, was finally awarded the Warden's medal.

Rev. F. Horton Resigns At Fraserville

The official board of the Fraserville Circuit of the United Church met at Ballieboro on Monday, with a fine attendance. The resignation of the Rev. F. Horton was under consideration. Mr. Horton, who has been the pastor of this charge during the last two years, had intimated that the charge was altogether too heavy for him, and he must ask to be relieved at the ensuing conference. After much consideration the board decided to accept the resignation. A number present paid very high tribute to the most efficient work of Mr. and Mrs. Horton. It was moved by the recording steward and seconded by Charles Barnard "That we place on record our very best thanks to the Rev. F. Horton for the very able manner in which he has carried on the work of this circuit, and also to Mrs. Horton for her very capable assistance. The circuit has enjoyed a high standard of preaching from Mr. Horton, and the work was in a most satisfactory condition."

This was unanimously approved by a standing vote of all present.

Mr. Horton, who has served 32 years in the United and formerly Methodist Churches, will ask for another church at the conference.

Garbage Collection Asked In Monaghan

A petition from the North Monaghan Ratepayers' Association asking for the establishment of a garbage collection system in the suburban section of the township was submitted to the Council on Monday afternoon by H. B. Rye, president of the association.

This proposal has been broached before in North Monaghan, and has been gathering support from the residents. The Council yesterday did not have time to consider the petition, and left it over for another meeting. Quite a number of delegations and business of that kind extended the meeting into a night session.

The Council meets as a Court of Revision on Saturday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock, to consider any appeals against charges for the Charlotte street sewer and water main.

R. C. Braund Is Named Head Of Army Drive

Organization for the Salvation Army's Red Shield drive during the period from March 11 to 20 was advanced at a meeting Monday afternoon attended by many of those who have volunteered their services for this local campaign.

Officers chosen were as follows: Honorary chairman, Mayor Hamilton; chairman, R. C. Braund; vice-chairman, Carl A. Salmonsen; treasurer, Lieutenant-Colonel R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne; publicity chairman, H. L. Garner; list committee chairman, Chas. Lacheur; special names committee chairman, Gordon S. Matthews.

The objective of the Red Shield appeal in Peterborough is $10,000, and will provide for the Army's war work, Self Denial and Harvest Festival, combining the two latter annual collections with the emergency effort of providing special aids and service for the men of the Canadian forces, and thereby avoiding any other appeal this year.

Service clubs of the city were represented at Monday's meeting with business and professional men and others who have expressed a wish to help in ensuring the success of the Salvation Army's campaign.

NO ACCIDENTS

Although the weather conditions Monday night were almost an invitation to accidents no mishaps were reported either on city streets or neighboring highways.

SNOW REMOVED

Once more the Board of Works staff had an all-night battle removing snow from the downtown streets. The grader was used to good effect and driving conditions today were greatly improved.

NO POLICE COURT

Today was an absolute blank in police circles and the doors of the court room were not even opened to the public. White gloves for Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., were the order.

ON SPECIAL WORK.

Capt. J. G. Armstrong of the Prince of Wales Rangers is now engaged in special work with headquarters company of the unit. His new work made it necessary for him to relinquish the post of Adjutant of the regiment, notice of which was recently contained in district orders.

PINKISH GLOW

A variation to the routine mail flowing through the post office today was the pleasantly pinkish reminder of the approach of St. Valentine's Day. Most of the letters were sent on their way, but there were many others arriving this afternoon for delivery on Wednesday.

NO CLASSES AT NORMAL

No classes are being taught at the Peterborough Normal School this week, for all pupils are out teaching classes of their own in city schools. Some time ago all went into country schools to teach, and now has come the turn of city pupils to see what next year's teachers are going to be like.

FOR KINGSTON'S PARKS

Alderman Stocker may be interested in a news item that the parks committee of Kingston's city council is asking for an appropriation of $13,605, plus $2,500 for improvements at its Lake Ontario Park. The proposed improvements include running water for toilets and showers in thirteen cabins, for which an extra charge would be made to tourists.

WOULD INCREASE BOUNTY.

Charlie Khgan suggests that deer hunters should subscribe to a fund from which an additional bounty on wolves would be paid. He said the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association would supervise the distribution of the extra bounty money in this county.

ENTERS CONVENT

Miss Kathleen Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Doris, 489 Bolivar street, has entered Mount St. Joseph here as a postulant. Miss Doris is one of Peterborough's only triplets, all of whom are now 21 years of age. She is also the only girl among the three. The other two are Robert and Michael.

REMOVING VOTERS' LISTS.

Warning of the penalties connected with disturbance of voters' lists pinned up about Peterborough, is receiving scant attention of McDonnel Street, west of Aylmer, where entire pages have been torn from one list pinned to a post. The pages were fluttering about on the street yesterday afternoon.

TAX RATE DELAY.

City Council's progress with the estimates and tax rate, comprising what deserves to be called the 1940 budget, has been suspended until Premier Hepburn announces this week whether the municipalities are to receive any aid from the Provincial Government as a consideration for the income tax that was formerly collected by municipalities. The Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet on Wednesday evening, and there may be others following during the week.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE LARGER

More people are going to church since the Peterborough Laymen's association made a complete check-up of religious affiliations of all residents of this city, L. J. Pettit told a large audience at the annual meeting of the association Monday night. He said that since the last meeting a committee has looked over the assessor's rolls to see with what church each person in the city is associated and ministers have called on those not in attendance. As a result many, and particularly young married couples, are regular church attendants now.

Lord Tweedsmuir's Kawartha Trip Is Happy Remembrance To Many

(By Jack Peterson)

This recollection of Lord Tweedsmuir was held up a day because many more important ones kept coming over the wire all day Monday and a minor one wouldn't have been read in yesterday's Examiner.

Perhaps there is some value in it, though, for it is a recollection of him in this Peterborough district. It was in 1938 that he visited this city and sailed three days over Champlain's old route in the Kawarthas. As a reporter and photographer, I covered that trip for the Examiner and Canadian Press, and found the assignment one of the most enjoyable imaginable.

It was easy work once entrance to the Bessie Butler was gained, and for three days I lolled about the boat, reading and sleeping for the most part. The captain turned over his quarters to me during the days and because his was the only bed aboard—the others had bunks — I made full use of it. The cook brought up mid-afternoon lunches of chicken and pie and milk and the second engineer woke me up every time the Bessie Butler came to a lock where crowds were waiting for His Excellency.

There was no crowd aboard the Bessie Butler that trip—only His Excellency, his secretary, his aide-de-camp, A. L. Killaly, the crew, and this reporter. The first day Kenneth Mackenzie was aboard, too, and Lord Tweedsmuir spent most of the time talking to him, both seated on the top of the captain's bridge just under the flagpole. It was a pleasant day and everyone could see Lord Tweedsmuir gradually becoming less diffident, enjoying the trip more and more every minute.

He seemed in great good humor, although that was a permanent characteristic, and as the boat passed lock after lock he waved to crowds that lined the shore. At stopping points, even on the second day when it was raining, he was always courteous and seemed to realize that these hundreds had come from far off to see him, and he always jumped ashore unaided to talk to them.

But perhaps most characteristic was his unfailing courtesy to tiny groups. Sometimes the boat passed a tiny lock where only a dozen, or fewer, young pupils stood waving flags. Even on that wet day, when such a thing happened, he came quickly out of his cabin and smiled and waved to them—and then shouted out that there was to be a school holiday.

Sometimes, too, he would see farmers standing in little groups at such a tiny lock. To them he would call out a greeting in Gaelic, and if the answer came back in Gaelic, as it sometimes did, he laughed as though he were highly delighted and looked back after his fellow countrymen as the boat passed on its way.

The Bessie Butler boasts a most comfortable nook at its curved stem and I used to lie there reading in good weather. Occasionally Lord Tweedsmuir would come down there from his cabin to talk to me. The first time he did so was to find out what book I was reading. It was one of Thomas Hardy's—his Tess of the D'Urbervilles, if memory serves right. Lord Tweedsmuir started to talk then about Hardy, who had been one of his closest friends. He went on from Hardy to talk about other great men in modern English literature, men like Galsworthy and Shaw and Chesterton, all of whom, and many another, he knew intimately. I remembered then a thing that is often forgotten about John Buchan in light of his "pot boiler" novels—that Buchan was one of the great literary minds of his generation, that his books on literature were for many years used as textbooks in most English-speaking universities, and that his biographies were works of keen research and good writing. To hear him talk of the brilliance of Hardy's mind in old age, of the rapier wit of bulky G. K. Chesterton was a rare privilege indeed, one not soon forgotten.

One story he told me on that trip is pertinent at this time when all are talking of the sincerity of his religious belief. It was about Hardy's philosophy of life as expressed in his novels—which some critics have described as a cynical disbelief in man's goodness and God's being. Such a philosophy must have met with little favor in Lord Tweedsmuir's mind. In any case, he told and I don't recall ever having seen it printed—a quip by G. K. Chesterton on the subject. "In his philosophy," Lord Tweedsmuir reported Chesterton as saying, "Hardy always reminds me of the village atheist talking to the village idiot."

Civic Memorial Service For Lord Tweedsmuir Planned For St. Paul's Church On Wednesday

Citizens of Peterborough will express their sorrow over the death of Lord Tweedsmuir when they attend a public memorial service in St. Paul's Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

Mayor James Hamilton made the announcement today that the civic service will be held. It has been arranged to give Peterborough citizens an opportunity of joining with the rest of Canada in honoring the memory of a great man who contributed much to our Dominion, Mayor Hamilton said. Men and women of all religious persuasions will be present.

Lord Tweedsmuir was a Presbyterian, and was an elder in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Ottawa so that the choice of St. Paul's church here was a fitting one in which to hold the city's memorial service. Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr will deliver the memorial address.

The city officially joined the rest of the Empire yesterday in expressing its sorrow. Mayor Hamilton, on behalf of the citizens, sent a telegram of condolence to Lady Tweedsmuir and her children, through the Governor-General's secretary.

Ministers of many denominations will take part in the service. Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church and Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park Street Baptist Church will read Scripture, and Rev. Canon W. F. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church and Adjutant Buckley of the Salvation Army will offer short prayers. Benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Mr. Craik.

Revision Courts Are Arranged For Voters' List

The first stage in the enumeration of electors for the preparation of the voters' list for the Federal election in Peterborough riding has been completed, Vincent Eastwood, returning officer, stated to-day, and the next step will be the receiving of applications at two local revisional courts for any corrections which should be made.

Two courts will be held in the city, one in Judge Smoke's Chamber with Sheriff John A. Harstone presiding, and the other in the City Council Chamber, where W. F. Huycke, K.C., will preside on March 12, 13, and 14. In the parts of the riding outside the city additions to the list will be received at places designated by the appointed enumerators on March 12.

Mr. Eastwood remarked that quite a number of citizens do not give the help to enumerators which would enable them to turn in perfect lists. Some gave the initials of their christened names instead of their full and complete names, and there were other little obstructions which had to be corrected before some of the lists were accepted. The sheets of names will be given to the printers, and in due time, to be announced, copies will be hung up in public places where electors can make sure that their names have not be omitted. Then, if there have been omissions, the revisional courts will correct them by adding any names that have been left off.

The Rambling REPORTERS

YES, HE GOT IT OUT OF A BOOK

The Rev. G. F. Kelly, the pastor of Lakefield United Church has given the following story told on himself. A gentleman of sound literary tastes and a fine elocutionist he went to a great deal of trouble during the festive season to provide for his flock a dramatic recital of the immortal "Christmas Carol". He memorized Dickens's masterpiece and gave a splendid interpretation of it. Most of his congregation were loud in their praise but one super-critical lady thought she had discovered a fly in the ointment. "I liked it, yes", she told a friend, "but I'll bet you anything he got it out of a book."

Mr. Kelly is a regular player with the Peterborough Cricket Club and enlivens many long road trips with his wit and humor.—C.I.

Second Form Pupils Provide 'Lit' Program

NORWOOD, Feb. 13 (ENS). — The Literary Society of Norwood High School held a meeting on Friday afternoon. The meeting opened with President Isabel Sargent in the chair and the singing of "O Canada." Olga Metcalfe read an interesting school paper.

The president turned the program over to Second Form, with Margaret Hope and David Lemon, the Form representatives, being responsible with David Lemon acting as chairman.

The first number was an amusing chorus by the Form, with Ferne Preston accompanist. A skit by Mr. Bergen and Charlie McCarthy followed, Mr. Bergen's part being acted by Douglas Barker. Margaret Hope and Ruth Thomas then gave a piano duet.

A one-act play, entitled "The Thought Machine," given by eight of the students, was much enjoyed by all. The critic's report was given by Isabel Birdsall.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, with Doreen Graham at the piano. The next meeting will be held on February 23, when Form III. will put on the program.

Church Laymen Can Solve Social Evils

Responsibility for solution of mounting social evils caused by economic upheaval, was placed squarely on the shoulders of the laymen of the country Monday night by Rev. Canon W. W. Judd, secretary of social service in the Church of England. He was speaking at the Y.M.C.A. to the annual gathering of the Peterborough Laymen's Association, which filled the banquet hall to capacity.

No government, he maintained, nor any civil agency, can bring about the solution to the problem of man's distress in this age, unless its efforts be backed by the resolute assistance of laymen of all Christian churches. He saw in such a work a law laid down by Jesus Christ, for, he pointed out, the Christ came not only to save human souls, but to save human bodies. Christian men and women, he enlarged, have come to see that the salvation of the soul at times almost depends on the salvation of the body. And while the governmental agency can alleviate distress caused by hunger or lack of clothing, it can never give the intimate relationship that is necessary to bring about complete rehabilitation and faith.

Breakdown in Moral Life.

Greater danger he saw from the tremendous effect of mass unemployment in this country was a severe breakdown in the moral life of the people of Canada. This, he maintained, was a very real danger, one that was seen in its fullest degree by the clergy of large centres. Material values, the value of things, that can be seen and bought, are becoming of greatest account is the thinking of vast numbers of people he argued, and a change can only be brought by the good will and the determined effort of great bodies of laymen.

But laymen have not yet realized the vital importance of this swing to materialism and it is difficult to bring them to its realization ,he claimed. In spite of that attitude of unconcern, social service work by the government must be the concern of the church and of church groups. For in such a way only is the essential spirit of fellowship inculcated into the drab work of governmental help. That spirit of fellowship is an essential, because the unemployed as well as the delinquent is an enemy against so-

This week the Peterborough Red Shield Auxiliary, which is under the leadership of Mrs. N. Buckley, has forwarded eighty-four articles to Toronto headquarters, including knitted socks, sweaters, mitts, wristlets, scarfs, etc. There are thirty women in the group who meet in the Salvation Army Temple through the week, and recently have been assisted by fifteen women representing a church group, and members of the 1st and 2nd Company Guide Troops. This is only one of a number of shipments the organization has made since fall, and its output of soldiers' supplies is only limited by its lack of funds for wool, which, however, was considerably augmented Monday evening by an entertainment presented in the Salvation Army Temple by Guide, Guard and Brownie Troops.

Do You Know?

Constant contact with water often renders a wooden draining board soft and slippery. Try this treatment. Get the wood as dry as possible, then rub linseed oil into it. When this is done apply a coat of liquid wax. If this coat is renewed every month or so the board surface will be made impervious to moisture.

If your leather handbag has become shabby, marked and scratched, it can be made like new by rubbing thoroughly with vaseline, going well into all marks. Allow the vaseline to soak in, wipe, then polish with furniture polish. All the marks will have disappeared and you will have a "new" bag for nothing.

We Noticed

. . . Pussy willows are stirring in their dreams, crocus scouts will soon be out—one reason, perhaps, why several flower hats noticed at a tea Saturday looked so perky and delightfully "right" against a background of early spring flowers that added fragrance and brightness to the rooms.

. . . One arresting little model was nothing but several bands of material matching the pretty grey frock of its wearer—it was the gay little bouquet of flowers perched on the front that summed up its charm—chief among the posies were colorful clover blossoms.

. . . The new, florist-fresh prints appearing in shop windows are taking on a new interest, too—they seem to express the sum and substance of spring somewhow. They are pretty above the bridge table, a bright spot at the office, and just what is needed for travelling and doing all the things you do during the late winter and early spring season.

St. John's W.A. Welcomes New Members

Two new members were welcomed by the president, Mrs. W. J. Downer, at a meeting of the Evening Branch of the W.A. of St. John's Church on Monday evening. They are Mrs. E. Halliwell and Mrs. M. Dunkerly.

The W.A. hymn, "The Love of God constraineth us," and the reading of the Litany, opened the meeting, and the Bible reading was given by Mrs. J. Bell. Reports were read by the secretary, Miss A. Stout; the treasurer, Mrs. Milburn, and the Dorcas convener, Mrs. B. Ottewell.

An item of interest included in the report of the Diocesan Board was the sum of $100.00 voted for a furnace to be installed in St. Andrew's Church at Shellbrook, Saskatchewan. This report was sent to the local branch by Mrs. Ross of Toronto, and included also the monthly bulletin in which a suggestion was made that members make some small articles for the empty stall at Toronto during the Lenten season. Fees and pledges were collected, and lists read concerning outfits for Indian girls and boys.

Announcement was made of the Dominion Diocesan Board meeting, which is to be held on March 12 and 13 at St. John's and All Saints' Churches. There will be 24 delegates, and every member of the W. A. is requested to keep these dates in mind.

The Extra-Cent-a-Day Fund was collected by Mrs. F. G. Marshall in the ebsence of Mrs. J. W. Bryett. The study book was reviewed in a clearly defined and understanding manner by Miss M. Lancaster.

The Members' Prayer concluded the meeting. Tea was served by Miss E. Cheverill and her committee during the social period which followed.

CENTRAL SCHOOL

In observance of the usual custom that February meetings observe "Founder's Day," the Central Home and School Association meeting was devoted to this theme on Monday evening. Mrs. B. Fowler presided, and the large attendance and splendid program befitted the worthy occasion. Many past presidents were present by special invitation. The meeting opened with the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers," and The Lord's Prayer. Two minutes' silence was reverently observed in memory of the late Lord Tweedsmuir.

Rev. D. Lavis, as guest speaker, received rapt attention in his address, "The need of more religion instruction in schools." The speaker gave his own ideas of three ways in which this could be effectively carried out in order that more time might be given to religion than the present curriculum calls for.

A candle lighting ceremony was held in honor of the twenty-first anniversary of the founding in Toronto of Home and School Associations by Mrs. C. Courtice. A handsome white-iced birthday cake graced a lace-covered table at the head of the room. On it was placed five candles which signified the following: First, for Mrs. Courtice and lighted by a child, Joan Miles; second, in memory of two presidents who have passed on, Mrs. F. Miller, and Mrs. W. Flannery; third, for the National Federation of H. and S. clubs, lighted by Mrs. E. Wand; fourth, for the Provincial Home and School Clubs, lighted by Mrs. J. H. Quirt; fifth, for Central Home and School, lighted by the president, Mrs. B. Fowler.

A fitting tribute was paid to the life and work of the late founder in a paper read by Mrs. H. Borland. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe sang two vocal numbers - "My Task," and "My Mother's Old Bible." Mrs. Leeming read the H. and S. creed. Mrs. W. Boorman and Mrs. Parr were piano accompanists during the program. Mrs. Quirt proposed a vote of thanks to those taking part in the program.

Business included reports from the various sources. It was decided to change the monthly meeting to the second Tuesday of the month. The roll was called and the attendance prize won by Miss Stout's room. Mrs. H. Borland, Mrs. N. Stanger and Mrs. Poulson were appointed as a committee to carry out local work in regard to the election of provincial officers.

A tea which was held at the home of Mrs. P. Gray and convened by Mrs. R. Wilson was appreciatively mentioned as being very successful. The proceeds will buy a china tea service for use in the school.

The collection was in aid of the Courtice Memorial Library. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

A service of delicious refreshments, which included sandwiches and the birthday cake, were served by Mrs. Beattie, the social convenor, and her assistants.

Plan Meetings To Interest Women In Issues of Day

In order to arouse a deeper interest among women of the city in the issues of the day, and in the exercising of their franchise, the Local Council of Women has appointed a committee, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. W. H. Morton and Mrs. J. Low, to make arrangements for a public meeting at which each known candidate will be invited to present his platform, although no candidate will be expected to speak in the presence of another.

Any questions which the women may wish to ask in regard to the speakers' remarks are to be answered at the committee rooms, thus avoiding any form of debate during the public meeting, which is being held solely for the purpose of making women "voting-conscious" and aware of the advantages for which they vote.

The time and place of the meeting has not yet been set by the committee, but it will be announced at as early date as possible.

Link Trainers Being Built For R.A.F.

A million-and-a-half dollars are being spent in the little Ontario town of Gananoque to build planes that will never fly. The money is being spent by the British Air Ministry on 200 Link trainers, the stubby, motorless "planes" used to teach young pilots of the Royal Air Force the intricate problems of piloting the modern fighting planes of the R.A.F.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Needs to Be Praised and Petted Just as Much After Marriage as She Was During Courtship Days, if You Would Keep Her Happy and Contented.

Dear Miss Dix—I am the victim of a wife who is 100 per cent unreasonable and unappreciative, for she is going to leave me for the following foolish reasons: First, because I never tell her any more that I love her. Second, I never give her a compliment. Third, I never seek her company and am just as happy alone. Fourth, I am a tightwad. For these reasons she says I don't love her any more. But, it is all a lie. I adore her. But I told her several times before we married that I loved her and thought she was beautiful, and I see no reason to repeat this to her. I am a German and we don't waste time on crazy talk like that. I refuse to give her compliments because that gives woman folks the big head and makes them think they can attract other men. I don't run after her company because she has her work to do and I would just be in the way. I know where she is and I am happy. I am not a tightwad. What more can a woman want than good food and clothes? Yah, yah, my mother was not such. Anyway, I love her and can't lose her even if she has strange ideas. What can I do to make her into the right kind of wife? ALBERT

ANSWER:

Well, Albert, what about tackling a little job of making yourself over into the right sort of husband? If you do that, I think you will work a sort of double-barrel miracle and find that you have changed your wife from a dissatisfied woman into a contented one.

Look at it this way. If you saw your wife starving to death, wouldn't you rush out and get her all the food you could carry? You know you would. Now your wife is perishing right before your eyes for love and tenderness and appreciation. Can't you see that the only way you can keep her love for you alive is to feed it on kisses and soft talk, or otherwise it will die. Maybe it is foolish for wives to want their husbands to tell them that they still love them, as they did during the days of courtship. But when a wife quits asking her husband "do you love me?" it is time for him to begin to get scared, because it shows she has got to the place where she doesn't care whether he loves her or not.

Maybe it is silly for a wife to want her husband's companionship and to feel that he likes her to be near him, even if he isn't very entertaining, but that is just the way the poor creatures are built, and it does not bode their husbands any good when they prefer the radio to their Johns.

But you are all wrong, Albert, about it swelling the head of a wife for her to get a compliment from her husband. It doesn't do that. It just puts fresh pep in her and makes her work the harder to please him. You know yourself how it perks you up when the boss gives you a pat on the back and how you slack down with that what's-the-use feeling if all your good work goes without notice.

Don't let this good wife of yours get away from you. Just repeat that courtship program that she fell for in the first place and it will still work.

Spoil Your Husband at Right Time

Dear Miss Dix—I am about to be married and a number of older women who have been through the matrimonial mill, so to speak, have warned me about getting off on the right foot when I marry and not to spoil my husband. They say that if a woman begins pampering her husband at first she will always have to do it and it will end up by her being a slave to him. Do you think this is true? ALICIA.

ANSWER:

It depends upon what you call spoiling. Certainly a young wife gets a bad start in marriage if she makes a doormat of herself and lets her husband wipe his feet on her and kick her around when he feels the need for something on which to vent his spleen when he is irritated. Every bride should take her stand on such fundamental matters as courteous treatment, being spoken to at least as politely as the cook, and a definite fair share of the family income.

It is essential that these things should be settled once and for all during the first year sof marriage. For in that time the husband forms the habit of treatment of his wife that he will follow as long as they live together.

But after that husband-spoiling is a wife's best bet. Whether he admits it or not, every man likes to be the household pet, the one who is catered to, whose tastes and pleasures are the wife's first consideration. Every husband likes his wife to make love to him, to flatter him and to show her appreciation of all he does for her. And if this is petting, make the most of it.

Marriage Better Than Loneliness

Dear Dorothy Dix — Five years ago our father died. Our mother had been just one of his possessions, such as his car or his watch. She never had any real happiness with him. He wasn't even a good provider and many a time we lacked for food until I became old enough to support the family. My mother is now 60 and a man has come into her life. He is a plain man, but a good worker, devoted to our mother, thinks of all the little things that women like and that our father forgot. He gives her presents, takes her places and appears to love her very much. They wish to marry. All the other children except myself are very much against this marriage. They say this old man sees a chance to get a good home and is just playing our mother for a sucker. I don't agree with them. Knowing her past life as I do, I feel that if this man can give her companionship and happiness for the declining days of her life I would like for her to go ahead and marry him. What shall we do? WORRIED SON

ANSWER:

I'd say let your mother marry the man. You children are all married and have your own homes. Why not let her have hers? Sixty isn't so old in these days, and the chances are that she and her elderly lover would have many happy years together.

DOROTHY DIX.

Children's Coughs Quickly Relieved

It is hard to keep the children from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly clad; have on too much clothing and get overheated and cool off too suddenly; they get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes at night. The mother cannot watch them all the time, so what is she going to do?

Mothers should never neglect the child's cough or cold, but on its inception should procure a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss.

Program Given In Aid Of War Work Funds

In spite of Monday evening's unpleasant weather, over 300 filled the Salvation Army Temple for the Guide, Guard and Brownie program, held for the purpose of raising money to buy knitting supplies for Red Shield Auxiliary war work. Mrs. N. Buckley was chairman for the program, which was arranged by Mrs. Wm. Jones, assisted by Mrs. R. Whalon, district Guide Captain, and Guide leaders.

In full uniform, Guides, Guards and Brownies, numbering over 150, filed onto the stage from the four entrances to brisk music by the Senior Temple Band, and united in an impressive chorus, "Onward Guards of Jesus."

The work of the small Brownies during the program was particularly good, and received much hearty applause. Pyramid building by Guides and Guards, smartly garbed in brief scarlet and navy tunics, was a very finished and clever exhibition of skill, and one of the most outstanding features of the program.

In honor of the Red Shield Auxiliary, a fine poem composed by Moira Whalon of 1st Company Guides, was read by the young author.

A camp fire scene was the concluding number. Lights were lowered, and the glow of the camp fire lighted eager young faces of Guides, Guards and Brownies as they gathered around it, the Guides and Guards to sing "At the End of a Perfect Day," the Brownies their theme song, "It's a Good Thing to be a Brownie," and a very tiny Brownie to recite touchingly, "God Bless Our Soldiers."

The Temple band supplied excellent music throughout the entire program.

Home and School

and School Council, guest speaker, outlined the history of these organizations, of which there are now 400 in Ontario, with a combined membership of 25,000. She also spoke of the life and worthwhile work of the founder, the late Mrs. C. Courtice.

An impressive candle lighting service was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. Wheeler, assisted by past presidents of the Association.

Tea was served from a table covered with an ecru hand crocheted cloth. Daffodils formed the centrepiece, and at each side tapers in the school colors of purple and gold were arranged in step effect. Forming a background for the striking table arrangement, planned by the teachers of the school, was a replica in color of the Home and School crest. Presiding at the silver tea service were two past presidents, Mrs. A. Pearson and Mrs. W. Carter. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. R. Leach, social convener, and members of her committee.

A delightful music program, with Mr. W. R. Potter at the piano, and Miss M. Brown, a teacher of the school, presiding, was as follows: Instrumental, Henry and Cyril Robinson, "Playful Rondo"; vocal solo, Mrs. E. Frizelle, "Green City"; piano solo, Ernest Lee, "Dance on the Green"; vocal solo, Miss B. Curtis, "My Task."

BETHANY

Mr. J. C. Cumiskey held a very successful auction sale of his farm stock and implements preparatory to retiring as a farmer, and reports the result very satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Cumiskey and their two young daughters will be much welcomed in the village as permanent residents.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, February 14.

A very lively and ambitious day, but not without its setbacks and dangers, is forecast. While things may move at high pressure, there also will be tenacious obstacles and delays to reckon with. The mind will be well stimulated for really creative work.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy an interesting and eventful year, with much progress and ingenuity. But be prepared for some delays, probable postponements and tenacious obstacles.

IN MEMORIAM

KEMP.—In loving memory of my dear husband, who passed away February 13, 1938.

He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year
In my lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er me,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Ever remembered by his affection wife, Victoria Kemp.

MORE ABOUT—
Church Laymen

ciety—a man angry, suspicious, and full of bitterness. Only fellowship can save him, Canon Judd declared. "He can only be reached by men of the church going down into the slums to carry the message of simple friendship to people deprived of the rights of ordinary living.

Challenge to Laymen.

And he maintained that to do so was a duty inherent in Christianity. "Christian social service," he said, "is merely an extension of the pastoral office of the church." It is the particular challenge the church offers to laymen to-day — "you must be the hands and feet of the church"—because the clergy itself can reach only a small group of suffering humanity.

He pointed out that 47,000 men and women went to prison in Canada last year and asked, "What do any of you men know of that thing?" The church has a prisoners' and welfare society whose members say, with one voice, that their great need to succeed in the task they have set themselves, is man power. He cited the Warden of a great western penitentiary as saying that the prisoner who leaves his gates bound for Winnipeg must pass through cordon after cordon of temptations leading him back to a life of crime. "Why is there not line after line of Christian men whom he must pass through, all leading him back to decency?" Canon Judd asked.

Friendship Needed.

He scored the Anglo-Saxon attitude of superiority to new Canadians of other races. "Ninety-nine per cent of the trouble we have with new Canadians is caused by the fact that they have never had extended to them by Anglo-Saxons the hand of friendship. We have allowed them to live in isolated groups, keeping their old customs, their old ideas of life." Yet in many cases these men and women have racial characteristics that make them better citizens in this new land than have Anglo-Saxons, he maintained. "At least they do stay on the land."

Harking back to the problem of unemployment in Canada he drew to the attention of his audience the fact that despite outbreak of war between 750,000 and 800,000 men and women are still without work and receiving relief. "They are the problem facing laymen of all churches," he said. He urged them to become aware of the problems that lie behind the mere issuance of relief money and said, "No city in the Dominion has a scale of relief that is sufficient for bodily health." That, he said, was proved by the fact that no municipality offere its relief recipients the amount considered absolutely essential by the League of Nations.

But, added to that bodily inefficiency, was the problem in human values, and only by surveying that more obscure problem can a solution be reached. Jesus Christ, he declared, came to this world to save life hereafter, "but He also came to save life herin."

Also Agency to Save Bodies.

Enlarging he saw the church as indeed an agency for the salvation of men's souls, but too, an agency for saving their bodies. The Kingdom of Heaven may well be God's, "but He did not say that the church was not to be the instrument for bringing it about."

He urged upon his listeners the "terrific responsibility that lies on people of the church to-day to think of the peace that is to come from World War II. For himself, and he thought for others, this was was necessary and must be fought with all the Allies' ability, but its end must be dictated by justice and equality. Governments, he said, will not admit that of their own accord, nor will labor, nor will captains of industry. "It is a church doctrine alone." He praised the way in which the people of England are already thinking of that kind of peace and he wished that the people of Canada might likewise.

Hope For Future

Out of the chaos that is the world to-day, he marked two great notes of hope for the future. First, he saw that men of different churches are getting together to find the way to meet their problems together, in such a way as has not been seen since the Reformation period split the unity of the church. And second, he saw that men of the church are uniting in demanding to know how the Gospel of Jesus Christ can be made to work.

The speaker was introduced by F. D. Kerr, K.C., and Alderman James Dutton moved a vote of thanks. Chairman of the evening was L. J. Pettit, and Rev. R. T. F. Brain of St. John's church, was chairman of the committee responsible for organizing the annual meeting.

A toast to the church was proposed by Leo W. Copp and responded to by Rev. F. W. Craig of St. James' United church.

CHAPTER FORTY

THERE HAD BEEN a note from Ellen on Fabienne's dressing table when she came in with Christine Parsons.

"A meeting will keep me at the house until seven, so I'll have a bite to eat down there and see you before the play," Ellen had written.

When Chris finished her recital with the dramatic announcement of her intention to kidnap her own child, Fabienne said, "You'll need a rest Chris. There won't be anyone in the apartment until much later tonight. Let me put you to sleep in my room. I'll give you some tea and you can sleep. In the morning, we'll see what plans we can make."

"I have them all made," Chris said in that quiet tone of finality she had used a moment before. "Your being a nurse at the hospital makes the plan perfect."

"I'm not a nurse, Chris," Fabienne said gently. "I'm only a volunteer social worker."

"But they know you and trust you," Chris persisted.

"Oh, Chris, don't you see that this is madness?"

"Madness for a mother to want her child?"

No, that was not madness. It would be mad for the mother of a blue-eyed angel like little Sonny Parsons NOT to want him.

But everything else the driven girl before her said was madness. There was madness in the dilated pupils of her eyes, in the taut, drawn expression that whitened the corners of he nose.

Her voice was suddenly tender. "He's so little," she said. "And so like Larry I've dreamed about him every night for all these two years. I taught him to say ma-ma when he was only a year old. When I went into the hospital to see him, he looked at me and I know he knew me. I stayed at the hospital one night and then I had to go because I didn't want Mr. Parsons to know I was there. I was afraid he'd take him away at once."

Fabienne said, "Come, Chris, you can have a nice cup of tea and you'll rest better."

The little Persian kitten climbed into Chris' lap. She petted it, without being aware of what she was doing, and went on talking in a far away voice. "Larry will come back. I cabled him. But he can't get here before his father has got the baby on a boat and far away where I can never get him again.

"He'll come back," Fabienne said soothingly. "And then you'll fix things up."

"I'm going to fix things up myself. At midnight," she said stolidly, but she got up, urged by the gentle pressure of Fabienne's hands beneath her elbows.

She went into the bedroom and allowed Fabienne to take off her hat and shoes, but she wouldn't let her remove her dress until Fabienne said it would be too mussed to appear in. At last she permitted its removal, but she would not allow her to take it from her sight.

She said, "Fab, remember when we were kids and we used to talk how nice it would be to have a mother like Wicky?"

Mrs. Wickford was the house mother at Miss Maidstone's school for Little Girls, where Chris and Fabienne, long-legged sprites of seven and eight, had first met. Mrs. Wickford was broad-bosomed and had a touch that soothed the pains of the young, both mental and physical.

"Then we used to say how pretty our mothers were, as if their being pretty made up for all the things we didn't have."

How well Fabienne remembered the fierce loyalty that covered hurts that were never healed. They were children of divorce, she and Chris. It had been their first bond.

"My little boy is not going to wish he had a mother like a house mother in school. I'm going to be his mother! He's mine and Larry's. He needs us both."

Fabienne went into the bathroom, looked in the medicine closet and found some sleeping tablets. Bill had given them to her when she was ill and overwrought. He said they were harmless and guaranteed to put a patient to sleep for ten or twelve hours. She dissolved one in half a glass of water and brought it back to Chris.

"Drink it," she said.

Chris drank it obediently and leaned back against the pillows.

Fabienne drew a blanket over her.

Chris caught at her hand. "Later you'll help me, Fabienne?"

Fabienne said, "Try to fall asleep now, Chris." Later she meant to bring Bill back after the play and have him look at Chris.

"There's one thing more. You mustn't think badly of Larry."

"I wouldn't dream of it," Fab said dryly, wishing she could get her hands on Larry Parsons, who had let his wife in for all the agony of the last few years.

"Larry's weak. He's poetic, he isn't bad. You don't know how strong-willed his father is. I could always do anything I wanted with him until they got him away—until they—" she dropped suddenly into sleep.

She was safe until the dawn, anyway, Fabienne hoped, glancing at the clock. She'd barely have time for a quick bath, a bite to eat, and she'd have to dress hurriedly. The play was opening at eight-fifteen and Camilla Morse, as well as several others she had invited, were coming down to see it.

Chris and her troubles fled from Fabienne's mind momentarily when she arrived at the settlement house and went directly to the third floor. For this was the night of the first presentation of the Willoughby House Players, a project that was one day to give many ingenues, a great character actor and a star to Broadway.

Backstage, and in the little dressing rooms across the hall, Fabienne paid a visit to each of her cast, telling them how proud she was and what was expected of them.

Outside, in the halls that led to the theatre, she greeted the proud parents, friends of the children and her own friends.

Andrew Hardy came, saying it was the first night he had attended in thirty years.

Camilla Morse and her crowd came, saying, "My dear, guess who we ran into downstairs? That pretty girl we saw with Nicky at the Plaza—the—"

"Ellen Chapman?" Fabienne asked, smiling. "She's the most important person at Willoughby house. She's the directress. Is Nicky with her? They're supposed to be selling tickets to people like you. By the way, Nicky gets a lot of credit tonight. He paid for our handsome curtain."

Ken Hemingway, who had been receiving congratulations on his designs for the theatre, came up to them, overhearing Fabienne's remark. "Hi, folks! This is a pirate outfit, you know. Hope you left your purses at home. Fabienne is out to get all she can for her theatre and her various projects. She hit me up last week for a bunch of boys' books.

Fabienne suddenly remembered Chris. She said, "Excuse me, I want to look for Dr. Mallory."

Bill was not at the play; he had an emergency operation to perform. And so when she got home a little before midnight and opened her bedroom door to find the room empty, she didn't know what to do.

Christine had fled!

Ellen had gone with Ken and Nicky to the latter's apartment and she said she would join them there she wanted to look in at her own place for a moment and would drive over in her own car.

Her car still was at the door.

Hastily, she pulled off her evening dress and kicked off her sandles. She put on a warm woolen suit, a polo coat and stout shoes. She flew downstairs to her car, praying that she would find Chris where she thought she was.

A TIME NOT TO COVER

IF YOU have no lower honor in your hand, which might be promoted into a trick-taker, and if it is virtually certain your partner cannot have both such a card and enough length to protect it, there is no sense in covering the declarer's lead of an honor in his trump suit. By so doing, you simply eliminate the guesswork from his problem about how to play his suit, making it so easy that he can't go wrong.

With such immense distributional values, Gilbert P. Inglis, of the Unidn League club team in New York, bid 2-Hearts in the South to start this deal in a rubber game. North made the positive response of 2-Spades. Then South bid 3-Clubs, North 3-Spades, South 4-Hearts and North jumped to 7-Hearts, which West doubled.

When the spade A was led, Mr. Inglis trumped it, then led the heart J to induce a cover. Had West played small, there would have been a tough problem. West had already shown the spade A, which might have been the main reason for his double, and might also have held the diamond A or club K, or both. The trumps might have been evenly divided, with East holding the Q.

But West simplified it by playing the Q. Mr. Inglis called the A from dummy, discarded three clubs on spades, took a club finesse and the club A, ruffed the club J, ruffed a diamond, then ran the rest of his hearts, making the grand slam. A more far-seeing West would not even have doubled the contract, which might possibly tip off the declarer on how to play the hand, and would not even have thought of covering the lead of the trump J.

Inside a Guardian Of British Shipping

High above the sea, the side gunners of one of the huge flying boats attached to the coastal defence patrol of the Royal Air Force, are pictured at their positions keeping a ceaseless watch for the appearance of enemy U-boats or planes. The flying boats of the coastal command have completed 5,000,000 miles in their task of watching over British shipping since the war began and not one ship has been lost in a convoy under their care. The big Sunderland four-engined flying boats meet the convoys when they are still far from British shores and during their constant watch, the whole service have sighted and attacked over a hundred U-boats.

Jack Kilborn First White Child To Be Born In Chandos Township

APSLEY, Feb. 13—(ENS).—The Apsley Women's Institute held their February meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Smith. The roll call was answered by an outstanding event in the history of the community during the past year. Some of the answers were the building of the Institute Library. The terrific hurricane over Loon Lake and district and the school children going to Toronto to see the King and Queen. Mrs. R. Tucker, president presided for the business session. A card party was planned for the near future, to be held at the home of Mrs. W. Lean. A committee was formed to see to the packing of parcels to be sent to soldiers overseas.

Mrs. Wellington Lean, convenor for historical research and in charge of the program read the following paper on the history of Burleigh and Anstruther and Chandos townships.

It seems a far cry to pioneer days, but in reality, a very short time comparitively speaking, since the white man first came to this district. I am trying to tell you a little of the early days in the three townships. Burleigh was surveyed in 1834 Anstruther in the winter of 1859-69, and Chandos in 1861-62. When the Indians roamed this district, one, Jack Cow, claimed all the streams and land in between Loon and Jacks Lakes as his for hunting, trapping, etc. and while he guarded his right, he was always hospitable to the whites who were friendly with him. He was a handsome, well set-up Indian, 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 250 lbs. and was given the name of "Handsome" Jack. Jack's Lake was named after him. Eel's creek is named for his brother Eels, a subordinate chief of the Chippawas.

This district had at one time a wealth of timber, red pine as well as white growing on large tracks of land. The first farm was given as a free grant to Giles Stone in Burleigh. The farm is now owned by Mr. Frank Booth. This was before 1862. Sarah Jane Sanderson was the first white child to be born in Burleigh, at the old McAuley stopping place.

In 1865, Apsley had enough settlers to entitle it to a post office, which was opened with C. J. Vizard as the first post master. Only three since then have held that office. The first tavern was at Jim Phalen's house, where Archie Wilson now lives. The first Methodist Church was erected on a piece of land given by John Young, this was before 1867. The old church yard and graves can still be seen. After a time the services were held in the Temperance Hall, now the Forestry Fire Hall. The present United Church was dedicated in 1903.

It was not easy for the ministers of those early days. They came on horseback from Westwood and the circuit also included Cardiff. Young couples of those early days often had to be married on Sunday, the only day when the minister would be available.

Rev. Canon Harding was the first incumbent of the St. George's Church. The first Anglican church was instrumental in building the present edifice.

About 1894 Chandos separated from Apsley as a municipality. Frank Elmhurst was reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther and W. Hales was elected first reeve of Chandos. Robert W. Gill was the first clerk of the new municipality.

James Goldbourne was the second settler north of Stoney Lake and the first man to build a mill near where John McColl's mill now stands. Mr. Eastband held the first contract for the Apsley stage coach. It was a common occurrence for it to draw into Apsley about midnight. Jack Kilborn who still lives in Apsley was the first white child to be born in Chandos. Mr. Henry White (who died about one year ago) was then a boy of 17 and was sent to Paudash, a distance of 18 or 20 miles to bring a Mrs. Patterson to be present for the event. He made the journey with a team of oxen and under those circustances, the first white child came to Chandos.

Outstanding citizens who have been born in this district are Dr. H. B. Anderson of Toronto, Rev. Albert Tousley, United Church, Rev. Dr. W. M. Young, U.S.A., B. J. Hales, B.A., L.L.D., Brandon. The former, Miss Annie McFadden, now Mrs. Barnes, Bermuda, Captain of Salvation Army in Bermuda, also 10 young women have joined the nursing profession. Four of the citizens have had the honor to be elected wardens of Peterborough county at different times, namely Frank Elmhurst, T. J. Eastband, Russel Hales and Roy Brown.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Lean for her historical paper, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Chas. Smith then read an interesting letter from Mrs. Harry Everett of Chandos, giving her experiences of her first trip to Chandos when she was a child. They came here in 1882 and her outstanding memory is that of sitting on the stove damper on a pillow and being tied by a rope so she could not fall off the wagon. She told of first tea meeting she attended at St. Stephen's church, Chandos at which a double wedding took place.

A social time was enjoyed and lunch was served by the hostess and her daughter, Mrs. C. McColl.

The St. George Anglican Guild held their semi monthly meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Bert McIlmoyle, Burleigh Highway. The attendance was good. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. J. The three card parties that had been held in the past three weeks have proven a decided success and will be continued after Lent. The Treasure chest was discussed and a committee formed to look after filling it.

Britain Organizes Super Sales Battle

LONDON, Feb. 13—(CP).—A program to organize a group of supersalesmen around the world to fight Great Britain's economic battle against Germany was drawn up today for the new export council of economic experts at its first full meeting.

Headed by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, board of trade president, and Robert S. Hudson, overseas trade secretary, the council's two tasks are to strangle German trade and find new markets for British goods.

The salesmen would be chosen specially for their drive, tact and knowledge of foreign languages.

Britain is buying large quantities of goods from the Balkans, not so much for her own needs, but to d prive Germany of them. Extensio of export credits has been proposed as an inducement to manufacturers to increase their trade.

MARMORA

Crop Competition Planned For Fair

MARMORA, Feb. 13.—(ENS)—If sufficient entries can be secured a field crop competition will be sponsored by Marmora Agricultural Society this year. A field of three acres is necessary for the competition and there should be little difficulty in securing the number of entries. Persons entering are required to use registered seed of whatever variety is agreed upon, which may be purchased through Marmora Agricultural Society. As this is the first year for a field crop competition to be tried here, all would start on an equal basis. Specially fitted ground is not required as competitors will have time to prepare their ground for seeding in the spring. One advantage of a field crop competition is that it provides those taking part with high class seed for a few years. Valuable educational assistance is also given those taking part in regard to cultivation, fertilization, soil testing, etc.

Few Weeks On Syntona Made Big Difference In This Lady

Suffered 6 Years With Stomach Misery, Dizzy Spells and Headaches. Couldn't Sleep and Nerves Were Bad. Declares Syntona Made Her Feel Like a Different Woman.

MRS. MAUD CROOK

Here is the interesting experience of Mrs. Maud Crook, 735 William St., London, and after you read it you will know why she is so happy here.

"I was having awful trouble with my stomach. I felt rundown and so nervous I didn't want to talk to anyone," said Mrs. Crook. "My appetite was poor and the little I did eat would just ferment in my stomach and cause gas and acidity. There would be a full, heavy feeling in my stomach and a burning in my chest and throat. I was subject to dizzy spells and splitting headaches. I couldn't sleep at nights and then I would get up in the morning feeling unrested and have no ambition to work. Of all the things I used, nothing ever really helped me until I began taking Syntona.

"It was my husband who first took Syntona and when I saw what it was doing for him, I decided to try it, too. I found it very pleasant to take and I could tell it was helping my stomach. Now, after a few weeks on this medicine, I feel like a different woman. I eat wiel now and have no more dizzy spells or headaches. I get a good night' saleep now and I get up mornings feeling rested and energetic. My nerves don't bother me like they used to. It's great to feel this well again, and I would urge anyone who suffers like I did to try taking Syntona."

Come today to Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and find out all about this grand medicine that is helping so many people. (Advt.)

Thousands Of Dead Dot Lines On Karelia Front

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 14 — (AP). —Russian successes in the Summa sector on the Karelian Isthmus were conceded in to-day's Finnish army communique, which, however, insisted that the Russians captured only "a few foremost positions" in eastern portion of the sector.

This advance cost the Red army thousands of dead and dozens of tanks and other equipment, the Finns declaring in describing the fighting which they have likened to the battles of the First Great War.

North-east of Lake Ladoga all Soviet thrusts were reported repulsed and farther north on the Kuhmo sector one Soviet battalion was said to have been destroyed and several Soviet positions captured.

The Russian advance, which took some Finnish front positions, was repulsed before it reached "our positions farther back," the communique said.

"Thousands of enemy fallen and dozens of wrecked tanks were strewn before our lines."

The communique asserted that numerous Russian tanks attempting to advance over the ice of the Gulf of Finland were sung by Finnish coast defence guns which shelled and smashed the ice around them.

It declared that 17 more Russian warplanes were downed in yesterdays' operations.

All Behind Britain

London, Feb. 14 (CP Cable)

RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT in a speech to the Royal Warrant Holders Association at luncheon today said Canada and the rest of the empire are wholeheartedly behind the Mother Country in the war.

Even Palestine, where the Arabs and Jews have wide differences, has joined hands with Britain against Germany, the former Canadian prime minister said.

Ready To Settle U.S. Claims Japanese Hint

TOKYO, Feb. 14 — (CP). — Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told the Diet to-day that a "fair settlement" would be made by Tokyo of all United States claims brought against Japan as a result of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

(As Arita spoke, Chinese advices reaching Hong Kong reported 27 Japanese warplanes had attempted another attack on the Hanoi-Kunming Railway, but were engaged by Chinese airmen.

(Both France and the United States have protested to Japan over previous bombings of the French-operated railroad which runs from Indo-China.

Arita listed 149 United States protests over aerial bombings; 73 against other damage, or the temporary use of American properties, and "10 or more" against commercial restrictions.

In the "two or three" instances in which Americans were killed in bombings, Japan already has paid compensation, Arita said.

New Seaway Plan Is Cheaper By 30 Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—(AP).—The proposed St. Lawrence waterway and power project, under the new treaty virtually completed by United States and Canadian negotiators, is expected to cost $30,000,000 less than the original 1932 plan.

Informed sources said today that the project, as revised to meet the objections which caused the United States Senate to reject the 1932 pact, would cost an estimated $243,000,000 to $248,000,000.

This would be shared by the United States, Canada and the New York State power authority on a basis not yet made public. Since Canada already has constructed the Welland Ship Canal, a part of the project, the United States government would bear a major portion of the cost of the work yet to be done.

While the treaty has been agreed on in virtually every detail, it has not yet been approved finally by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, or President Roosevelt.

The revised project involves construction of a waterway 27 feet deep around the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence, construction of a main dam near Barnhart Island with a power-house in each country, and a control dam upstream.

Sound Engineering.

A State Department announcement said the engineers had agreed the project was "sound from an engineering standpoint, cheaper in cost than the project on which the 1932 treaty was based, and affords full protection for all interests in the various sections of the St. Lawrence River."

The United States would undertake development of the international rapids section, except con-

Men Over 27 Allowed To Join Fray

Hundreds Signing Up, First Group To Leave Shortly

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP).—Britain to-day gave her citizens formal permission to volunteer to fight for Finland against Soviet Russia.

Ivan Maisky, the Russian ambassador, sat in the diplomatic gallery as Osbert Peake, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, announced the decision in reply to questions in the House of Commons.

The government's action gives official sanction to the enlistment of British volunteers for the Finnish forces which has been under way on a considerable scale for some time.

Men more than 27 years of age, or who for other reasons are unlikely to be called for Britain's own service, are free to join the Finns.

"Hundreds" of these have been reported unofficially as enlisting, with the first group due to leave soon.

While Britain planned to strengthen coastal air defence forces, the air ministry announced a German Heinkel bomber was struck and chased off into the gloaming late yesterday by three Royal Air Force Spitfire fighters at the mouth of the Thames river.

Ship casualties yesterday included a large unidentified steamer wrecked and floating bottom up off the Norfolk coast last night from unexplained causes. A rescue boat picked up some survivors from two lifeboats.

Labor Move Defeated

A labor motion criticizing the government's recent agreement with the four main British railroads and calling for outright government control of all transportation systems for the duration of the war was rejected by the House of Commons by a vote of 186 to 11.

Under the terms of the agreement the Government guarantees the four railways a profit of £40,000,000 (about $160,000,000) annually and provided for pooling of receipts and expenditures of the railways. The

Blizzard Snarls Southern Ontario Traffic

TORONTO, Feb. 14 (CP) — A blizzard struck the southern edge of Ontario today and traffic moved slowly in the face of hazardous driving conditions. Snow drifts piled high as four feet on icy sideroads in some districts.

In the Toronto district, a strong northeast wind blew light snow before it in a temperature of 18 degrees above zero. The forecast was for continued cold weather tomorrow with cessation of the snowfall.

Driving conditions throughout the Niagara Peninsula were "bad" although reported normal in most other sections of the province.

Fort Erie district was blanketed in a violent snowstorm and traffic on main highways was snarled. Due to the storm, a proposed community service in Knox Presbyterian church, Fort Erie, in memory of Lord Tweedsmuir, was cancelled.

Caledonia district reported its first severe blizzard of the winter and many farmers were all but isolated by drifts on concession roads. The storm was general in Haldimand County and worst in the Dunnville-Port Colborne sections of Lake Erie.

Canada Bids Last Farewell To Its Governor-General In Solemn State Funeral

Highest Dignitaries Of Church, State, Army Take Part In Touching Service; 14,000 Pass In Review As Body Lies In State

OTTAWA, Feb. 14 (CP)—Lady Tweedsmuir came to the flower-banked Senate chamber for a last moment beside the bier of the Governor-General as plans were completed for today's state funeral service for the first Baron Tweedsmuir of Elsfield.

Accompanied by Mrs. George Pape, her lady-in-waiting, Lady Tweedsmuir stood in silent mourning beside the flag-draped coffin.

Her youngest son, Lieut. Alastair Buchan, stood nearby with head bowed over his reversed sword as one of four officers on guard about the casket.

There was no public lying-in-state during the morning.

Lieutenant - Governors of the provinces, members of the diplomatic corps and members of the Governor-General's staff were among those who filed past the bier in the Senate chamber.

Outside, a dull overcast sky was in sharp contrast to the brilliant sunshine of yesterday when the 64-year-old Governor-General's body was brought to Ottawa from Montreal where he died Sunday night.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.—(CP)—The simple funeral service of the Presbyterian Church whose doctrines he imbibed as a lad in a Scottish manse was read today over the remains of Lord Tweedsmuir.

Within the grey stone walls of old St. Andrew's Church, Rev. Alexander Ferguson, also a native-born Scotsman, read the service for the Governor-General who died in Montreal Sunday night after receiving a head injury in a fall at Rideau Hall a week ago yesterday.

Mr. Ferguson paid tribute to Tweedsmuir, the Christian, after the great and lowly in the land had delivered their stint of praise to Tweedsmuir, the citizen and public servant.

The flag-draped casket containing the body of the 64-year-old Governor-General left the Senate Chamber early in the afternoon on the shoulders of eight bearers to be taken under military escort to the church only a few blocks away.

700 Stettin Jews Moved Away On 6-Hour Notice

BERLIN, Feb. 14—(AP). — Upwards of 700 Jews, routed from their homes in Stettin on 6½ hours notice for mass removal, were on trains to-day, presumably headed for Poland, although their exact destination was not disclosed.

The sudden removal order included virtually every Jew in the Baltic town. Only the sick and feeble aged were exempt.

At 7.30 p.m. Monday, Elite Guards and Storm Troopers began visiting the homes of Jews, telling them to be ready by 2 a.m.

Nazi Storm Troopers and Elite Guards took inventories of property in the homes and advised the Jews to prepare final hot meals because they probably would not get warm food for a considerable time. They were permitted to pack only a few necessities.

The Jews, ranging in age from children a few months old to persons of 70, displayed consternation as they gathered in the darkness of one of the coldest days of the winter and were given railroad tickets.

Some were told their homes in Stettin would be needed for Germans returned to the Reich from Baltic states.

"Workers of all lands including England and France, unite!" wrote Ley. "Your common enemy is English - Jewish - democratic high finance."

Ley bitterly attacked the British Labor party, which he called "The most furious war agitator against Germany."

Near East Setup Send Italian Chiefs In Huddle

ROME, Feb. 14—(AP). — Italy's Supreme Defence Council to-day met for the seventh successive day and diplomatic circles considered it likely the lengthy discussions were concerned with Italy's position in the event of hostilities in the Near East.

Newspaper dispatches sought explanations for the arrival of Australian and New Zealand forces in Egypt and Palestine.

Several other Italian papers commented in a similar tenor.

Memoirs This Year

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(CP). — Lord Tweedsmuir's publishers disclosed last night that the late Governor General completed his memoirs shortly before his death and that they would be published later this year.

The publishers (Houghton, Mifflin Company) said the auto-biography would carry the title: "Pilgrim's Way; An Essay in Recollection."

It was not indicated whether the volume would cover the period of the late Governor-General's office in Canada, but the book was expected to provide a fund of literary and historical reminiscence, since Lord Tweedsmuir, for more than 40 years, knew the leading literary figures of the old and new worlds and was intimately associated with many of them.

As reader for London publishers, when he was still at Oxford, the former John Buchan came into contact with the foremost writers of the late Victorian era. Later, when he entered parliament, he came to know statesmen and parliamentarians as well.

Volumes published by Lord Tweedsmuir while he was at Government House included "The Island of Sheep," 1936, and the historical biography "Augustus," 1937.

Manion Gives Aid To Girl Hit By His Train

SUDBURY, Ont., Feb. 14—(CP). —Dr. R. J. Manion, Federal Conservative leader, rolled up his sleeves Tuesday and went to work — as a medical man. He attended a young woman struck by the locomotive of a train which was carrying him to Ottawa to attend the funeral today of Lord Tweedsmuir.

Hurled down a 50-foot embankment as she walked along the Canadian Pacific Railway's right-of-way 1½ miles east of the Sudbury city limits, Miss Margaret Betts, Sudbury telephone operator, was rushed to hospital after being treated by Dr. Manion. She suffered head injuries.

Dr. Manion stepped from his private car which was bringing him from Fort William and bound the girl's lacerations with towels after she had been carried from the foot of the Lake Ramsay embankment.

"It was just after they had stopped the train that we heard a girl had been struck," said Dr. Manion. "Picking up a couple of blankets and some towels from the rack, and calling the porter to do the same, I left the car and ran back up the tracks to where the girl was lying in the snow.

Citizens Honor Memory Of Lord Tweedsmuir

To-day Peterborough citizens, the great and the lowly, bowed their heads in sorrow and tribute to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir at a special Memorial Service which was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church this afternoon.

All walks of life were represented in the congregation to do honor to a great yet humble representative of the King who in a little over four short years endeared himself to Canadians as no former Governor-General has ever done. The service was held under the joint auspices of the Peterborough City Council and the Ministerial Association and it was particularly fitting that the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's was called on to conduct the service, because he is not only a Scot but was born at Kinghorn in Fifeshire, Scotland, just ten miles from the Manse at Path-head where John Buchan spent his boyhood.

The church was draped in royal purple and three ministers from other churches assisted in the Memorial Service. The Rev. F. W. Craik, of St. James' United Church, read the Old Testament Scripture and the Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park St, Baptist, read the New Testament Scripture. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Canon Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church and also by Adjutant Buckley of the Salvation Army.

Tennyson's famous poem, 'Crossing the Bar,' one which was often quoted by the late Governor-General, was sung by the choir just prior to the sermon. Miss Jessie Pattison sang the only solo during the service, 'Oh Rest In the Lord.'

Ill Mother, Blind Father, Baby Saved As Farmer Dashes Through Flames

CORNWALL, Ont., Feb. 14 (CP) — A woman bedridden for two years, a blind man and a six-months-old baby were among seven persons saved when the farm home of Donald Kennedy, near Monckland, 12 miles north of here, was destroyed by fire today.

Kennedy was awakened by smoke about 3.30 o'clock this morning, and without taking time to even put on his shoes, carried his bedridden mother to safety. Dashing back into the burning building, he helped his blind father, his wife, two children and a maid to safety. None was injured, although they were only what clothes they could grab as they ran from the house, and suffered from the biting cold.

Realizing the hopelessness of fighting the fire alone, Kennedy loaded the occupants of the house in his automobile and drove to Monckland, where they were sheltered at the home of a friend. It was not until Kennedy reached Monckland and spread the alarm that nearby residents knew of the fire.

A few neighbors gathered speedily, but by this time nothing could be saved from the two-storey frame house.

A brisk wind was blowing from the east, and carried the flames away from a barn, carriage shed and silo.

Kennedy told friends later this morning he had no idea of the cause of the blaze. He placed his loss between $2,500 and $3,000, only partially covered by insurance.

He also left behind $350 in cash in his hurried flight from the house. The flames had made much progress before the smell of smoke awakened the owner. Others in the house were the Kennedy's two sons, Marshal, about six months old, Warren, aged two, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kennedy, Donald Kennedy's parents, and Miss Loretta Farrell, St. Andrew's, a maid. Mrs. Farrell, St. Andrews, a maid. Mrs. John Kennedy has been confined to her bed for two years as a result of a stroke and her husband has been blind for some time.

55 Easter Bonnets Set Quints Scrambling Like Bargain Sale—Dafoe, Monro Locked Out

NORTH BAY, Ont., Feb. 14—(CP).—The Dionne quintuplets have broken a Lenten resolution.

Marie, Emilie, Yvonne, Annette and Cecile promised their personal physician and staunch friend, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, that they would be perfect little ladies around the Dafoe nursery at Callander during Lent. Chatter during meals and shrieks durirg playtime would be toned down, they said.

All went well until yesterday when Dr. Dafoe and Keith Munro, quints' business manager, walked into the nursery with 25 new Spring hats just arrived for the girls from New York. Forgotten was the resolution when the sisters spotted the straw finery which included gay colors in pillbox and part-pancake styles.

"They acted like a lot of women scrambling for specials at a bargain basement sale," Dr. Dafoe said.

The quints scooped up the hats and dashed into their bedroom to try them on before the mirrors. The shrieking, laughter and general excitement was terrific—and somehow, the lock on the nursery door became fastened.

Munro and Dr. Dafoe scrambled through a window and, entering the front door again, confronted the sisters with the accusation of locking the door.

"Oh, mais mon," said the quints in unison. They were quite agreed that the lock must have slipped in place itself.

Anyway, they won't wear the hats for a few weeks yet.

Any Loss of Chromite Ore Freighters Serious Blow to U.S., Canada Steel

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(AP).—The sinking of even two or three ore freighters in the South Atlantic might seriously affect the chrome-steel industry of both Canada and the United States.

This report was made to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers today at a symposium on strategic metals in wartime. It was made by E. L. Bruce, professor of Geology at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in giving the Canadian side of metals in the present war.

Both countries, he said, get most of their chromite ore from Rhodesia, South Africa. This ore is needed for making extra hard shells and is an essential part of all stainless steels.

Even without the sinking of a ship carrying chromite ore, Prof. Bruce said, it sems very possible that shortage of shipping may lead to increased prices for chromite.

Another threat to both Canadian and American industry comes, he said, from the Sino-Japanese war. Both countries get the bulk of their tungsten from China. Tungsten shortage would handicap not only general industry, but the manufacture of munitions. This metal is used for tool steel hardening. He predicted a serious situation if the Chinese supply is shut off.

In the present war Canada is able to contribute considerably more aid in strategic metals than during the last war, he said. Canada today produces 60 times as much zinc and 10 times as much lead as in 1914-1918.

In 1914 Russia gave the world 95 per cent of its platinum. Now Canada can furnish half of the entire world production of that metal. In nickel, copper and asbestos Canada has adequate resources for war. Asbestos is important for motorized armies.

The copper situation is not as favorable for American profits as in the last war, when the Allies had to depend mainly on the United States. Now, however, Canada and Rhodesia combined about equal the United States in copper output.

In gold, Canadian mines are prepared to produce the largest quantity in their history. This is important, Professor Bruce said, because gold become indirectly a war material.

Discovery of a new iron deposit at Steep Rock Lake, west of Lake Superior, gives the Allies an additional source of this metal which is expected to come into production within two years.

Canada, like the United States, is

Thousands Of Dead Dot Lines On Karelia Front

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 14 — (AP). —Russian successes in the Summa sector on the Karelian Isthmus were conceded in to-day's Finnish army communique, which, however, insisted that the Russians captured only "a few foremost positions" in the eastern portion of the sector.

This advance cost the Red army thousands of dead and dozens of tanks and other equipment, the Finns declaring in describing the fighting which they have likened to the battles of the First Great War.

North-east of Lake Ladoga all Soviet thrusts were reported repulsed and farther north on the Kuhmo sector one Soviet battalion was said to have been destroyed and several Soviet positions captured.

The Russian advance, which took some Finnish front positions, was repulsed before it reached "our positions farther back," the communique said.

"Thousands of enemy fallen and dozens of wrecked tanks were strewn before our lines."

The communique asserted that numerous Russian tanks attempting to advance over the ice of the Gulf of Finland were sung by Finnish coast defence guns which shelled and smashed the ice around them.

It declared that 17 more Russian warplanes were downed in yesterdays' operations.

Arita listed 149 United States protests over aerial bombings; 73 against other damage, or the temporary use of American properties, and "10 or more' against commercial restrictions.

In the "two or three" instances in which Americans were killed in bombings, Japan already has paid compensation, Arita said.

New Seaway Plan Is Cheaper By 30 Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—(AP).—The proposed St. Lawrence waterway and power project, under the new treaty virtually completed by United States and Canadian negotiators, is expected to cost $30,000,000 less than the original 1932 plan.

Informed sources said today that the project, as revised to meet the objections which caused the United States Senate to reject the 1932 pact, would cost an estimated $243,000,000 to $248,000,000.

This would be shared by the United States, Canada and the New York State power authority on a basis not yet made public. Since Canada already has constructed the Welland Ship Canal, a part of the project, the United States government would bear a major portion of the cost of the work yet to be done.

While the treaty has been agreed on in virtually every detail, it has not yet been approved finally by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, or President Roosevelt.

The revised project involves construction of a waterway 27 feet deep around the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence, construction of a main dam near Barnhart Island with a power-house in each country, and a control dam upstream.

Sound Engineering.

A State Department announcement said the engineers had agreed the project was "sound from an engineering standpoint, cheaper in cost than the project on which the 1932 treaty was based, and affords full protection for all interests in the various sections of the St. Lawrence River."

The United States would undertake development of the international rapids section, except con-

Hundreds Signing Up, First Group To Leave Shortly

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP).—Britain to-day gave her citizens formal permission to volunteer to fight for Finland against Soviet Russia.

Ivan Maisky, the Russian ambassador, sat in the diplomatic gallery as Osbert Peake, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, announced the decision in reply to questions in the House of Commons.

The government's action gives official sanction to the enlistment of British volunteers for the Finnish forces which has been under way on a considerable scale for some time.

Men more than 27 years of age, or who for other reasons are unlikely to be called for Britain's own service, are free to join the Finns.

"Hundreds" of these have been reported unofficially as enlisting, with the first group due to leave soon.

While Britain planned to strengthen coastal air defence forces, the air ministry announced a German Heinkel bomber was struck and chased off into the gloaming late yesterday by three Royal Air Force Spitfire fighters at the mouth of the Thames river.

Blizzard Snarls Southern Ontario Traffic

TORONTO, Feb. 14 (CP) — A blizzard struck the southern edge of Ontario today and traffic moved slowly in the face of hazardous driving conditions. Snow drifts piled high as four feet on icy sideroads in some districts.

Driving conditions throughout the Niagara Peninsula were "bad" although reported normal in most other sections of the province.

Fort Erie district was blanketed in a violent snowstorm and traffic on main highways was snarled. Due to the storm, a proposed community service in Knox Presbyterian church, Fort Erie, in memory of Lord Tweedsmuir, was cancelled.

Caledonia district reported its first severe blizzard of the winter and many farmers were all but isolated by drifts on concession roads. The storm was general in Haldimand County and worst in the Dunnville-Port Colborne sections of Lake Erie.

700 Stettin Jews Moved Away On 6-Hour Notice

BERLIN, Feb. 14—(AP). — Upwards of 700 Jews, routed from their homes in Stettin on 6½ hours notice for mass removal, were on trains to-day, presumably headed for Poland, although their exact destination was not disclosed.

The sudden removal order included virtually every Jew in the Baltic town. Only the sick and feeble aged were exempt.

At 7.30 p.m. Monday, Elite Guards and Storm Troopers began visiting the homes of Jews, telling them to be ready by 2 a.m.

Nazi Storm Troopers and Elite Guards took inventories of property in the homes and advised the Jews to prepare final hot meals because they probably would not get warm food for a considerable time. They were permitted to pack only a few necessities.

The Jews, ranging in age from children a few months old to persons of 70, displayed consternation as they gathered in the darkness of one of the coldest days of the winter and were given railroad tickets.

Some were told their homes in Stettin would be needed for Germans returned to the Reich from Baltic states.

Ill Mother, Blind Father, Baby Saved As Farmer Dashes Through Flames

CORNWALL, Ont., Feb. 14 (CP) — A woman bedridden for two years, a blind man and a six-months-old baby were among seven persons saved when the farm home of Donald Kennedy, near Monckland, 13 miles north of here, was destroyed by fire today.

Kennedy was awakened by smoke about 3.30 o'clock this morning, and without taking time to even put on his shoes, carried his bedridden mother to safety. Dashing back into the burning building, he helped his blind father, his wife, two children and a maid to safety. None was injured, although they wore only what clothes they could grab as they ran from the house, and suffered from the biting cold.

Realizing the hopelessness of fighting the fire alone, Kennedy loaded the occupants of the house in his automobile and drove to Monckland, where they were sheltered at the home of a friend. It was not until Kennedy reached Monckland and spread the alarm that nearby residents knew of the fire.

A few neighbors gathered speedily, but by this time nothing could be saved from the two-storey frame house.

A brisk wind was blowing from the east, and carried the flames away from a barn, carriage shed and silo.

Kennedy told friends later this morning he had no idea of the cause of the blaze. He placed his loss between $2,500 and $3,000, only partially covered by insurance.

He also left behind $250 in cash in his hurried flight from the house. The flames had made much progress before the smell of smoke awakened the owner. Others in the house were the Kennedy's two sons, Marshal, about six months old, Warren, aged two, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kennedy, Donald Kennedy's parents, and Miss Loretta Farrell, St. Andrew's, a maid. Mrs. Farrell, St. Andrews, a maid. Mrs. John Kennedy has been confined to her bed for two years as a result of a stroke and her husband has been blind for some time.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP Cable)—Colonel J. T. C. Thompson, special returning officer for taking the vote of the men of the Canadian armed forces in Great Britain, arrived today and established offices in the building housing the Canadian military headquarters in London.

Voting by men of the First Division will take place between March 14 and 23.

55 Easter Bonnets Set Quints Scrambling Like Bargain Sale—Dafoe, Monro Locked Out

NORT BAY, Ont., Feb. 14—(CP).—The Dionne quintuplets have broken a Lenten resolution.

Marie, Emilie, Yvonne, Annette and Cecile promised their personal physician and staunch friend, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, that they would be perfect little ladies around the Dafoe nursery at Callander during Lent. Chatter during meals and shrieks during playtime would be toned down, they said.

All went well until yesterday when Dr. Dafoe and Keith Munro, quints' business manager, walked into the nursery with 25 new Spring hats just arrived for the girls from New York. Forgotten was the resolution when the sisters spotted the straw finery which included gay colors in pillbox and part-pancake styles.

"They acted like a lot of women scrambling for specials at a bargain basement sale," Dr. Dafoe said.

The quints scooped up the hats and dashed into their bedroom to try them on before the mirrors. The shrieking, laughter and general excitement was terrific—and somehow, the lock on the nursery door became fastened.

Munro and Dr. Dafoe scrambled through a window and, entering the front door again, confronted the sisters with the accusation of locking the door.

"Oh, mais mon," said the quints in unison. They were quite agreed that the lock must have slipped in place itself.

Anyway, they won't wear the hats for a few weeks yet.

Memoirs This Year

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(CP). — Lord Tweedsmuir's publishers disclosed last night that the late Governor General completed his memoirs shortly before his death and that they would be published later this year.

The publishers (Houghton, Mifflin Company) said the auto-biography would carry the title: "Pilgrim's Way; An Essay in Recollection."

It was not indicated whether the volume would cover the period of the late Governor-General's office in Canada, but the book was expected to provide a fund of literary and historical reminiscence, since Lord Tweedsmuir, for more than 40 years, knew the leading literary figures of the old and new worlds and was intimately associated with many of them.

As reader for London publishers, when he was still at Oxford, the former John Buchan came into contact with the foremost writers of the late Victorian era. Later, when he entered parliament, he came to know statesmen and parliamentarians as well.

Volumes published by Lord Tweedsmuir while he was at Government House included "The Island of Sheep," 1936, and the historical biography "Augustus," 1937.

Manion Gives Aid To Girl Hit By His Train

SUDBURY, Ont., Feb. 14—(CP). —Dr. R. J. Manion, Federal Conservative leader, rolled up his sleeves Tuesday and went to work — as a medical man. He attended a young woman struck by the locomotive of a train which was carrying him to Ottawa to attend the funeral today of Lord Tweedsmuir.

Hurled down a 50-foot embankment as she walked along the Canadian Pacific Railway's right-of-way 1½ miles east of the Sudbury city limits, Miss Margaret Betts, Sudbury telephone operator, was rushed to hospital after being treated by Dr. Manion. She suffered head injuries.

Dr. Manion stepped from his private car which was bringing him from Fort William and bound the girl's lacerations with towels after she had been carried from the foot of the Lake Ramsay embankment.

"It was just after they had stopped the train that we heard a girl had been struck," said Dr. Manion. "Picking up a couple of blankets and some towels from the rack, and calling the porter to do the same, I left the car and ran back up the tracks to where the girl was lying in the snow.

"We lifted her on to a thickness

Citizens Honor Memory Of Lord Tweedsmuir

To-day Peterborough citizens, the great and the lowly, bowed their heads in sorrow and tribute to the memory of Lord Tweedsmuir at a special Memorial Service which was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church this afternoon.

All walks of life were represented in the congregation to do honor to a great yet humble representative of the King who in a little over four short years endeared himself to Canadians as no former Governor-General has ever done. The service was held under the joint auspices of the Peterborough City Council and the Ministerial Association and it was particularly fitting that the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's was called on to conduct the service, because he is not only a Scot but was born at Kinghorn in Fifeshire, Scotland, just ten miles from the Manse at Path-head where John Buchan spent his boyhood.

The church was draped in royal purple and three ministers from other churches assisted in the Memorial Service. The Rev. F. W. Craik, of St. James' United Church, read the Old Testament Scripture and the Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park St. Baptist, read the New Testament Scripture. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Canon Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church and also by Adjutant Buckley of the Salvation Army.

Tennyson's famous poem, 'Crossing the Bar,' one which was often quoted by the late Governor-General, was sung by the choir just prior to the sermon. Miss Jessie Pattison sang the only solo during the service, 'Oh Rest in the Lord.'

Any Loss of Chromite Ore Freighters Serious Blow to U.S., Canada Steel

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(AP).—The sinking of even two or three ore freighters in the South Atlantic might seriously affect the chrome-steel industry of both Canada and the United States.

This report was made to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers today at a symposium on strategic metals in wartime. It was made by E. L. Bruce, professor of Geology at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in giving the Canadian side of metals in the present war.

Both countries, he said, get most of their chromite ore from Rhodesia, South Africa. This ore is needed for making extra hard shells and is an essential part of all stainless steels.

Even without the sinking of a ship carrying chromite ore, Prof. Bruce said, it sems very possible that shortage of shipping may lead to increased prices for chromite.

Another threat to both Canadian and American industry comes, he said, from the Sino-Japanese war. Both countries get the bulk of their tungsten from China. Tungsten shortage would handicap not only general industry, but the manufacture of munitions. This metal is used for tool steel hardening. He predicted a serious situation if the Chinese supply is shut off.

In the present war Canada is able to contribute considerably more aid in strategic metals than during the last war, he said. Canada today produces 60 times as much zinc and 10 times as much lead as in 1914-1918.

In 1914 Russia gave the world 95 per cent of its platinum. Now Canada can furnish half of the entire world production of that metal. In nickel, copper and asbestos Canada has adequate resources for war. Asbestos is important for motorized armies.

The copper situation is not as favorable for American profits as in the last war, when the Allies had to depend mainly on the United States. Now, however, Canada and Rhodesia combined about equal the United States in copper output.

In gold, Canadian mines are prepared to produce the largest quantity in their history. This is important, Professor Bruce said, because gold become indirectly a war material.

Discovery of a new iron deposit at Steep Rock Lake, west of Lake Superior, gives the Allies an additional source of this metal which is expected to come into production within two years.

Canada, like the United States, is

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON.—(CP)—The King today presented colors to two battalions of guards—Irish and Welsh. Wearing the uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Irish Guards, His Majesty first drove from Buckingham Palace to Wellington barracks, where a battalion of the Irish Guards was drawn up on the parade ground square.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt forsook the snow squalls and political storms of Washington today for a southern vacation cruise. There was no disclosure of details concerning the trip.

OTTAWA.— (CP)— The body of Lord Tweedsmuir will be cremated in Montreal following the state funeral service here today but movement of the ashes to Great Britain for interment will be secret. While no announcement has been made concerning place of interment it is believed here that the remains will be buried in Peebleshire in the Scottish border country where Lord Tweedsmuir was born.

Finns Issuing Desperate Plea For Aid

Admit Karelian Line Has Been Bent, No Letup In Sight

HELSINGFORS, Feb. 14—(AP).—This, the 14th day of Finland's struggle against a terrific Red army drive on the Mannerheim Line, was marked by a proclamation of unbroken resistance and a renewed plea for help from abroad.

"Thus far," said the high command in an oral statement last night, "the Finnish army is able to hold its own, but we really rely on civilized nations of the world to relieve us in this situation."

Finland's soldiers were pictured clinging to redoubts and breastworks in the blood-splotched snows of the Karelian Isthmus and even counter-attacking in force at propitious moments.

Military authorities acknowledged that the Mannerheim Line had been bent—but not broken—by the Reds' effort to break through in the Summa sector to strike Viborg (Viipuri), Finland's second largest city, just behind the line.

Major dents in the line, these quarters insisted, had been removed by recapture of steel and concrete fortifications, leaving only a few outlying machine-gun nests in Russian hands.

Mr. Spence's death was a shock to Toronto Conservative circles. Joseph Harris, Ontario Conservative party organizer, said he had been with Mr. Spence a few hours before his death.

Troopers Battle Lynch Move, Save Negresses

SNOW HILL, Md., Feb. 14 (AP)—Heavily-armed state police poured into Snow Hill to restore calm today after a night of wild disorder climaxed when four state troopers rescued two Negro women from the hands of a threatening mob of 1,000 men.

After hours of milling around the Worcester county jail, the angry men smashed a window last night, ripped a cell door from its hinges and made away with the women, held for "investigation" in connection with the slaying of an elderly farmer.

The troopers, taking up the trail, caught up with the crowd at Stockton, where Harvey Pilchard was shot to death Sunday night by three Negro men who seriously wounded his wife.

There they battled apparently hopeless numbers briefly but victoiously, seized the women—a mother and daughter—and dashed to safety across the Delaware State line 50 miles away. Sergeant W. H. Weber suffered painful head injur-

The Cuban manganese concern is an American enterprise, which in the last half dozen years has discovered how to treat manganese that once was considered worthless and make it commercially valuable.

F. S. Norcross, president of the Cuban Mining Company, described this accomplishment and said the Cuban concern is now producing 130,000 tons of manganese annually. This is one-quarter the United States normal needs.

a chill time for the soldiers who stood for more than an hour along the route from Parliament Hill to nearby St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and from the church to Union Station whence the body was taken by special train for eventual interment in Scotland.

The Senate chamber remained open until 12.30 o'clock when Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who formally welcomed Lord Tweedsmuir when he came to Canada in November 1935, was the last official to pay tribute.

More than 175 floral tributes were received this morning. They overflowed the ante-chamber of the Senate into the rotunda, filling the air with their heavy perfume.

One of the floral pieces came from Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., the young motion picture actor who visited at Rideau Hall within the past year.

In addition to Lady Tweedsmuir and her lady-in-waiting, the Government House party included Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Willis O'Connor, Sir Shuldham and Lady Redfern.

Others among official callers were James H. R. Cromwell, United States Minister, and Mrs. Cromwell, Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner, and Lady Campbell, Lieut.-Governors Piset of Quebec and Matthews of Ontario, and Dr. H. A. Bruce, former Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

Immediately after Mr. Mackenzie King entered the Senate Chamber, the great double doors closed, not to be opened again except for the guard changes at 15-minute intervals, until removal to the church at 2.10 o'clock.

From the hundreds of floral tributes received, just three accompanied the casket to the church and the station. They were the red and white carnation wreath from Lady Tweedsmuir, the wreath of violets, lily-of-the-valley, and freesia from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and a wreath of tulips, iris and carnations from John, William, Alice and Alastair Buchan, His Excellency's children.

Following the funeral the baskets of flowers were sent to the hospitals and charitable institutions in Ottawa.

No public holiday was proclaimed but all Government offices closed so civil servants might watch the last journey of His Excellency through the streets of the Capital.

Among late arrivals in the city were J. W. McConnell of Montreal and Dr. Lewis Douglas, former principal of McGill University.

solemn procession from the church to the Union Station. In Montreal it will be cremated before its last journey to the United Kingdom. The ashes likely will be carried home to Peebles-Shire, Scotland, where Lord Tweedsmuir was born Aug. 26, 1875.

Highest dignitaries of church, state and the armed forces assembled at the church but the common people, of which Lord Tweedsmuir was one when, as John Buchan, he was made Governor-General of Canada nearly five years ago, already had been given their opportunity to pay tribute.

14,000 Pass In Review

During the period the body rested in state in the senate chamber more than 14,000 persons of every degree, from toddling children to the aged and Zeak, filed past the guarded bier in the dimly-lighted upper house.

A touching feature of the lying-in-state was the presence of His Excellency's youngest son, Lieut. Alastair Buchan, serving his regular turn as one of the groups of four officers who kept constant guard at the bier from the moment the body was placed in the chamber yesterday noon until it was removed to the church today.

This morning Lady Tweedsmuir, Lieut. Buchan and members of His Excellency's immediate staff had a brief period with their beloved dead before the cortege formed up for removal of the body to St. Andrew's, a few blocks west of Parliament Hill.

About 3,000 troops of the Ottawa district lined the streets for the passage of the hearse to the church where Rev. Alexander Ferguson, pastor and close friend of His Excellency, conducted the brief and simple ceremony.

Admission was by ticket only, with special places reserved for the family and staff, Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, administrator of the government since His Excellency's death, Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his Cabinet, Conservative Leader Manion, foreign government representatives, the bench and others whose positions enable them to represent large groups of people.

The Funeral Hymns.

Hymns chosen for the service were "O, God of Bethel," "I Bow to Thee," and "I to the Hills."

For today's services the eight bearers were provided by the four branches of the service—navy, army, air force and Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

In keeping with the tradition that it is the navy's right to take a Sovereign or his representative to his last rest, the Royal Canadian Navy had the privilege of drawing His Excellency's body from the church to the Union Station on a gun carriage.

Sixty naval ratings from Royal Canadian naval volunteer reserve units in Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa were selected to draw the gun carriage. Starting when the funeral cortege was to leave the church, 19 minute guns were to be fired by the Second Ottawa Field Battery drawn up on Cartier Square near the station.

In a little more than four years during which Lord Tweedsmuir held office he had endeared himself to the people and engaged their interest to a greater degree, probably, than any of his predecessors.

Yesterday he came back to Ottawa for the last time. A special train draped in the purple and black of vice-regal mourning brought the body from Montreal. It was taken to the senate chamber in the centre block on Parliament Hill and placed before the throne from which Lord Tweedsmuir so often spoke to Canada for His Majesty the King.

At three o'clock in the afternoon the doors were thrown open to permit the general public to file past the bier. In a short time a line of hundreds reached halfway down the hill to Wellington street. Many stood for long periods in the frosty winter air.

Many Shed Tears

By ten o'clock last night the House officials reported 14,039 persons had passed through the door to the senate chamber. There were hundreds of school children, girls and women of all ages, and trembling, aged people. Many shed tears as they passed through the dimly-lit chamber.

Dozens of cripples hobbled by on crutches. There were a number of deaf mutes. Even the blind were led past the bier, through rooms heavily scented by the great masses of floral tributes which overflowed the Senate ante-chamber.

It was an unforgettable and unprecented scene in the Upper House. Four tall wax tapers stood, one at each corner of the bier. By the candles the guard of officers stood with bowed heads, hands resting on reversed swords, and dressed in the field service uniforms of the active service. Every 15 minutes the guard changed.

His Excellency's body was enclosed in a sealed casket on which rested his plumed helmet, his sword and its scabbard and a wreath from Lady Tweedsmuir.
